Polson's Nervilline, the great pain cure, never fails to give prompt relief in the following complaints:—Sprains, bruises, cuts, tic douloureux, rheumatism, spinal pains, neuralgia, toothache, lumbago, sciatica. Buy to-day at Ormond & Walsh's drug store a 10 cent sample bottle and test it in any of the above complaints. It never fails, for Nervilline is composed of the most powerful pain subduing remedies in the world. Get a bottle at Ormond & Walsh's. You will be made happy. Ten and 25 cents a bottle.

CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.—Sufferers from either acute or chronic rheumatism will find no more ready relief or better cure than Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the popular household remedy for external and internal use in all painful affections.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Foretelling the weather is uncertain at the best, but it is certain that if you catch cold in this changeable climate you can best break its ill effects by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, the most reliable and pleasant remedy for coughs, colds, bronchial, and lung complaints. It is so agreeable that even a child may take it.

THE Welland Canal is expected to be opened to navigation about the 28th inst.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of THURSDAY, 1st MAY, 1884, for the delivery of the usual Indian Supplies, duty paid, in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, consisting of Flour, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Oxen, Cows, Bulls, Agricultural Implements, Tools, &c.

Forms of Tender and full particulars relative to the Supplies can be had by applying to the undersigned, or to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Regina, or to the Indian Office Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods separately or for all the goods called for in the Schedules.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque of a Canadian Bank, for at least five per cent. of the amount of the tenders for Manitoba, and ten per cent. of the amount of the tenders for the North-West Territories, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

Tenderers are required to make up and attach to their tender the total money value of the goods they offer to supply, or their tender will not be entertained.

The Tender for Beef must be a separate tender; if it includes any other article it will not be considered.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

PORT HOPE.

DISTRIBUTING FISH.—Mr. J. Kenefick, from the Newcastle Fish Hatchery, accompanied by Inspector Gilchrist, distributed from the tug Albert White on Saturday, about 100,000 white fish fry between Port Hope and Cobourg.

FENELON FALLS.

A DASTARDLY OUTRAGE.—John Kinewell and Joseph Tonka, two young men, committed a dastardly outrage on the person of Mrs Alice Berry, a respectable woman of over fifty years of age, at Fenelon Falls Sunday night. They were arrested and committed to gaol by James Dickson, J. P., but their trial stands over to the next assizes.—Lindsay Post.

BELLEVILLE.

THE HAY FORK AGAIN.—The hay fork gang are still operating in Hastings county and victims are coming to Belleville to take legal proceedings to protect themselves.

THE FERRY.—Great indignation was expressed by Prince Edward people on Saturday because the ferry steamer to Belleville was not run, although her route was clear of ice. Seventy teams had assembled at the landing on the Prince Edward side, and many people crossed to market in skiffs.

OTONABEE.

From our own Correspondent.

HONOR ROLL.—The following list contains the names of those scholars entitled to honorable mention for the month of March for S.S. No. 12, Otonabee, A. V. Weir teacher.

GIRLS—Lillie Sedgwick, Matilda Sedgwick, Maggie Hair, Lizzie McCarthy, Jennie Bean, Eva Weir, Essie Sedgwick, Maggie Agnew, Annie Armstrong.

BOYS—Robert Whatley, Johnnie Sedgwick, Damir Holland, Albert Price, Willie Whatley, Willie Bean, Tom McCarthy.

HARVEY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Harvey Council met at the Town Hall on the 31st. March 1884 pursuant to adjournment. A vacancy having occured in the Reeveship caused by the sudden death of the late George Oliver. Mr. McIlmoyle was appointed Chairman of the meeting. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. Shaw and Mr. Ingram were appointed to let the contract for building a bridge across Squaw river on the newly surveyed road, also to inspect and accept the job when completed, and report to the Council. A by-law was passed signed and sealed dividing School Section No. 3 into two sections The Council adjourned to meet at the Town Hall for Court of Revision on the 2nd. of June next.

LINDSAY.

NEW PLAN OF WINTERING A HOG.—Mr. James Maganey of Ops when threshing last fall built his straw stack on a heap of straw, and one of his hogs being in the straw at the time was covered over. This was in the beginning of November. In March when feeding some straw they come on his pigship still alive but very lean.—Post

A DEADLY WEAPON.—Mr John Power, of Lindsay, has a curious weapon which was brought from Winnipeg. It consists of a leather belt through which run small tubs, and is loaded with a great number of little poisonous darts an eighth of an inch long. By pressing on it in one spot it discharges one or more of these darts with great force. He says at a distance of six feet it will enter the skin of anything and poison so effectually as to cause death in a short time. —Warden

HAMILTON.

MILITARY NEWS.—The 13th Battalion will take part in the Semi-Centennial at Toronto in June.

A CONSTABLE'S MISHAPS.—Constable Knox, while on duty at the Salvation Army barracks some time ago, was rushed down a pair of stairs and received severe injuries. One-third of his pay was deducted while he was ill, and as the Salvationists did not offer to make it up, the police commissioners ordered the amount deducted to be refunded.

DOMESTIC JARS. Tomas H. Kaler married a Miss Ritchie. They quarreled and separated, Kaler going to Kansas and his wife to his mother's, Kaler returned last Saturday, and with his brother, James Kaler, went to the Ritchie farm, and under pretence of effecting a reconciliation kidnapped two of his children who had been given in charge of his wife, taking them to a carriage he had in waiting. This raised such a row that he took one child back retaining the elder girl, the presence of his brother, who represented himself as a constable, helping him in his scheme. Mr. Ritchie, Mrs. Kaler's brother, had Kaler and his brother brought before the magistrate here to-day on a charge of abduction. The case was adjourned, both prisoners being admitted to bail.

BOBCAYGEON.

DRIVES.—The first gang of men for the drives went north on Friday. They were engaged by Mr. Wm. Anderson, and have gone to bring down the timber taken out in the township of Eyre, by the Irwin firm.

BOATS.—The steamers are preparing for the opening of navigation. The engineers are at work fitting up the engines putting them in repair. The Beaubocage has thrown off its winter flannels, and the others will follow suit shortly.

QUARRY.—There was a report that the Quarry was about being closed, but instructions have been received to go on with the work till further notice. About fifty men have been engaged all winter, and an immense quantity of dimension stone has been prepared. Excellent stone has been obtained, but the removal of the covering of the quarry was a great expense. A regular hill had to be removed. Some difficulty is now being experienced with the flood. The quarry has given considerable income and its closing would be a loss.

THEFT.—Thomas C. Dunn, a peddler of jewelry, and watch tinker, was arrested on Monday morning and brought before S. W. Crabtree, J. P., charged with stealing a silver watch from J. Boss Bell, near Dunsford It appears that Dunn stayed at Bells on Friday night last, and the watch was left in a waistcoat pocket hanging up in the room he used. On Saturday he came to the village bringing with him the watch, possibly as a memento of kindly friends. On Monday morning he was leisurely proceeding on his way to Kinmount when Bell and the village constable arrested him, and threw him into the dungeon under the Town Hall. On being searched the watch was found and identified by Bell. The magistrate committed him for trial, and he was taken off to Lindsay by special conveyance, in good style, and at Her Majesty's expense.

A Constantinople despatch says the United States, Russian and German Governments have sent a fresh and energetic note to the Porte protesting against the excessive dues charged for the storage of petroleum, and especially because depots have been introduced at Beyrout and other Syrian ports, where still greater extortion is practised.

JAMES BRAYLEY, Hamilton, says:—"I read the testimonial for McGregor's Speedy Cure and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, Louisiana or Texas to find living Witnesses of its value, we had plenty of persons right here to prove its merits. I got a bottle and it helped me right away, I was as bad with Bilious Fever and Indigestion as I think any one could be, I have taken three bottles and am nearly well and can eat any kind of food without it hurting me. I may say that I am better than ever I expected to be." Free trial bottles at John McKee's drug store.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind, colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the perscription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Our Canadian Industry

is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required In nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must nessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs' Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding, Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

Is it not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of those distressing complaints? If you think so call at our store and get a bottle of Shiloh's vitalizer. Every bottle has a printed guarantee on it, use accordingly, and if it does you no good it will cost you nothing. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Y. M. C. A.

A special young men's meeting will be held in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms to-night. An address will be given by Mr. T. S. Cole, Travelling Secretary of the Association, on the best method of prosecuting Christian work. All young men are invited to attend.

Court of Chancery.

The Spring Sittings of the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice commenced at two o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Justice Ferguson presiding. There are five cases entered for hearing. The following representatives of the bar from a distance were present:—Messrs. C. Moss, Q.C., Geo. T. Blackstock and A. M. Grier, of Toronto.

Mr. Johnston's Gymnastic Classes.

We are requested to announce that Mr. Johnston's classes commence to-night in the ball room of the Oriental Hotel at 8 o'clock punctually. Among the different exercises to be undertaken are:—Boxing, wrestling, clubs, dumb bells, bar-bells, leaping, &c., and light calisthenics—a programme difficult to improve up on for insuring thorough physical development.

Pencil Points.

—Fine weather.

—A blank at the Police Court this morning.

—Could any one beat this bull which was made by an oratorical novice at a meeting in town recently:—"Before you put my name down there, you had better take it off."

Health Bulletin.

The official report of the health of Ontario, for the week ending Saturday, March 29th, has the following:—It will be remembered that for the two preceding weeks, the weather had taken on the characters of spring. This week we again see has a temperature very markedly above the normal. The effects upon the health have through the prevalence of southerly winds been fairly favourable to the general health. The diseases of the respiratory organs still maintain the most prominent position. Influenza especially being along with bronchitis of unusual prevalence. The most noticeable advances are, however, in the amounts of neuralgia and of rheumatism; the former occurs amongst the six prevailing diseases in all the ten districts, while rheumatism appears in seven out of ten. But their actual prevalence is likewise indicated in their precentage of prevalence, rheumatism especially, having very noticeably advanced. Pneumonia and consumption retain much of their previous prevalence, the former being still high. Amongst fevers, intermittent is rapidly advancing in a manner similar to that in the spring of 1883. Typhoid does not appear prevalent. Amongst the contagious zymotics there is nothing worthy of note, unless it be the slightly upward tendency of measles and diphtheria as compared with last week. There does not, however, seem to be any notable outbreak of any contagious disease reported to the Board. Diarrhœa is very markedly increasing. Whether this be not due to infiltration of surface water impregnated with organic materials into wells and water supplies hardly admits of question. Care in the removal of such materials from proximity to wells seems to be enforced by such facts. The six most prevalent diseases in the district in which Poterborough is included are as follows:—Influenza, 16.7; bronchitis, 12.7; diarrhœa, 9.1; mumps, 7.6; rheumatism, 7; neuralgia, 5.1.

THE PEOPLE'S PASTIMES

THE SPORTING ASSOCIATIONS PREPARING FOR THE SEASON.

The Annual Meetings of the Lacrosse and Boating Clubs—Enthusiastic Gatherings—The Officers Elected for the Year.

The sporting clubs of Peterborough have taken time by the bangs, so to speak, and are preparing in good time for the coming season. The annual meetings of the Cricket, Lacrosse and Boating Clubs have now been held, and at each of them there was a large attendance. The activity among the sporting men this spring is much greater than it was last year. In the spring of 1883 the Cricket Club was late in calling its annual meeting, and then it was postponed once or twice, while the Boating Club, although its meeting was called earlier, did not secure a good attendance at the first meeting. This year affords a marked contrast. There has been a large attendance at the three gatherings, and considerable enthusiasm has been exhibited at each of them. From present indications it would seem that this was going to be a lively year on the water, in the field, and on the turf.

THE LACROSSE CLUB.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club was held in the Little Windsor Hotel on Monday evening. There was a large attendance, and the boys appeared anxious for the warmer weather that they might again take the field with the crosse.

The annual report showed the financial affairs of the club to be in a good condition—better than they have been at the commencement of any previous season.

The following officers were elected for the present year:—

HONORARY PRESIDENT—R. A. Morrow.
PRESIDENT—H. LeBrun.
1ST VICE-PRESIDENT—R. H. Fortye.
2ND VICE-PRESIDENT—Andrew McNeil.
SECRETARY—A. Yelland.
TREASURER—C. Rutherford.
CAPTAIN—W. A. Sanderson.
ASSISTANT CAPTAIN—W. J. Scott.
COMMITTEE—M. Tierney, J. Sheehy and G. Giroux.

Messrs. W. A. Sanderson and M. Giroux were elected delegates to the annual convention of the National Amateur Lacrosse Association, which meets in Toronto on April 11th. Mr. H. LeBrun, being a member of the Council, has a voice in the convention ex officio.

A number of new members were proposed and joined the club.

It was decided to procure new uniforms for the first twelve, and they will no doubt look nobby when they appear in the field.

The meeting adjourned until the evening of Wednesday, April 16th.

THE BOATING CLUB.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Boating Club, which was also held on Monday evening, was largely attended. The meeting at Stony Lake of the American Canoe Association last year, and the matched race on Chemong Lake appear to have caused renewed interest in aquatic sports, and those present were quite enthusiastic in their determination to make this a season to be remembered.

The following officers were elected:—

PRESIDENT.—E. B. Edwards.
VICE-PRESIDENT.—John McClelland.
CAPTAIN.—A. J. Belcher.
SECRETARY.—Geo. Stevenson.
TREASURER.—Alex. Elliott.
COMMITTEE.—F. W. Cox, J. Hawkins, J. Mercer and W. Rutherford.

Seventeen new members were proposed at this meeting, and the prospects of the club are very bright.

The meeting adjourned until the evening of Monday, April 21st.

Sportingmen, Attention!

A meeting of the sporting men of the town will be held at the Little Windsor Hotel on Thursday evening, April 10th, at 8 o'clock, to take steps towards procuring a race course. All horse men should be present.

Social.

The Young People's Association of St. Andrew's Church intend holding a social in the schoolroom of that church on the evening of Good Friday. Music, vocal and instrumental, readings, &c. Refreshments will be served. Tickets, 25c.

Fresh and Salt.

Fresh Herring, Fresh Pickerel, Fresh Pike, Smoked Haddie, and Smoked Fish of all kinds on hand. We intend keeping constantly on hand a supply of Fresh Fish, and our customers can depend on getting them at all times, nice and fresh, and at reasonable prices. Fresh Herrings 20 cents per dozen. CARTON BROS., opposite the Market Square.

Grand Easter Concert at Port Hope

by the Port Hope Choral Society on Tuesday evening, April 15th. The services of the following strong attractions have been secured for the occasion:—Mrs. Celeste V. Kettie, concert star of Buffalo; Mr. Fred. Warrington, of Toronto, Ontario's popular baritone; Miss Emily Gilmore, of the Detroit School of Music, pianist; Mrs. F. M. Whitehead, Port Hope's favorite soprano; Mr. H. B. Hall, Port Hope's favorite baritone. A chorus of forty voices and the Operatta "High Life" in 3 acts, with costumes and scenery. A special train will leave Peterborough station on the evening of the Concert and return immediately after. Tickets for railway fare and Concert only $1. E. Shepherd, conductor; Mrs. E. Shepherd, pianist. Remember the 15th April.

Lemons and large Sweet Valentia Oranges in abundance, at CARTON BROS., opposite the Market Square.

The Jews.

The state and condition of the Jews—the people of God—is one of great interest to Christian people, and an increasing interest is being manifested in their behalf by the Church of England, especially through the society for promoting Christianity among the Jews. In accordance, therefore, with the recommendations of the Bishop of Toronto, the Bishop of the diocese, a sermon will be preached in St. John's church, and a collection taken up for the purpose on Good Friday, morning and evening.

A Narrow Escape.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The St. George Apartment house on 17th street caught fire today. Fourteen families escaped with much difficulty. Two firemen and an engineer were hurt by a falling elevator. The ambulance, which hastened to the scene, was upset and Commissioner Brennan and Surgeon Rutherford thrown out, the latter being badly bruised and the commissioner slightly. The elevator boy, who had gone to the top story to help out a sick woman, found he escape cut off and ran to the window; he was rescued. A lady was also rescued. The loss is a total wreck. Loss on building $100,000; on effects of occupants, $50,000. Nothing was saved. The fire began among rubbish in the cellar, and was carried instantly to the roof through a dumb waiter. Three servant girls were carried down a ladder from the attic.

Edmund Yates.

LONDON, April 8.—Lawyers think that the sentence passed on Edmund Yates, the gossip editor of the World, to merely a piece of comedy. Justice Lord Coleridge is a friend of Yates. They believe that the court of Appeal will hold that the public prosecutor's act is necessary to a Criminal prosecution. It is the opinion of those who attended Mr. Gosselin the [illegible]

THE APPROACH OF SPRING.

The Annual Openings of the Millinery Establishments—Elegant Displays.

If there is one pleasure in the approach of spring greater than another—apart, that is, from that derived from the beauties of nature—it is in the pleasing change from the dull, sombre costumes of winter to the brighter tints suitable for the summer season. Dark shades and heavy furs are doubtless most congruous from November to March, but the eye wearies of the monotony, and enjoys with avidity the varied tints that April invariably ushers in.

Our townsmen are aware of this fact, and, at this season of the year, display their choicest goods. We have had the pleasure of being present at these exhibitions. Among others we may mention the millinery opening of HAEL, INNES & CO.

The large number of ladies who have visited this firm's show rooms perhaps know more of the technical details than even the encyclopædical journalist, but we may mention that the rooms were tastily draped with lace goods of various patterns, and that the display of hats, bonnets, jackets, mantles, dolmans, etc., etc., of every shade and variety was very tempting. A beautiful collection of ostrich plumes also was no doubt admired by all who have had the pleasure of seeing them. Scattered amongst the larger articles also were numerous minor articles of dress—such as sashes, ties, trimmings, etc., which truly are important details and which only ladies know how to use to advantage.

JAMES ALEXANDER.

Mr. James Alexander's millinery opening took place this week, and, when the ladies visit his show room, they will thank us for having inadvertently caused him to have a three day opening instead of a two day one. In his advertisement it was stated that the opening would be on "Wednesday and Thursday, the 8th and 9th," and when it was so advertised he had the opening on the 8th and 9th, and, of course, will continue it on Thursday. Mr. Alexander thinks that even every small figure in the REVIEW is read and noted, for, while "Wednesday" stood out in bold caps, a large number visited the show room on the 8th.

—On entering Mr. Alexander's show room the first thing noticed is the good effect of the general arrangement of the goods. Millinery includes an ample number of bright colors and a sufficient variety of shades with which to artistically decorate a room, while still placing the goods in such a position that they will be exhibited to the best advantage, and under the superintendance of Miss Winters, the chief milliner of the establishment, this has been done in this show room.

The goods are differently arranged from what they were last year, and the change is an improvement. On the floor there are rows of iron stands or rods, on which the trimmed hats are placed, and they can thus be seen at all sides without being handled, while there is more room to move around in viewing the other articles. The distinguishing feature of the most of the new shapes is that they have a higher crown than those worn last year, and the principle new hats are the Phœa, the Militaire and the Fascination—all very nice hats. Of the new shades used in trimming these, the principal ones are a deep shade of Tuscan, and terra cotta and condour brown. Velvet trimmings are used more than formerly, as is also agnette. A small bonnet trimmed with net and pansies is a very pretty article.

A table on the south side of the show room is covered with new styles of trimmed hats, children's bonnets, and sailor hats of all descriptions, two flower stands, one arranged in the shape of a cross and the other in the form of a horseshoe, veilings, chenille, pon-pons and other articles. A curtain over this table is decorated with flowers, feathers, and chenille girdles, in such a manner that these articles are shown to a good advantage. The table at the north side of the room contains untrimmed shapes in the newest styles, while over it satin trimmings, fancy gauzes and handsome handkerchiefs are displayed. The ceiling is decorated with very pretty parasols in all sizes, and at the end of the room there are two large mirrors draped with lace. On a table in the centre of the room there is a "weeping willow" of feathers, very prettily arranged. Altogether there is a comprehensive and artistic exhibition of millinery in this show room, and as it is impossible to give a correct idea of the display, we advise the ladies to visit it and see for themselves.

The windows of the store are very handsomely dressed, one with parasols and millinery, and the other with dress goods and trimmings. We may in a future issue to take note of one or more other important millinery openings which want of space has to-day compelled us to postpone.

The Woman's Physician.

A common sense medical work for ladies only. Fully answers all questions which modesty prevents asking a male physician. Gives causes and symptoms of all diseases of the sex, with positive cure for each in plain language, written by ladies who have made these diseases a life study. A plain safe guide for every woman, young and old, single or married. Is recommended by many eminent lady physicians as a safe guide for the sex. Handsomely bound and illustrated. Sent postpaid for $1 per copy. Address the Rochester Publishing Co., 23, 25 & 27 Osburn Block, Rochester, N.Y.

Field Lightning.

Is the only instantaneous relief for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. Rubbing a few drops briskly on the part is enough. No taking nauseous medicines for weeks, but one minute's application proves its merit. Try it. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John Hackett's drug store.

The Quickest Thing on Record

is Field Lightning for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. It does not blister or discolor the skin. LONDON, April 9.—The Daily News says it is understood the Government has urged Gordon to vacate Khartoum.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES.

LONDON, April 8.—The police at Queenstown narrowly scrutinize the bagage of American passengers arriving on translantic steamers, in order to prevent the introduction of dynamite.

LONDON CORN EXCHANGE.

LONDON, April 8.—The secretary of the Corn Exchange reports enormous stocks of wheat, barley, and maize in London waterside granaries. Of wheat there are 454 quarters more than last year.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

PARIS, April 8.—A Haiphong despatch says the French attempt to cut off the Chinese retreat from Bacninh completely failed.

THE EUPHRATES VALLEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 8.—The Euphrates valley has been visited with serious floods. Great damage has been caused about Dianbekir and Kharput.

BISMARCK ON HIS LABOURS.

BERLIN, April 9.—Bismarck in a private conversation to-day, said:—"I have 60 years on my head. My nerves are in bad condition; I have not time to be unctuous. The telegraph fearfully multiplies my work. Germany is interested in whatever happens in the capitals of the world, including New York and Washington. The world is a chess-board, and I must watch the moves affecting Germany. The chancellorship is no sinecure; its duties might overtax a younger man's strength. Without the emperor's support I could not get through."

DIFFICULTIES IN EGYPT.

LONDON, April 8.—Sir Evelyn Baring has been instructed to try and arrange the differences between Nubar Pasha and Clifford Lloyd, and induce Nubar to retain his office by a stricter limitation of Lloyd's functions. The officials at Cairo are convinced that this is only a temporary policy and will result in immediate failure. It it reported that Nubar is willing to accept an arrangement. He strongly denies that his resignation was due to differences with Clifford Lloyd.

BELLEVILLE.

FOOTBALL.—The Belleville High School Football Club reorganized on April 2rd for the ensuing season.

CRICKET.—It is now proposed to reorganize the Belleville Cricket Club and should Mr. J. E. Halliwell lend his assistance, the matter will be accomplished.

DIVISION COURT ITEM.—In the Division Court at Belleville on Saturday Dr. Allen was ordered to pay his stock subscription to the Opera House Company, which he resisted on the ground that he had subscribed conditionally on his remaining in Belleville, and that he had since removed from the city.

SPORTING NOTES.—A few wild geese have made their appearance in these waters, but none of them have, so far, been killed. Ducks are scarce and very shy. Sportsmen have made but poor bags in consequence.

THE FERRIES.—The Mary Ethel is being put in readiness for the ferry season.

CONCERT.—Belleville lodge, No. 81, I.O.O.F., will celebrate the 65th anniversary of the order by a concert and assembly on the 25th. Brothers Edgar, Mallory, and Bedford, of Deseronto Lodge, Deseronto, visited Belleville Lodge on night of April 3rd.

GAVE HIMSELF UP.—On Saturday morning Nathan E. Baldwin, aged 22, a native of New York, entered the police station in this city and stated that he had committed two forgeries, for which he desired to be punished. He is a good looking young fellow and was very fairly dressed. He asserts that about a year ago, while in the employ of Heal, Murphy & Co., a lumber firm doing business on the White River, near Hesperia, Michigan, he received an order for $5, which he raised to $45. This was cashed by Mr. G. S. Webster, of Hesperia. Soon after he forged an order on Mr. A. P. Waite, another lumberman, for 20, and that was cashed in Everett. Since then he has wandered around. His desire now is that he will be extradited, punished for his offences, and after his sentence has expired he will lead a better life.

A Novel Measure.

The Council of Montreal Board of Trade are considering a measure to be brought up in the Quebec Legislature for the repeal of an old Act making it a penal offence to destroy the ice-bridge between Quebec and Levis, which in the opinion of leading shippers and business men materially regards the opening of navigation in the St. Lawrence and affords a serious obstacle to the carrying trade of the Dominion.

THE APPROACH OF SPRING.

The Annual Openings of the Millinery Establishments—Elegant Displays.

If there is one pleasure in the approach of spring greater than another—apart, that is, from that derived from the beauties of nature—it is in the pleasing change from the dull, sombre costumes of winter to the brighter tints suitable for the summer season. Dark shades and heavy furs are doubtless most congruous from November to March, but the eye wearies of the monotony, and enjoys with avidity the varied tints that April invariably ushers in.

Our townsmen are aware of this fact, and, at this season of the year, display their choicest goods. We have had the pleasure of being present at these exhibitions. Among others we may mention the millinery opening of

HALL, INNES & CO.

The large number of ladies who have visited this firm's show rooms perhaps know more of the technical details than even the encyclopædical journalist, but we may mention that the rooms were tastily draped with lace goods of various patterns, and that the display of hats, bonnets, jackets, mantles, dolmans, etc., etc., of every shade and variety was very tempting. A beautiful collection of ostrich plumes also was no doubt admired by all who have had the pleasure of seeing them. Scattered amongst the larger articles also were numerous minor articles of dress—such as sashes, ties, trimmings, etc., which truly are important details and which only ladies know how to use to advantage.

JAMES ALEXANDER.

Mr. James Alexander's millinery opening took place this week, and, when the ladies visit his show room, they will thank us for having inadvertently caused him to have a three day opening instead of a two day one. In his advertisement it was stated that the opening would be on "Wednesday and Thursday, the 8th and 9th," and when it was so advertised he had the opening on the 8th and 9th, and, of course, will continue it on Thursday. Mr. Alexander thinks that even every small figure in the REVIEW is read and noted, for, while "Wednesday" stood out in bold caps, a large number visited the show room on the 8th.

On entering Mr. Alexander's show room the first thing noticed is the good effect of the general arrangement of the goods. Millinery includes an ample number of bright colors and a sufficient variety of shades with which to artistically decorate a room, while still placing the goods in such a position that they will be exhibited to the best advantage, and under the superintendance of Miss Winters, the chief milliner of the establishment, this has been done in this show room.

The goods are differently arranged from what they were last year, and the change is an improvement. On the floor there are rows of iron stands or rods, on which the trimmed hats are placed, and they can thus be seen at all sides without being handled, while there is more room to move around in viewing the other articles. The distinguishing feature of the most of the new shapes is that they have a higher crown than those worn last year, and the principle new hats are the Phona, the Militaire and the Fascination—all very nice hats. Of the new shades used in trimming these, the principal ones are a deep shade of Tuscan, and terra cotta and condour brown. Velvet trimmings are used more than formerly, as is also aghette. A small bonnet trimmed with net and pansies is a very pretty article.

A table on the south side of the show room is covered with new styles of trimmed hats, children's bonnets, and sailor hats of all descriptions, two flower stands, one arranged in the shape of a cross and the other in the form of a horseshoe, veilings, chenille, pon-pons and other articles. A curtain over this table is decorated with flowers, feathers, and chenille girdles, in such a manner that these articles are shown to a good advantage. The table at the north side of the room contains untrimmed shapes in the newest styles, while over it satin trimmings, fancy gauzes and handsome handkerchiefs are displayed. The ceiling is decorated with very pretty parasols in all sizes, and at the end of the room there are two large mirrers draped with lace. On a table in the centre of the room there is a "weeping willow" of feathers, very prettily arranged. Altogether there is a comprehensive and artistic exhibition of millinery in this show room, and as it is impossible to give a correct idea of the display, we advise the ladies to visit it and see for themselves.

The windows of the store are very handsomely dressed, one with parasols and millinery, and the other with dress goods and trimmings. We hope in a future issue to take note of one or more other important millinery openings, which want of space has to-day compelled us to postpone.

LONDON, April 9.—The Daily News says it is understood the Government has urged Gordon to vacate Khartoum.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES.

LONDON, April 8.—The police at Queenstown narrowly scrutinize the bagage of American passengers arriving on translantic steamers, in order to prevent the introduction of dynamite.

LONDON CORN EXCHANGE.

LONDON, April 8.—The secretary of the Corn Exchange reports enormous stocks of wheat, barley, and maize in London waterside granaries. Of wheat there are 454 quarters more than last year.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

PARIS, April 8.—A Haiphong despatch says the French attempt to cut off the Chinese retreat from Bacninh completely failed.

THE EUPHRATES VALLEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 8.—The Euphrates valley has been visited with serious floods. Great damage has been caused about Dianbekir and Kharput.

BISMARCK ON HIS LABOURS.

BERLIN, April 9.—Bismarck in a private conversation to-day, said:—"I have 60 years on my head. My nerves are in bad condition; I have not time to be unctuous. The telegraph fearfully multiplies my work. Germany is interested in whatever happens in the capitals of the world, including New York and Washington. The world is a chess-board, and I must watch the moves affecting Germany. The chancellorship is no sinecure; its duties might overtax a younger man's strength. Without the emperor's support I could not get through."

DIFFICULTIES IN EGYPT.

LONDON, April 8.—Sir Evelyn Baring has been instructed to try and arrange the differences between Nubar Pasha and Clifford Lloyd, and induce Nubar to retain his office by a stricter limitation of Lloyd's functions. The officials at Cairo are convinced that this is only a temporary policy and will result in immediate failure. It it reported that Nubar is willing to accept an arrangement. He strongly denies that his resignation was due to differences with Clifford Lloyd.

BELLEVILLE.

FOOTBALL.—The Belleville High School Football Club reorganized on April 2rd for the ensuing season.

CRICKET.—It is now proposed to reorganize the Belleville Cricket Club and should Mr. J. E. Halliwell lend his assistance, the matter will be accomplished.

DIVISION COURT ITEM.—In the Division Court at Belleville on Saturday Dr. A[illegible] was ordered to pay his stock subscription to the Opera House Company, which he resisted on the ground that he had subscribed conditionally on his remaining in Belleville, and that he had since removed from the city.

SPORTING NOTES.—A few wild geese have made their appearance in these waters, but none of them have, so far, been killed. Ducks are scarce and very shy. Sportsmen have made but poor bags in consequence.

THE FERRIES.—The Mary Ethel is being put in readiness for the ferry season.

GAVE HIMSELF UP.—On Saturday morning Nathan E. Baldwin, aged 22, a native of New York, entered the police station in this city and stated that he had committed two forgeries, for which he desired to be punished. He is a good looking young fellow and was very fairly dressed. He asserts that about a year ago, while in the employ of Heal, Murphy & Co., a lumber firm doing business on the White River, near Hesperia, Michigan, he received an order for $5 which he raised to $45. This was cashed by Mr. G. S. Webster, of Hesperia. Soon after he forged an order on Mr. A. P. Waite, another lumberman, for 20, and that was cashed in Everett. Since then he has wandered around. His desire now is that he will be extradited, punished for his offences, and after his sentence has expired he will lead a better life.

A Novel Measure.

The Council of Montreal Board of Trade are considering a measure to be brought up in the Quebec Legislature for the repeal of an old Act making it a penal offence to destroy the ice-bridge between Quebec and Levis, which in the opinion of leading shippers and business men materially regards the opening of navigation in the St. Lawrence and affords a serious obstacle to the carrying trade of the Dominion.

FALSE WITNESSES.

Some of the Reform journals are aiding Mr. Mowat, his colleagues and informers in their conspiracy to procure bribery and, if possible, to implicate Conservatives, by all possible dishonest means. One device is to represent Stimson and Lynch as one and the same person without having the faintest shadow of evidence even from the perjured witnesses. The only evidence as to Stimson is that, having some extensive business transactions, he changed some large notes. As to Lynch, the only person who seems to know anything about his identity is Mr. Mowat, who informed the House that he was a citizen of the United States, and perhaps being thus suspiciously acquainted with him, may probably know where he is now.

Another trick is to endeavour to insinuate that the Hon. Mr. Macpherson was a party to corrupt offers. Some journals falsify Mr. Macpherson's letter, and then giving his contradiction correctly, pretend that he has contradicted himself. Others give the letter correctly, and then falsely state or insinuate that the contradiction applies to this. The truth as to the letter is that Mr. Macpherson wrote to Mr. Wilkinson that he would recommend his appointment to the office of Sheriff of Edmonton. The truth as to Mr. Macpherson's statement in the Senate is that he did not contradict this letter, but that he did contradict the wilful and slanderous falsehood of Mr. Mowat in the Ontario Legislature, when he carried out his part in the conspiracy by mendaciously assailing the character of honester men than himself.

The letter and the statement of Mr. Macpherson are not contradictory, and to make them appear so, unscrupulous Reform journals have to falsify either one or the other.

Legislative Whitewash.

As an independent politican, I should like to have the World's views on Mowat's latest effort in the direction of good government, by the introduction of an "act for the relief of certain deputy returning officers," passed at the tail end of the session.

The World has no hesitation in expressing its opinion that such legislation is vicious, and Mr. Mowat almost confessed as much during the debate upon the measure in question. We do not say that returning officers should be vigorously punished for making mistakes, but when qualified voters are turned away from the polling booths and when it happens that the voters so disfranchised are all members of the one party, the inference is inevitable that it is not all a mistake. The only justification urged during the debate was that Sir John A. Macdonnald had set the Tupper case, but this argument cannot come with force to those who condemned the Tupper rehabilitation. And there is this difference between the two cases: Tupper's violation of the letter of the law injured no one, in fact his presence in London last summer proved a good thing for the farmers and cattle dealers of the dominion. On the other hand, Mr. Mowat's returning officers deprived a number of citizens of one of their dearest rights; in any case retroactive legislation is to be deprecated. Officials, be they big or little, should possess sufficient intelligence and caution to avoid all necessity for the whitewash brush.—Toronto World.

A Laughable Scene.

The Ottawa correspondent of the independent Montreal Star thus describes a laughable scene in connection with Mr. Charlton's amendment in the House of Commons attacking the Government for increasing our debt and taxation:—

"While he was reading his amendment one of the most comical occurrences of the session took place. When he narrated the first crying evil of which the Conservatives had been guilty, some wag in the ministerial ranks delivered himself of a laborious groan; a roar of laughter followed; the example spread, and after that the narration of each wrong was followed by a groan from six or seven dozen members. The groans were not of a sharp and scornful nature; but they were good old-fashioned, sorrowful groans, each one beginning low and rising higher and higher, until it reached a climax, when it gradually died away to a long-drawn, mournful wail. The whole thing was so irresistibly funny that it brought forth roars of laughter from all parts of the House, and drew a smile even to the face of the person who was being made fun of."

"Wit"

In an article on the conspiracy, the Globe pictures Wilkinson as singing with "enthusiastic devotion"; Pardee paid it all, All that I was due, And I've his note as sure as a gun, For everything I do! If the above were funny instead of being stupid, the readers of the Globe might perhaps excuse the editor for travestying one of the most cherished of Christian hymns. But surely the resources of slang are not so exhausted as to justify what verges on blasphemy?—Grip.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Hudson Bay Route—The Trouble With Newfoundland—The North Shore, Grand Trunk and C. P. R.

THE HUDSON BAY ROUTE.

On Monday a bill to amend the charter of the Hudson Bay Railway Co. was read a third time.

JUDICIAL SALARIES.

Sir J. MACDONALD in reply to Mr. Baker, said that Hansard had reported him correctly; that the Minister of Justice had been spared; that the Government had lasted; and that they had intended to submit a measure regarding judicial salaries, but had been unable to do so this session.

AGRICULTURAL INDUSTRIES.

Sir H. LANGEVIN said in reply to Mr. Gigault, that the report of the Committee to enquire into the best means of encouraging and developing our agricultural industries had not been printed, and the Government had not come to any conclusions regarding it, but would do so during the recess.

NORTH SHORE RAILWAY.

Sir H. LANGEVIN in reply to Mr. Houde, said that the Government had received no official offer from the Grand Trunk or the North Shore Railway, but he had received a letter from the manager expressing a readiness to treat. He also said that the C. P. R. was in negotiation with the Quebec Government on the subject.

THE MCCARTHY ACT.

Sir J. MACDONALD said he would let his motion as to amendments of the License Act of 1883 stand, on account of the absence of Mr. McCarthy.

CIVIL SERVICE ACT.

The Civil Service Act was amended in Committee, the principal charges being that copyists need only pass in handwriting, that promotion examinations should only be on t e duties required and that medical certificates should be required in cases of absence from illness.

THE INSPECTION ACT.

Mr. COSTIGAN in Committee introduced an additional clause exempting Newfoundland oil from inspection.

Sir L. TILLEY said Newfoundland had been acting partly under a misconception, and an amicable arrangement was likely to be effected.

Mr. FORTIN uttered a warning against giving way too much to Newfoundland.

THE INDIANS.

Sir J. MACDONALD in Committee proposed amendments to the Indian Act, to punish the inciting of Indians to riot, to appoint a Stipendiary Magistrate at Metlakatla, B.C., to prohibit potlashes or Indian orgies, to prohibit giving liquor to Indians, and for other purposes.

Mr. DAWSON advocated giving the franchise to Indians, and condemned the narrow policy of the Ontario Government in disfranchising them.

IMMIGRATION.

The House went into Committee of Supply and passed some immigration items, Opposition members indulging in their favorite practice of belittling Canada and advocating the United States.

THE RUFFIAN OF THE PRESS.

THE Montreal Herald, a Reform journal, sharply rebukes the Toronto Globe for its falsehood in regard to an alleged application of the C. P. R. for a further sum of money, and concludes as follows:—

"The fact is, the Globe's malignity has overshot the mark. Its lying is of too gigantic a character. It has attracted attention too quickly and has called forth explanations and rebuttal too promptly to effect its purpose. All the same, the malignity, the dishonor, the wanton attempted destruction of the country's best interests, the wickedness which would sacrifice the safety of many millions of the public money in order to get a foul blow at a railway scheme which is subsidized by a Government that the Globe opposes, once more stand forth conspicuous in that journal which the London Spectator, so apt in coining epithets, might fairly describe as "The Ruffian of the Press."

An Independent Opinion.

The independent Trent Valley Advocate in its remarks upon the Mowat bribery plot says:—Advocate has not so far taken upon itself to praise or condemn either party in this matter. But in the case of McKim we have a few words to say. Being personally acquainted with the gentleman in question for years we know whereof we speak, and cannot conscientiously stand by and see him alluded to by the party press as a political saint. He is far from being that. If anything he is quite the reverse. As a politican he is steeped in corruption, and bribery has gained for him his seat in the Legislative Hall of Ontario on more than one occasion. As a private individual he has an unenviable reputation. It is well known that he has fleeced widows and orphans, workingmen and farmers, and every person with whom he came in contact. While howling against bribers he was the greatest of them all. Money was no object to him. Why should it be, when he was carrying on his nefarious bribery business with other people's money? McKim was never known as a wealthy man in the neighborhood in which he resided, but through misrepresentation he succeeded in becoming a debtor to the extent of over $60,000 before being closed by the sheriff. Would an honorable man have done so? We opine not. * * * * * * * *

People who know him would not place any credence on his sworn testimony, and in our opinion it would be worse than a waste of time and paper listening to and recording his evidence before the courts.

Dangerous Epidemic Among Sheep.

MONTREAL, April 7.—It is stated here that a serious epidemic has appeared among sheep in this neighborhood, which in their present state renders their flesh unfit for human food. It is at present confined to Laprairie county, and affects, the Government Inspector says, about four-fifths of the flocks. The disease is described as in the skin, the wool disappearing altogether. What steps will be taken to prevent the disease spreading, except isolation, which has been adopted already, is not yet known. It is supposed some of the carcases have been disposed of to butchers in the city, although supposed to be injurious to health, which shows the absolute necessity for the by-law against private slaughtering being carried out.

The Housewife.

A popular domestic journal for American homes, will be sent for one year free to every lady who will send at once the names and address of 10 married ladies, and 50 cents (no stamps taken). Address, the HOUSEWIFE, Rochester, N. Y.

Weston After his Walk.

After Weston had completed his 5,000 mile walk in 100 days, he was examined by medical men among whom was Dr. Richardson. In an address subsequently Dr. Richardson said:

We who represent temperance in this kingdom may now, without any boasting, be extremely satisfied with the issue. We need not mind whether anybody else can do it on other principles—the great fact is ours, that this man can walk for four months at the rate of fifty miles a day, and perform, as Mr. Mills tells me, the extraordinary phenomenon of lifting his body 10,688,000 times reckoned by each step; and go through all this waste and wear of brain and muscle without having the least resort to that which people in this country have believed for centuries to be the staminal food of man. We may be quite satisfied now that stimulants are perfectly useless for great physical effort; and that, whether we be engaged on such expeditions as these, or whether it be our soldiers or sailors out fighting or our men exploring unknown parts of the world, facing now the tropical heat or the extreme cold, we know they can endure and go on with perfect success without any reference to this dangerous and surreptitious means of obtaining what is called assistance in their effort. I have been watching Mr. Weston the past week very closely. It has occurred to the Medical Temperance Association that we should devote a week of observation to Mr. Weston, and a committee was thereupon formed, and Mr. Green, a most accomplished observer, and who is destined to rise to a high rank in his profession, was engaged by us never to leave him during the past week, but all through to take his pulse, breath, weight, and make other observations of a physiological kind which could ultimately be of use in making this great experiment a benefit to the world. I have seen Mr. Weston as he walked, and when he has come off I have listened to his breathing and also the beating of his heart. I have seen all that can be used in the way of enquiry, and I have come to this conclusion with regard to him, that a more perfectly healthy condition of body and mind there could not be in any person. (Cheers.) If he came before me as a physician to an assurance company I should not, from the last examination I made of him, hesitate to return him as one of the first-class lives. The phenomenon is remarkable. There is nothing at all in the way of fatigue or strain apparent of any sort. I can only attribute this to the circumstance of his living such a perfectly healthy, natural life during the time he has been carrying out the walk. Taking nothing that would strain the heart, confuse the brain, interfere with the breathing, and all the natural acts of excretion, waste has gone on perfectly, so that he stands free from any of those dangers which came on under less favorable circumstances.

BEEF FOR EASTER

JAS. HOWDEN

Has much pleasure in informing his customers and the public in general, that he has made an extra "Big Push" this year for the best cattle which Ontario could produce for the Easter Holidays of 1884, and has secured the following prime animals at considerable expense, and which he can safely state cannot be excelled for quality:—

Four steers, two years old, fed by Mr. C. Williams, one of the noted breeders and feeders of Haldimand, whose feeding is a sufficient recommendation.

Two Thoroughbred Steers two years old fed by Mr. R. Muncey, of Alnwick, who is the best breeder and feeder in that district, and deserves great praise for feeding and care.

Two Steers three years old fed by Mr. Stevens, of Haldimand, who never spares the feed and makes beef to perfection.

Four Steers three years old fed by Dr Kincaid, which are the best steers ever shown in Peterborough, and for which he has received great praise.

One Steer three years old fed by Mr. William Isaacs, of Haldimand, who is also one of the noted breeders and feeders, and whose stock is always a credit to him.

Two Heifers fed by myself, which are in splendid condition and will make excellent beef.

One fine Calf fed by Mr. Fowler, of Emily. One extra fine calf fed by Mr. G. Fitzgerald, of Smith, and one fed by myself, all of which will make savory veal.

One fine Lamb fed by Mr. G. Fitzgerald. Two Lambs from the fold of Mr. Willan, of South Monaghan.

A number of Sheep fed by myself, which are extra good.

Also an abundant supply of Fancy Meats, Roasters, Pork, Spiced Meats, Hams, Bologna Sausage, Tripe.

Please leave in your Orders for Easter as early as convenient, in order to avoid the rush and inconvenience of the busy day. Give me a call!

CHAPTER II.—CONTINUED.

Reluctance to admission of the suspicion of unworthiness in others is the invariable concomitant of true nobility of soul in all pure and exalted natures; and with that genuine chivalry, which now, alas! is well nigh as rare as the aumoniere of pilgrims, the pastor bravely cast about the absent woman the broad soft ermine of his tender charity.

"Hannah, if your insinuations point to the lady who called here last night I can easily explain the suspicious fact of the handkerchief, which certainly belongs to her; for the room was close, and my visitor having raised that window and leaned out for fresh air, doubtless dropped her handkerchief without observing the loss."

"Do the initials 'O. O.' represent her name?" asked Mrs. Lindsay, whose adroitly propounded enquiries the previous evening had elicited no satisfactory information.

"Do not ladies generally stamp their own monograms when making articles that compose their wardrobes?" He put the unlucky piece of cambric in his pocket, and pertinacious Hannah suddenly stooped and dealt Biorn a blow which astonished the spectators even more than the yelping recipient, who dropped something at her feet and crawled behind his master.

"You horrid greedy pest! Are you in league with the thieves, that you must needs try to devour the signs and tell-tales they dropped in the track of their dirty work? It is only a glove this time, sir, and it was all crumpled, just so, where I first saw it, when I went out to hunt for footprints. It was hanging on the end of a rose-bush, yonder near the snowball, and you see it was rather too far from the window here to have fallen down with the handkerchief. Look, Miss Elise—your hands are small—but this would pinch even your fingers."

She triumphantly lifted a lady's kid glove, brown in colour, and garnished with three small oval silver buttons; the exact mate of one which Mr. Hargrove had noticed the previous evening, when the visitor held up the ring for his inspection. Exulting in the unanswerable logic of this latest fact, Hannah, quite unintentionally gave the glove a scornful toss, which caused it to fall into the fireplace and down between two oak logs, where it shrivelled instantaneously. Unfortunately, science is not chivalric, and divulges the unamiable and ungraceful truth, that perverted female natures from even the lower beastly types are more implacably vindictive, more subtly malicious, more ingeniously cruel than the stronger sex; and when a woman essays to track, to capture, or to punish—ve victis.

"Now, Biorn! improve your opportunity and heap coals of fire on slanderous Hannah's head by assuring her you feel convinced she did not premeditatedly destroy traces, and connive at the escape of the burglars, by burning that most important glove, which might have aided us in identifying them."

As Mr. Hargrove caressed his dog, he smiled, evidently relieved by the opportune accident; but Mrs. Lindsay looked grave, and an indignant flush purpled the harsh, pitiless face of the servant, who sullenly turned away, and busied herself in putting the furniture in order.

"Peyton, were the stolen papers of a character to benefit that person—or indeed anyone but yourself or your family?"

He knew the soft blue eyes of his sister were watching him keenly—saw, too, that the old servant stood still, and turned her head to listen, and he answered without hesitation:

"The box contained the deed of a disputed piece of property, those iron and lead mines in Missouri—and I relied upon it to establish my claim."

"Was the lady who visited you last night in any manner interested in that suit or its result?"

"Not in the remotest degree. She cannot even be aware of its existence. In addition to the deed, I have lost the policy of insurance on this house, which has always been entrusted to me, and I must immediately notify the company of the fact, and obtain a duplicate policy. Elsie, will you and Hannah please give me my breakfast as soon as possible, that I may go into town at once?"

Walking to the window, he stood for some moments with his hands folded behind him, and as he noted the splendour of the spectacle presented by the risen sun shining upon temples and palaces of ice, prism-tinting domes and minarets, and burnishings after the similitude of silver stalactites and arcades which had built themselves into crystal campaniles, more glorious than Giotto's, the pastor said:—"The physical world, just as God left it—how pure, how lovely, how entirely good; how sacred from his hallowing touch! Oh! that the world of men and women were half as unchangingly true, stainless, and holy."

An hour later he bent his steps, not to the lawyer's, nor yet to the insurance office, but to the depot of the only railroad which passed through the quiet, old-fashioned, and comparatively unimportant town of V——.

The station agent was asleep upon a sofa in the reception room, but when aroused informed Dr. Hargrove that the down train bound south had been accidentally detained four hours, and instead of being "on time"—due at 11 p.m.—did not pass through V—— until after three a.m. A lady, corresponding in all respects with the minister's description, had arrived about seven, on the up train; left a small valise, or traveller's satchell, for safe keeping in the baggage room; had inquired at what time she could catch the down train, signifying her intention to return upon it; and hired one of the carriages always waiting for passengers, and disappeared. About eleven o'clock she came back, paid the coachmen and dismissed the carriage; seemed very cold, and the agent built a good fire, telling her she could take a nap as the train was behind time, and he would call her when he heard the whistle. He then went home, several squares distant, to see one of his children, who was quite ill, and when he returned to the station and peeped into the reception room to see if it kept warm and comfortable, not a soul was visible. He wondered where the lady could have gone at that hour, and upon such a freezing night, but sat down by the gate in the freight room, and when the train blew for V—— he took his lantern and went out, and the first person he saw was the missing lady. She asked for her satchel, which he gave her, and he handed her up to the platform, and saw her go into the ladies' car.

"Had she a package or box when she returned and asked for her satchel?"

"I did not see any, but she wore a waterproof of gray cloth which came down to her feet. There was so much confusion when the train came in, that I scarcely noticed her, but remember she shivered a good deal, as if almost frozen."

"Did she buy a return ticket?"

"No; I asked if I should go to the post office for her, but she thanked me very politely, and said she would not require anything."

"Can you tell me to what place she was going?"

"I do not know where she came from, nor where she went. She was most uncommonly beautiful."

"Are the telegraph wires working South?"

"Why, bless you, sir, they are down in several places, from the weight of the ice; so I heard the station operator say, just before you came in."

As Dr. Hargrove walked away, an expression of stern indignation replaced the benign look that usually reigned over his noble features, and now he absolutely closed all the avenues of compassion, along which divers fallacious excuses and charitable conjectures had marched into his heart, and stifled for a time the rigorous verdict of reason.

He had known, from the moment he learned the tin box was missing, that only the frail, fair fingers of Minnie Merle could have abstracted it, but justice demanded that he should have indisputable proof of her presence in V—— after twelve o'clock, for he had not left the library at that hour, and knew that the train passed through at eleven.

TORONTO.

VITAL STATISTICS.—During the past week there were registered at the city hall, 16 marriages, 68 births, and 49 deaths.

THE SUBWAY.—A survey of the proposed subway on King street west will be proceeded with at once, preparatory to submitting the plan to the authorities.

THE SEMI-CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.—The Semi-centennial Committee has forwarded a communication to the Mayor asking that the fire department be permited to take part in the celebration, that Chief Ardagh's name be added to the committee.

EXCHANGE OF PULPITS.—On Sunday the annual exchange of pulpits by the ministers of the evangelical denominations took place. Presbyterian congregations listened to Methodists, Methodist congregations listened to Baptists, and Baptist congregations listened to Congregational preachers, and it is safe to say that from the character of the discourses it would have been impossible to decide to which body the occupant of the pulpit belonged.

THE WOUNDED MAN HACKETT.—Hackett's condition was thought at the hospital to be more serious on Sunday, and during the afternoon Mr. Baxter, J. P., took his statement of the circumstances attending the shooting. Although this deposition is not an ante-mortem statement in the eye of the law, it was deemed advisable to obtain it in case more severe and dangerous symptoms should follow and prevent his giving it. Besides the dangerous bullet wound it is thought that severe injury was done to the abdomen during the struggle before the shot was fired. Great pain is felt in the abdomen, and this increases the severity of the case.

A TRAIN DERAILED.—A Grand Trunk freight train was derailed on Friday night near Scarboro'. It left the Don station late in the evening and proceeded eastward. A short distance west of Scarboro' a drawbar became dislodged and fell across the rails. As the wheels of the cars passed over the piece of metal they became dislodged, and almost the entire train was thrown off the track. The locomotive was stopped, not, however, before considerable damage had been done to the cars and their contents. Traffic was blocked on the line for a time, but by eight o'clock Saturday morning the wrecking party had got the cars again on the rails. The damage done will amount to about $3,000. In consequence of this accident Friday night's express was delayed ten hours.

STILL IN A SERIOUS CONDITION.—Hackett lies at the hospital in about the same condition, as on Sunday. He is in a serious condition, but the doctors have hopes of his recovery, although he is himself very despondent, and does not believe that he will recover.

THE CO-OPERATIVE BAKERY SCHEME.—A special meeting of the Totonto Co-Operative Union Baking and Milling Society (Limited), was held on Monday night in Albert hall, the president, Mr. Jas. McMillan, in the chair. The rules of the association, which had been drafted by a special committee, were considered seriatim, and adopted. The price of each share was fixed at $5, no member to hold more than one hundred.

PREPARING FOR THE CONFERENCE.—The Methodists of the city are preparing for the meeting of the conferences in June. In the first week of that month the Toronto conference of the Canada Methodist Church will meet, and afterwards the Toronto conference of the united church will hold its first meeting. Arrangements are being made for billeting the ministers and laymen who will attend, upon the members of the church.

HACKETT'S ANTE MORTEM AFFIDAVIT.—Following is a verbatim copy of the ante mortem affidavit of John Hackett, taken on oath before ex-Ald. Baxter, Justice of Peace, on Sunday last at the hospital:—"On Wednesday last about 4 p.m. I was in Mrs. Rowell's house on Jarvis Street, in the rear of No. 91. Mrs. Rowell and Mrs. Allkins and myself were in a room. The prisoner Allkins came into the room. When he came into the room I stepped out of the room. After a short time, about two minutes, I came into the room again. He was talking to his wife. As I passed them I heard a pistol shot. I turned around and saw a revolver in Allkins' hand. His wife cried out, 'Oh, Horace, you have shot me; how could you be such a murderer?' I made a grab for the revolver, at the same time lowering his hand so that he could not shoot me. He then shot me in the right groin. When I found a quantity of blood running down my trousers I felt weak, but still hung on to the revolver. I struggled to prevent him shooting anyone of us. I then struck him in the face with my right hand. I felt so weak I took up a stove-lifter and struck him on the face with it. I then took hold of the revolver with my two hands and twisted it from him. I then left the house to get some one to go for a doctor. I hardly think I will recover."

One From a Thousand.

MORTON, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Yeiro, one of my neighbors, was taken with violent cramps and pain in the stomach. My wife was called in to see her. The woman was in great distress. We had a bottle of your Nerviline in the house, which we got from your agent, Mr. Sliter. My wife gave a dose and bathed her freely, and the woman became relieved immediately.—CALVIN STRUTHERS. J.P. ### How Would it do?

This bad weather requires a remedy. It seems as if the whole responsibility should rest on Vennor and Wiggins, for we had some kind of weather before they appeared upon the scene. How would it do to string them up? Would it make things better? Another hint of importance—don't hang on to your corns as weather indicators. Better string them out root and branch. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor will do it quickly, painlessly and with certainty. Don't buy dangerous flesh-eating substitutes. Get Putnam's, and no other.

A STRONG protest against the spoliation of the property of the Holy See by the Italian Government has been forwarded to the Vatican from the Catholic diocese of Montreal.

Our Canadian Industry

is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required. In nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must nessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding, Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9, 1884.

LOCAL NEWS

Police News.

There were nine tramps and one prisoner in the cells last night.

The Croft House.

Mr. W. Croft's bus will hereafter meet each train at the Midland Station to convey travellers to the Croft House.

Y. M. C. A.

There was a large attendance at the meeting in the Young Men's Christian Association on Tuesday evening. Mr. Cole, Travelling Secretary of the Association, delivered a very instructive address.

The Saved Army.

Lieut. Munt and a number of soldiers from Peterborough took part in the meeting at Lakefield on Tuesday evening. There will be a meeting in the Opera House this evening, when Lieut. Munt will be assisted by Lieut. Louise Pearce, of Cobourg.

Social Entertainment.

A Social Entertainment will be held on the evening of Good Friday, in the school room of St. Andrew's Church, under the auspices of the Young People's Association. A good musical and literary programme will be provided. Tickets 25 cents.

The Athletic Games.

The athletic class managed by Mr. E. W. Johnston opened last evening to a goodly attendance of members. The first of the class exercises will be given on Thursday evening. A boys' class will be formed, and all young boys who want to avail themselves of this line of training should enroll themselves at once.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows: Moderate winds, cloudy to fair weather, with showers of sleet or rain at a few places in the southern portion. Not much change in temperature.

Church Pews and Fence.

The old pews of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, and the wrought iron fence surrounding it, are for sale, as the contemplated improvements require their removal. Mr. W. G. Ferguson, at the grocery store of Peter Connal & Co., has the disposal of them, not later than Saturday, April 14th.

The Missing Link.

Since the track has been flooded at Lily Lake advantage has been taken of the suspension of travel to improve the line all along by adding more ballast where it was required. The track at the lake, or sink hole, has not been moved by the flood. More timber, however, will be placed under it to make it more firm. It is expected that it will again be ready for trains by April 25th.

Easter Beef.

Messrs. McNairn & Thompson have made ample preparations for the Easter market. This morning two fine young steers, which they purchased from Mr. Wm. Telford, of Smith, were on the market, and they would certainly make fine beef. They have also purchased six head of cattle in excellent condition from Mr. M. Sanderson, Reeve of Smith. Those who desire fine meat for Easter should visit their shop, George street, opposite Dr. Harvey's, lately occupied by Mr. Thos. Coe.

McBride's Specialty.

A company calling themselves McBride's Star Specialty Company attempted to give an entertainment in the Opera House on Tuesday evening, but the attempt was a failure. There were only a few present to witness the performance, and they were perfectly satisfied—that they had never seen a worse performance. At a few minutes after nine o'clock McBride advised the audience to "sneak out," and they took his advice. The Company had not left town at noon, but when they go they will probably not have as heavy a load as they brought with them.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

The Spring Sitting of the Chancery Division now in Peterborough.

LONG VS. MORRISON.—This was an action to recover $500 paid on a syndicate contract for the purchase of land in Manitoba, on the ground that the plaintiff was induced to enter the Syndicate by misrepresentation. The plaintiff failed in proving misrepresentation sufficient to enable him to succeed, and the action was dismissed with costs. Messrs. Pousettee & Roger for plaintiff, and Messrs. Dumble & Henry for defendant.

HARMER VS. ONTARIO AND QUEBEC.—This was an action to compel the railway company to arbitrate with regard to the value of land. The defendants set up a contract made with the father of the plaintiff, and a deed executed by the plaintiff which was never delivered to the company. The company claimed a remedy over against the father, in case the plaintiff succeeded against them. The father defended himself against the claim on the ground that the contract had been obtained by fraud. The Judge held that the deed signed by the plaintiff and sent to his father had been technically delivered, and that he could not succeed. The action was dismissed, with costs as against Arthur Harmer, but without costs against Thomas Harmer. Messrs. Dumble & Henry for plaintiff, and Messrs. G. T. Blackstock and A. M. Grier for defendants.

Presentation.

On Tuesday evening a very pleasant incident took place in the City Band Hall. It was the presentation of an address and a fine E flat alto trombone to Mr. E. Dunford, who had been instrumental in organizing the band. The address was as follows:—

To Mr. Enos Dunford, Peterborough:

DEAR SIR,—We, the members of the City Band, take great pleasure in meeting you here to-night, and extending to you a grateful appreciation of the manner in which you have ever so zealously worked for the advancement of the interests of the Band, and so competently aided in its advancement to the position which it now holds among the leading musical organizations of Ontario. You must know that you have performed the labor of your position according to the dictates of your better feelings, and often sacrificed your own interests to those of the Band. We feel satisfied that your judgment has always been profound, and, once given, in accordance with that which we know to be right. We have not been insensible of the rectitude with which you have kept our organization, in every case, and would request your acceptance of this instrument as a souvenir of the respect and esteem which we entertain for you, personally as well as professionally, and we also trust that you will keep it as a memorial of the gratitude we owe to one who has done so much in the interests of the City Band.

On behalf of the Band,

JOHN HEYDON,
Secretary.

Mr. Dunford replied in suitable terms to the address, and expressed his thanks for the handsome gift.

These are Solid Facts.

The best blood purifier and system regulator ever placed within the reach of suffering humanity, truly is Electric Bitters. Inactivity of the Liver, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Weak Kidneys, or other disease of the urinary organs, or whoever requires an appetizer, tonic or mild stimulation, will always find Electric Bitters the best and only certain cure known. They act surely and quickly, every bottle guranteed to give entire satisfaction or money refunded. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor & McDonald.

Shall we Let the Child Die?

A hard-hearted political economist, looking at a pale and puny child feebly gasping as it lies upon a pillow says the child might as well die. It is so weak and poor that its life will never be worth much anyhow. There are already a good many people in the world who are of not much account anyhow. And what's the use of adding to their number another weakling, who has but slender chance of ever amounting to anything?

Now ask that child's mother what she think's about letting the child die. About this time the hard political economist had better get out of the way. "Let my child die? No! No! As long as there is a remedy to be found that will save that child, the child shall not die! I'll spend my last dollar to save the child! Well, try a bottle of Shaker Blood Syrup on that child. See the poor little fellow pick up strength. He revives. He will live. Hosts of other children have been brought almost from death to healthy life by the Shaker Blood Syrup. Your druggist sells it.

NOTICE.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of THURSDAY, 1st MAY, 1884, for the delivery of the usual Indian Supplies, duty paid, in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, consisting of Flour, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Oxen, Cows, Bulls, Agricultural Implements, Tools, &c.

Forms of Tender and full particulars relative to the Supplies can be had by applying to the undersigned, or to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Regina, or to the Indian Office Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods separately or for all the goods called for in the Schedules.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque of a Canadian Bank, for at least five per cent, of the amount of the tenders for Manitoba, and ten per cent. of the amount of the tenders for the North-West Territories, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

Tenderers are required to make up and attach to their tender the total money value of the goods they offer to supply, or their tender will not be entertained.

The Tender for Beef must be a separate tender; if it includes any other article it will not be considered. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

[No newspaper to insert without special authority from this Department through the Queen's Printer.]

POLICE COURT.

THE BUILDING BY-LAW.

THURSDAY, April 10.—T. Bradburn was charged by Constable Adams with violating the building by-law, by erecting a wooden building inside of the fire limits. The case was adjourned until Monday.

Good Friday Services.

Service will be conducted by the Rev. J. Shaw in the George Street Methodist Church to-morrow (Good Friday), at 11 o'clock, a.m.

Hot Cross Buns.

Messrs. Long Bros. are ready with a supply of delicious hot cross buns for Good Friday. They have also some choice blooming plants for Easter.

The Ontario and Quebec.

Another engine arrived on Wednesday for the Ontario and Quebec. The track layers arrived here from the east on Wednesday afternoon, and the track is now laid across the bridge and across George street.

Sportingmen, Attention!

A meeting of the sporting men of the town will be held at the Little Windsor Hotel on Thursday evening, April 10th, at 8 o'clock, to take steps towards procuring a race course. All horsemen should be present.

Magistrate's Court.

A Magistrate's Court was held in Ashburnham on Wednesday night, when D. Cushing and D. Fraser were brought before Mr. W. Mills, J.P., charged by Constable Craig with having been drunk and disorderly. They were fined $2 and $3.10 costs each, which they paid.

Another lot of pretty Ties just opened up to-day at Andrew McNeil's.

Social Entertainment.

A Social Entertainment will be held on the evening of Good Friday, in the school room of St. Andrew's Church, under the auspices of the Young People's Association. A good musical and literary programme will be provided. The entertainment will commence at 7.30 o'clock. Refreshments will be served during the evening. Tickets 25 cents.

Shipping Machinery.

On Tuesday a car load of mill machinery, which was manufactured at the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's works, for the Northwest Lumber Company, was shipped to West Selkirk, Manitoba. This morning a car load of mill machinery was shipped from the same machine shop for a mill in the Ottawa district.

New Maple Syrup!

First of the season just to hand. Also choice Mixed Pickles and Tomato Catsup. The above is sold by the quart or gallon. Also, by the pound, evaporated Pumpkins. Raspberry, Plum, and Black Currant Jams. Fine Assorted Jellies, and other varieties too numerous to mention. Pure Apple Butter, try it. Lemons and large sweet Valentia Oranges in abundance, at CARTON BROS., opposite the Market Square.

Easter Beef.

Messrs. McNairn & Thompson have made ample preparations for the Easter market. on Wednesday two fine young steers, which they purchased from Mr. Wm. Telford, of Smith, were on the market, and they would certainly make fine beef. They have also purchased six head of cattle in excellent condition from Mr. M. Sanderson, Reeve of Smith. Those who desire fine meat for Easter should visit their shop, George street, opposite Dr. Harvey's, lately occupied by Mr. Thos. Coe.

THE MILLINERY OPENINGS.

Further Accounts of the Displays Made by Various Millinery Establishments.

As Peterborough advances in opulence she will, we presume, proportionately increase in taste. In fact that she has already done so is doubtless evident. Not an unimportant sign of this is to be found in the selections made this year by the various linen drapers, silk mercers, and costumiers.

According to our promise we to-day take note of

J. C. TURNBULL'S.

Mr. Turnbull has a large establishment, and, consequently, a large staff of competent milliners, of whom Miss Irons is the head. He is thus enabled to make up in his own establishment the goods which he wishes to offer for sale. His show room is a sight well worth seeing this year. At the very entrance to the room one is met by a beautiful collection of flowers, and soon the sight is almost bewildered with the view of flowers, feathers, and all kinds of handsome ornaments. Even in such a collection of beautiful shades and shapes there are several that would especially attract attention—although different persons might be attracted by different articles, according to their tastes. A neat bonnet, trimmed with crape, was an article that gave evidence of skilled workmanship, and a dark hat, trimmed with black, was very stylishly graceful. The Good Luck is a neat and very pretty article, and the bonnets trimmed with moss rose wreaths were very handsome. In children's hats there are a number of new and becoming shapes, including the Corani, Lilian, and Dolly Dee. At one side of the room the mantle goods are displayed, such as heavy Ottoman cord, satin delaines, &c., and imported lace and all the newest styles of ornaments and trimmings for mantles and dresses. Chenille fringe is used a great deal in trimming the mantles. A long dolman, which would reach nearly to the bottom of a dress, is a serviceable and neat looking garment. A large lot of Oriental lace is exhibited, and a good stock of lace curtains. The show room is certainly very handsomely decorated, and not only is the work on the goods excellent, but the articles are artistically arranged. In the store Mr. Turnbull has a good stock of goods, a novelty being a large lot of collars in American styles. The windows are very prettily dressed and look very attractive.

MISS SEMPLE.

A visit to Miss Semple's millinery establishment is repaid by the very pretty sight seen. All our milliners appear to have made an especially good exhibit this year, and Miss Semple has not fallen behind. On one side of the store there is a large white case, with a dark background, in which are displaped hats, feathers, flowers and lace, and the articles are there exhibited to advantage. In a glass show case there is a large collection of flowers of every color and style, and ribbon trimmings and ornaments in an almost countless variety. A large number of shapes and trimmed hats in the newest styles, are displayed on tables, and along the wall are shown a pretty collection of parasols and lace and other trimmings. Miss Semple's exhibition of mantles is particularly pleasing this season, and out of the large display of French and English millinery, mantle furnishings, &c., no one could fail to be pleased. The windows are prettily dressed, and the whole arrangement of the goods in Miss Semple's establishment is very pretty, and exhibits taste in the selections and skill in workmanship.

Another establishment in which much taste has evidently been displayed is that of

MISS ARMSTRONG.

Miss Armstrong labours under the disadvantage of not possessing what is ordinarily known as a show room. But this, after all, is, to a great extent, merely a luxury, and in this case would be superfluous, since the admirable light shows off to advantage her tasty articles. Undoubtedly Miss Armstrong's piece de resistance is her collection of hats and bonnets. These are in every style, suitable, one would imagine, to all tastes, from the sexagenarian dowager to the coquette of fifteen. We could with delight describe a few very pretty and harmonious examples of these articles, but probably the majority of our lady readers have noticed them, as we believe that a large number of persons have already inspected Miss Armstrong's choice selection. Her ostrich plumes are well worth seeing. In the way of ties, laces, frills, children's caps, etc., etc., the stock appears complete.

The Woman's Physician.

A common sense medical work for ladies only. Fully answers all questions which modesty prevents asking a male physician. Gives causes and symptoms of all diseases of the sex, with positive cure for each in plain language, written by ladies who have made these diseases a life study. A plain talk in delicate language which every woman, young and old, should read. It is recommended by many eminent lady physicians as a safe guide for the sex. Handsomely bound and illustrated. Sent postpaid for $1.00. Address the ROCHESTER PUBLISHING Co., 32, 33 & 33½ Osburn Block, Rochester, N.Y.

Fluid Lightning

Is the only instantaneous relief for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. Rubbing a few drops briskly is all that is needed. No taking nauseous medicines for weeks, but one minute's application removes all pain and will prove the great value of Fluid Lightning. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John McKee's drug store.

The Quickest Thing on Record

Is Fluid Lightning for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. It does not blister or discolor the skin; requires but one application to banish all pain magically without using any greasy liniment or carrying your head in a poultice for weeks. Try a twenty-five cent bottle from John McKee's drug store.

BLAIRTON.

From Our Own Correspondent.

OBITUARY.—Your correspondent is called upon to chronicle the death of Mr. Roger Bates, which occurred at Blairton on Friday evening last, caused by inflammation of the lungs. Mr. Bates was a descendant of a U. E. loyalist family, who resided on a farm near Cobourg, where he lived until about the year 1850. At about that time he removed to Keene, where he carried on a tannery business, and also gave attention to farming. After remaining at Keene for some years he returned to Cobourg, and in 1867, on the opening of the mines of the Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company in Belmont township he was employed by them. He became postmaster at the new village, which was named Blairton, and was agent for the company at the mines. When the mines closed in 1878 Mr. Bates remained in Blairton and again gave his attension to farming, superintending the cultivation of a farm he owned near the village. He was 72 years old at the time of his death, and was unmarried. At the time Mr. Bates resided in Keene he was a member of Corinthian Lodge, A. F. & A. M., Peterborough, by many of the older members of which he will be remembered. In politics he was a Reformer, but, like many old Reformers, of late years he has leaned towards Conservative opinions and the Conservative party.

HALIBURTON.

From Our Own Correspondent.

AN ATTRACTIVE VILLAGE.—Great as are the attractions of your charming town, our rustic village has stronger attractions to some of the residents of Peterborough and its vicinity. We are looking forward with pleasant anticipation to the arrival at an early day of Mr., Mrs. and Miss Spilsbury to fill up the vacancy created by the departure of Mr. Wastell and family for Brantford. Dr. Spilsbury has repaired Mr. Wastell's former residence and made it ready for their reception.

THE WEATHER.—The winter which returned again with some severity after nearly a fortnight of spring weather, brought us colds in its various forms, and other derangements, some of them of rather a serious nature. Sleighing has disappeared except in the bush, but our lakes are still frozen hard and give no sign of breaking up.

CHEESE FACTORY.—Steps are being taken to secure the establishment of a cheese factory at Haliburton. The country is admirably adapted for stock and sheep and dairy farming. The ready sale of unlimited quantities of milk will afford the farmers about as pleasant, easy and remunerative an occupation as could be found. The situation for a cheese factory on a railway, at the head of a chain of lakes 15 miles in length, with farms all along its shores, and good roads leading in every direction, is all that could be desired.

STOCK RAISING.—I expect to be able to report before long a movement for the encouragement of stock and sheep raising. These forms of farm industry have been too long neglected in this country—parts of it are veritable for raising wheat, a good deal for oats, and all for hay, but the latter has been overdone, and more hay has been raised than can be sold. The farmers generally have been too improvident or too poor to raise any quantity of stock or sheep, but in a few years this neglected country is likely to support a large population of thriving and industrious farmers by that branch of farming best adapted to it.

SHINGLE MILL.—Mr. Sperry's shingle mill is now running again. It manufactures a large quantity for the American market. A considerable number of ties will be shipped this year by rail.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, APRIL 10, 1884.

THE McLAREN-CALDWELL SUIT.

It appears by a cablogram which has been received, that the Privy Council has reversed the decision of the Supreme Court and decided in favor of the claim of Caldwell, in this long pending matter. Of course the Mowat Government claim this decision as a victory for them and a full justification for their repeated passing of the iniquitious Streams Bill, but it is only by misrepresenting the position of the opponents of that measure that such a claim can be set up. The position of the opponents of the Streams Bill and of the Dominion Government in disallowing this measure, was that it was improper for the Legislature to take a matter out of the hands of the courts, and in effect constitute itself a Court of Appeal, and we venture to think the decision arrived at by the Privy Council in no way affects that position. Indeed it rather strengthens it. The Privy Council, as the court of last resort, has decided in favor of Caldwell. As a consequence no "Streams Bill" is or was required to protect Caldwell's real or supposed interests. The only ground upon which it can now be either justified or required, is that the Privy Council deprives Mr. McLaren of any compensation for his improvements. That no doubt is somewhat of a hardship in view of the previous decisions of our own courts. But two wrongs won't make a right. The Privy Council having declared that McLaren's improvements are under the existing law, open to public use, the Legislature has no more right to step in and take away that right from Caldwell or any one else, than it had to step in and make McLaren a toll-keeper upon what was at that time held to be his own private property.

The Streams Bill, is therefore in our opinion, wrong in principle and unjust in effect, no matter whether it operates in favor of either a Caldwell or a McLaren, and such being the case the Streams Bill passed during the last session—notwithstanding its many modifications—should be disallowed, as were its predecessors.

A CRUSHING BLOW.

We have received a pamphlet entitled "The Orange Association Unmasked," containing what is said to be a verbatim report of "Mr. Blake's great speech in the House of Commons, March 17, 1884," which is further described on the title page as "A crushing blow to oath-bound Secret Societies." The publishers, the Montreal Post Printing and Publishing Co., inform us that they are issuing an edition of 100,000 copies, and request an editorial notice. It will be seen from the title that Mr. Blake does not deal with the Orange Association alone, but that his "crushing blow" is aimed at all "oath-bound secret societies," and this is not a misrepresentation as may be learned from the following quotations:—

"It is in the nature of these societies to become tyrannical and despotic. (Hear, hear.) Openness and public discussion are the great guarantees of order, freedom, fairness, and moderation. It is in private gatherings of men all of one turn, all of one thought, all of one opinion, that bitterness, and misrepresentation and malignity revel and hold high carnival."

"But we have no right, because we have no necessity, to engage in secret societies, which as I have said are the frightful" (fruitfull) "mother of malignity, misrepresentation and bigotry."

What do the members of our oath-bound secret societies, our Good Templars, Royal Templars of Temperance, Grangers, Foresters, Sons of England, United Workmen, Oddfellows and Masons, think of the character thus given to them, and circulated so widely through the country.

Familiarised with Crime.

Let us suppose that Sir John Macdonald were to induce a supporter to make a charge against Mr. Blake of offering a bribe of money or an office to Mr. Ouimet, let us say, How would the country receive news of an application to have Mr. Blake's private correspondence for a month turned over, not to the keeping of a court of justice, but to the private manipulation of Sir John or one of his colleagues, who should take and keep what pleased them, publish what suited them and destroy the rest? The country would stand aghast at such a proceeding. It does not stand aghast at recent proceedings in Toronto only because it has become familiar with stories of infamy and crime perpetrated by Ontario Ministers.—Hamilton Spectator

The Quarter's Failures

During the past three months there have been 3,320 failures in the United States against 3,189 in the corresponding quarter of last year. The liabilities have ammounted to $39,047,100, or $3,188,400 less than in the first three months at 1883; the assets were $20,465,4000, showing a decrease of $3,298,617.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

A Short Holiday—Blackmailing a Volunteer—Mr. Mills and Mr. Cook's Timber—Sir R. Cartwright's Slander—Forest Protection.

GOOD FRIDAY.

Sir J, MACDONALD on Tuesday in reply to Mr. Blake said it was proposed to adjourn from Thursday to Saturday, and to sit again on Monday.

INSPECTION ACT.

Mr. COSTIGAN moved the third reading of the bill to amend the Inspection Act.

CIVIL SERVICE.

Mr. CHAPLEAU moved the third reading of the bill to amend the Civil Service Act, which was passed with the addition of a clause exempting from examination graduates of the Military College.

BLACKMAILING.

Sir J. MACDONALD in committee on the Bill to amend the Independance of Parliament Act proposed to add another clause to prevent officers receiving payment for drill instruction from being disqualified from sitting in the House. The Act already exempted militia men who were paid for drilling, but payments for drill instruction and the care of arms had not been included. Mr. Landry, of Montmagny as a captain in the militia had received $20 for such services, and some person had sued him for $6,000 for a breach of the Independance of Parliament Act. It was a clear case of blackmailing a compromise being offered for $600.

The amendment was carried and the bill was reported.

SUPPLY.

The House then went into Committee of Supply and passed a number of items.

PATENTS.

Sir J. MACDONALD in reply to some criticisms by Mr. Mills said that patents were issued at the rate of one hundred a day, and very quickly after application was made.

A FALSE CHARGE.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT asked what were the duties of Inspector of Colonization Companies.

Sir J. MACDONALD said to ascertain the condition of the grant and the number of settlers so as to ascertain the amount of rebate due. Mr. Rufus Stephenson inspected twelve companies last year.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT said he understood that Mr. Stephenson had taken part in the recent election in Kent. He censured this, and asked if the Premier had authorised it.

Sir J. MACDONALD had given no such authorisation, and doubted the truth of the charge.

TIMBER LIMITS.

Mr. CHAR TON objected to timber lands being sold by private tenders instead of public auction.

Sir J. MACDONALD said that the lands had been granted at a specified price to the explorer, or when there were several applicants to the highest tender. It was designed to develope the timber land so as to cheapen timber to the settlers. This was necessary in the newer districts, but in the older sections auctions might be adopted, and this was being considered.

Mr. COOK accused the Government of sacrificing timber lands to political friends.

Mr. ORTON denied this, but said that such had been the policy of the late Government, which had given Mr. Cook 200 square miles on the Saskatchewan, three days before it went out of office, because rejected by the electors. Mr. Cook wanted private tenders when his friends were in power and public auction when the Conservatives were in office. A monopoly of the timber limits was not desirable, but by the present system lumber had been reduced at Winnipeg from $35 to $22 a thousand.

Mr. COOK complained that he had lost money by this grant being cancelled.

Mr. COCKBURN blamed both Administrations.

Mr. MILLS defended his grant of timber limits to a political friend on the eve of resignation or rather rejection.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT asked the future policy of the Government.

Sir J. MACDONALD said that in 1872 his Government had passed an act to sell timber limits by public auction. The Mackenzie Government repealed this in 1874 when in power. In 1878 his Government returned to the former policy, providing that in the case of several applicants the limit should go to the highest bidder, requiring the erection of mills, and other safeguards. He could not agree with Mr. Mills that it was necessary to grant to their friends, Messrs. Cook and Sutherland, 200 square miles after they had lost the confidence of the country. These gentlemen could have taken their pick of the timber from Edmonton to the Rocky Mountains, and monopolise it without being compelled even to erect a mill. For these reasons they had consulted the order-in-council. Now a rental and stumpage charges were collected and the erection of mills was compulsory. They were considering in what districts they would adopt public auction.

FOREST PROTECTION.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT asked as to the vote of $4,200 for forest rangers.

Sir J. MACDONALD said they were to protect the forests. The importance of preventinig denudation in the vicinity of the sources of rivers was now acknowledged, as the stripping of the forest affected the rain fall and the volume of water. The Government was anxious to protect the rivers in our North-West Territories, and with this view a bill now before the Senate would reserve a bill of forest land at the foot of the Rocky Mountains.

SIR RICHARD'S SLANDER.

Mr. PATTERSON (Essex) from his personal knowledge denied the statement of Sir Richard Cartwright that Mr. Rufus Stephenson had interfered in the Kent election. There were some members of Mr. Stephenson's family residing there who probably took another part.

Sir R. Cartwright said he had heard it reported, and he was glad that it was not so.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES.

Sir L. TILLEY brought down the supplementary estimates for 1884-5.

New Cheese.

On Monday we stated that preparations were being made in the West for cheese making, although we might have gone still further and announced the sale of a small lot of new factory cheese in Brockville at 13½c per lb., Messrs. Johnson & Sons, of that place, being the purchasers. Considering the remarkably long and severe winter experienced in Canada, this is pretty early for the production of even a limited quantity. A gentleman connected with one of the largest cheese factories in Canada stated that he expected to see the largest make of hay cheese between now and the commencement of the grass season ever before known in this country. The present scarcity and high price of old cheese will furnish the inducement, while the abundance of feed still in farmers' hands will afford the facilities for an earlier make than usual, provided, of course, that the weather continues favorable.—Belleville Intelligencer.

The Exchange Bank.

It is estimated, upon good authority, that when the whole double liability has been paid up by every shareholder of the Exchange Bank—supposing, for a moment, that everyone will actually pay his share—the creditors may possibly receive sixty cents in the dollar for their deposits.—Witness.

One From a Thousand.

MORTON, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Yelro, one of my neighbors, was taken with violent cramps and pain in the stomach. My wife was called in to see her. The woman was in great distress. We had a bottle of your Nerviline in the house, which we got from your agent, Mr. Slitor. My wife gave a dose and bathed her freely, and the woman became relieved immediately.—CALVIN STRUTHERS, J.P. You can test Polson's Nerviline for the small amount of 10 cents by buying a sample bottle at Ormond & Walsh's drug store. Large bottles 25 cents.

THE New York Methodist Conference has adopted resolutions condemning polygamy and mormonism, and also the facility with which divorces are obtained, and the reckless manner in which marriages are contracted.

The Housewife.

A popular domestic journal for American homes, will be sent for one year free to every lady who will send at once the names and address of 10 married ladies, and 50 cents (no stamps taken). Best paper for either young or old housekeepers in existence. This offer is made only to secure names to whom to send sample copies, as we KNOW every lady who once sees THE HOUSEWIFE will subscribe for it at once. Regular price $1 per year. Address, the HOUSEWIFE, Rochester, N. Y.

IT SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED.—If any of our readers suffer from chronic diseases of the stomach, liver kidneys, or the blood, they should investigate the merits of Burdock Blood Bitters. It is making the most remarkable cures on record.

A VALUABLE HINT.—Artizans, actors, sports smen, mechanics and laboring men, in fact all who unduly exert muscular strength, are subject to painful contractions of the cords, stiff joints and lameness; to all such Hagyard's Yellow Oil is a prompt relief and perfect cure.

A Russian detachment has been surprised in the Transcaspian territory by marauders, who were repulsed with slight loss. The Governor of the territory occupied the place whence the enemy came and formed a district Government.

To RESIST Malaria, Ague, Fevers, Headache, Cold, Kidney Disease, Pain in the Side or Back, Constipation or costiveness, keep Zopesa handy, and take a dose twice a week. It acts upon the Liver and Stomach like magic. Ask J. D. Tully.

Try MORGAN'S Blue Grass Condition Powders for Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Hogs, and Poultry. Best in use only 25 cents. Find Morgan's Drug Store.

CHAPTER II.—CONTINUED.

Conviction is the pitiless work of unbiassed reason, but faith is the acceptance thereof, by will, and he would not wholly believe until there was no alternative. Falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus; and quite naturally Dr. Hargrove began to discredit the entire narrative of wrongs, which had attained colossal proportions from her delineation, and to censure himself most harshly for having suffered this dazzling Delilah to extort from him a solemn promise of secrecy; for, unworthy of sympathy as he now deemed her, his rigid rectitude would not permit him to regard that unworthiness as sufficient justification for abrogating his plighted word. Suspicious facts which twelve hours before had been hushed by the soft spell of her rich plaintive voice, now started up clamorous and accusing, and the pastor could not avoid beholding the discrepancy between her pleas of poverty and friendlessness, and the costly appearance of her apparel—coupled with her refusal to acquaint him with her means of maintenance.

If, as she had averred, the stolen license was—with the exception of his verbal testimony—the sole proof of her marriage, why was she not satisfied with the copy given her, unless for some unrighteous motive she desired to possess in order to destroy all evidence?

Surmise, with crooked and uncertain finger, had pointed to New York—whose broad deep bosom shelters so many helpless human waifs—as her probable place of destination, and had the telegraph wires been in successful operation he would have hazarded the experiment of requesting her arrest at the terminus of the railway; but this was impracticable, and each succeeding hour aided in obliterating the only clue in his possession.

The universal observation of man, ages ago—simmered down and crystallized into the adage, "Misfortunes never come singly;" and it is here respectfully submitted that startling episodes, unexpected incidents, quite as rarely travel alone. Do surprises gravitate into groups, or are certain facts binary?

Sometimes for a quarter of a century the sluggish stream of life oozes by, bearing no hint of deeds, or faces, that perchance shed glory, or perhaps lent gloom to the far past—a past well-nigh forgotten and inurned in the gathering gray of time—and suddenly, without premonition, the slow monotonous current ripples and swells into waves that bear to our feet fateful countenances, unwelcome as grave-ghouls—and the world grows garrulous of incidents that once more galvanize the shrouded By-gone. For four years the minister had received no tidings of those whom he had so reluctantly joined in the bonds of wedlock, and not even a reminiscence of that singular bridal party had floated into his quiet parsonage study; but within twenty-four hours he seemed destined to garner a plentiful harvest of disagreeable data for future speculation. He had not yet reached his lawyer's office, when hearing his name pronounced vociferously, Dr. Hargrove looked around and saw the post-master standing in his door, and calling on him to enter.

"Pardon me, my dear sir, for shouting after you, so unceremoniously, but I saw you were not coming in, and knew it would promote your interest to pay me a visit. Fine day at last, after all the rain and murky weather. This crisp frosty air sharpens one's wits—a sort of atmospheric pumice, don't you see, and tempts me to drive a good bargain. How much will you give for a letter that has travelled half around the world, and had as many adventures as Robinson Crusoe or Madame Pfeiffer?"

He took from a drawer a dingy and much defaced envelope, whose address was rather indistinct from having encountered a bath on its journey.

"Are you sure that it is for me?" asked the minister, trying to decipher the uncertain characters.

"Are there two of your name? This is intended for Reverend Peyton Hargrove, of St. —— Church, V——, United States of America. It was enclosed to me by the Postmaster General, who says that it arrived last week in the long-lost mail of the steamship Alcol, which you doubtless recollect was lost some time ago plying between New York and Havre. It now appears that a Dutch sailing vessel bound for Tasmania—wherever that may be,—somewhere among the cannibals, I presume,—boarded her after she had been deserted by the crew, and secured the mail bags, intending to put in along the Spanish coast and land them, but stress of weather drove them so far out to sea that they sailed on to some point in Africa, and as the postmasters in that progressive and enlightened region did not serve their apprenticeship in the United States' Postal Bureau, you perceive that your document has not had 'dispatch.' If salt water is ever a preservative, your news ought not to be stale."

"Thank you. I hope the contents will prove worthy of the care and labor of its transmission. I see it is dated Paris—one year ago, nearly. I am much obliged by your kind courtesy. Good-day."

Dr. Hargrove walked on, and somewhat disappointed in not receiving a moiety of information by way of recompense, the postmaster added:

"If you find it is not your letter, bring it back, and I will start it on another voyage of discovery, for it certainly deserves to get home."

"There is no doubt whatever about it. It was intended for me."

Unfolding the letter, he had glanced at the signature, and now hurrying homeward, read as follows:—

"PARIS, February 1st, 18—.

"REV. PEYTON HARGROVE:—Hoping that, while entirely ignorant of the facts and circumstances, you unintentionally inflicted upon me an incalculable injury, I reluctantly address you with reference to a subject fraught with inexpressible pain and humiliation. Through your agency, the happiness and welfare of my only child, and the proud and unblemished name of a noble family, have been well-nigh wrecked; but my profound reverence for your holy office persuades me to believe that you were unconsciously the dupe of unprincipled and designing parties. When my son Cuthbert entered —— University, he was all that my fond heart desired, all that his saluted mother could have hoped, and no young gentleman on the wide continent gave fairer promise of future usefulness and distinction; but one year of demoralizing association with dissipated and reckless youths undermined the fair moral and intellectual structure I had so laboriously raised. And in an unlucky hour he fell a victim to alluring vices. Intemperance gradually gained such supremacy that he was threatened with expulsion, and to crown all other errors, he was, while intoxicated, inveigled into a so-called marriage with a young but notorious girl, whose only claim was her pretty face, while her situation was hopelessly degraded. This creature, Minnie Merle, had an infirm grandmother, who, in order to save the reputation of the unfortunate girl, appealed so adroitly to Cuthbert's high sense of honor that her arguments, emphasized by the girl's beauty and helplessness, prevailed over reason, and—may I add—decency,—and one day when almost mad with brandy and morphine, he consented to call her his wife. Neither was of age, and my son was not only a minor (lacking two months of being twenty), but on that occasion was utterly irrational and irresponsible, as I am prepared to prove. They intended to conceal the whole shameful affair from me, but the old grandmother—feeling that some untoward circumstances might mar the scheme of possessing the ample fortune she knew well my boy expected to control—wrote me all the disgraceful facts, imploring my clemency, and urging me to remove Cuthbert from associates outside of his classmates, who were dragging him to ruin. If you, my dear sir, are a father (and I hope you are), paternal sympathy will enable you to realize approximately the grief, indignation, almost despairing rage into which I was plunged. Having informed myself, through a special agent sent to the University, of the utter unworthiness and disreputable character of the connection forced upon me, I telegraphed for Cuthbert, alleging some extraneous cause for requiring his presence. Three days after his arrival at home, I extorted a full confession from him—and we were soon upon the Atlantic. For a time I feared that inebriation had seriously impaired his intellect, but, thank God! temperate habits and a good constitution finally prevailed, and when, a year after we left America, Cuthbert realized all that he had hazarded during his temporary insanity, he was so overwhelmed with mortification and horror, that he threatened to destroy himself. Satisfied he was more 'sinned against than sinning,' I yet endeavoured to deal justly with the unprincipled authors of the stain upon my family, and employed a discreet agent to negotiate with them, and to try to effect some compromise. The old woman went out to California, the young one refused all overtures, and for a time disappeared, but I am reliably informed, is now living in New York, supported, no one knows—exactly—by whom. Recently she made an imperious demand for the recognition of a child, who, she declares, shall one day inherit the Laurance estate, but I have certain facts in my possession which invalidate this claim, and if necessary can produce a certificate to prove that the birth of the child occurred only seven months after the date of the ceremony which she contends made her Cuthbert's wife. She rejects the abundant pecuniary provision that has been repeatedly offered, and in her last impertinent and insanely abusive communication, threatens a suit to force an acknowledgement of the marriage and of the child; stating that you, sir, hold the certificate, or rather the license warranting the marriage, and that you will espouse and aid in prosecuting her iniquitous claims. My son is now a reformed and comparatively happy man, but should this degrading and bitterly repented episode of his college life be thrust before the public and allowed to blacken the fair escutcheon we are so jealously anxious to protect, I dread the consequences. Only horror of a notorious scandal prevented me long ago from applying for a divorce, which could very easily have been obtained, but we shrink from the publicity, and moreover the case does not seem to demand compliance with even the ordinary forms of law. Believing that you, my dear sir, would not avow yourself particeps criminis in so unjust and vile a crusade against the peace and honor of my family, were you acquainted with the facts, I have taken the liberty of writing you this brief and incomplete resume of the outrages perpetrated upon me and mine, and must refer you for disgraceful details to my agent, Mr. Peleg Peterson, of Whitefield, ——Co. ——. Hoping that you will not add to the injury already inflicted by further complicity in this audacious scheme of fraud and blackmail,

"I am, dear Sir, respectfully,
"An afflicted father,
"RENE LAURANCE.

"P.S.—Should you desire to communicate with me, my address for several months will be, care of American Legation, Paris."

THE submission of the Scott Act in the county of Elgin and the city of St. Thomas is being agitated.

How Would it do?

This bad weather requires a remedy. It seems as if the whole responsibility should rest on Vennor and Wiggins, for we had some kind of weather before they appeared upon the scene. How would it do to string them up? Would it make things better? Another hint of importance—don't hang on to your corns as weather indicators. Better string them out root and branch. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor will do it quickly, painlessly and with certainty. Don't buy dangerous flesh-eating substitutes. Get Putnam's, and no other.

Our Canadian Industry

is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required in nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must nessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding, Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind, colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the perscription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

JAMES BRAYLEY, Hamilton, says:—"I read the testimonial for McGregor's Speedy Cure and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, Louisiana or Texas to find living Witnesses of its value, we had plenty of persons right here to prove its merits. # Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, APRIL 10, 1884.

LOCAL NEWS

Good Friday.

As to-morrow will be a legal holiday (Good Friday) there will be no issue of the DAILY EVENING REVIEW.

The City Pharmacy.

We would direct attention to Mr. J. D. Tully's advertisement in another column. Mr. Tully has had his store connected with the telephone system.

Railway Extension.

Among the grants from the Dominion to railways is one to the Thorndale, Bancroft and Ottawa railway from the Victoria branch of the Midland railway to the village of Bancroft in the township of Dungannon, county of Hastings, a subsidy not exceeding $3,200 per mile, nor exceeding in the whole $160,000.

The Saved Army.

Although the notice of the Saved Army meeting on Wednesday night was a very short one, the Opera House was well filled, all the seats being occupied and many compelled to stand. Lieut. Louise Pearse, of Cobourg, assisted Lieut. Munt and conducted the singing. There will be a soldiers' meeting to-night at 7 o'clock.

Exhibition of Horses and Bulls.

The Directors of the West Riding of Peterborough Agricultural Society at a meeting held last Saturday, decided to hold their usual spring show for stallions and bulls on Saturday, 26th inst. The prize list and rules adopted are practically the same as that of last years exhibition. For further particulars see prize lists, which may be had at the REVIEW Office.

The Cobourg Railway.

Col. Gravely, Mayor of Cobourg, and Mr. W. H. Shoenberger, of Cincinnati, were in town to-day and called on His Worship Mayor Cox and several of our leading citizens, on the subject of the renewal of the old Cobourg and Peterborough line. The object of the visit was to ascertain what amount of encouragement by way of freight and passanger traffic any new company organized for revival of the road might expect from our town. The vote in the supplementary estimates for Cobourg harbour will ensure a good lake port. No doubt this matter will receive the attention that it merits.

A Steady Run.

A week or two ago a small cog-wheel in A. Clegg's flour mill, used for starting and stopping the mill got broken. After the mill was started on Monday morning the wheel was taken to the foundry and the new one was not ready until Saturday following. During these six days and nights the mill kept running without either stopping or changing speed, as they were unable to stop or change the speed until they got the new wheel from the foundry. From the time the improvements were completed in the later part of January, until about the first of April, the mill was run night and day, yet so great was the demand for the flour that they were still unable to nearly fill the orders. This speaks well for Clegg's flour.

Telephonic.

During the past month a number of extensions have been made to our telephone exchange. Owing to the removal of the railway offices to the station new lines had to be run to the Traffic Manager's and Agent's offices, which gives subscribers the same facilities as formerly. Two new instruments have been added to the list, namely, Mr. J. D. Tully's Drug Store and Mr. J. G. Macklin's residence. The supplement to the Subscriber's Directory contains a map of Ontario showing connected agencies. Curiously enough the aspiring City of Belleville is indicated simply by a small dot without any name attached. On enquiry we learn that the reason is that the City Fathers of the City of the Bay have persistently opposed the placing of the posts on the main street, and the Company, rather than have any quarrel with them, have quietly given them the "go by," to the loss and inconvenience of the citizens. Pretty good this for a "Slocum" City!

Umbrellas with every imaginable shaped handle, in Silk, Alpacca, Zinnilla and Cotton, can be found at Andrew McNeil's.

Police News.

The police cells were tenanted by nine homeless wanderers last night.

Music To-Morrow.

The City Band will give an open air concert at the corner of Brock and George streets at half past one o'clock to-morrow.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows: Moderate to fresh north to north-west winds, cloudy to fair weather, slight changes in temperature.

Fresh and Salt.

Fresh Herring, Fresh Pickerel, Fresh Pike, Smoked Haddie, and Smoked Fish of all kinds on hand. We intend keeping constantly on hand a supply of Fresh Fish, and our customers can depend on getting them at all times, nice and fresh, and at reasonable prices. Fresh Herrings 20 cents per dozen. CARTON BROS., opposite the Market Square.

We keep all sizes in Men's and Boys' Waterproof Coats—Andrew McNeil.

The Jews.

The state and condition of the Jews—the people of God—is one of great interest to Christian people, and an increasing interest is being manifested in their behalf by the Church of England, especially through the society for promoting Christianity among the Jews. In accordance, therefore, with the recommendations of the Bishop of Toronto, the Bishop of the diocese, a sermon will be preached in St. John's church, and a collection taken up for this cause on Good Friday, morning and evening.

Won the First Prize.

Those steers which we mentioned, fed by Mr. C. D. Moore, were taken to Montreal by Mr. Geo. Webber, and shown in the Easter fat cattle exhibition in that city. There were about 1,500 head of cattle shown, from all parts of Ontario and the Eastern townships, yet Mr. Webber got the first prize, a gold medal, for one of the steers, and the other one would have taken the second prize only that one exhibitor was not allowed to take more than one prize. There were about seventy-five cattle dealers present, and thsy all admitted that those steers were the best now in Ontario. They were sold to Mr. Samuel Price, for the English market, and Mr. Webber realized a good profit on them. Mr. Moore certainly deserves credit for his feeding of these animals.

Musical.

Mr. D. Smart, agent for pianos and organs, found his business increasing to such an extent that he was compelled to seek more commodious and convenient premises, and has therefore moved into the store one door south of Mr. Clegg's furniture store. Mr. Smart has a large stock of instruments on hand, of all sizes and at various prices. He is agent for the organs manufactured by W. Bell & Co., Guelph, and D. W. Karn & Co., Woodstock, and for the pianos made by R. S. Williams & Son, Toronto. A novelty in musical instruments is an organ in an upright piano case. It is a fine looking instrument, and has an excellent tone. Mr. Smart has a large stock of music ordered, and will also deal in the smaller musical instruments. A room in the rear of the store will be used as a music teaching room. The instruments in the store are well placed and arranged and Mr. Smart has a neat looking store and a convenient establishment.

POSITIVELY THE CHEAPEST YET OFFERED.

These are Solid Facts.

The best blood purifier and system regulator ever placed within the reach of suffering humanity, truly is Electric Bitters. Inactivity of the Liver, Biliousnss, Jaundice, Constipation, Weak Kidneys, or other disease of the urinary organs, of whoever requires an appetizer, tonic or mild stimulation, will always find Electric Bitters the best and only certain cure known. They act surely and quickly, every bottle guranteed to give entire satisfaction or money refunded. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Taylor & McDonald.

Turnips.

Another supply of turnips at CARTON BROS.

—Miss Bertha Von Hillern is rapidly rising into prominence as an artist of the highest rank.

A Startling Discovery.

Physicans are often startled by remarkable discoveries. The fact that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and all Throat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, is startling to realize their duty, and examine into the merits of this wonderful discovery resulting in hundreds of our best Physicians using it in their practice. Trial bottles free at Taylor & McDonald's Drug Store. Large size $1.00.

FIFTY houses were burned at Grnegan, Moravia, on Tuesday night. A woman and two children perished in the flames.

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D., New York City.

A GRAND conference of clericals of the Rhine provinces opens on Monday. A circular calling the faithful to the conference recalls the persecutions suffered by the Bishop of Cologne for the past ten years.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Taylor & Macdonald.

A Cure for Cuts, Sores Etc.

The finest healing compound under the sun is McGregor & Park's Carbolic Cerate. There is no sore but will succumb to its wonderful healing properties. It is an invaluable dressing for scalds, festers etc. Price twenty-five cents at John McKee's drug store.

CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.—Sufferers from either acute or chronic rheumatism will find no more ready relief or better cure than Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the popular household remedy for external and internal use in all painful affections.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Foretelling the weather is uncertain at the best, but it is certain that if you catch cold in this changeable climate you can best break its ill effects by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, the most reliable and pleasant remedy for coughs, colds, bronchial, and lung complaints. It is so agreeable that even a child may take it.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, APRIL 10, 1884.

LOCAL NEWS

Good Friday.

As to-morrow will be a legal holiday (Good Friday) there will be no issue of the DAILY EVENING REVIEW.

The City Pharmacy.

We would direct attention to Mr. J. D. Tully's advertisement in another column. Mr. Tully has had his store connected with the telephone system.

Railway Extension.

Among the grants from the Dominion to railways is one to the Thorndale, Bancroft and Ottawa railway from the Victoria branch of the Midland railway to the village of Bancroft in the township of Dungannon, county of Hastings, a subsidy not exceeding $3,200 per mile, nor exceeding in the whole $160,000.

The Saved Army.

Although the notice of the Saved Army meeting on Wednesday night was a very short one, the Opera House was well filled, all the seats being occupied and many compelled to stand. Lieut. Louise Pearse, of Cobourg, assisted Lieut. Munt and conducted the singing. There will be a soldiers' meeting to-night at 7 o'clock.

Exhibition of Horses and Bulls.

The Directors of the West Riding of Peterborough Agricultural Society at a meeting held last Saturday, decided to hold their usual spring show for stallions and bulls on Saturday, 26th inst. The prize list and rules adopted are practically the same as that of last years exhibition. For further particulars see prize lists, which may be had at the REVIEW Office.

The Cobourg Railway.

Col. Gravely, Mayor of Cobourg, and Mr. W. H. Shoenberger, of Cincinnati, were in town to-day and called on His Worship Mayor Cox and several of our leading citizens, on the subject of the renewal of the old Cobourg and Peterborough line. The object of the visit was to ascertain what amount of encouragement by way of freight and passanger traffic any new company organized for revival of the road might expect from our town. The vote in the supplementary estimates for Cobourg harbour will ensure a good lake port. No doubt this matter will receive the attention that it merits.

A Steady Run.

A week or two ago a small cog-wheel in A. Clegg's flour mill, used for starting and stopping the mill got broken. After the mill was started on Monday morning the wheel was taken to the foundry and the new one was not ready until Saturday following. During these six days and nights the mill kept running without either stopping or changing speed, as they were unable to stop or change the speed until they got the new wheel from the foundry. From the time the improvements were completed in the later part of January, until about the first of April, the mill was run night and day, yet so great was the demand for the flour that they were still unable to nearly fill the orders. This speaks well for Clegg's flour.

Telephonic.

During the past month a number of extensions have been made to our telephone exchange. Owing to the removal of the railway offices to the station new lines had to be run to the Traffic Manager's and Agent's offices, which gives subscribers the same facilities as formerly. Two new instruments have been added to the list, namely, Mr. J. D. Tully's Drug Store and Mr. J. G. Macklin's residence. The supplement to the Subscriber's Directory contains a map of Ontario showing connected agencies. Curiously enough the aspiring City of Belleville is indicated simply by a small dot without any name attached. On enquiry we learn that the reason is that the City Fathers of the City of the Bay have persistantly opposed the placing of the posts on the main street, and the Company, rather than have any quarrel with them, have quietly given them the "go by," to the loss and inconvenience of the citizens. Pretty good this for a "Slocum" City!

Police News.

The police cells were tenanted by nine homeless wanderers last night.

Music To-Morrow.

The City Band will give an open air concert at the corner of Brock and George streets at half past one o'clock to-morrow.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows: Moderate to fresh north to north-west winds, cloudy to fair weather, slight changes in temperature.

Fresh and Salt.

Fresh Herring, Fresh Pickerel, Fresh Pike, Smoked Haddie, and Smoked Fish of all kinds on hand. We intend keeping constantly on hand a supply of Fresh Fish, and our customers can depend on getting them at all times, nice and fresh, and at reasonable prices. Fresh Herrings 20 cents per dozen. CARTON BROS., opposite the Market Square.

We keep all sizes in Men's and Boys' Waterproof Coats—Andrew McNeil.

The Jews.

The state and condition of the Jews—the people of God—is one of great interest to Christian people, and an increasing interest is being manifested in their behalf by the Church of England, especially through the society for promoting Christianity among the Jews. In accordance, therefore, with the recommendations of the Bishop of Toronto, the Bishop of the diocese, a sermon will be preached in St. John's church, and a collection taken up for this cause on Good Friday, morning and evening.

Won the First Prize.

Those steers which we mentioned, fed by Mr. C. D. Moore, were taken to Montreal by Mr. Geo. Webber, and shown in the Easter fat cattle exhibition in that city. There were about 1,500 head of cattle shown, from all parts of Ontario and the Eastern townships, yet Mr. Webber got the first prize, a gold medal, for one of the steers, and the other one would have taken the second prize only that one exhibitor was not allowed to take more than one prize. There were about seventy-five cattle dealers present, and thsy all admitted that those steers were the best now in Ontario. They were sold to Mr. Samuel Price, for the English market, and Mr. Webber realized a good profit on them. Mr. Moore certainly deserves credit for his feeding of these animals.

Musical.

Mr. D. Smart, agent for pianos and organs, found his business increasing to such an extent that he was compelled to seek more commodious and convenient premises, and has therefore moved into the store one door south of Mr. Clegg's furniture store. Mr. Smart has a large stock of instruments on hand, of all sizes and at various prices. He is agent for the organs manufactured by W. Bell & Co., Guelph, and D. W. Karn & Co., Woodstock, and for the pianos made by R. S. Williams & Son, Toronto. A novelty in musical instruments is an organ in an upright piano case. It is a fine looking instrument, and has an excellent tone. Mr. Smart has a large stock of music ordered, and will also deal in the smaller musical instruments. A room in the rear of the store will be used as a music teaching room. The instruments in the store are well placed and arranged and Mr. Smart has a neat looking store and a convenient establishment.

NOTICE.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of THURSDAY, 1st MAY, 1884, for the delivery of the usual Indian Supplies, duty paid, in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, consisting of Flour, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Oxen, Cows, Bulls, Agricultural Implements, Tools, &c.

Forms of Tender and full particulars relative to the Supplies can be had by applying to the undersigned, or to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Regina, or to the Indian Office Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods separately or for all the goods called for in the Schedules.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque of a Canadian Bank, for at least five per cent. of the amount of the tenders for Manitoba, and ten per cent. of the amount of the tenders for the North-West Territories, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

Tenderers are required to make up and attach to their tender the total money value of the goods they offer to supply, or their tender will not be entertained.

The Tender for Beef must be a separate tender; if it includes any other article it will not be considered.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

A CHALLENGE.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—As I see posters printed by you all over the town here, that manager Johnston is in your town, do me the kindness to insert the following challenge in your valuable paper and oblige.

Yours, etc.,
JOHN KEATING.

TORONTO, April 10th, 1884.

To E. W. Johnston:—

DEAR SIR,—Last year I challenged you to contest against me in a match of general athletics for $100 a side, and we had a forfeit of $100 up. I took sick and was not able to come to time, and you returned my forfeit, which was gentlemanly on your part I have now got back in my good form again, and challenge you for $200 a side. I will leave this challenge open for two weeks to you or any man in the world. The feats to form the contest will be as follows:

1. Throwing heavy stone.
2. Tossing the caber.
3. Running high jump.
4. Standing high jump.
5. Throwing 56lbs., high.
6. Hop, step and jump.
7. Throwing the hammer.
8. Hurdle race, 300 yards.
9. Wrestling, catch-as-catch-can.

Yours truly,
J. KEATING.

THE STREET WATERING TENDERS

To the Editor of The Review.

SIR,—Councillor Rutherford has responded to my enquiry, and gives a glimmer of light. The electors want to know why Mr. Rutherford did not report to the Council the decision of the committee to give the contract to Mr. McClelland provided he consented to certain details not mentioned in his tender, which, on being interviewed by Rutherford, he did agree to? How did Smith learn the amounts named in the tenders? also how and why a new tender was received from Smith after time expired and original tenders were opened? Why were the other two parties who tendered not allowed another chance to tender like Smith? The whole transaction looks dark and not open and honest. No man or body acting for a corporation can justify conduct such as Councillor Rutherford represents. The public want

MORALITY, HEALTH AND LOYALTY.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Kindly allow the readers of your valuable paper an opportunity to read the following quotations:—

A writer in the Oban Times says, "Eighty years have elapsed since an execution has taken place in the Highlands," and asks, "Could the angels themselves have a much better character than this?" Again Dr. Clouston, says, "In the Highland asylums softening of the brain is practically unknown." And again, Dr. Donald McLeod, of Glasgow, after alluding to the British victory in the Soudan, requested his congregation before dismissing them on Sabbath afternoon, to sing the National anthem. What country can beat this for morality, health and loyalty!

Yours, etc.,

THE MEAT MARKET.

The Easter Display at the Stalls of the Butchers.

The Peterborough butchers have made a more than usually good display of meat this year. Their desire to excel, and to give their customers first class article has led them to make extra efforts this year to provide for the festive season.

JAMES HOWDEN.

Mr. James Howden's well-known stand, near the Post Office, is well supplied. The carcases of fourteen head of cattle were exhibited at his stall, beside a large quantity of mutton, veal, &c., and it was a fine display of excellent beef. One carcase of mutton which was hanging outside weighed 175 lbs. This sheep was fed by Mr. Howden himself, and its weight did credit to his feeding as its appearance did to his style of dressing. A fine calf, fed by Mr. Allen Fitzgerald, of Smith, attracted attention. Mr. Howden, in addition to the fine display of meat, had his premises tastily decorated with evergreens, flowers, ribbons, small flags, &c. In front of the shop evergreen trees were planted, and altogether the stall had a very pretty appearance. While his customers could not but be satisfied with the meat, all must have been pleased with the tasty appearance of the shop.

H. C. WINCH.

Mr. H. C. Winch, at the market, always makes a good display of meat on such occasions, and this year he was not behind, but a little in advance of his usual exhibit. The cattle which he purchased, which we previously noticed, were in excellent condition and made first class beef. One large calf, three months old, which was hanging at the entrance, attracted not a little attention. His display of mutton, veal, etc., was also excellent, and fancy meats were in abundance in his stall artistically decorated, and this year the ceiling, walls and meat were ornamented with wreaths, rosettes, bunting, flowers and flags. The display was an exhibition well wotrh seeing, and the meat shown was enough to convert the most bitter vegetarian.

N. LAPLANTE.

Mr. N. Laplante, whose stall is opposite to to Mr. Winch's of the market, made a fine display of meats of all kinds. He also enhanced the effect of the exhibition by making good use of flags, flowers, ribbons, etc. Mr. Laplante dresses his meat in a tasty manner, and with the addition of the decorations the display was a very fine one.

R. WAINWRIGHT.

Mr. R. Wainwright's shop is at the corner of George and Murray streets. He has exhibited there a fine lot of beef, as well as a tempting display of other kinds of meat. Good use was made of fancy articles in ornamenting the premises, and the shop presented a fine appearance. Mr. Wainwright also sent out this morning a a fine looking express waggon. The work on it was done in Messrs. Lochart & Chowan's shop. The upper portion is painted in carmine lake, and the lower parts in dark green. The moulding is painted black and striped with English vermilion, bordered with a light straw color. The running part is painted a light cream color, striped with crimson lake. This part of the work was well executed by Mr. John Gibbs, in Messrs. Lochart & Chowan's shop. Mr. J. Watson also applied his artistic brush to the waggon, and the result was fine representations of two heads of cattle on each side of the box, besides Mr. Wainwright's name in gold, shaded with light and dark green, and the word "Express" excellently shaded. On the back part "No. 1" appears in large, well painted letters, Mr. Watson did good work, as usual, on the express.

MCNAIRN AND THOMPSON.

Messrs. McNairn & Thompson, successors of Mr. T. Coe, nearly opposite the Methodist Church, George street, made a fine display of meat. They purchased from good feeders, and the consequence was that they had good beef. Their display of other meats was good. Their premises were also finely decorated.

J. MERVIN.

At the corner of Hunter and Charlotte streets Mr. J. Mervin's shop is situated. Mr. Mervin succeeded Mr. Dencon in this shop two months ago, but he has shown that he understands how to provide for an Easter market. His display of meats was excellent.

A. WHITE.

Mr. Arthur White, whose shop is at the corner of Simcoe and Charlotte streets, also made a good display. Fine carcases of beef were shown in his shop, and of other kinds of meat he made a good exhibit.

M. O'BRIEN.

Although we mention Mr. M. O'Brien's display last it is not by any means because it was the least. His shop, at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets, contained a full stock of beef, mutton, &c., all in fine condition. To furnish good meat is the great aim of the butchers, and Mr. O'Brien certainly succeeded in doing so. It was well dressed and the exhibit was a good one.

Too Busy to do Business.

It would be difficult for the bitterest opponent to pen a stronger indictment of the do-nothing policy of the Mowat Government in the matter of the asylum accommodation for idiots than lately appeared in the Packet from two of their own officials—Dr. Beaton and the Inspector of Public Charities. Year after year these grievous complaints of the shamefully inadequate and unsuitable character of the Orillia and other asylums are repeated, and still the Government, with its boasted surplus of millions, does nothing. Mr. Mowat and his colleagues are too busily occupied in cabaling against the Dominion Government, and political huckstering generally to pay the slightest attention to their most pressing duties.—Orillia Packet.

Gentlemen study your own interests by inspecting the extensive range of Scotch Tweed Suitings at Habiliment Hall.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

A Goat Island Tragedy—All Particulars of which Remain Shrouded in Mystery.

PROSPECT PARK, Niagara Falls, Ont., April 10.—Thos. Vedder and N. R. Pierson drove on Goat Island about five o'clock, yesterday afternoon. As they had not returned at a late hour last night search was made for them, and about two o'clock this morning Pierson's body was found on Luna Island. His head and part of his body were in the water, and ten feet from him Vedder's clothes were found lying on the ice. An examination of Pierson's body showed that he had been shot through the head, the ball entering behind the right ear and coming out on the forehead just over the left eye. The horse and buggy were found tied to a tree on Goat Island, but no trace of Vedder could be discovered. It is supposed the two men, who are brothers-in-law, had an altercation on the island, and in a passion Vedder shot Pierson, and to escape justice, or in remorse, committed suicide by jumping into the rapids. As his body has no doubt gone over the American falls there is no possibility of finding it until the ice breaks away. Pierson and Vedder were respectable citizens of Suspension Bridge, N. Y., and were known all through the country, the latter being a wholesale grocer. Pierson is well known, having filled the responsible position of cashier of the New York Central railroad at this point for the past twenty-nine years.

April 11.—The excitement attending the recent terrible tragedy on Luna Island has passed away, giving place to the most profound sorrow. At suspension Bridge, where the two men resided, business is almost entirely suspended and many of the places draped in mourning. This afternoon the funeral of the late Van R. Person was held from his late residence to Oakwood cemetery, and was very largely attended. No clue whatever has been obtained of Mr. T. Vedder, the missing man, and a reward of $100 is offered for the recovery of his body.

Evidence was taken by the corner on Friday in the tragic event on Goat Island, but nothing was elicted to throw any light on the cause of the crime. No trace of the missing man Vedder has been discovered.

A MELANCHOLY DEATH.

Struck by a Falling Tree and Dying by Inches—For Two Days and a Night.

Mr. Robert Ledgerwood, a highly respected farmer, living in the township of Monteagle, in North Hastings, met his death under the following melancholy circumstances. It appears that he left his home on the morning of Tuesday last, the 1st inst., informing his family that it was uncertain whether he should proceed to the sugar works or to another place to chop. As he did not return home in the evening it was supposed he had remained at a neighbor's house near the sap bush. On the next evening however, as he did not return, his people became alarmed and went out to look him up. On their arrival at the chopping it was observed that one tree only had been felled, and on further search the poor man was found in a swamp, lying on his face in the snow, with one arm broken, and near death. He expired shortly afterwards. It was supposed the tree struck him in falling, breaking his arm and probably causing some internal injury. It is presumed he wandered off in a bewildered state in the wrong direction, and the terrible exposure of two days and one night was almost sufficient in itself to cause death.

Acquitted of Murder.

OTTAWA, April 9.—In September, 1881, a circus employe named Wiliam Fletcher was was murdered here, the body having been found lying at the side of the railway track, the head bearing a couple of wounds and the feet cut off. Foul play was suspected and Stephen Dunn, a fellow employe, was arrested, and has been confined in jail here ever since, until yesterday when he stood his trial at the Assize Court. The only witness who connected the prisoner in any way with Fletcher's death was James Chesley of Walkertown, who testified to having seen Dunn belabour Fletcher over the head with a tent stake on one of the cars, but as he contradicted himself several times in cross-examination, his evidence was not considered reliable. The crown withdrew from the prosecution, and a verdict of acquittal was formally returned by the jury.

Another Advertisement for Mary Anderson.

LONDON, April 9.—The fair American actress, Mary Anderson, has all London at her feet in admiration for her action in refusing to play in the Lyceum on the night of the funeral of Prince Leopold. All the theatres with the above exception were closed, but Mr. Guy, its lessee, had advertised that it should be opened. He reckoned, however, without the principal attraction, Miss Anderson, who coolly informed the disloyal manager that she would not play on that particular night. She was supported in her action by her manager, Abbey, to whom she cabled. Guy talks of instituting an action for heavy damages for breach of agreement, etc.

THE PARTY OF DISINTEGRATION.

Mr. MERCIER and his handful of followers in the Quebec Legislature are determined, if they are almost powerless, at all events to do as much mischief to their country as possible. It is the sting of an angry wasp, irritating but not dangerous. Their latest trick was to move a series of resolutions as to Provincial rights, and to do it in such a shape as to force the Conservatives to vote them down, with a view at once to attack the confederation and to make political capital. Mr. Mercier, in moving his resolutions, avowed the truth that he had been an opponent of Confederation, but he went on to utter the falsehood that when it became law he accepted it and aided in carrying it out. He pretended that he would discuss the subject dispassionately and without party considerations, but with a view solely to preserve provincial autonomy. He then showed the hollowness of this pretence by grossly misrepresenting the actions of the Federal Government. Not content with this, as soon as he sat down two of his supporters were put up to move and second the previous question, so as to force a direct vote on his resolutions without amendment. That there was no necessity for his action is evident from the fact that the Quebec Conservative Government, quite sufficiently favorable to the maintenance of Provincial rights, had even included this subject in their official programme, the "speech from the throne." The fact is that this paltry trick has the double object of giving some ground upon which to base misrepresentations of the Conservative members for the sake of making party capital, and of attacking the integrity of the confederation. Quebec Rouges and Ontario Grits have this in common, that they are not loyal to the Dominion, and that they cannot bear to see it flourish under Conservative auspices, and therefore they are perpetually stirring up local rivalries and sectional jealousies.

Their base tactics, however, will not succeed. Such puny assaults cannot overturn the great Dominion of Canada.

THE BRIBED AND THE BRIBERS.

Mr. Mowat met the Legislature in January with a small majority. Not only was the majority small, but it was necessary to include independents and loose fish to make up a majority at all, The session had not continued many days when rumors of coalition began to fly thick and fast. There was no conspiracy about the matter. There was no secrecy; and even names were freely mentioned of the Reform members who would desert Mr. Mowat and support a Government with Mr. Meredith at the head of it. When Mr. Balfour was asked if he had mentioned to any member of the House that he intended to "leave the Government and support the Opposition," he could only be got to say: "I have no recollection that I can call to mind." Six times he was asked such a question, and six times he evaded a direct reply. If he had not been talking in that fashion to somebody he would have been able to answer Mr. Clark's question with a decided negative.

The round robin, which has been traced into Mr. Fraser's hands and can be traced no further, was signed by at least six members at present supporting the Government. Only one of the signers pretends that he received or was offered a money consideration for his political action; and we believe he received the money on business wholly apart from that to which the round robin referred.

The promoters of the coalition scheme had no need to bribe members: they had received assurances of support from as many as were necessary to success, and they were only awaiting the proper time to carry their plan into execution.

At this time it was the Government which was perturbed, the Government which was in danger, the Government which felt the need of extraordinary action.

Balfour, McKim, Cascaden and Dowling had had agreed more or less distinctly to oppose the Government. Then conference took place between them and members of the Government, and they changed their course. We know some of the inducements: a shrievalty in Cascaden's case, a whitewashing bill in Dowling's case. Lyon, who was disaffected, was whitewashed also, and his disaffection disappeared.

Balfour, McKim, Cascadin and Dowling now began to solicit bribes. McKim was general procurer and go-between. He hunted up Wilkinson and took people to his room. He went to Mr. Bunting and talked about his poverty. Dowling went to Mr. Bunting and complained that he had been badly treated by his party.

Members of the Government knew of the bribery from the first.

Members of the Government sent their tools to solicit bribes.

Nobody had anything to gain by bribery but the Government.

We believe there would have been no bribery had not the Government so desired.—Hamilton Spectator,

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Independence of Parliament—Another Attack on Sir C. Tupper—The "Globe" Slanders Refuted by Sir H. Langevin—Cowardice of Mr. Blake.

INDEPENDENCE OF PARLIAMENT.

Sir J. MACDONALD on Wednesday, moved the third reading of the bill to amend the Independance of Parliament Act.

Mr. BLAKE opposed this, objecting to the Government having the power to appoint members to office without salary. He moved an amendment limiting the indemnity to Sir C. Tupper to the present session.

Sir J. MACDONALD opposed the amendment on the ground that the Election Committee and the House had found Sir C. Tupper entitled to his seat not only for the session, but for that Parliament.

Mr. MILLS and Mr. KAULBACK both spoke amid much interruption, the House being unwilling to hear the Reformer or the Conservative.

The amendment was rejected by 117 to 58.

Mr. FISHER moved an amendment to strike out the first clause, as it gave power to Lieut.-Governors and judges to sit in the House if they resigned their salaries.

The amendment was negatived on a similar decision, and the third reading was carried.

A SLANDER REFUTED.

Sir H. LANGEVIN said he would not have noticed a slanderous attack upon him in the Ottawa correspondent and the editorial columns of the Globe, if it had only been personal to himself, but in his position the attack was one on the honor of his party, the House and the public at large. Because like many other public men he had received a testimonial, without even knowing who were the subscribers, he had been accused of taking bribes from contractors. He went through the charges one by one. Mr. Goodwin has a claim for extras which was investigated in the usual way by the officers, whose recommendation was accepted by the Council and the House, as it would have been under any Government. Mr. Dunsmuir never had dealings to the extent even of a dollar with his department. Mr. Charlebois denied in the public papers that he was a subscriber to the testimonial, and even if he had been, his tender was accepted because it was the lowest by far. Mr. Davis had not been a contractor in his department. Mr. Morgan who was said to be promoted by him, was promoted not by him but by the Secretary of State, Mr. Chapleau. These charges were baseless and slanderous. Though he had been an opponent of the Reform party he deserved fairer treatment at their hands. For twenty-seven years he had been a member of Parliament; twenty years ago he was appointed a Minister of the Crown; for sixteen years he had been a Minister. During that time millions upon millions of money had passed through his hands and not a word had been said till now against his character or his administration of this money. Because the recent approaches made by the Globe to the Quebec members had been unsuccessful, it seemed that he, as their leader, was to be thus assailed and slandered. He was sure this treatment of him would be condemned by the country and would agree with him that he had deserved better treatment from those who were opposed to him.

Mr. BLAKE said not a word though Sir H. Langevin had appealed personally to him to discountenance such slanders. He sat speechless, not daring to take up in the House the vile, slanders which he encourages his organs to circulate on his behalf, and not daring to act the part of a man by denouncing such baseness by which he is evidently quite willing to benefit.

SUPPLY.

The House then went into Committee of Supply on the Supplementary Estimates.

FISH HATCHERIES.

Mr. DAVIES objected to the item for fish hatcherie as having been money wasted without result.

Mr. MCLELAN said that the catch of fish had fallen off except in the rivers where fry was deposited, and, but for that, these fisheries would have dwindled also.

ENGLAND AND THE SOUDAN.

GORDON'S ENCOUNTERS WITH REBELS.

A despatch received at Cairo from Gordon, dated March 30th, says that on March 25th Gordon disarmed 250 Bashi-Bazouks who had mutinied. The following day he shelled a rebel camp on the Blue Nile, killing forty of the enemy. March 27th the rebels fired upon Khartoum from a village opposite. They were soon forced to evacuate the village, losing fifty-nine men. Bashi-Bazouks occupied and held it till the 30th. On that day the rebels returned in force and drove them out, but then retired. The White Nile district is quiet. Gordon estimates the rebels about Khartoum to number two thousand.

EVACUATION OF KHARTOUM ORDERED.

The British Government has sent positive orders to Gordon to withdraw from Khartoum with the garrison as soon as possible.

ANOTHER REBEL DEFEAT.

The latest advices from General Gordon, dated April 14th, say in an engagement on March 30th the rebels lost forty men killed and eight wounded, together with sixteen horses.

CRITICAL CONDITION OF KASSALA.

The Governor of Kassala is asking daily for assistance. He reports that many Bashi-Bazouks have joined the rebels, and the garrison is in a panicky state.

HEAVY LOSSES OF THE REBELS.

In an engagement at Khartoum on March 24th the rebel camp was shelled and 116 rebels killed or wounded. A crowd of Arabs picked up a shell and tried to discover its mechanism, when it exploded, killing sixteen and maiming many others.

Is it Guilty?

The independent Toronto Telegram says;—The London Advertiser argues that the accused persons, and also the Dominion Government, should insist on all the telegrams being produced without delay, in order that, if innocent, their innocence may be made clear. Innocent people, it remarks do not fear publicity. Yet it is only a few weeks ago since the attempt of Conservatives to have the telegraph messages sent by members of the Government to Algoma produced in Court was denounced as a fishing expedition, and certainly the Government did not show any remarkably anxiety to call for the messages to be produced. Nor have they been produced even yet. Are we to assume from this that the Ontario Government is guilty? This is what the Advertiser asks us to do.

The Halifax Dynamiters.

HALIFAX, April 8.—Holmes and Brecken were arrested here in September last for having dynamite in their possession, with dangerous weapons. They were tried in the Supreme Court to-day on the indictment of creating a nuisance by having dangerous explosives in their possession, thereby endangering life and property. The evidence was the same as that produced at the examination last fall. Judge Thomson presided, and making an able charge to the jury, bearing hard on the prisoners. After a short absence the jury returned a verdict of guilty. Judge May sentenced them to two years in the penitentiary. It may be remembered that at the time of the arrests of these men there was a strong suspicion of their being Fenian dynamiters. When their room at Parker's hotel was examined by Dectictive Power in their absence he found two valises concealed behind a bed containing about 100 lbs. of dynamite, together with some clock work and pistols. When arrested shortly after they pretended to be strangers to each other, but afterwards said they were gold miners, and required the dynamite for the work they were going at in the country. They had revolvers in their pockets when arrested. On one of them was also found a baggage check which on presentation at the railway station, produced a swimming suit, in which one could remain for a long time in the water. Owning to the inability of procuring any evidence for a more serious charge the prosecution had to proceed on the indictment mentioned above. Although they no money in their possession when arrested, they have had their meals furnished them from a hotel or restaurant every day since they were committed to gaol. It is said the defendants' attorney will make a motion for a new trial.

Informer McKim's Debts.

Mr. Walker, of Hamilton, on behalf of Messrs. Stuart & McPherson, moved on Wednesday, April 9th, before Mr. Dalton, Q.C., in Chambers for payment over of the $1,000 bribery money, handed by Mr. Robert McKim, M.P.P., to the Speaker. Mr. J. G. Scott, Q.C., appeared for the Speaker. The applicants are judgment creditors of McKim's to the extent of $1,300, and as they can get no money out of the M.P.P. himself they have gladly seized this opportunity of realizing a portion of their claim. Mr. Scott was not prepared to argue the case upon its legal bearing, and an enlargement was therefore granted until Wednesday. Mr. Scott stated that Mr. McKim made no claim to the money, but preferred to pay his debts himself. Mr. Walker replied that his payment of debts was rather a slow process. The case was adjourned for a week.

Shall we Let the Child Die?

A hard-hearted political economist, looking at a pale and puny child feebly gasping as it lies upon a pillow says the child might as well die. It is so weak and poor that its life will never be worth much anyhow. There are already a good many people in the world who are of not much account anyhow. And what's the use of adding to their number another weakling, who has but slender chance of ever amounting to anything?

Now ask that child's mother what she think's about letting the child die. About this time the hard political economist had better get out of the way. "Let my child die? No! No! As long as there is a remedy to be found that will save that child, the child shall not die! I'll spend my last dollar to save the child! Well, try a bottle of Shaker Blood Syrup on that child. See the poor little fellow pick up strength. He revives. He will live. Hosts of other children have been brought almost from death to healthy life by the Shaker Blood Syrup. Your druggist sells it.

INFELICE.

By AUGUSTA J. EVANS WILSON.

Author of "St. Elmo," "Beulah," "Macaria,"

CHAPTER II.—CONTINUED.

How many men and women, with lives of average length and incident, have failed to recognize, nay, to cower before the fact, that all along the highways and by-ways of the earthly pilgrimage they have been hounded by a dismal cortege of retarded messages,—lost opportunities,—miscarried warnings,—procrastinated prayers,—dilatory deeds,—and laggard faces,—that howl for ever in their shuddering ears—"Too Late." Had Dr. Hargrove received this letter only twenty-four hours earlier, the result of the interview on the previous night would probably have been very different; but, unfortunately, while the army of belated facts—the fatal Grouchy corps—never accomplish their intended mission they avenge their failure by a pertinacious presence ever after that is almost maddening.

An uncomfortable consciousness of having been completely overreached did not soften the ministers feeling towards the new custodian of his tin box, and an utter revulsion of sentiment ensued, wherein sympathy for Gen. Rene Laurance reigned supreme. Oh, instability of human compassion! To-day, at the tumultuous flood,—we weep for Cæsar slain; to-morrow, in the ebb,—we vote a monument to Brutus.

Ere the sun had gone down behind the sombre frozen firs that fringed the hills of V——, Dr. Hargrove had written to Mr. Peleg Peterson, desiring to be furnished with some clue by which he could trace Minnie Merle, and Hannah had been despatched to the Post Office, to expedite the departure of the letter.

Weeks and months passed, tearful April wept itself away in the flowery lap of blue-eyed May, and golden June roses died in the fiery embrace of July, but no answer came—no additional information drifted upon the waves of chance, and the slow stream of life at the Parsonage once more crept silently and monotonously on.

"Some griefs gnaw deep. Some woes are hard to bear.
Who knows the Past? and who can judge us right?

CHAPTER III.

The sweet-tongued convent bell had rung the Angelus, and all within the cloistered courts was hushed, save the low monologue of the fountain, whose minor murmuring made solemn accord with the sacred harmonious repose of its surroundings. The sun shone hot and blinding upon the towering mass of brick and slate which, originally designed in the form of a parallelogram had from numerous modern additions projected here, and curved into a new chapel yonder, until the acquisitive building had become eminently composite in its present style of architecture. The belfry, once in the centre, had been left behind in the onward march of the walls, but lifted unconquerably in mid-air its tall gilt cross, untarnished by time, though ambitious ivy had steadily mounted the buttresses, and partially draped the Gothic arches, where blue air once shone freely through.

The court upon which the ancient monastery opened was laid out in the stiff geometric style which universally prevailed when its trim hedges of box were first planted, and giant rose bushes, stately lilacs and snowballs attested the careful training and attention which many years had bestowed. In the centre of this court, and surrounded by a wide border of luxuriant lilies, was a triangular pedestal of granite, now green with moss, and spotted with silver gray lichen groups, upon which stood a statue of St. Francis, bearing the stigmata, and wearing the hood drawn over his head, while the tunic was open to display the wound in his side, and the skull and the crucifix lay at his feet. Close to the base of the pedestal crouched a marble lamb, around whose neck crept a slender chain of bind-weed, and above whom the rank green lances of leaves shot up to guard the numerous silver-dusted lilies that swung like snowy bells in the soft breeze, dispensing perfume, instead of chimes.

Quite distinct from the spacious new chapel,—with its gilded shrine, picture-tapestried walls, and gorgeous stained windows, where the outside-world believers were allowed to worship—stood a low cruciform oratory, situated within the stricter confines of the monastery, and sacred to the exclusive use of the nuns. This chapel was immediately opposite the St. Francis, and to-day, as the old-fashioned doors of elaborately carved oak were thrown wide, the lovely mass of nodding lilies seemed bowing in adoration before the image of the Virgin and Child, who crowned the altar within, while the dazzling sheen of noon flashing athwart the tessellated floor, kindled an almost unearthly halo around.

"Virgin, and Babe and Saint, who
With the same cold, calm, beautiful regard, had watched for many weary years the kneeling devotees, beneath their marble feet.

On the steps of the altar were a number of china pots containing rose and apple geraniums in full bloom, and one luxuriant Grand Duke jasmine all starred with creamy flowers, so flooded the place with fragrance, that it seemed as if the vast laboratory of floral aromas had been suddenly unsealed.

Upon the stone pavement immediately in front of the altar, sat a little figure so motionless, that a casual glance would probably have included it among the consecrated and permanent images of the silent sanctuary;—the figure of a child whose age could not have been accurately computed from the inspection of the countenance, which indexed a degree of grave mature wisdom wholly incompatible with the height of the body and the size of the limbs.

If devotional promptings had brought her to the Nun's Chapel, her orisons had been concluded, for she had turned her back upon the altar, and sat gazing sorrowfully down at her lap, where lay in pathetic pose a white rabbit and a snowy pigeon—both dead—quite stark and cold—laid out in state upon the spotless lined apron, around which a fluted ruffle ran crisp and smooth. One tiny waxen hand held a broken lily, and the other was vainly pressed upon the lids of the rabbit's eyes, trying to close lovingly the pink orbs, that now stared so distressingly through glazing film. The first passionate burst of grief had spent its force in the tears that left the velvety cheeks and chin as dewy as rain-washed rose leaves, while not a trace of moisture dimmed the large eyes that wore a proud, defiant and much-injured look, as though resentment were strangling sorrow.

Unto whom or what shall I liken this fair, tender, childish face, which had in the narrow space of ten years gathered such perfection of outline, such unearthly purity of color, such winsome grace, such complex expressions? Probably amid the fig and olive groves of Tuscany, Fra Bartolomeo found just such an incarnation of the angelic ideal, which he afterward placed, for the admiration of succeeding generations, in the winged heads that glorify the Madonna della Misericordia. The stipple of time dots so lightly, so slowly, that at the age of ten, a human countenance should present a mere fleshy tabula rasa, but now and then we are startled by meeting a child as unlike the round, rosy, pulpy, dimpling, unwritten faces of ordinary life, as the cherubs of Raphael, to the rigid forms of Byzantine mosaics, or the stone portraiture of Copan.

LOSS OF S.S. STEINMANN.

The Story of the Wreck—The Passengers Washed Overboard by a Heavy Sea.

WHAT THE CAPTAIN SAYS.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 5.—Mr. James A. Chipman, of Chipman Brothers, agents for the White Cross Line, returned to town this afternoon from Sambro, where he went last night to look after the survivors of the wrecked steamer "Daniel Steinmann." The stormy weather last night prevented him from attempting to reach Sambro Island, but this morning at five o'clock he secured a pilot who would endeavor to reach the island. They took a pilot and dory with them. When as near the island as they could risk the dory was launched, and, with the aisistance of the men on the island, Mr. Chipman got ashore and saw Captain schoonhaven, and obtained some particulars of the wreck. The captain's statement is as follows:—On the 3rd of April, after a voyage of 13¼ days from Antwerp, at 6 p.m., the bearing of Chebucto by dead reckoning and the sounding was west-half south by compass, distance 25 miles, dense fog and heavy rain; steamed dead slow, steering west-quarter-south and sounding every hour. About 9.15 saw through the mist a faint light, about two points on the starboard bow, disappearing out of sight at times for four or five minutes. Taking it for Chebucto, I steered for it, sounding thirty fathoms, and ten in twenty minutes later. I saw that it was the fixed light of Sambro appearing clear, and at the same time seeing a faint show of what I took to be Chebucto light about four points on the starboard bow, I sounded 26 fathoms. I then put the helm hard a port, but it was to late, just before the ship struck on the rocks. At no time heard the fog whistle off Sambro. The first shock was light, the second heavy, carrying away the steering gear. After this we could not get the engines to work, but drifted over the rocks and anchored, the ship lying to, pretty quiet and little sea, I ordered the chief and second mates to lower the boats and get the children and female passengers in first. While I saw this going on, having already one boat in the water, the crew working with a will, I saw the ship coming nearer to the breaker again, when I ran forward to see if the chain cable was not broken. Before getting there a moustrous sea broke over the poop washing overboard every passenger, child and woman who stood on the deck. This was immediately followed by a tremendous crash, and the ship went down as quick as lightning, stern first, carring every one down who was on deck and bridge. I ran up the fore-rigging, but was washed out before getting half way, but afterwards succeeded in catching the topsail yards, which stood just above the water. A moment after a passenger was able to join me. The night was foggy and rainy an we saw nothing more. The next morning we were gallantly rescued by the men upon Sambro Island about five a. m., in one of our own boats, there being no life or rocket apparatus on the Island. Some of the crew had already succeeded in reaching the land through the surf. The number of passengers drowned was ninety and the number of the crew drowned thirty-three. The saved passengers were three and the crew six. We had a fine voyage till we reached the Banks, which we crossed in 44.33, and where we saw some patches of field ice. Hence we had almost continual fog with rain till we reached Nova Scotia coast. Our last observations were taken on the morning of the 2nd. We had a full general cargo of about 1,400 tons. The Steamer was drawing twenty-feet six inches aft and nineteen feet forward. The ship is now evidently broken with the rocks through her bottom. The storm was from the eastward when we struck with dense fog and rain. It was impossible to save any papers whatever. I stayed in the foretopsail yards, but having to go further up to clear the break of the sea. I maintained a position in the ratlines for eight hours in company with the solitary surviving passenger. We were afraid to lash ourselves for fear the mast would bread away, so we just held on all ready to jump, from 10 p. m. to 5.30 a. m. A heavy line was thrown to us and we jumped into the water and were pulled through the surf into the boat."

Detectives Detected.

LONDON, April 7.—The Swiss Anarchists have spread consternation amongst the European authorities engaged in tracking members of the fraternity. By means of an expensive and laborious detective system they have secured the name, location, description, and likeness of every spy and detective domiciled in the State and engaged in the work of hunting down or "shadowing" Anarchist refugees. They have just issued the Hue and Cry. The first edition, which has been printed and circulated by tens of thousands, contains a detailed statement of the information gathered, and a portrait and description of every unfriendly spy and detective within the Republic. Its appearance has caused a profound sensation.

A Defaulting Baker.

LONDON, April 7.—Bailey Harrison of the banking firm of Harrison & McTaggart, of Tilsonburg, has skipped out, and his books show a deficit of $30,000, the robbery of which has been going on for years, and was carefully concealed by means of false and other entries in the books. Harrison came from Parkhill, and six years since started work in London as a clerk in the Federal Bank. He was considered upright and honest in all his dealings, and enjoyed the confidence of the bank authorities. While here he married the daughter of E. D. Tilson, a wealthy citizen of Tilsonburg, and continued to reside here after the marriage. In the spring of 1880 a partnership was formed with Dr. McTaggart, a banker of Parkhill, and a large concern was opened in Tilsonburg. Business prospered with them, and the partners appeared to grow rich. A few weeks ago he gave out that he had gone south to the Tennessee field sports in order to test his dog against the best setter in the United States, but the unusual length of his absence caused inquiries to be made.

Suspicions were aroused and his father was sent for. He could not believe any of the reports concerning his son, and consequently declared he was prepared to assume all liabilities, and gave his bond to that effect. Mr. Harrison, sr., then took up his abode in Tilsonburg, and assisted in carrying on the business crippled by his son, but the longer the old man stayed the more the rottenness of the institution became apparent, till at last the father said he would pay no more. Thirty thousand dollars is the lowest figure that can be arrived at as yet as the amount of Bailey's defalcations. A suit has been entered against Mr. Harrison by the Federal Bank for that amount. Dr. McTaggart has escaped much loss, seeing that he, as well as the bank, are recouped by the guarantee and bonds furnished by Mr. Harrison, Young Bailey is said, at present, to be in Chicago, engaged in the commission business. It is also said, at the time of his leaving Tilsonburg, he must have taken from $10,000 to $15,000 with him.—Telegram.

How Would it do?

This bad weather requires a remedy. It seems as if the whole responsibility should rest on Vennor and Wiggins, for we had some kind of weather before they appeared upon the scene. How would it do to string them up? Would it make things better? Another hint of importance—don't hang on to your corns as weather indicators. Better string them out root and branch. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor will do it quickly, painlessly and with certainty. Don't buy dangerous flesh-eating substitutes. Get Putnam's, and no other.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling above the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for tetter, itch, salt rheum, scald head, erysipelas, barber's itch, blotches, all scaly, crusty skin diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes, $1.25 (in stamps) Adpress DR. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

Polson's Nerviline.

Polson's Nerviline, the great pain cure, never fails to give prompt relief in the following complaints:—Sprains, bruises, cuts, tic douloureux, rheumatism, spinal pains, neuralgia, toothache, lumbago, sciatica. Buy to-day at Ormond & Walsh's drug store a 10 cent sample bottle and test it in any of the above complaints. It never fails, for Nerviline is composed of the most powerful pain subduing remedies in the world. Get a bottle at Ormond & Walsh's. You will be made happy. Ten and 25 cents a bottle.

M. FERRY lately said to a committee of the Chamber of deputies that negotiations with the Hovas were again broken off owing to the ill will of the Malagasies. Gen. Miot started for Madagascar on Friday to occupy several more points on the northwest coast. The object is to affirm the treaty rights of France. This policy necessitates the reinforcement of the troops in Madagascar.

The Woman's Physician.

A common sense medical work for ladies only. Fully answers all questions which modesty prevents asking a male physician. Gives causes and symptoms of all diseases of the sex, with positive cure for each in plain language, written by ladies who have made these diseases a life study. A plain talk in delicate language which every woman, young and old, should read. It is recommended by many eminent lady physicians as a safe guide for the sex. Handsomely bound and illustrated. Sent postpaid for $1.00. Address the ROCHESTER PUBLISHING Co., 32, 33 & 33½ Osburn Block, Rochester, N.Y.

Our Canadian Industry

is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required In nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must nessarilly be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs' Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding, Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

LOCAL NEWS

To-Night.

The Fire Brigade Band will give an open air concert on George street this evening.

The Cells.

There were ten tramps in the cells on Thursday night, and four tramps and one prisoner last night.

Open Air Music.

The City Band treated the public to an open air concert on Good Friday afternoon. They played at the corner of George and Brock streets, and had a large and appreciative audience. The Band includes some good musicians and they discoursed good music.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows: Moderate winds, rising temperature and generally finer weather.

The Market.

There was a large attendance on the market this morning. The price of eggs dropped a little, and they were sold at 14 to 15 cents a dozen. There was little or no change in the prices of other articles. Maple syrup sold at $1.25 a gallon. Mr. S. Payne was on hand with a supply of garden vegetables.

Our Mechanic's Brace is the easiest and most durable in town. Andrew McNeil.

The Saved Army.

Gen. Lindsay was present at the Saved Army meeting on Thursday evening. He went to Port Hope on Friday morning. Three meetings were held on Good Friday—a knee drill for soldiers at nine o'clock, and public meetings at half past three in the afternoon. and half past seven in the evening. They were all largely attended.

Easter Monday Concert.

The following extracts from the press are in reference to a gentleman who will appear at the Concert in the Opera House on Monday evening:—

"Mr. George R. Joseph, of Montreal, gave a number of selections and imitations on an instrument which was to all appearance an ordinary coffee pot, but which in his hands seemed capable of emitting musical strains of every sort."—Woodstock Sentinel.

"This gentleman is a variety troupe all in himself, and met with the most enthusiastic reception."—Woodstock Times.

Good Friday.

Good Friday passed off quietly in town. Services were held in St. Peter's Cathedral at 9 o'clock a.m., and at 2:o'clock and 9 o'clock p.m., conducted by His Lordship Bishop Jamot, the Rev. Father Conway and the Rev. Father Keating. A service was held in the George street Methodist Church at 11 o'clock, at which the Rev. John Shaw preached a sermon. In St. John's Church services were held in the forenoon and evening, the Rev. J. W. R. Beck preaching at each. These services were all well attended.

The Ontario and Quebec.

A train of cars crossed the new Ontario and Quebec bridge over the Otonabee on Thursday afternoon. It was expected that the train would go over on Wednesday afternoon, and a large number of sight-seers gathered to witness the event, but they were at that time disappointed. At about half-past five o'clock on Thursday afternoon, however, everything was ready, and the order was given to cross. There was a large number of people on both sides of the river, and all those on the Ashburnham side boarded the cars in order to render themselves famous by being amongst the first to cross the bridge on a train. The train consisted of twenty-five cars and a locomotive. It passed over the bridge slowly, and there was not a creek or a jar as it moved across the massive structure. As the train passed off the bridge some enthusiastic persons welcomed its appearance with cheers. The bridge is a fine looking structure, and is a sound and solid one.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

The Spring Sitting of the Chancery Division now in Peterborough.

BRYSON VS. ONTARIO AND QUEBEC RAILWAY—This was an action to compel the railway company to arbitrate in regard to the damage done to a park lot owned by Mr. Bryson, through which the railway passed. The company raised as a defence a contract obtained from Mrs. Bryson, but she and her husband replied that the contract was obtained while Mrs. Bryson was sick during the absence of her husband in Rochester, that it was obtained on the understanding that it was to be submitted to the husband for approval, that Mrs. Bryson was taken by suprise and the matter concluded in a few minutes, and, finally, that the price was incommensurate with the damage done. A number of intricate questions of law in regard to the rights of a married woman to bind herself were raised. The case lasted a day and a half. Judgment was reserved.—Messrs. D. W. Dumble and C. Moss, Q. C., for plaintiff, and Messrs. G. T. Blackstock and A. M. Grier for defendants.

EDWARDS VS. ONTARIO AND QUEBEC R. R.—This was an action for trespass, the company having piled ties on part of the plaintiff's lot not occupied by the railway line, and also to compel the company to arbitrate as to the price to be paid for the land occupied by the line. The plaintiff was allowed $15 for the trespass and an injunction was granted to restrain the company from continuing the occupation of the part of the land not used for the railway track. The judge also ordered an injunction to be issued to compel the company to discontinue running trains over the land, but the injunction was not to be issued for three months, in order to enable the company to take the necessary steps to have the amount of compensation determined by arbitration.—Mr. C. Moss, Q. C., for plaintiff, and Messrs. Blackstock and Grier for defendants.

MACDONALD VS. MACDONALD.—Action dismissed absolutely.—Mr. G. Edmison for plaintiff and Mr. D. W. Dumble for defendant.

POLICE COURT.

INSULTING LANGUAGE.

SATURDAY, April 12.—Thomas Billings was charged by Wm. Rogers, a sergeant of the Saved Army, with having used grossly insulting language. Billings pleaded guilty, and was fined $2, which he paid.

DISTURBING THE SAVED ARMY.

Thomas Billings was also charged by Sergeant Rogers with having disturbed an assemblage of persons met for religious worship. He pleaded guilty to this charge also. He was fined $10, or if not paid in ten days, to be committed to gaol for ten days.

Easter Beef.

Messrs. McNairn & Thompson have made ample preparations for the Easter market. on Wednesday two fine young steers, which they purchased from Mr. Wm. Telford, of Smith, were on the market, and they would certainly make fine beef. They have also purchased six head of cattle in excellent condition from Mr. M. Sanderson, Reeve of Smith. Those who desire fine meat for Easter should visit their shop, George street, opposite Dr. Harvey's, lately occupied by Mr. Thos. Coe.

Grand Easter Concert at Port Hope

Presbyterian Church in Canada.

HAMILTON, April 8.—The eighth annual meeting of the woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada (western section) was held to-day in this city, in the school-room of St. Paul's Church. There was a very large attendance of delegates from different parts of Ontario, as well as of ladies of the city. Reports of the year's work were presented by the home and foreign secretaries, treasurer, Board of Management, and from all the Presbyterian auxiliary societies throughout the western section of the Church, all of them being eminently satisfactory. Delegates were present from the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, North-West, United States; from the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of Montreal; and of Peterborough; from Methodist, Episcopal and Baptist societies, and letters of greeting were received from others.

The company raised as a defence a contract obtained from Mrs. Bryson, but she and her husband replied that the contract was obtained while Mrs. Bryson was sick during the absence of her husband in Rochester, that it was obtained on the understanding that it was to be submitted to the husband for approval, that Mrs. Bryson was taken by suprise and the matter concluded in a few minutes, and, finally, that the price was incommensurate with the damage done. A number of intricate questions of law in regard to the rights of a married woman to bind herself were raised. The case lasted a day and a half. Judgment was reserved.—Messrs. D. W. Dumble and C. Moss, Q. C., for plaintiff, and Messrs. G. T. Blackstock and A. M. Grier for defendants.

EDWARDS VS. ONTARIO AND QUEBEC R. R.—This was an action for trespass, the company having piled ties on part of the plaintiff's lot not occupied by the railway line, and also to compel the company to arbitrate as to the price to be paid for the land occupied by the line. The plaintiff was allowed $15 for the trespass and an injunction was granted to restrain the company from continuing the occupation of the part of the land not used for the railway track. The judge also ordered an injunction to be issued to compel the company to discontinue running trains over the land, but the injunction was not to be issued for three months, in order to enable the company to take the necessary steps to have the amount of compensation determined by arbitration.—Mr. C. Moss, Q. C., for plaintiff, and Messrs. Blackstock and Grier for defendants.

MACDONALD VS. MACDONALD.—Action dismissed absolutely.—Mr. G. Edmison for plaintiff and Mr. D. W. Dumble for defendant.

A Runaway.

A team of horses belonging to Mr. Trennum became frightened at the engine on the Ontario and Quebec Railway on Thursday afternoon and ran away. The wagon upset near the brick works on Water street, and Mr. Trennum fell under it, but the horses became detached from the vehicle and sped on up the street. They were caught near the market. Very little damage was done.

Fresh and Salt.

Fresh Herring, Fresh Pickerel, Fresh Pike, Smoked Haddie, and Smoked Fish of all kinds on hand. We intend keeping constantly on hand a supply of Fresh Fish, and our customers can depend on getting them at all times, nice and fresh, and at reasonable prices. Fresh Herrings 20 cents per dozen. Presbyterian Church in Canada.

HAMILTON, April 8.—The eighth annual meeting of the woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada (western section) was held to-day in this city, in the school-room of St. Paul's Church. There was a very large attendance of delegates from different parts of Ontario, as well as of ladies of the city. Reports of the year's work were presented by the home and foreign secretaries, treasurer, Board of Management, and from all the Presbyterian auxiliary societies throughout the western section of the Church, all of them being eminently satisfactory. Delegates were present from the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, North-West, United States; from the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of Montreal; and of Peterborough; from Methodist, Episcopal and Baptist societies, and letters of greeting were received from others.

MONDAY, APRIL 14, 1884.

THE SLANDERERS FOILED.

A SCENE took place in the Senate last Thursday such as could hardly be expected in that august assembly. It was caused by the disgraceful attempt of a Reform member to aid Mr. Mowat and his fellow conspirators by repeating their slanders against the Minister of the Interior.

The Hon. Mr. Macpherson having proposed a motion as to the formation of additional registration districts in the North-West, the Hon. Mr. Power, of Halifax, taunted the Minister of the Interior with giving blank appointments of registrarships, repeating several times this false and slanderous statement made by Mr. Mowat in the Ontario Legislature.

After a few words of fitting rebuke of Mr. Power, and the conspirators to invite bribery, from Senator Almon, with a remark on the impropriety of introducing Ontario local affairs, the Hon. Mr. Macpherson stated the well-known fact that his letter was a personal notification of an intended appointment such as is customary in such cases, and not transferable or capable of being used for purposes of corruption, a meaning which none but a dishonest and dishonorable man could pretend to attach to it. He severely but justly censured Mr. Mowat for his slanderous statement in the Ontario Legislature, made without the slightest justification, but for the sake of giving importance to their manufactured case. He also condemned the conduct of the Police Magistrate in having adopted in his decision in defiance of the facts the false construction put by the conspirators upon his letter. It was evident, he said, that the Ontario Premier and his colleagues, who had sent out worthless men to sell themselves, were the real conspirators, and, even if those they endeavored to entrap were guilty, they were but following in the footsteps of the leader of the Reform party.

As was natural the Hon. Mr. Scott now sprung to his feet to interrupt these reminiscenses so painful for him. As will be remembered it was this gentleman who when Speaker of the Ontario Legislature was bought by Mr. Blake, when by the purchase of a cabinet minister, Mr. E. B. Wood, and other members, he undermined the Government of Sandfield Macdonald.

Mr. Macpherson declined to be silenced, and proceeded to say that the subject had been forced upon him by the sneers and taunts of Mr. Power. The Reform press had been deliberately fabricating and circulating false statements against him, as had the base band of conspirators, the Mowats and McKims, the Pardees and Dowlings, the Frasers and Balfours, and now when the slanders were repeated in the Senate if he did not indignantly repel them the whole Reform press would ring with the statement that he admitted their truth.

Mr. Powers hypocritically pretended that he had done the Minister of the Interior a favour by repeating the calumny so as to allow of a contradiction, but even while feigning to accept the explanation he kept repeating his lying statements that the appointment was a blank one, reiterating his vile falsehood on several different occasions. Several Senators fittingly rebuked Mr. Power, and not one of his own side had a word of excuse for his base conduct. Even Mr. Scott censured it when he rose to check revelations painful to himself.

Of course the Reform press will be horrified at Mr. Macpherson's righteous indignation. Because they could not induce leading Conservatives to fall into their traps and bribe them, the endeavour of these conspirators, from Mr. Mowat down, has been to invent charges of complicity against prominent men opposed to them in politics. Mr. Macpherson having taken a leading part in overturning their disastrous rule in the Dominion, cannot be forgiven, and therefore is a chief mark for these traducers. So having found among their stolen documents an innocent letter from him, they endeavour, by forging alterations in it, or misrepresenting its meaning, to stain his character in the eyes of the people of Canada. So far they have only succeeded in drawing upon themselves the contempt they deserve.

Disfranchising Conservatives.

Mr. Mowat has so arranged election machinery as to deprive hundreds of Conservative electors of their right to vote: and has instructed partisan returning officers to refuse the votes of legal electors in direct violation of law. A man who unjustly administers a law and robs citizens of their elective franchise, is not fit to be entrusted with the administration of the law.—Hamilton Spectator

THE MASTER CONSPIRATORS.

THE Sarnia Observer does not like Bystander's remarks upon the immorality of inviting bribery, and puts the case thus:—

"Suppose burglars had designs upon his premises and approached his servants with offers of bribes to admit them into the house and have everything arranged so that the robbery of the place, and if necessary the murder of the unsuspecting inmates, could be accomplished with ease and safety. The servants inform their master of the burglar's plans. Would Bystander assume a highly moral stand, tell his servants to shun the rascals, and then give notice through the daily papers that the burglars' game was discovered? Or would he take steps to capture the scoundrels in the act and secure for them the punishment they deserved?"

But the Observer, in its suppositious case, leaves out some important points. Suppose the servants being old criminals had invited the burglars on condition of sharing the plunder. And suppose, being frightened or hoping to obtain a reward, had confessed to their master. And suppose the master, having a quarrel with some neighbour, promised his servants forgiveness and reward if they allured this neighbour to join in the crime, or if they could not do that to inveigle him on to the premises so that he could be accused of complicity. And suppose the master and servants allowed and encouraged the crime to proceed till the robbery and perhaps the murder had been committed. Would not the general opinion be that the servants were as bad as the burglars, and the master more criminal than either?

This would be more like the case, making allowance, of course, for the Observer's absurdity of comparing the accused to burglars, or the informers and procurers to anyone so respectable as domestic servants.

GORDON'S SAFETY.

Despatches from the Soudan state that it was impossible to send telegrams from Cairo to Khartoum, and that nothing had been heard from General Gordon for a fortnight. The following, from the Alexandria correspondent of the London Times, under date of the 23rd ult., may throw some light upon the danger surrounding the general:—

The Government's refusal to approve Zebehr Pasha as successor to General Gordon strikingly shows the change in the Government's policy. A year ago it declined to interfere, except by way of advice in the plan of campaign advocated by the Egyptian Government, against the advice of Lord Dufferin and of Baker and Hicks Pashas. Now it vetoes no appointment desired by Egypt and counselled by General Gordon and Sir Evelyn Baring.

The refusal, thought apparently backed by public opinion in England, implies, I venture to say, more serious consequences than people generally imagine. Prior to Gen. Gordon's departure, a person to whose opinion I am afraid I gave too little credence, warned me in these words:—

"Do not attach too much importance to Gen. Gordon's popularity. It possibly exists among the masses, but there as here you will find that popularity among the masses is worthless. A few men there make public opinion, and those men all hate Gen Gordon. Unless Gen. Gordon can swallow Zebehr Pasha he will find himself powerless.

A few days ago I met the same person, who said:—

"You would not believe me before, now listen. General Gordon's life depends on the employment of Zebehr Pasha. Make up your mind to sacrifice your prejudice, or Gordon. You have put him in the lion's mouth, and he is shrewd enough to see the only way out of it. He is too brave to tell your that the refusal of Zebehr is Gordon's death-warrant—at least unless you send an army instead."

I am doubtful whether I am justified in repeating these remarks even anonymously, and I have hesitated to do so. But feeling convinced of their truth, and that General Gordon only accepted his perilous mission on the distinct understanding that he should receive absolute support, I think it necessary to point out that by despatching him, and then declining his advice, we have entrapped him into danger and then closed the door of escape.

Perpetual Injunction.

In the U. S. Circuit Court in Maryland, it was, on the 10th of March, 1884, adjudged and decreed that a perpetual injunction be issued against Louis E. Wetter, and eighteen others, restraining them from imitating the labels of the Rumford Chemical works, manufacturers of Horsford's Baking Powder, and also from using their old bottles.

The defendants were required to bring into court all fradulent labels and all imitation powder, for destruction.

It was decreed that the Rumford Chemical Works be entitled to receive the profits which have been derived from it by reason of the infringements, and the defendants were ordered to pay all costs.

Thus is another victory scored for the Rumford Chemical Works, who, not long since, caused several parties to be heavily fined for violating the injunction of the Supreme Court restraining all persons from offering for sale "Acid Phosphate" (so called) in any package which shall be a substantial or colorable imitation of Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

The University Boat Race.

LONDON, April 7.—The University eight-oared race to-day was won by Cambridge. The race come off early this morning. The weather was rainy, a mist overhung the river, and the water was chopping. There were few spectators on shore or afloat. The course was from Putney to Mortlake, four miles and two furlongs. The Cambridge crew started favourites, but both were loudly applauded when they appeared on the course. The start was good. Oxford rowed 34 strokes per minute. Cambridge reached 36, which soon began to tell on the former, who gradually fell to the rear. When the last turn was made it was doubtful which crew led, but in a moment it was seen that Cambridge had the advantage. The Oxfords were two lengths behind at the finish.

Visit of the British Association.

OTTAWA, April 8.—At a meeting of citizens called by the Mayor on request for the purpose of taking preliminary steps for giving a suitable reception to the members of the British Association of Science, intending to visit the Dominion in August next, a sub-committee was appointed, who nominated a committee of prominent citizens to manage the affair.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The McCarthy Act Amendments—Aid to Railways—Quebec Wants More—The Boundary Question—The Authority of Parliament Duly Acknowledged.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Sir J. MACDONALD on Thursday moved the House into Committee on the resolution to amend the McCarthy Act. In Committee he explained the principal amendments. Where there are two wardens the government is to select one, and where there are none, to appoint the commissioner. The time of application for licenses is to be extended to May 15, and in British Columbia to June 15, as the new machinery had not been ready soon enough. Where the population is sparse, as in Manitoba, a new application need only be certified by one-third, instead of two-thirds of the electors. The clause as to shops in hotels is to be amended, as otherwise it would close some of the best hotels, as the Rossin, in Toronto, the Windsor, in Montreal, and the Russell, in Ottawa. Penalties would be remitted by order-in-Council till the question of jurisdiction is settled, and there would be an immediate reference to the Supreme Court.

Mr. BLAKE wanted provisions in the Bill as to the remission of penalties, and as to a reference to the Supreme Court and then to the Privy Council, or to the Privy Council in the first place.

Sir J. MACDONALD said the Crown would exercise its right to remit the penalties, and so there would be no attempt to impose them. The constitutionality of the Act could not be questioned in the bill. The matter could come before the Supreme Court either by reference by the Crown, or in the ordinary way by appeal. All the Provinces would be invited to appear by council. After the decision the question of an appeal to the Privy Council could be considered. He declined the suggestion of Mr. Blake to go first to the Privy Council, ignoring their Supreme Court.

The resolutions were carried, and a bill founded upon them was read a first time.

A MANITOBA JUDGE.

Sir J. MACDONALD moved in Committee to provide a salary of $4,000 for an additional puisne judge for Manitoba. Two were asked for, but it was thought that by extending the jurisdiction of the County judges one would be sufficient at present.

MR. BLAKE thought better to enlarge the authority of the County Courts, rather than to add two judges.

The resolution was adopted.

RAILWAY GRANTS.

SIR C. TUPPER moved the House into committee upon his resolutions as to grants to certain railways. He gave a history of previous grants, showing that nearly $23,000,000 had already been voted for the C.P.R., and its connecting line within the Province of Ontario. On the other hand Quebec had spent $14,000,000 in railway aid, and had not been so fortunate. So it was thought only right to give her $12,000 a mile for the line from Ottawa to Montreal, and $6,000 a mile between Montreal and Quebec, another $6,000 a mile being devoted to secure a continuation of the C.P.R. between those cities. So, too, aids would be granted to roads in the Maritime Provinces that would in fact be part of our great national highway. He explained in detail the other grants, including one of $160,000 from the Victoria branch of the Midland to the village of Bancroft, and one of $70,000 from Tamworth to Bridgewater. Though the whole sum voted would be large, it should be remembered that of the $3,646,000 voted in the last two sessions, only $208,000 had been paid out. The Government had carefully guarded the public interest, and had paid out no money unless to roads that had a sound commercial foundation. He believed these grants would be supported on both sides of the House as being necessary for the development of the country.

The motion was adopted without dissent.

QUEBEC WANTS MORE.

Mr. AMYOT in Committee, urged that the whole $1,200 a mile between Montreal and Quebec should be given to the Province, or at least the interest on it. He had no faith that the C.P.R. would make Quebec their terminus.

Sir H. LANGEVIN said the extension would be secured. The larger part of the $1,200 a mile would go to the Province.

The resolutions were all passed without amendment and with only trifling criticisms.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION.

Sir J. MACDONALD introduced the bill from the Senate to enable the Dominion to join in the reference of the Ontario boundary question to the Privy Council, Parliament accepting beforehand the decision as final.

One From a Thousand.

MORTON, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Yeiro, one of my neighbors, was taken with violent cramps and pain in the stomach. My wife was called in to see her. The woman was in great distress. We had a bottle of your Nerviline in the house, which we got from your agent, Mr. Silter. My wife gave a dose and bathed her freely, and the woman became relieved immediately.—CALVIN STRUTHERS, J.P. CHAPTER III.—CONTINUED.

As she sat there in the golden radiance of the summer noon she presented an almost faultless specimen of a style of beauty that is rarely to be found now-a-day, that has always been peculiar, and bids fair to become extinct. A complexion of dazzling whiteness and transparency, rendered more intensely pure by contrast with luxuriant silky hair of the deepest black—and large superbly shaped eyes of clear, dark steel blue, almost violet in hue—with delicately arched brows and very long lashes of that purplish black tint which only the trite and oft-borrowed plumes of ravens adequately illustrate. The forehead was not remarkable for its height, but was peculiarly broad and full, with unusual width between the eyes; as if Strato were correct in his speculations with reference to Psyche's throne, then, verily, my little girl did not cramp her soul in its fleshy palace. Daintily moulded in figure and face, every feature instinct with a certain delicate patricianism, that testified to genuine "blue blood," there was withal a melting tenderness about the parted lips that softened the regal contour of one who, amid the universal catalogue of feminine name, could never have been appropriately called other than Regina.

Over in the new chapel across the court, where the sacristan had opened two of the crimson and green windows that now lighted the gilt altar as with sacrificial fire, and now drenched it with cool beryl tints that extinguished the flames—a low murmur became audible, swelling and rising upon the air, until the thunder-throated organ filled all the cloistered recesses with responsive echoes of Rossini. Some masterly hand played the Recitative of "Eia Mater," bringing out the bass with powerful emphasis, and concluding with the full strains of the chorus;—then the organ-tones sank into solemn minor chords indescribably plaintive, and after a while a quartette of clear voices sang the "Sancta Mater! istud agas, Crucifixi fige plagas,"— ending with the most impassioned strain of the "Stabat Mater,"—

"Virgo virginum preclara,
Mihi jam non sis amara,
Fac me tecum plangere."

Two nuns came out of an arched doorway leading to the reception room of the modern building, and looked up and down the garden walks, talking the while in eager undertones; then paused near the lily bank, and one called:

"Regina! Regina!"

"She must be somewhere in the Academy play-ground, I will hunt for her there; or perhaps you might find her over in the church, listening to the choir practising; you know she is strangely fond of that organ."

The speaker turned away and disappeared in the cool dim arch, and the remaining nun moved across the paved walks with the quick, noiseless, religious tread peculiar to those sacred conventual retreats, where the clatter of heels is an abomination unknown.

Pausing in front of the chapel door, to bend low before the marble Mother on the shrine, she beheld the object of her search and glided down the aisle as stealthily as a moonbeam.

"Regina, didn't you hear Sister Gonzaga calling you just now?"

"Yes, Sister."

"Did you answer her?"

"No, Sister."

"Are you naughty to day, and in penance?"

"I suppose I am always naughty, Sister Perpetua says so—but I am not in penance."

"Who gave you permission to come into our chapel? You know it is contrary to the rules. Did you ask Mother?"

"I knew she would say no, so I did not ask, because I was determined to come."

"Why, what is the matter? you have been crying."

"Oh, Sister Angela!—don't you see?"

She lifted the corners of her apron where the dead pets lay, and her chin trembled.

"Another rabbit gone. How many have you left?"

"None. And this is my last white dove; the other two have colored rings around their necks."

"I am very sorry for you, dear, you seem so fond of them. But, my child, why did you come here?"

"My bunnie was not dead when I started, and I thought if I could only get to St. Francis and show it to him, he would cure it, and send life back to my pigeon, too. You know, Sister, that Father told us last week at instruction that we must find out all about St. Francis, and next day Armantine was Refectory Reader, and she read to us about St. Francis preaching to the birds at Bevagno, and how they opened their beaks and listened, and even let him touch them, and never stirred till he blessed them and made the sign of the cross, and then they all flew away. She read all about the doves at the convent of Ravacciano, and the nest of larks, and the bad little greedy lark that Sir Francis ordered to die, and said nothing could eat it; and sure enough even the hungry cats ran away from it. Don't you remember that when St. Francis went walking about the fields, the rabbits jumped into his bosom, because he loved them so very much? You see I thought it was really all true, and that St. Francis could save mine too, and I carried 'Bunnie' and 'Snowball' to him, out yonder, and laid them on his feet, and prayed, and prayed, ever so long, and while I was praying, my 'Bunny' died right there. Then I knew he could do no good, and I thought I would try our Blessed Lady over here, because the Nun's chapel seems holier than ours, but it is no use. I will never pray to her again, nor to St. Francis either."

"Hush! you wicked child!"

Regina rose slowly from the pavement, gathered up her apron very tenderly, and looking steadily into the sweet serene face of the nun, said with much emphasis:

"What have I done? Sister Angela, I am not wicked."

"Yes, dear, you are. We are all born full of sin, and desperately wicked; but if you will only pray and try to be good, I have no doubt St. Francis will send you some rabbits and doves so lovely, that they will comfort you for those you have lost."

"I know just as well as you do that he has no idea of doing anything of the kind, and you need not tell me pretty tales that you don't believe yourself. Sister, it is all humbug: 'Bunnie is dead, and I shan't waste another prayer on St. Francis! If ever I get another rabbit, it will be when I buy one,—as I mean to do as soon as I move to some nice place where owls and hawks neve come."

Here the clang of a bell startled Sister Angela, who seized the child's hand.

"Five strokes!—that is my bell. Come, Regina, we have been hunting you for some time, and mother will be out of patience."

"Won't you please let me bury Bunnie and Snowball before I go up upstairs to penance? I can dig a grave in the corner of my little garden, and plant verbena and cypress vine over it.

(To be Continued.)

COBOURG.

FOR THE C. P. R.—Three first class passenger coaches for the Canada Pacific Railway were turned out from Crossen's car factory on Thursday.

SENT TO GAOL.—George Hornbeck was sent to gaol on Friday afternoon for 30 days, on a charge of raising a disturbance at one of the Saved Army meetings.

ORDINATION.—On Monday morning the Rev. James Roy, LL. D., curate of St. Peter's, who has been for fifteen months in Deacon's orders, was advanced to the Priesthood by the Lord Bishop of Toronto, after an examination held by the Rev. Canon Stennett, examining chaplain of the diocese. An impressive sermon was preached on the occasion by Rev. Archdeacon Wilson of Crafton, and the Rector, and the Rev W. E. Coopor, M. A., of Port Hope, also took part in the service. The interesting ceremony was witnessed by a large number, of whom many stayed to receive the Holy Communion which was administered by the Bishop.—Sentinel Star.

BELLEVLLE.

THE HONORABLE MR. BOWELL.—Honourable Mr. Bowell is expected to reach Belleville with the remains of his late lamented wife about the 20th inst.

SYNOD OF TORONTO AND KINGSTON.—The conference of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston opened at Belleville on Monday night and closed on Tuesday afternoon. The meetings were of much interest and were largely attended. The Synod opened its regular session last night.

A PROBABLE TREAT.—The Intelligencer thinks it probable that the Minnie Hauk Concert Company will appear in Belleville during the latter part of May or the beginning of June.

SCOTT ACT IN PRINCE EDWARD.—A county convention to finally decide in reference to the submission of the Scott Act in Prince Edward nearly filled the town hall at Belleville on Monday. Thirty delegates reported from the various municipalities, after which it was unanimously decided to go on with preprations for the vote. The county is being thoroughly organized, branches of the Country Alliance and Women's Christian Temperance Union having been formed in nearly every municipality. The county executive met last night and arranged details of the canvass. The distribution of campaign literature has already commenced, and everything betokens a vigorous campaign.

LINDSAY.

RESIGNED.—In consequence of ill-health Mr. J. A. Clarke, M.A., B.Sc., has resigned his position as headmastnr of Smith's Fall's high school.

A DISORDERLY COUNCIL.—The rules of order were again fractured at the council meeting on Monday night. Expressions were made use of that were a disgace to the body.

A RUN-OFF.—The down-train from Haliburton on Saturday afternoon ran off the track a short distance above Fenelon Falls. Assistance to replace the engine and cars on the rails was telegraphed for to Lindsay and the auxiliary car and a force of men went out abut 9 p. m. that night. The delayed train reached Lindsay on Sunday morning.

A BEREAVEMENT.—The hearty sympathy of the whole community is with Mr. M. Sanderson and Mrs. Sanderson and the members of the family at the recent terrible blow which fell unexpectedly last week. On Saturday morning Emma, the second daughter, a bright and attractive young girl, and who was generally beloved and esteemed, was carried off by that terrible scourge diphtheria. Mrs. Sanderson was prestrated at the time with sickness and confined to her bed and Mr. Sanderson first learned of his daughter's death on his return by the morning train from Peterboro, where he had gone, with other relations, to inter the body of his son Freddy. The circumstances of the double bereavement are particularly distressing. —Post.

TORONTO.

GRAND'S HORSE SALE.—The sale at Grand's reposity of 500 horses commences on Tuesday next. One hundred and twenty-five saddle and carriage horses are on the first day's catalogue, amongst them a fine bay mare the property of H. R. H. the Princess Louise.

A USEFUL PUBLICATION.—One of the most popular of English weekly newspapers is the Exchange and Mart, the chief object of which is to furnish its subcribers a ready means to dispose by sale or barter of any articles they may possess. The first number of a similar journal has just made its appearance in Toronto. It is edited by F. E. Downes, and is a creditable production. It possesses features attractive to all classes of readers.—Mail

TRINITY COLLEGE CONVOCATION.—The annual convocation for conferring degrees in medicine will be held in the Convocation hall of the college on Thursday, the 17th inst, at 3 p. m.

DEATH OF HACKETT AT THE HOSPITAL.—Hackett, who was shot by Allkins, died at the hospital on Tuesday afternoon shortly after one o'clock. The immediate cause of death was peritonitis, resulting from the bullet wound. In conversation she stated that Hackett and Allkins had had a scuffle in Mrs. Powell's house on the morning of the day when the shooting took place, beside the struggle which occurred at the time of the shooting. Coroner Duncan was notified, and issued his warrant for an inquest, which will be held at the hospital at eleven o'clock this morning. Dr. Graham and Dr. McFarlane will hold a post-mortem examination prior to the inquest, and report their opinions of the cause of death to the jury.—Mail.

Solicitor of Bribes.

Mr. Mowat, who is the first law officer of the Province, has set his creatures at work to induce men to violate the law. His political supporters were instructed to solicit bribes and then to inform against the men who, as they say, fell into the snare set for them. A man who could practice dishonest and dishonorable tricks of that nature is not fit to be at the head or the Ontario Government.—Hamilton Spectator.

Damages Awarded Section B Contractors.

The amount of damages awarded by the section Barbitration to the contractors is $395, 600. This ends the claims of the firm against the Government in regard to this matter.

How Would it do?

This bad weather requires a remedy. It seems as if the whole responsibility should rest on Vennor and Wiggins, for we had some kind of weather before they appeared upon the scene. How would it do to string them up? Would it make things better? Another hint of importance—don't hang on to your corns as weather indicators. Better string them out root and branch. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor will do it quickly, painlessly and with certainty. Don't buy dangerous flesh-eating substitutes. Get Putnam's, and no other.

Fluid Lightning

Is the only instantaneous relief for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. Rubbing a few drops briskly is all that is needed. No taking nauseous medicines for weeks, but one minute's application removes all pain and will prove the great value of Fluid Lightning. Twenty-five cents per bottle at John McKee's drug store.

THE most prolific source of disease of the kidneys is traced by scientists to the impurities of the water we drink. To guard against this evil, Sir Garnet Wolseley is said to have ordered 10,000 cases of Dr. van. Buren's Kidney Cure for the use of the army. It is the only known remedy that will cure permanently all forms of kidney disease, and every family should keep it.

A serious political crisis prevails at Pekin. The Empress has publicly degraded Prince Kun and four members of the Privy Council. They were stripped of all their honors because of the dilatory manner in which they dealt with Tonquin affairs.

JAMES BRAYLEY, Hamilton, says:—"I read the testimonial for McGregor's Speedy Cure and found that I had not to go to New York, Philadelphia, Louisiana or Texas to find living Witnesses of its value, we had plenty of persons right here to prove its merits. I got a bottle and it helped me right away, I was as bad with Bilious Feve and Indigestion as I think any one could be, I have taken three bottles and am nearly well and can eat any kind of food without it hurting me. I may say that I am better than ever I expected to be." Free trial bottles at John McKee's drug store.

The Woman's Physician.

A common sense medical work for ladies only. Fully answers all questions which modesty prevents asking a male physician. Gives causes and symptoms of all diseases of the sex, with positive cure for each in plain language, written by ladies who have made these diseases a life study. A plain talk in delicate languag which every woman, young and old, should read. It is recommended by many eminent lady physicians as a safe guide for the sex. Handsomely bound and illustrated. Sent postpaid for $1.00. Address the ROCHESTER PUBLISHING Co., 32, 33 & 33½ Osburn Block, Rochester, N.Y.

Our Canadian Industry

is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required. In nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must nessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding, Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

FLATTERED!

From the many complimentary remarks made by ladies who visited our MILLINERY SHOW ROOMS on our Opening Days, we feel more than flattered; competent judges have pronounced it the BEST DISPLAY we have ever made, and the most tangible proof is the fact that we have taken more orders than on any previous opening.

OUR MANTLE DEPARTMENT

is now in working order, and is still in charge of MISS STRATTON, who for the past two seasons has given general satisfaction as to Style, Fit and Work.

This Department will be found complete in all the new materials for MANTLES, consisting of:—

Plain Silks, Ottoman Silks, Saten de Lyons, and a New Material in Black Kamugario Cloth, just opened.

This Cloth is specially recommended for DOLMANS and MANTLES, as it is not so heavy as the ordinary Mantle Cloth and heavier than Cashmere, and all wool.

LOCAL NEWS

Postponed Sale.

Remember the adjourned Farm Stock sale of C. C. McDonald was postponed from Friday, April 11th, to Thursday, April 17th, on account of implements not being ready.

Vennor's Predictions.

The probabilities given in Mr. H. G. Vennor's almanac for this week are as follows:—

"Fair and warm; seasonable. Generally favourable weather, with frequent rains. Altogether the wettest April in a period of years. Indications of early heat."

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Easterly winds, fair weather to-day, local rains to-night or to-morrow, slight changes in temperature.

Lacrosse.

At the annual convention of the National Amateur Lacrosse Association held in Toronto on Friday, we notice as being present, Messrs. Giroux and Sanderson, delegates from the Peterborough Club. Mr. H. LeBrun, we are pleased to see, was elected to act on the Council.

Open Air Concert.

The Fire Brigade Band on Saturday evening gave an open air concert at the corner of George and Brock streets. They had a large audience. The programme they had prepared was a good one, and the band fully sustained their reputation for giving musical treats on such occasions as this one.

Concert This Evening.

A concert will be held in Bradburn's Opera House this evening. It is in connection with the bazaar to be held in aid of the building fund of St. Peter's Cathedral. The best local musical talent has been secured for the concert, and there is no doubt that it will be a successful one in every respect.

St. Paul's Congregation.

The work of making the alterations and improvements on St. Paul's Church has progressed so far that the building will have to be vacated for a time by the congregation. The Opera House has been secured to hold the services in, and on Sunday next, and until the church is again ready for occupation, the congregation will meet in the Opera House at the usual hours.

Our Mechanic's Brace is the easiest and most durable in town. Andrew McNeil.

Social Entertainment.

A very pleasant social gathering was held in the School room of St. Andrew's Church on the evening of Good Friday, under the auspices of the Young People's Association. The attendance was not very large, but the programme provided for the entertainment was an excellent one, and refreshments were served in abundance. The young people of St. Andrew's understand how to get up a good entertainment, and on this occasion they had provided a treat. The social was enjoyed by all present.

Ontario Mutual Life Assurance Company.

We would call the attention of our readers to an advertisement in another column of the Ontario Mutual Life Insurance Company, which is founded strictly on the co-operation principle with the Scientific basis of reserve. It thus combines the cheapness of first cost for insurance to policy holders, (all surpluses being returned in dividends to the assured) with the security of a full Government reserve, and Government deposit. We have seen the report of the Directors submitted to the annual meeting on the 9th of April, which shows a gratifying increase of assets over last year, and we are informed that for the first three months of this year the company has written nearly $200,000 more business than for the same time last year. This is an unmistakable indication of the growing popularity of the Ontario Mutual. Those wishing to insure their lives would do well to consult Mr. J. O. Snider, their general agent here, before insuring elsewhere. We learn that Mr. John Carnegie, M. P. P., was elected as one of their directors at the recent annual meeting.

EASTER SUNDAY.

The Services at St. John's Church—A Large Congregation.

It is safe to say that since the renovation of the above church there has not been assembled such large congregations at both morning and evening services as there were on Easter Sunday. Members of the congregation had kindly contributed flowers of different kinds, and the communion table and the interior of the church were beautifully and artistically decorated with them, presenting a lovely effect.

The choir opened the services with that grand Easter hymn, "Jesus Christ is risen to-day." The music throughout was specially chosen as appropriate for the occasion by Mr. Ewing. The hymns and chants were of a decidedly joyous nature—a very perceptible change from the sad, solemn hymns sung on Good Friday. At the offertory Mr. Ewing played a grand voluntary "Silver Trumpts." This piece of music is played every Christmas and Easter day, in St. Peters, at Rome, by a number of trumpeters who perform the entire piece on silver trumpets. The organ arrangement of it gives a good idea of how it would sound were it heard on those trumpets instead of on the organ.

There was a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8 a. m. and 11 a. m. when the Rector was assisted by the Rev. V. Clementi. The number of communicants was very large. In the evening the roomy and spacious sacred edifice was filled to the doors, and all the available chairs and benches that could be placed in the aisles, were filled also. The choir again opened the service with a processional hymn. The Rev. J. W. R. Beck preached an eloquent and stirring sermon, taking his text from the second chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, and the 32nd verse: "This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we are all witnesses." The sermon was listened to with wrapt attention, and the rev. gentleman spoke of the death and resurrection of the Saviour, and closed his discourse by imploring all present to follow the example set them by Jesus, urging them to be steadfast in the faith of the Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church, and to partake of the spiritual blessings that the church offered them, viz: the Lord's Supper, especially at this festive season of Easter. The choir sang the anthem, "Glorious is Thy Name," from Mozart's Twelfth Mass, in their usual excellent style, and at the offertory Mr. Ewing played "The Priest's March," from Mendelssohn's Athalie, (Depart ye Sons of Aaron), and at the conclusion of the service gave a grand rendition of "The Hallelujah Chorus." We have before spoken of the musical abilities of this gentleman, and it would be vain to attempt a criticism of his playing on Sunday, as it was, to say the least, super-excellent, and a model of perfection. Thus was brought to a close one of the most impressive services of the Church's year, and no doubt those who attended were much gratified and deeply impressed with the grandeur and beauty of the proceedings.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

The altar in St. Peter's Cathedral was brilliantly illuminated and decorated on Easter Sunday. Mass was celebrated at 7 o'clock a.m. by the Rev. Father Keating, and at 8 o'clock and 10.30 o'clock by His Lordship Bishop Jamot and the Rev. Father Conway. In the evening His Lordship conducted vespers in full pontificals. There were very large congregations present at each service. The musical portions of the service were excellent, the Easter anthems being rendered in a manner that would do credit to the choir of a much larger cathedral.

THE METHODIST CHURCHES.

In the Methodist Churches reference was made to the day in the sermons, and the anthems were selected with special regard to the day. The Rev. T. Manning preached in the morning and the Rev. John Shaw in the evening. The anthems and solos were rendered in good style. In the Charlotte Street Church the Rev. John Shaw conducted the morning service and the Rev. T. Manning that of the evening. The anthem sung by the choir in the evening was an excellent one, and a duet sung by Mrs. Chambers and Mr. Forteous was a fine piece of sacred music.

County Councils.

The following questions have been sent to Councils of counties, townships, towns and incorporated villages; clerks of towns, townships and incorporated villages; ex-wardens and ex-reeves for the last three years; Division Granges and to each newspaper in the Province with reference to the desirability of reducing the number of county councillors; and also of extending the law now applicable to incorporated villages as to bridges over one hundred feet in length to towns and townships, with a view to obtaining opinions to guide future legislation:—

1. What is the general feeling in your municipality as to a reduction in the number of County Councillors?

2. What is your opinion?

3. Of the following proposals for the reduction of County Councillors which would you (if favorable to reduction) prefer?

(a) Doing away with Deputy Reeves, each Municipality having but one representative.

(b) Increasing the number of qualified voters required for Deputy Reeves, say from 500 to a greater number.

(c) Dividing the county into districts and electing representatives therefrom.

(d) Giving to each township a Reeve with a voting power equal to the present representation as regulated by the Municipal Act—or in other words the Reeve having as many votes as the Act provides representatives from the Municipality.

(e) Having a board of say five members, representing, not particular districts, but the whole County. If favorable to this plan what mode of election would you suggest?—Whether by popular vote or an election by the various township councils at their first meeting, in a somewhat similar manner to the election, by Electoral Division Agricultural Societies, of representatives of the Board of Agriculture and Arts.

(f) The election of County Councils as at present; but the appointment by them, at their first meetings, of small Executive Committees to transact the business of the year.

Personal.

We are pleased to know that Mr. John Miller has returned to Peterborough and intends to remain here. Mr. Miller is a good musician, and the members of the Fire Brigade Band will be pleased to have him with them again.

Church of England.

The annual Easter vestry meeting of St. John's church will be held at 8 o'clock this evening, at which the lay delegates to the Synod will be elected. The vestry meeting of St. Luke's church will also be held this evening at 7.30 o'clock.

A CHALLENGE.

Mr. J. A. MACDONELL is not disposed to submit in silence to the charges brought against him in the Public Accounts Committee of the House of Commons and greedily seized upon and circulated by a certain portion of the Reform press. He has called upon the Benchers of the Ontario Law Society to investigate the matter, and challenges his accusers to prove their statements.

ANOTHER SLANDER REFUUED.

MESSRS. Henderson and Small have written to the press to refute the false charges brought against the Hon. Mr. Macpherson, of having done injustice to the Temperance Colonization Company, and of having failed to carry out his pledges to them. It appears that Mr. Macpherson's letter was written six months before the incorporation of the Company. The regulations as to colonization companies were adopted by the Government in the meantime, and the company having made an application under them, have received full justice, and the due fulfilment of the bargain which was then made.

NORWOOD.

REEVE RESIGNED.—At the meeting of the Village Council, held on Monday evening Mr. Fraser resigned his position as Reeve.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.—As we go to press we learn that the barns and stables of Mr. Thos. Cuthbertson, who resides a short distance north of this village, were destroyed by fire early on Wednesday morning. Four or five horses, and a number of cows, sheep, pigs and hens were consumed. This is the second time Mr. C. has been burned out within the last five months. Both fires are supposed to be the work of an incendiary. Mr. Cuthbertson has the sympathy of the whole community.

SUCCESSFUL.—We notice that Messrs. S. Farrar, of Westwood, and F. H. Brennan, of this village, have passed their primary (or second year examination) in medicine, at Trinity University, Toronto, Mr. Brennan taking first-class honors in all his subjects. He also stands in the first-class honor list, in the primary exam. for the Fellowship degree of Trinity Medical School. We congratulate the above gentlemen on having completed the hardest half of their collegiate course and on their success in the above examinations.

MAGISTRATES' COURT.—On Saturday, 5th Inst before Messrs. Breakenridge and Drain, J. P's., Patrick Logan was arraigned for trespassing on a concession road claimed by Robert Wigmore. Defendant pleaded not guilty to the charge. Plaintiff produced a paper to prove his claim, which read as follows:—"Moved by Drain seconded by Spence, that Robert Wigmore have the use of concession road between 11th and 12th concession, opposite lot No. 1 in the 11th. and 12th. in the township of Dummer." The defendant produced a receipt. He had purchased the timber on said allowances of road and the money was afterwards returned to defendant. The court was divided in opinion, Mr. Breakenridge holding that Plaintiff had legal and equitable right to prosecute for trespass, and Mr. Drain holding that Plaintiff had not vested right in road allowances. The case was adjourned to hear from Dummer council as to validity of Plaintiff's title.—Register.

ENGLAND AND THE SOUDAN.

GORDON'S PLANS.

Colonel de Coetlogon has arrived at Cairo from Khartoum. He considers that the place could be easily taken by the enemy, but doubts present danger. He says that Gen. Gordon's plan is to get the garrison away, hand over the town to the best native authority, and withdraw. He will possibly try to hold out until May, when the rising Nile will enable him to reach Sennaar. The other garrisons southward are supposed to be making for the coast, according to orders given to Slatin Bey. Colonel de Coetlogon considers that the sending of troops to Khartoum now is impossible, except at an enormous sacrifice. General Gordon was always against it. The country through which Colonel de Coetlogon passed was, he says, perfectly tranquil.

GROWING UNPOPULARITY OF EL MAHDI.

Reports from El Obeid convinced Colonel de Coetlogon that the whole 11,000 of the army under Hicks Pasha were slain, except 150, now prisoners. Not one single soldier of these is allowed to come to Khartoum. That the Mahdi is growing unpopular is beyond doubt. The people are taxed, the soldiers are unpaid, and badly fed; they argued that he could not be a genuine real Mahdi, who would bring abundance. It is believed that the Christians of El Obeid are safe, but are not allowed to leave.

Weston's 5,000 Mile Walk.

As I was ascending the stage where stood his physician he was just finishing his 4,938th mile. He had started on the first one on a wretched November night last year (Nov. 21, 1883). We are now in the second fortnight of March, 1884. The task he had imposed on himself in the double interest of science and temperance, and with the only slippery prospect of taking gate money, was to toe 5,000 miles in 100 days, Sundays excluded. It was also agreed that he would rest on Christmas Day, but that he would pay in the fifty miles due on that feast with the rest of his account within the following week. The articles were that he would abstain from all stimulating drinks, and that he would walk across the country, winding up at night at some covered place, where he would, at the expiration of his physical task, deliver a lecture on athletics and temperance.

During his week at the "Royal Victoria" he would take a three quarters of an hour nap at 5 p.m., go to bed at about midnight, and be up again soon after 6. He generally partook of every eatable thing except bacon and pastry. He never, however, looks at fat. He has been an abstainer for some little time. This last feat of endurance of his had been framed with the scientific object of attacking the idea that great and continued effort requires the artificial aid from stimulants.

Although Weston looked slightly wan when I saw him, toward the end of his stupendous tour, it is only just to add that his health is as good as could be. Mind that the Yankee is not at all a muscular man. His legs are wiry, not powerful, his body is slim, his wrists have lady's exility, and he would likely get poor renown in a wrestling competition. He aims at proving by his own person of what advantage physical exercise is to the general health and body. He does not believe in the use of the cold tub. He frequently bathed his feet during the last hundred days in sea salt water, and rubbed them nightly in succession with spirits and oil. Seventeen years ago he weighed 8 stone 13. On the 6th of January last he had increased his weight by 3½ pounds. Since then his average weight after breakfast has been 9 stone 9½. He wears merino on the skin and lambs' wool socks when on the track, with flat-footed and soft-skinned boots. He reached his 45th year last Saturday, March 15, between his 4,956 and 5,000 miles. Putting on a heroic spurt he accomplished his 4,999th mile in 9 minutes 17 seconds, to the musical strains of "Hail Columbia" and "Rule Britannia." He still lives.

Discontent in Mexico.

MEXICO, April 12.—Many of the largest houses in every line of business were open today, and it is expected those still holding out will open on Monday. It is understood that when the merchants all conform the Government will modify the stamp tax. Confidence is manifested in business circles.

LAREDO, Tex., April 13.—For several days rumours have been rife that the threatened revolt throughout Mexico was assuming a tangible shape. The causes of discontent are the large moneyed concessions granted to American railroads, ordering nickel coin to be funded and then repudiating the certificates of deposit or the return of nickels, requiring a 12 cent stamp on all articles offered for sale notwithstanding the exorbitant Custom-house tax, the failure to pay the soldiers of the regular army, resulting in the demoralization of the troops, those at Monterey throwing down their arms and deserting in squads because they were starving in garrison. Charges of corruption are urged against the President. He is now worth four millions, but was poor when he went into office four years ago.

The Reason Why.

In connection with the conspiracy case, a number of the Grit papers have been commenting on the fact that the Opposition held caucusses in the Mail building, as if there was something suspicious in their holding them there. The reason why these caucusses have not recently been held in the Parliament buildings is one highly discreditable to the Mowat Government and its followers, and forms a fitting prelude to the plottings of which they have acknowledged themselves guilty in this case. We understood that the Opposition were formerly in the habit of holding their caucusses in one of the rooms of the Parliament buildings, but they such a system of spying and keyhole and ventilator eaves-dropdropping at work that all their deliberations were reported to the Government, and so far several sessions they have been forced to find other places for holding their meetings. That is the simple explanation of caucusses being held in the Mail building, and it is one which ought to bring the blush of shame to friends of the Mowat Government.—Owen Sound Times.

A marvellous cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria, Canker mouth, and Headache. With each bottle there is an ingenious nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cts. Sold by J. D. Tully wholesale, retail agent.

CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.—Sufferers from either acute or chronic rheumatism will find no more ready relief or better cure than Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the popular household remedy for external and internal use in all painful affections.

AFFAIRS IN CUBA.

HAVANA, April 14.—It is semi officially reported that Aguero has penetrated the rich jurisdiction of Colon, receiving everywhere on the road men and horses. He burnt the plantations where help was denied. The insurrection will increase if the troops are unable to capture the parties. Some papers accuse the military authorities of utter ignorance and indifference.

THE RECENT ARRESTS.

LONDON, April 14.—The Times, discussing the arrests of suspected dynamiters, says the expectation is strong that they will lead to important disclosures. It believes the informers will reveal the headquarters of the conspiracy. A correspondent writes to the Times suggesting the flogging of convicted dynamiters.

SEARCH FOR DYNAMITERS.

PARIS, April 14.—Owing to information obtained through the recent arrests of Fenians in England, an English inspector is going to Paris to search for dynamiters.

SALVATIONISTS AT GENEVA.

BERNE, April 14.—The Swiss Federal Council has directed the officials to protect members of the Salvation Army against outrage.

KHARTOUM SAFE.

LONDON, April 14.—Advices from Berber make no mention of the fall of Khartoum. The Bishareen Arabs are plundering in the vicinity of Berber, and the Governor asks that even a small detatchment of English troops be sent to the assistance of the town.

AMERICAN.

THE LUNA ISLAND TRAGEDY.

BUFFALO, April 14.—There are no new developments in the Niagara Falls tragedy up to the present. The whole affair is still involved in mystery. Speculation, however, continues rife. Many people hold to the belief that Vedder is not dead—that he deliberately planned to kill Pearson, and having done so has escaped to parts unknown. This is founded on the facts that Vedder had disagreed with Pearson, whose mind had been affected by drink.

France and China.

PARIS, April 13.—Gen. Negrier on Wednesday bombarded the villages before Hung Hoa, and the enemy forthwith began to evacuate the town without resistance. The French will enter Hung Hoa to-morrow. Gen. Millot telegraphs:—"The Chinese after evacuating Hung Hoa set fire to the town, which is now in flames."

La Liberte publishes the conditions of peace between France and China, which M. Patenotre, the French Minister, is charged to offer at Pekin. It is stipulated that China shall accept a limited French protectorate over Tonquin. No demand for an indemnity is mentioned.

The Cuban Insurgents.

MADRID, April 12.—Official advices from Cuba say Aguero in his eight day march from the coast to Puerto Principe and the old revolutionary district of Bogamo, was joined by a number of men. His force is now 1,400 strong. In the district of Santo Espiritu the insurgents were received with acclamations in the villages, where they freed the slaves and joined the column after having set fire to four plantations and sacked the safes of the receiver of taxes. The receiver of Trinidad, while making his rounds, accompanied by his ordinary escort, fell into the hands of the insurgents, who overpowered and took from him several thousand dollars. Aguero and his army will reach early in the week the mountains of Las Lunas, the seat of the late insurrection. The Captain-General holds two councils of war a day.

Cuban Filibusters.

KEY WEST, April 4.—There is great excitement in Havana in consequence of Aguero's departure. All the men-of-war in and about Havana have received troops on board and have proceeded to different points to intercept the coast filibusters.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Excitement ran high in Cuban circles yesterday. The secretary of the revolutionary society says the expedition is one of the best and strongest that has ever been organized. Several vessels are to be sent to Aguero's assistance. Aguero has 100 men with him. The movement has been directed from New York, but has been also actively worked up in Key West, Venezuela, Honduras, Jamaica, and elsewhere.

A LATE DENIAL.

MR. BLAKE at this late date has ventured to deny the statement that he purchased a Cabinet Minister to aid him in overthrowing the administration of Mr. J. Sandfield Macdonald. Unfortunately for Mr. Blake facts give a plain denial to his words. We have the evidence of those who know the facts, and which has not been denied, that Mr. Blake sent messages into the Council Chamber to Mr. Wood as to his desertion of his colleagues. We have the written proof that Mr. Blake, then leader of the Opposition, was conspiring with Mr. Wood, then a Cabinet Minister, but a traitor in his own camp, and Mr. Blake's written command to him as to the time at which this plot should be carried out, by Mr. Wood treacherously deserting his colleague and leader, and aiming at him his hired blow from within his own ranks. We have also the facts that the traitor received the reward of his services in salary and office. Nor is this all, for we have also the fact that besides a Minister purchased from the Cabinet, the Speaker was also bought from the chair, and secured by the sale of his honor a portfolio from Mr. Blake, who appears to like such dishonoured colleagues. How private members also sold their constituents and their votes, is hardly worthy of mention after these more salient instances of Mr. Blake's corrupt transactions.

And besides these personal purchases, Mr. Blake who systematically uses wholesale as well as retail bribery—as in the recent case of the corrupt bid of the Globe in Mr. Blake's name and silently accepted by him till the occasion was over—made use of the same tactics at the period in question. He and his supporters had dangled Mr. Sandfield Macdonald's surplus before the constituencies, and invited them to scramble for it under his auspices. When by corruption and treason he ousted Mr. Macdonald and crept into power, he fulfilled these dishonest pledges. Though a chief ground of his attack upon the Administration was their policy of assisting colonization railways, he proceeded to grant more extensive aid to railroads, selecting the recipients in the Cabinet and only asking the ratifications of the Legislature in the hurry of its closing hours. And instead of adopting the policy of Sandfield Macdonald of assisting new roads to open up undeveloped districts, he selected for his favors roads in the thickly settled and in the already developed localities of the south and west of the Province. They were already fairly supplied with railway facilities, but then they had more votes to influence, so they were corruptly favored by Mr. Blake, his colleagues and successors. We, in this district, can remember that there were no funds for the Toronto and Ottawa Railway, but plenty for the populous south-western peninsula. So with the Municipal Loan Fund distribution, it was so arranged so as to give most money where there were most votes for Mr. Blake. Peterborough town for instance though it had honorably kept its engagements is still burdened with the debt, while more favored and less honest localities could secure better terms.

When Mr. Blake removed to a wider sphere his policy was unchanged. Having in alliance with blackmailers and thieves overturned the Macdonald Dominion Administration, he entered (without portfolio) a cabinet that swarmed with renegades, bought by these offices and other inducements.

In defence of these iniquities it is sometimes said by Reformers that a politician who has changed his convictions only proves his honesty by transferring his party allegiance. It is pointed out by these apologists that the leading statesman of the Empire, for instance, Gladstone, Beaconsfield, Derby, Palmerston and Peel, had all changed their views and their party. But there is the wide difference that these statesmen almost invariably changed to their own personal disadvantage, and did not plot with the leader of the Opposition to betray and desert their colleagues for the sake of securing pay, promotion, or other personal advantages as the price of their treason. Sometimes they even refused office lest even a suspicion of interested motives should stain their honor and that of their country. Mr. Blake has almost a patent for cabinet making from such base material.

Mr. Blake has waited long to make his denial of the means by which he overturned the Sandfield Macdonald Administration, but he has not waited long enough for Canada to forget the facts which render his denial absolutely valueless.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Grand Trunk Double Track—Mr. Blak, Rather Late in the Day Denying His Fast Record — Tormenting Sectional Rivalries by Contradictory Arguments.

G. T. R. DOUBLE TRACK.

Mr. MITCHELL on Saturday pointed out that amendments to the Grand Trunk Bill had been made in the Senate and had been assented to by the Commons, so that they could apply the new capital at their discretion, instead of being compelled to apply it to the double track in the first place.

There was some discussion as to the affect of the amendments, and as to who was responsible for supervising this private legislation.

SIR J. MACDONALD said the Government would take the matter into consideration.

A TOO LATE DENIAL.

Mr. BLAKE denied the truth of a statement made by Mr. Macpherson in the Senate, if he was correctly reported, that to secure office in Ontario he had bid for a minister, had caught him and rewarded him out of the public treasury with a salary of $6,000 and a seat on the bench.

THE RAILWAY GRANTS.

Sir CHAS. TUPPER moved concurrence in the railway bid resolutions.

Mr. BLAKE objected to the grants for various reasons. He thought that they were too great, and also that they were too small. He said that such subsidies were a means to sap the independence of the Provinces, and also that they were hurtful to the Provinces. Complaining that the grants were too large, he warmly urged the claims of all the other Provinces to get as much as Quebec. He attacked the action of the government as unconstitutional, and then attacked the constitution. As some criticism of details of the proposed subsidies, he had the effrontery to speak of offers that had been made of better terms to Quebec, when the C.P.R. loan was being debated, though those offers were made in his name and with his tacit sanction. He concluded by moving the following amendment:

"That this House feels bound to express its opinion that Canada when, as proposed by the said resolutions, recouping one of the provinces for part of its past local expenditure on railways, should have regard to the past local expenditure in other Provinces on rail ways, almost all of which have been declared to be for the general advantage of Canada, and this House regrets that the government, in proposing a measure of relief to the Province, has not taken steps with a view to a fair and proportionate relief in respect to local expenditure of the other Provinces."

Mr. CHAPLEAU who spoke in French censured Mr. Blake for his narrow sectional spirit. He said that Mr. Blake accused the Quebec members of being influenced, but he was bitterly disappointed when the attempts of himself and the Reform press to influence the Quebec members had failed. Then they had tried to foment discontent in Quebec, but now in furtherance of the same sectional policy Mr. Blake by this motion was endeavouring to make the other Provinces jealous of Quebec, by these false promises. Quebec was getting the grant because she had spent her money on a portion of the great National Railway the funds for which in the other Provinces had been provided by the Dominion. He showed from its past history that Quebec so far from being selfish had agreed to accept heavy burdens for the public good. He also gave in detail the reasons why Quebec was entitled to the assistance proposed.

Mr. LAURIER in French said that Mr. Blake did not propose to take anything from Quebec, but only to give as much justice to the other Provinces.

Mr. HOUDE said that other Provinces had already received the just share of the Dominion aid.

Mr. LAURIER disputed this, and after some further discussion of the railway question, he perpetrated the absurdity of attacking the Government for conceding the claims of Quebec, and yet urge that those claims were just.

Mr. GIROUARD moved the adjournment,

Bribery on Stilts.

Mr. Blake's idea is that all questions should be fought out on the platform and through the press. But it has been seen that bribery is just as capable of being practised in this manner as by the more direct, "hand-to-hand" argument so well known to Grit license inspectors and other officials of the Mowat Government. What for instance, could be more flagrantly indecent than the spectacle presented last fall up in Rat Portage, when, in addition to private bribery on a wholesale plan, the agents of the Ontario Government proclaimed from the hustings that Ontario money would be given as public largess, on condition that the people voted "right"—that is, in accordance with the principles of Mowatism. It was an open, palpable bribe, administered in the face of the sun, just as a few days ago the Toronto Globe, professing to speak for Mr. Blake, appealed for the support of the Quebec Conservatives by offering them their own terms out of the Dominion patrimony. Could private canvassing go farther than this in baseness and treachery to the public interests?—London Free Press

A Corrupt Bid.

It was only the other day that the Grit organ in this city made a corrupt bid for the votes of the French Tories whom Sir Hector Langevin leads, and now it holds up its hands in horror at people even imagining such a thing as "Mr. Blake forming an alliance with one of the principal heroes of the Pacific scandal." Mr. Mackenzie formed an alliance with Mr. Cauchon and took him into his cabinet, yet the organ did not tear its hair and call upon the heavens to witness the degradation of the Reform party. Sir Hector Langevin is probably as pure and acts from as disinterested motives as Mr. Cauchon ever did, so that there really would be nothing extraordinary in Mr. Blake and Sir Hector forming an alliance. We may make up our minds in advance that the organ would justify and uphold such an alliance without the slightest scruple. That an alliance between Mr. Blake and the French Tories will be formed remains to be seen, but it is useless to conceal the fact that this is the object that the leader of the Opposition now has in view.—Toronto Telegram, (Independent.)

We do Not Claim

that Shaker Blood Syrup will cure everything but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depends the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as Shaker Blood Syrup undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

GENTLEMEN.—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Shaker Blood Syrup. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Shaker Blood syrup (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears to my eyes. The first bottle benefitted me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. Hoping many others may learn the value of Shaker Blood Syrup, and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling above the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for tetter, itch, salt rheum, scald head, erysipelas, barber's itch, blotches, all scaly, crusty skin diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes, $1.25 (in stamps) Adpress DR. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

A QUESTION TO THE POINT.—Reader, have you a languid, weak and tired feeling, with nervous exhaustion, especially in the early spring? Then your liver is inactive and circulation poor. Arouse the torpid liver, cleanse the sluggish blood and regulate the secretions with that purifying tonic Burdock Blood Bitters.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Foretelling the weather is uncertain at the best, but it is certain that if you catch cold in this changeable climate you can best break its ill effects by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, the most reliable and pleasant remedy for coughs, colds, bronchial, and lung complaints. It is so agreeable that even a child may take it.

CHAPTER III.—CONTINUED.

She shivered as if the thought had chilled her heart, and her voice trembled, while she pressed the stiffened forms to her breast.

"Come along as fast as you can, dear, you are wanted in the parlour. I believe you are going away."

"Oh! has my mother come?"

"I don't know, but I am afraid you will leave us."

"Will you be sorry, Sister Angela?"

"Very sorry, dear child, for we love our little girl too well to give her up willingly."

Regina paused and pressed her lips to the cold white fingers that clasped hers, but Sister Angela hurried her on, till she reached a door opening into the Mother's reception room. Catching the child to her heart, she kissed her twice, lifted the dead darlings from her apron, and pushing her gently into the small parlour, closed the door.

It was a cool, lotty, dimly lighted room, where the glare of sunshine never entered, and several seconds elapsed before Regina could distinguish any object. At one end a wooden lattice work enclosed a space about ten feet square, and here Mother Aloysius held audience with visitors whom friendship or business brought to the convent. Regina's eager survey showed her only a gentleman, sitting close to the grating, and an expression of keen disappointment swept over her countenance, which had been a moment before eloquent with expectation of meeting her mother.

"Come here, Regina, and speak to Mr. Palma," said the soft, velvet voice behind the lattice.

The visitor turned round, rose, and watched the slowly advancing figure.

She was dressed in blue muslin, the front of which was concealed by her white bib-apron, and her abundant glossy hair was brushed straight back from her brow, confined at the top of her head by a blue ribbon, and thence fell in shining waves below her waist. One hand hung listlessly at her side, the other clasped the drooping lily and held it against her heart.

The slightly curious expression of the stranger gave place to astonishment and involuntary admiration as he critically inspected the face and form; and fixing her clear, earnest eyes on him, Regina saw a tall, commanding man of certainly not less than thirty years, with a noble massive head, calm, pale features almost stern when in repose, and brilliant piercing black eyes, that were doubtless somewhat magnified by the delicate steel-rimmed spectacles he habitually wore. His closely cut hair clustered in short thick waves about his prominent forehead, which in pallid smoothness resembled a slab of marble, and where a slight depression usually marks the temples, his swelled boldly out, rounding the entire outline of the splendidly developed brow. He wore neither moustache or beard, and every line of his handsome mouth and finely modelled chin indicated the unbending tenacity of purpose, and imperial pride which had made him a ruler even in his cradle, and almost a dictator in later years.

In a certain diminished degree, children share the instinct whereby brutes discern almost infallibly the nature of those who in full fruition of expanded reason tower above and control them; and awed by something that she read in this dominative new face, Regina stood irresolute in front of him, unwilling to accept the shapely white hand held out to her.

He advanced a step and took her fingers into his soft warm palm.

"I hope, Miss Regina, that you are glad to see me."

Her eyes fell from his countenance to the broad seal ring on his little finger—then gazing steadily up into his, she said:

"I think I never saw you before—and why should I be glad? Why do you come, and ask for me?"

"Because your mother sent me to look after you."

"Then I suppose, sir, you are very good; but I would rather see my mother. Is she well?"

"Almost well now, though she has been quite ill. If you promise to be very good and obedient, I may find a letter for you somewhere in my pocket. I have just been telling Mother Aloysius, to whom I brought a letter, that I have come to remove you from her kind sheltering care, as your mother wishes you, for a while at least, to be placed in a different position, and I have promised to carry out her instructions. Here is her letter. Shall I read it to you, or are you sufficiently advanced to be able to spell it out, without my assistance?"

He held up the letter, and she looked at him proudly, with a faint curl in her dainty lip, and a sudden lifting of her lovely arched eyebrows, which, without the aid of verbal protest, he fully comprehended. A smile hovered about his mouth, and disclosed a set of glittering perfect teeth, but he silently resumed his seat. As Regina broke the seal, Mother said:

"Wait, dear, and read it later. Mr. Palma has already been detained some time, and says he is anxious to catch the train. Run up to your wardrobe, and Sister Helena will change your dress. She is packing your clothes."

When the door closed behind her, a heavy sigh floated through the grating, and the sweet seraphic face of the nun clouded.

"I wish we could keep her always; it is a sadly solemn thing to cast such a child as she is into the world's whirlpool of sin and sorrow. To-day she is as spotless in soul as one of our consecrated annunciation lilies—but the dust of vanity and selfishness will tarnish—and the shock of adversity will bruise—and the heat of the battle of life, that rages so fiercely in the glare of the outside world, will wither and deface the sweet blossom we have nurtured so carefully."

"In view of the peculiar circumstances that surround her, her removal impresses me as singularly injudicious, and I have advised against it, but her mother is inflexible."

"We have never been able to unravel the mystery that seems to hang about the child, although the Bishop assured us we were quite right in consenting to assume the charge of her."

From beneath her heavy black hood, Mother's meek shy eyes searched the non-committal countenance before her, and found it about as satisfactorily responsive as some stone sphinx half-sepulchred in Egyptic sand.

"May I ask, sir, if you are at all related to Regina?"

"Not even remotely; am mere her mother's legal counsellor, and the agent appointed by her to transfer the child to different guardianship. I repeat, I deem the change inexpedient, but discretionary powers have not been conferred on me. She seems rather a mature bit of royalty for ten years of age. Is the intellectual machinery at all in consonance with the refined perfection of the external physique?"

"She has a fine active brain, clear and quick, and is very well advanced in her studies, for she is fond of her books. Better than all, her heart is noble and generous, and she is a conscientious little thing, never told a story in her life—but at times we have had great difficulty in controlling her will, which is certainly the most obstinate I have ever encountered."

Folson's Nerviline.

Folson's Nerviline, the great pain cure, never fails to give prompt relief in the following complaints:—Sprains, bruises, cuts, tic douloureux, rheumatism, spinal pains, neuralgia, toothache, lumbago, sciatica. Buy to-day at Ormond & Walsh's drug store a 10 cent sample bottle and test it in any of the above complaints. It never fails, for Nerviline is composed of the most powerful pain subduing remedies in the world. Get a bottle at Ormond & Walsh's. You will be made happy. Ten and 25 cents a bottle.

AN undertaker in a New Jersey city threw some ice which had been used for a scarlet fever corpse in a stream near a school. The ice was picked up and eaten by the children, with the result that an epidemic of the disease is now raging in the place.

How Would it do?

This bad weather requires a remedy. It seems as if the whole responsibility should rest on Vennor and Wiggins, for we had some kind of weather before they appeared upon the scene. How would it do to string them up? Would it make things better? Another hint of importance—don't hang on to your corns as weather indicators. Better string them out root and branch. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor will do it quickly, painlessly and with certainty. Don't buy dangerous flesh-eating substitutes. Get Putnam's, and no other.

A DESPATCH says five French missionaries and thirty catechists have been massacred at Thanhoa, Tonquin.

The Woman's Physician.

A common sense medical work for ladies only. Fully answers all questions which modesty prevents asking a male physician. Gives causes and symptoms of all diseases of the sex, with positive cure for each in plain language, written by ladies who have made these diseases a life study. A plain talk in delicate language which every woman, young and old, should read. It is recommended by many eminent lady physicians as a safe guide for the sex. Handsomely bound and illustrated. Sent postpaid for $1.00. Address the ROCHESTER PUBLISHING CO., 32, 33 & 33½ Osburn Block, Rochester, N.Y.

Our Canadian Industry

is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required in nothing as this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must nessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding, Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

NAMES, FACTS AND FIGURES—Will be cheerfully given by the proprietors of Burdock Blood Bitters, regarding the many certificates of wonderful cures made by that medicine in chronic diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, revealing proof that it is beyond the possibility of dispute by the most incredulous.

LOCAL NEWS

Eye, Ear and Throat.

Dr. G. Sterling Ryerson, of Toronto, will be at the Oriental Hotel on Saturday next, when he may be consulted in regard to all diseases affecting the eye, ear or throat.

Remember

The special train for Mr. Singleton's Concert at Port Hope to-morrow evening, 16th instant, will leave the Peterborough station at 5.30 p.m. and returns immediately after the Concert. Return tickets 50 cents.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong winds, generally cloudy weather with local rains or thunder storms.

Umbrellas in Silk, Zinnilla, Alpacca and Cotton, can be found at Andrew McNeil's.

Ontario and Quebec Notes.

It is expected that the track laying on the Ontario and Quebec Railway will be completed by May 1st, and that regular trains will be running a month later.

The Norwood Register says that Orange Hill, in that village, has been purchased by the Ontario and Quebec Company for "filling" purposes along the line. A ballast pit will be opened on Mr. Thomson's farm in Asphodel.

The same paper says that the three-quarter mile siding of the Norwood station has been found inadequate, and another of the same length will be laid shortly. The ware no less than 65 cars on the siding at the station one day last week.

Mr. H. Ryan and Mr. J. R. Barber took a trip on the Ontario and Quebec line east of Peterborough on Friday and Saturday.

A Sad Affliction.

At half past six o'clock last evening, Henry, eldest son of Mr. M. Sanderson, died at Lindsay. The bereavement is attended by many particularly distressing circumstances. On April 3rd Mr. Sanderson's son Freddie, died, and he was buried in Peterborough the next day. On the day following the funeral his daughter Emma, aged 16 years, died of diptheria, and was interred at Lindsay. She had resided at Peterborough for some months, and being an intelligent and amiable girl was much respected. Henry spent his 21st birthday in Peterborough on Tuesday, April 8th, and on the following day he went home to Lindsay. That evening he was taken ill of diptheria, and on Tuesday evening he died. Mrs. Sanderson, who was in this town, did not know of her son's illness until after he was dead. The bereaved parents and their friends, many of whom reside here, will receive the heartfelt sympathy of the community.

St. Luke's Church.

On the evening of Easter Monday the annual Vestry and congregational meetings of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, were held, and were largely attended by members of the congregation. The statement of the churchwardens was very satisfactory. It showed that the debt on the parsonage (the only remaining debt of the church) had been reduced to about $60. It was decided to take steps to collect an endowment fund, and to have the church set apart as a Rectory. One gentleman generously offered to contribute $1,500 towards the fund, and a committee was appointed to enquire into the matter. A vote of thanks was tendered to the churchwardens for their services during the year. A very handsome pair of silver collection plates were presented to the church at Easter, and a vote of thanks was passed to the unknown donor. The following appointments were made:—

CHURCHWARDENS.—John Burnham, M.P., and H. T. Strickland.

ASSISTANT CHURCHWARDENS—Col. H. C. Rogers and H. O. Canning.

AUDITORS—E. A. Peck and H. O. Canning.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT.

A Concert in Bradburn's Opera House—Large Attendance.

A concert was held on Monday evening in Bradburn's Opera House in connection with the bazaar to be held in aid of the building fund of St. Peter's Cathedral. There was a very large attendance, the hall being filled almost to overflowing.

The concert was opened by the choir of the Cathedral singing "Quam Delectat." The treble solos were sung by Miss Begley, who possesses a fine soprano voice, and Mr. W. Ball sang the tenor solo. The choir's rendering of the chorus was excellent. The choir also opened the second part of the programme with the "Oratorio pour Paques," by Lambillotte, in which Mr. W. Ball sang the first solo, and Miss Begley took the part of "Magdalene," and Mr. Jas. Coughlin that of "St. Thomas," the choir singing the chorus. The choir is composed of good vocalists, and their singing was loudly applauded.

Mr. M. Porteous sang "Kathleen Mavourneen," and received a well merited recall. In the second part he gave "The Harp that Once through Tara's Hall," in his now well-known style. The "musical trio," Messrs. Best, Lech and Sanderson, gave two selections, and were each time loudly applauded. Mrs. Chambers sang the "Kerry Dance," and in response to an encore sang "Milking the Cow." In the second part she sang "I'm a Merry Zingara," a very pretty song, and one to which she did full justice. Being again recalled she gave the popular Irish song "Come Back to Erin." An instrumental solo by Miss Annie Delaney was warmly applauded. Miss Delaney is a good musician, and her performance on this occasion merited the recall she received. Mr. D. Donohue sang a comic song, and his singing and comic manner appeared to please many, as he was twice recalled. Mr. M. Dunn sang "Committed to the Deep," and was liberally applauded. Mr. J. Haggart gave a reading, a humorous but exaggerated Irish sketch. A trio by Messrs. Porteous, Elliott and Rush, "Sweet and Low," was well received. Mr. G. R. Joseph gave several selections on his magical coffee pot, and they met with warm approbation. The last number on the programme was one of the best, "The Buccaneer's Bride," by Messrs. Porteous, Elliot and Rush. Each of the gentlemen sang his part in fine style, and the song was well received. The concert was concluded by the singing of the National Anthem. Miss Annie Delaney presided at the piano during the evening in a very acceptable manner.

Umbrellas in Silk, Zinnilla, Alpacca and Cotton, can be found at Andrew McNeil's.

The Ticket, Trade.

An idea of the amount of travelling done during the past few days may be obtained from the fabt that during the past couple of weeks Mr. T. Menzies has sold over $1,700 worth of railway tickets.

THE CONCERT.

Do not fail to hear MISS LENORA CLENCH the wonderful violinist, and the array of local talent on Thursday evening. A rare treat is promised.

Pencil Points.

—Rainy to-day.

—Saved Army meeting in the Opera House to-night.

—A strong gale prevailed for a short time at about 10 o'clock this morning.

—There were ten tramps in the cells last night—nine men and one women.

—The crossings were cleaned to-day, much to the comfort of those who are compelled to use them.

—A man was arrested to-day on a charge of theft and bailed out. He will appear in Court to-morrow.

—The Lindsay reporters have given notice that they will not report any speeches made in the Town Council meetings which are not delivered before 10 o'clock.

—A "spring poet" favors us with the following:—

"O glorious spring-time! come again
With birds and budding trees,
When we walk through a drizzling rain
In mud up to our knees!"

The Halifax Dynamiters.

HALIFAX, April 14.—In the Supreme Court to-day Holmes and Bracken, the dynamiters, were brought up and seemed much pleased to hear judgment delivered that on the point raised by their counsel of the insufficiency of the indictment, although all the proceedings, evidence and verdict had been clear and conclusive, sentence would be in the meantime deferred and the point argued before a full bench on Friday next.

Phipps Back in Sandwich.

DETROIT, April 12.—J. W. Murray, of Toronto, chief of the Provincial Detective Department, appointed to fetch Phipps, the wife-murderer, who escaped from Sandwich gaol, back to Sandwich, left Chicago yesterday in company with the prisoner, and arrived in Detroit last night. The chief says the prisoner conversed freely with him, and did not seem much agitated until he arrived in Detroit, when he commenced to weep, and said he hated to leave the American side. The detective told him he would receive a fair and impartial trial in Canada. Phipps said he knew that, and thought he would not be convicted of murder, but of manslaughter. Chief of Police Bains, of Windsor, met the detective and prisoner at the station with a covered carriage, in which they were conveyed to Sandwich gaol. Before the authorities at Sandwich took the prisoner to his cell, he thanked the detective for the encouragement he had given him on the way from Chicago. Phipps will be tried at the Spring Assizes, which convenes on the 22nd.

NOTICE.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of THURSDAY, 1st MAY, 1884, for the delivery of the usual Indian Supplies, duty paid, in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, consisting of Flour, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Oxen, Cows, Bulls, Agricultural Implements, Tools, &c.

Forms of Tender and full particulars relative to the Supplies can be had by applying to the undersigned, or to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Regina, or to the Indian Office Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods separately or for all the goods called for in the Schedules.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque of a Canadian Bank, for at least five per cent. of the amount of the tenders for Manitoba, and ten per cent. of the amount of the tenders for the North-West Territories, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

Tenderers are required to make up and attach to their tender the total money value of the goods they offer to supply, or their tender will not be entertained.

The Tender for Beef must be a separate tender; if it includes any other article it will not be considered.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 16, 1884.

AN OPPOSITION STAMPEDE.

THE factious attempt of Mr. Blake and his followers to make political capital out of the the railway aid resolutions has met with a disastrous defeat. In vain the versatile and vacillating leader made a speech against such subsidies as demoralizing, and then moved an amendment asking for more. In vain one of his followers was put up to amend his amendment by condemning the Government for doing too little for Quebec, while the leader was condemning them for doing more than was fair for Quebec. In vain the leader of the French wing of the Reform party moved a further amendment to excite if possible sectional jealousies. In the debate these contradictions and sophistries of the Reform leaders were thoroughly exposed. In the divisions, amendment after amendment was negatived, and on each instance with accessions from the Reform side of the House to the Government majority.

But it was when the vote was taken on the main motion to concur in the grant that there was a regular stampede among Mr. Blake's followers. Member after member rose from the Reform ranks to vote in favor of the Government policy, till there were no less than seventeen defections from the supporters of Mr. Blake—seventeen accessions to the patriotic, beneficial and wise policy of the administration of Sir John A. Macdonald.

The factious and unpatriotic attempt of the Reform leader to stir up sectional rivalries to the injury of the country in the hope of thereby embarassing the Government, has recoiled like a boomerang upon their own heads. The result of all their manœuvres to set Province against Province and make political capital out of sectional jealousies has culminated in the magnificent majority of 93 in favor of the statesmanlike policy of the Conservative Administration of the Dominion.

A FALSE CONSTRUCTION.

THE Globe says of Mr. Macpherson's now celebrated letter:—

"It not only could bear another construction, but that other is the more natural as well as the more convenient."

The promise "to recommend your appointment" to an office, is susceptible of no other interpretation than as a promise to recommend that the person addressed should be appointed. It is perhaps "natural" for those devoid of grammatical knowledge to put a false construction upon the words, and "convenient" for those devoid of common honesty to adopt the false construction for the purpose of slandering a political opponent in default of valid charges.

License Commissioners.

The Provincial License Commissioners for the West Riding of Peterborough were in session at the Council Chamber to-day. The Board consists of Mr. C. Leary, Inspector, and Messrs. T. Dolan, R. Walton and R. Graham, Commissioners. Mr. Dolan was appointed chairman.

The Port Hope "Arcade."

Mr. W. J. Hall, of Peterborough, has purchased the stock of the old and popular dry goods stand in Port Hope known as the Arcade and intends to commence business there. The stand being a well-known one, and Mr. Hall a pushing man, we have no doubt that this enterprise will be successful.

Fresh and Salt.

Fresh Herring, Fresh Pickerel, Fresh Pike, Smoked Haddie, and Smoked Fish of all kinds on hand. We intend keeping constantly on hand a supply of Fresh Fish, and our customers can depend on getting them at all times, nice and fresh, and at reasonable prices. Fresh Herrings 20 cents per dozen. CARTON BROS., opposite the Market Square.

Bass & Co., Burton-on-Trent, India Pale Ale now on draught, at Chamberlain's Restaurant—direct importation.

STRAY SHOTS:

Notes of the Saved Army, their Meetings and Sayings.

Although the weather was unfavorable on Tuesday evening, there was a large crowd at the meeting.

Lieut. Annie White was present. The meetings at Lakefield, where Miss White has been, are said to have been very successful and continue with unabated interest.

Sergt.-Major Gall read a portion of Scripture and commented on it.

Lieut. Munt appears to have met with some severe difficulties during his life by the portion of his experience that he gave the audience.

Eight or nine persons came out from the rank of the enemy.

Meeting in the Opera House to-night.

POLICE COURT.

ABOUT TWO PIGS.

WEDNESDAY, April 16.—John Cronan was charged by Joshua Saunders with having stolen two pigs belonging to him. The theft was alleged to have been committed on or about March 4th. The pigs strayed away from Mr. Saunders premises, and he saw one in Mr. Cronan's pen which he knew was his.

Mr. J. O'Meara appeared for the defence, and said that Cronan elected to be tried by jury.

After some evidence the case was adjourned until Friday.

ATHLETIC CHAMPIONSHIP CHALLENGE.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—In your issue of the 12th I see a challenge from John Keating, in which he challenges me for an athletic contest. I would remind Mr. Keating that we were matched last year for a contest for a general athletic championship of the world, which I now hold. If Mr. Keating wishes such a contest as he matched me for last year, he should have the same games as comprised the championship. Now, Mr. Keating has left out the most important games and put in his specialties and wants me to match him, which is not fair to me, as I can name my specialties, and I will bet $1000 to $500 that there is not a man living can defeat me. However, if Mr. Keating is anxious for a match he can have one, either for the championship or the events he names, that is, if he will send a deposit of $100 to the REVIEW Office as a guarantee of good faith, and at the time leave the match open to the world, allowing any man to come in by paying the $200, the winner to take all the stakes. I prefer a championship contest if Mr. Keating will so arrange it, and I will pay all Mr. Keating's expenses if he comes to Peterborough on the 24th of May to contest the match.

Yours truly,

E. W. JOHNSTON,

Champion general athlete of the world.

Peterbororough, April 16th, 1884.

NORTH-WEST NOTES.

THE PRICE OF OATS.—Oats are worth $1 a bushel at Edmonton.

BUSINESS AT BRANDON.—Business is reported as very active at Brandon.

VOLENTEERS FOR PORT ARTHUR.—A company of volunteers is to be formed at Port Arthur.

FALL WHEAT.—A considerable quantity of wheat was sown around Edmonton last fall and is looking well this spring.

INFLUX FROM ONTARIO.—A train load of stock and two cars of passengers arrived from Ontario on the 9th, and proceeded westward.

WINNIPEG REVENUE.—The revenue derived by Winnipeg from the market last month was $213.35. The receipts from the weigh scales were $118.50. 1185 loads were weighed.

NAVIGATION BETWEEN PORT ARTHUR AND TORONTO.—The propellor City of Montreal has been purchased by Thomas Marks & Co., of Port Arthur, and will run between that port Toronto all summer.

FREIGHT ON THE C. P. R.—Freight over the C. P. R. is rapidly increasing. There were no fewer than thirty cars arriving in one morning lately, and another train of the same number of cars arrived the next day.

OATS FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA.—Two thousand bushels of oats were shipped from Brandon to British Columbia last week. They will be carried to the end of the track by rail and thence on mules' backs to the destination.

MOOSE AND ELK.—Moose and elk are very plentiful in the Riding Mountains, north of Minnedosa, this spring, and bears have been troubling farmers around that place and Neepawo since the late warm weather.

Failure of a Steamship Project.

MONTREAL, April 14.—It is stated here that the great project for a fortnightly steamship line between Havre and this port, with a view to the development of the resources in fish and other things of the Maritime Provinces, has fallen through in Paris, but for what reason it is not stated. It is only lately that assurances were given that a capital of several million dollars was secured.

England Appealed to.

LONDON, April 13.—Earl Granville has received petitions from the Chambers of Commerce of Hong Kong and Shanghai against the threatened French seizure of Chusan for the indemnity. He has advised the French Minister of England's intention to adhere to the Anglo-Chinese treaty of 1846, securing Chusan against occupation.

Kingston Liquor Licenses.

The Kingston City Council have raised the liquor license fees from $150 to $175 for saloon, and from $125 to $146 for shop, for reason that the number of licenses to be issued will be reduced. The increase was made so that the city will not lose revenue.

In spite of Colonal Majendie's report, it is declared that the dynamite used at Victoria station was made at a factory between Amieus and Boulogne. It is rumoured that an attempt will shortly be made to blow up one of the public buildings in London. The activity of the dynamiters continues unabated. It is believed the English and French police are fully acquainted with their movements, and that every effort will be made to counteract their plots. There is great reason to believe that one of the most trusted dynamite leaders keeps the police fully informed. The dynamiters are receiving valuable aid from French socialists. They are waiting orders from New York to act.

CAUTIONING THE TRAINMEN.—It has been expected that in consequence of the recent epidemic of accidents on the Grand Trunk, some action would be taken by the management of the road to prevent their re-occurrence. The matter has been considered by General Manager Hickson from personal inspection and from reports of local officers, and a circular has been issued to the trainmen and engineers, dated April 10th, with reference to the subject. The circular, which is signed by Mr. Hickson, states that during the last few weeks a large number of accidents have occurred on the road, and that the cause has been principally open switches. It warns the engineers to be cautious in passing switches, and not to depend upon the air-brakes to stop the train in case of an emergency. They are further warned to exercise more caution in entering stations, and to observe the rules more carefully in passing stations which are not stopping places.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Mr. Blake Eating his Abusive Words About Secret Societies—The Gravenhurst and Callendar Railway—The "Globe"-Blake Bid for the Quebec Vote—A Big Majority.

MR. BLAKE ON SECRET SOCIETIES.

Mr. WOODWORTH on Monday referred to the report in Hansard of Mr. Blake's speech on the Orange Bill, and to his attacks upon the Masonic order and other secret societies.

Mr. BLAKE repeatedly raised points of order to prevent his contradictions and misrepresentations from being exposed, being assisted by Mr. Mackenzie and Sir Richard Cartwright.

Mr. WOODWORTH said it was not strange that Mr. Blake was restive when such a sore spot was touched and would avoid discussion if possible, but he had himself set a precedent last session by referring to the Hansard report of the Orange Bill debate. Mr. Blake having attacked all secret societies had since thought it prudent to explain away the official report of his word. He had said plainly "secret societies are the fruitful mothers of malignity, misrepresentation and bigotry," and then on being taken to task he substituted in a letter an incorrect version. He had replied at the time to Mr. Blake's stigma as applied to the Freemasons, and other members had defended other societies.

Mr. BLAKE maintained that the words in his letter were those he used in his speech, thus eating his own words as reported not only in Hansard, but in the myriads of copies of his speech that are being circulated by his friends.

GRAVENHURST & CALLENDAR RAILWAY.

Mr. SMALL moved concurrence in the Senate amendments to the Northern Railway Bill, which struck out the clauses as to consolidation of stock and issue of terminable bonds, only leaving those to enable the company to acquire stock in the Gravenhurst & Callendar Railway.

Mr. THOS. WHITE (Cardwell) thought to maintain the independence of the Gravenhurst & Callender branch, the Northern should forfeit its interest on amalgamating with the Grand Trunk or Canada Pacific.

The amendment was agreed to.

RAILWAY SUBSIDIES.

Mr. GIROUARD renewed the debate on the Railway Aid Resolutions. He was sorry to hear Mr. Laurier say that Quebec had no special claim to the aid, and that in fact it was only a bribe for their support of the C. P. R. loan, for that statement was erroneous. The principle of aiding lines that were really extensions of the C.P.R. was recognized long ago, and even by the late Government, which offered an extensive bonus to the Canada Central on that ground. His only objection to the resolution was that he thought the Province of Quebec should receive the whole of the $12,000 a mile between Montreal and Quebec. An additional reason for the more liberal grant was that Ontario was getting $12,000 a mile for the Gravenhurst and Callendar branch, besides the construction free of cost of that portion of the C.P. R. within the Province. Mr. Blake's amendment overlooked this and also the grants to other provinces. As to a change in the subsidies, he thought Quebec would be unwise to press for a constitutional change.

Mr. AUGER reiterated the insinuation that the Quebec Conservative members had forced the Government to bribe them. He moved that the following words be added to the amendment moved by Mr. Blake, "And this House regrets that the Government has not seen fit to provide that pending the expenditure of the sum of $960,000, reserved and provided for the extension of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Quebec, the interest thereon should be paid to the Government of the Province of Quebec."

Mr. HOUDE said Mr. Blake's amendment opposed the grant to Quebec as too large, while Mr. Anger's addition to it took the contradictory position that it was not large enough. He repudiated the charge that this grant was a bribe to the Quebec members, and censured the Opposition for their habit of always attributing corrupt motives to them, while other provinces making claims were not accused of being bought. They had been free to vote as they pleased on the C. P. R. loan, and he had voted against it, not having promised to vote for it in return for this grant, nor had anyone else, in spite of the falsehoods that had been circulated. He gave figures in detail to show that Quebec had not been more favored than other provinces in regard to railways. Mr. Blake's amendment expressed a regret which was not well founded and a censure which was not deserved.

Mr. VALIN, Mr. BOSSE and Mr. TASSE supported the resolutions and Mr. Bechard the amendment of Mr. Anger.

Mr. FISHER spoke in favor of Mr. Auger's amendment because Quebec was not getting enough, and also in favor of Mr. Blake's amendment because Quebec was getting too much compared with other provinces.

Sir J. MACDONALD after a little ridicule o the contradictory arguments of the Opposition, censured the false charges brought by Mr. Blake against both the Quebec members and the Government. In parliamentary language but plainly enough, Mr. Blake had said that the Quebec members had obtained this grant by threats of desertion on the C. P. R. vote. He denied this assertion or that there had been any negotiation with the Quebec members. He knew of no such negotiations or communications but there were rumours of other communications which Mr. Blake must have heard.

Mr. BLAKE said "No."

Sir J. MACDONALD said that Mr. Blake must then be deaf, for he was the only man who had not heard the talk of a coalition between himself and the Quebec Conservatives. But these little conversations had met with no response. No pressure, direct or indirect, had caused the government to propose these grants, which justice demanded. He showed in detail how Ontario had obtained the construction of a great part of the national highway, and of links to connect with it, and Quebec was entitled to the same consideration. And yet Mr. Blake said this was bribing Quebec and demoralizing the whole of Canada. So he said in his speech, yet in his amendment he swallowed the whole as ancient Pistol swallowed the leek. The Quebec government had asked for these grants, and he and his colleagues came to the conclusion that the claim was just. But the opposition started a report that threats had been made, and as long as it was alleged that force was threatened he resisted. But the Quebec members had acted in a fair and manly way. Mr. Honde had candidly written to him that he could not vote for the C.P.R. loan, but had made no threat or condition. One after the other the Quebec Conservatives had come to him and assured him almost without exception, that they did not wish to unite the two questions, that they would support the C.P.R. loan unconditionally. Not till then did he feel at liberty to go to their meeting and inform them of the determination to which the Government had come on the appeal of the Quebec Ministry. This was the plain truth, as all the Quebec Conservative members could testify, and the slanders alike of the Government and if the Quebec members were untrue and unjust. Mr. Blake said in his speech that these grants were false in principle, degrading demoralizing and corrupt in spirit, yet in his amendment he asked for more degradation, demoralization and corruption. It was like the story of the clergyman who was preaching, when there was a wreck, and warned his congregation not to be carried away by a love of filthy lucre at such a time, but presently having unfastened the pulpit door made a dash for the porch, crying: "Let us all have a fair start, at all events." So with Mr. Blake; he objected to the practice, but wanted all the Provinces to have a fair start. It was like his unfortunately successful resolutions in Ontario in 1871, but happily he would not have the same success here. The policy of the government from the beginning had been to have a great railway from ocean to ocean, and this was being carried out by these to Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. In this policy he had met with nothing but factional opposition from the gentlemen opposite, who had indeed opposed every measure for the development of Canada, without ever proposing one that would be remembered in history. They had all been introduced and carried by the Conservatives, and therefore the country recognised the Conservatives as the party of progress—the party of development. The amendment said that Quebec was asking relief—which sounded very like the poor-house—but Quebec had resented that imputation, and only claimed justice. But the other provinces were to get fair and proportionate relief. But how could it be fair if corrupt and demoralizing? Mr. Blake in fact said, "It is wrong to rob that house, but if it is to be robbed, give me a share of the money." If the House and the country wanted railways, both these amendments should be voted down. Mr. Blake's amendment was factious and unpatriotic and would be condemned both by the House and by the country as a vain attempt to set Province against Province and to execute sectional jealousies. What hypocrisy to denounce such grants as a crime in a speech and to conclude it with an amendment saying "as you are committing a crime why not commit a greater." In fact Mr. Blake was asking the house to oppose the Government for not adopting a course which in his speech he had declared to be dishonest, corrupt, unconstitutional and degrading.

Mr. BLAKE in the course of his reply denied that he had personally negotiated with the Quebec members, and invited any one of them with whom he had so negotiated to "speak now." He said that if the subsidizing of the Canada Central in Ontario must lead sooner or later to the subsidizing of the Quebec line, as Sir John Macdonald said, it was strange that he had not proposed it before as he had been in power for more than five years. He endeavoured to defend his self-contradictions in declaring the subsidies immoral in his speech, and asking for more in his resolution. He censured generally the policy of the Conservative party.

The amendment of Mr. Auger was put and negatived by 110 to 56.

The amendment of Mr. Blake was then put and negatived by 111 to 35.

Mr. LAUDER then moved in amendment that the route selected for the short route should be submitted to Parliament for approval before being decided upon.

After some discussion this amendment was rejected by 109 to 52.

AN OPPOSITION STAMPEDE.

The vote was then taken on the main motion for concurrence in the railway aid resolutions when there was a regular stampede of opposition members, no less than 17 of them voted with the Government, resulting in a majority 93: yeas 128, nays 35.

A bill founded on the resolutions was read a first time.

Presidential Forecasts.

NEW YORK, April 12—The Herald's Chicago correspondent says a movement has begun there to bring forward a ticket in the Republican convention composed of Grant and Logan.

The Tribune's Washington correspondent says Lincoln is represented as being much annoyed by the efforts of his friends who persist in pushing him home to the front as one of the candidates to be presented at the Chicago convention. His most intimate friends assert that he does not wish the nomination, certainly not that of the Vice-Presidency.

The Careys.

The London Times says Matthias Brady recently arrived in Paris from New York, to investigate the truth of the rumour that Peter Carey was hiding there. A careful search was instituted, but proved fruitless. Brady returned to New York, leaving orders that he should be informed at once if any of the Careys were discovered. Constant watch is kept upon the informers Lamie and Coleman.

ENNISMORE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WEATHER NOTES.—The incoming of March was cold and severe, the morning of the first at sun rise being 20° below zero, and the second 29°. Up to the 11th it kept cold, when it again grew more moderate, never again falling to zero, and at four o'clock on Friday, the 28th, it reached as high as temperate, namely, 56°, the average for the month being 23°. Snow fell on 7 days to the depth of 9 1-10th inches, and rain fell on 8 days to the depth of 1 inch and 43-100ths. So our downfall for the month has been considerably below the average although we have had some severe drifts and gales we were not this year visited with what we used to call our big march storm. We had fog on two days and our first thunder on the 11th. Our first crows made their appearance on the 12th; gray birds on the 22nd; cranes on the 23rd; seagulls and robins on the 25th; and on the 28th dark winged butterflies were flying about, not being described in the Ontario Agricultural Commission I am unable to find their name. Snow has mostly disappeared, consequently the roads are bad for travel, as is generally the case at this time of the year.

A NEEDED IMPROVEMENT.—Our County Engineer has at length determined to hold the Mud Lake floating bridge in its place, having about 35 stones for anchors, and some of them of large dimensions, now lying on the ice chained to the bridge ready to drop through when the ice breaks up.

FALL WHEAT.—Should the present style of the weather continue much longer fall wheat will be a thing of the past in this section, as it is impossible to can pull itself through under the present trials and circumstances.

BELLEVILLE.

GRAND TRUNK WORKSHOPS.—A rumour is circulated in Kingston that the Grand Trunk workshop will be transferred from Belleville to Kingston.

GRAND TRUNK BRIDGE.—The second Grand Trunk bridge is being rebuilt much after the plan of the old structure excepting that the new one will be a little higher.

THE GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS.—According to a return just brought down to Parliament the total expenditure on the Belleville Government Building to date is $56,960.05. The annual revenue of the Post Office is $13,545; of the Customs and Excise, $185,154.

THE DEFAULTING BANKER'S CLERK.—The whereabouts of Frank Taylor, the absconding bank clerk, is unknown, but from the manner of his returning the cheques to the manager here, he is supposed to be across the line. His proposal that his respected father would settle for his theft is not regarded as a sign of repentance on the part of the youth.

Measures for Phipp's Defence.

DETROIT, April 14.—The friends of Luke Phipps, the wifemurderer, talk of raising a fund to defray the expenses of his trial. Mr. Sol. White, M.P.P. for North Essex, has been retained, and if Phipps is convicted of murder in the first degree, the Governor-General will be asked to commute the sentence to imprisonment for life.

INFELICE.

By AUGUSTA J. EVANS WILSON.

Author of "St. Elmo," "Beulah," "Micaria,"

CHAPTER III.—CONTINUED.

"She certainly does not suggest wax—save in the texture of her fine skin, and one rarely finds in a child's face so much of steel as is ambushed in the crosses of this rose leaves that serve her as lips. If her will matches her mother's, this little one certainly was not afflicted with a misnomer at her baptism."

He rose, looked at his watch, and walked across the room, as if to inspect a Pieta that hung upon the wall. Unwilling to conclude an interview which had yielded her no information, Mother Aloysius patiently awaited the result of the examination; but he finally went to the window, and a certain unmistakable expression of countenance—which can be compared only to a locking of mouth and eyes—warned her that he was alert and inflexible. With a smothered sigh she left her seat.

"As you seem impatient, Mr. Palma, I will endeavor to hasten the preparations for your departure."

"If you please, Mother, I shall feel indebted to your kind consideration."

Nearly an hour elapsed ere she returned, leading Regina, and as the latter stood between Mother and Sister Angela, with a cluster of fresh fragrant lilies in her hand, and her tender face blanched and tearful, it seemed to the lawyer as if indeed the pet ewe lamb were being led away from peaceful flowery pastures, from the sweet sanctity of the cloistral fold—out through thorny, devious paths, where Temptations prowl wolf-fanged—or into fierce conflicts that end in the social shambles—those bloodless abattoirs where malice mangles humanity. How many verdure-veiled, rose-garlanded pitfalls yawned in that treacherous future, now stretching before her like summer air, here all gold and blue—yonder with purple glory crowning the dim far away? Intuitively she recognized the fact that she was confronting the first crossroads in her hitherto monotonous life, and a vague dread flitted like ill-omened birds before her, darkening her vision.

In the gladiatorial arena of the Court room, Mr. Palma was regarded as a large-brained, nimble-witted, marble-hearted man, of vast ambition and tireless energy in the acquisition of his aims; but his colleagues and clients would as soon have sought chivalric tenderness in a bronze statue or a polished obelisk of porphyry. To-day as he curiously watched the quivering yet proud little girlish face, her brave struggles to meet the emergency touched some chord far down in his reticent stern nature, and he suddenly stooped and took her hand, folding it up securely in his.

"Are you not quite willing to trust yourself with me?"

She hesitated a moment; then said, with a slight wavering in her low tone:

"I have been very happy here, and I love the Sisters dearly, but you are my mother's friend, and whatever she wishes me to do, of course, must be right."

Oh, beautiful instinctive faith in maternal love and maternal wisdom! Wot ye the moulding power ye wield, ye mothers of America?

Pressing her fingers gently as if to reassure her, he said:—

"I dislike to hurry you away from these kind Sisters, but if your baggage is ready we have no time to spare."

The nuns wept silently as she embraced them for the last time, kissed them on both cheeks, then turned and suffered Mr. Palma to lead her to the carriage, whither her trunk had already been sent.

Leaning out she watched the receding outlines of the convent until a bend in the road concealed even the belfry, and then she stooped and kissed the drooping lilies in her lap.

Her companion expected a burst of tears, but she sat erect and quiet, and not a word was uttered until they reached the railway station and entered the cars. Securing a double seat he placed her at the window and sat down opposite. It was her introduction to railway travel, and as the train moved off, and the locomotive sounded its prolonged shriek of departure, Regina started up, but, as if ashamed of her timidity, coloured and bit her lip. Observing that she appeared interested in watching the country through which they sped, Mr. Palma drew a book from his valise, and soon became so absorbed in the contents that he forgot the silent figure on the seat before him.

The afternoon wore away, the sun went down, and when the lamps were lighted, the lawyer suddenly remembered his charge.

"Well, Regina, how do you like travelling on the cars?"

"Not at all; it makes my head ache."

"Take off your hat, and I will try to make you more comfortable."

He untied a shawl secured to the outside of his valise, placed it on the arm of the seat, and made her lay her head upon it.

Keeping his finger as a mark amid the leaves of his book he said:

"We shall not reach our journey's end until to-morrow morning, and I advise you to sleep as much as possible. Whenever you feel hungry, you will find some sandwiches, cake and fruit in the basket at your feet."

She looked at him intently, and interpreting the expression he added:

"You wish to ask me something? Am I so very frightful that you dare not question me?"

"Will you tell me the truth if I ask you?"

"Most assuredly."

"Mr. Palma, when shall I see my mother?"

His eyes went down helplessly before the girl's steady gaze, and he hesitated a moment.

"Really, I cannot tell exactly—but I hope ——"

She put up her small hand quickly, with a gesture that silenced him.

"Don't say any more, please. I never want to know half of anything, and you can't tell me all. Good-night, Mr. Palma."

She shut her eyes.

This man of bronze, who could terrify witnesses, torture and overwhelm opposition, and thunder so successfully from the legal rostrum, sat there abashed by the child's tone and manner, and as he watched her, he could not avoid smiling at her imperious mandate. Although silent it was one o'clock before she fell into a deep, sound slumber, and then the lawyer leaned forward and studied the dreamer.

The light from the lamp shone upon her, and the long black lashes lay heavily on her white cheeks. Now and then a sigh passed her lips, and once a dry sob shook her frame, as if she were again passing through the painful ordeal of parting; but gradually the traces of emotion disappeared, and that marvellous peace which we find only in children's countenances, or on the faces of the dead—and which in nowhere more perfect than in old Greek statuary—settled like a benediction over her factures. Her frail hands, clasped over her breast, still held the faded lilies, and to Erle Palma she seemed too tender and fair for rude contact with selfish world, in which he was so indefatigably carving out fame and fortune. He wondered how long a time would be requisite to transform this pure, spotless ingenuous young thing into one of the fine-fashionable miniature women with frizzed hair and huge paniers, whom he often met in the city, with school-books in their hands, and bold, full-blown coquetry in their eyes?

Certainly he was as devoid of all romantic weakness as the propositions of Euclid or the pages of Blackstone, but something in the beauty and helpless innocence of the sleeper appealed with unwonted power to his dormant sympathy, and suspecting that lurking spectres crouched in her future, he mutely entered into a compact with his own soul not to lose sight of, but to befriend her faithfully whenever circumstances demanded succour.

"Upon my word she looks like a piece of Greek sculpture, and be her father whom he may, there is no better blood than beats there at her little dimpled wrists. The pencilling of the eyebrows is simply perfect."

He spoke inaudibly, and just then she stirred and turned. As she moved, something white fluttered from one of the ruffled pockets of her apron and fell to the floor. He picked it up, and saw it was the letter he had given her some hours before. The sheet was folded loosely, and glancing at it as it opened in his hand, he saw in delicate characters, "Oh, my baby—my darling! Be patient and trust your mother." An irresistible impulse made him look up, and the beautiful solemn eyes of the girl were fixed upon him,—but instantly her black lashes covered them.

For the first time in years, he felt the flush of shame mount into his cold haughty face, yet even then he noted the refined delicacy which made her feign sleep.

"Regina?"

She made no movement.

"Child, I know you are awake. Do you suppose I would stoop to read your letter clandestinely? It dropped from your pocket, and I have seen only one line."

She put out her slender hand, took the letter and answered:

"My mother writes me that you are her best friend, and I intend to believe that all you say is true."

"Do you think I read your letter?"

"I shall think no more about it."

"I will paint her as I see her.
Ten times have the lilies blown
Since she looked upon the sun,
Face and figure of a child,—
Though so calm, you think, and tender.
For the childhood you would lend her."

"A TRIP WITH THE KNICKERBOCKERS."

The fact that the following song was sung at the third annual dinner of the Knickerbocker Canoe Club in New York, shows that the A.C.A. camp on Stony Lake has not passed away from the memory of our visitors, which is evidence that they enjoyed their trip:—

For Stony Lake, in 'Eighty-three,
Nickety, nackety noo, noo, noo,
We left New York with the K. C. C.,
Hi! Willy Waulliky, hoo John Dugal,
Alane corushety, roo, roo, roo.

At Juniper Isle we arrived on the twelfth,
Nickety, etc.
Ten of our boys, including myself,
Hi! etc.

Of old friends remembered we met full a score,
Nickety, etc.
There was Baldwin and Tyson and our bold Commodore,
Hi! etc.

There was Wicksteed and Symes, all togged up so tidy,
Nickety, etc.
While from the States was Secretary Neide.
Hi! etc.

Then there was Nickerson, Shedd and Munroe,
Nickety, etc.
General Oliver, Fraser, Wackerhagen, Fernow,
Hi! etc.

But my song it would drag and I'd keep you too late.
Nickety, etc.
If all those that were there, the names I would state,
Hi! etc.

Around the camp fire we had lots of fun.
Nickety, etc.
The refrain of my song is what the Commodore sung,
Hi! etc.

Of songs we had many, some young and some old,
Nickety, etc.
And stories, some good and some bad, we had told,
Hi! etc.

The three days of races then were begun,
Nickety, etc.
But they seemed rather to add to the fun.
Hi! etc.

Gibson, of Albany, ran off with most prizes,
Nickety, etc.
And Whitlock's defeats made up other surprises,
Hi! etc.

For two weeks we were quartered 'way back from the [sea.
Nickety, etc.
On the lakes that flow into the Otonabee,
Hi! etc.

Our adieux to each other we were loath to extend,
Nickety, etc.
But our camp, like my song, come short to an end,
Hi! etc.

Good bye, Sergt. Billings, your cooking is o'er,
Nickety, etc.
Good bye, Stony Lake; good bye Commodore.

Our Canadian Industry

is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required in nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing-silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must nessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding, Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind, colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. ## LOCAL NEWS

The Cells.

There were seven tramps in the cells last night. They all found employment this morning. A large number of men have sought the shelter of the cells for one night during the past few weeks and found work the next day.

Money Lost.

On Monday afternoon, Mr. Isaac Trembell, who was working at St. Paul's Church, hung his coat on a post. In one of the pockets of the coat there was $5 and an order for $11, inclosed in a pocket book. After he went to the hotel where he is boarding, he missed the pocket book, and he believes that it was stolen while he was at work. There is no clue to the person who took it, if it was stolen there.

Health Bulletin.

The official report of the health of Ontario for the week ending Saturday, April 5th, shows that bronchitis and pneumonia have decreased; hat influenza has been the most prevalent disease of the week; and that neuralgia and ntermittent fever still retain their high per centage. The six most prevalent diseases in the district in which Peterborough is included are as follows:—Influenza 16, Diarrhtea 13.5, Anæmia 10, Bronchitis 7.5, Neuralgia 6.7, Mumps 5.

A Fire.

At about six o'clock this morning Mr. W. A. Sanderson, whose rooms are over his jewellery store, was awakened to find that a fire was burning in the wall between the third story of his premises and those of Mr. Duncan Cameron. The alarm was sounded, and the firemen were soon on hand. Water was taken from the hydrant near the scene of the fire, and the flames were soon extinguished. The fire had made its way up to the roof, but had not done much damage. Mr. Cameron had some goods spoiled by the water, and some damage was done in Mr. Sanderson's rooms by the same means, while the ceilings were also damaged somewhat by the water. The building is owned by Mr. Geo. A. Cox, and all the parties were insured. The fire originated in the third story of Mr. Cameron's store. The smoke entered the third stories of the stores of Mr. J. C. Turnbull and Mr. Jas. Alexander, but it did little damage there.

St. John's Church.

The Easter Vestry and congregational meeting of St. John's Church were held on Easter Monday, with the Rector, the Rev. J. W. R. Beck, Rural Dean in the chair. Mr. A. P. Poussette, Dr. G. Burnham, and Mr. J. E. Belcher were elected lay delegates to the Synod. Mr. W. E. Sherwood and Mr. Geo. Gladman were appointed auditors. The Rector named Dr. Geo. Burnham as his church-warden, and Mr. A. P. Poussette was re-elected churchwarden for the tenth time by the vestry. The following sidesmen were appointed:—Messrs. Sheffield, Sherwood, W. English, H. Long, F. J. Jameson, F. E. Bell, Foote and Jas. English. Messrs. Sheffield, Morrow and Sherwood were appointed members of the Finance Committee, and Messrs. Sheffield and I. Robinson of the tribunal to settle the register of voters for lay delegates. Mr. A. P. Poussette presented a very satisfactory financial statement and a well-deserved vote of thanks was passed to the church-wardens.

The Rev. V. Clementi moved—"That the acknowledgments and cordial thanks of the congregation of St. John's Church are due and are hereby tendered to the choir of the church for the very efficient manner in which they have discharged their official functions during the past twelve months, an efficiency which has greatly enhanced the value of Divine service by rendering it more agreeable to the congregation and—as is humbly hoped—more acceptable to him in whose honour and to whose glory that service is celebrated." Mr. Clementi spoke in strong terms of appreciation of the valuable services of Mr. C. W. Ewing as organist and choir master, of his great abilities as a musician and of his success in selecting, training and keeping together such an efficient choir. Mr. J. E. Belcher seconded the motion which was carried unaminously. The vestry then adjourned for two weeks to receive the auditor's report.

MORE SPRING OPENINGS.

Beautiful Displays of Hats, Bonnets and Millinery Generally.

We have wondered often where it is that ladies contract the habit of using on every possible—even trivial—occasion, the most astounding variety of adjectives and adverbs. With our great grandmothers it was "How nice!" with our grandmothers, "How charming!" with our mothers "How lovely!" but with us the number of expletives seems legion. "How excruciatingly delicious!" "How agonizingly elegant!" are some of the expressions not by any means seldom heard. We have to-day, we believe, discovered one of the sources of this superabundance. It is the millinery show rooms! Accustomed daily to see really pretty colours and materials, the profusion of which exhausts their vocabulary, ladies find it impossible to drop the style of conversation adopted while shopping.

What has more particularly confirmed us in this belief is the showroom of a firm who to-day held their first millinery opening in Peterborough. Owing, however, to the crowded state of their rooms to-day, we were unable to enter into detail. We, therefore, reserve our notice for a future issue.

MESSRS. FAIR, VANEVERY AND CO.,

W. FAIRWEATHER & CO.

We regret much that we were unable last week to notice this well-known firm, for doubtless by this time the brilliant show cases have been somewhat denuded of their more tempting contents. Nevertheless, the ample store of material still presented testifies to the excellent taste evinced by Miss Elliott in the selection of the thousand and one articles necessary for spring and summer wear.

Messrs. Fairweather & Co's. showroom is one of, if not the largest, in the town, and is splendidly lighted by some dozen windows or so. Despite its size the arrangement of the cases, tables, etc.,—filled and covered as they are with the most varied articles of costume—is so planned that not only is one struck with the large amount of material exhibited, but is also enabled to find at a glance anything required. A large show case on the north side, we have little doubt, has been long and eagerly examined by many a fair customer, containing, as it does, a most tempting collection of all that the heart of woman could wish for, from the most delicately-colored of gloves to the handsomest of brocades. We had the pleasure of being shown articles too numerous to mention—silks, satins, dolmans, mantles, hats, bonnets, laces, ties, ribbons, etc., etc. To describe them all we do not intend, but we recommend the ladies to see them.

THE CONCERT.

Do not fail to hear MISS LENORA CLENCH the wonderful violinist, and the array of local talent on Thursday evening. A rare treat is promised.

St. Paul's Prayer Meeting.

We are requested to state that the usual prayer meeting in connection with St. Paul's church will be held at the usual hour this evening in the room adjoining Bradburn's Opera House.

Choral Society Concert.

A special train went from here on Tuesday evening on the Midland, to convey passengers to Port Hope to attend the concert of the Choral Society. About 125 persons went on the train from Peterborough and Millbrook.

For Stylish Clothing and Handsome Men's Furnishings, coupled with fair and honest Dealing, try Andrew McNeil's.

The Streets.

Mr. David Breckenbridge having been awarded the contract for scraping the streets, the work was commenced on George street this morning. Any person wishing to secure street scraping for manurial purposes should apply to the Street Inspector.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds and moderate gales, shifting to the west and north, cloudy cooler weather with areas of rain or snow.

Concert at St. Luke's.

A concert was held in the school room of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, on Tuesday evening, in connection with the Temperance Society of that Church. There was a large attendance, the school room being crowded with an audience that appeared to be fully satisfied with the entertainment provided. The programme, which was an excellent one, was as follows:—Instrumental duet, "The Beladine," by Misses M. Davidson and F. Lech; song, "The Living Waters," Miss Stephens; reading, "The Soldier's Reprieve," Mrs. E. Chrowe; solo, "Three Angel Visitants," Miss Minore; song, "The Old Brigade," Mr. Lech; reading, "The Raven," Mr. Gardner; instrumental duet (banjo and violin), Messrs. F. Clarke and Rowley; song, "The Pretty Maid Milking Her Cow," Mrs. Bowman; vocal duet, "Maying," Miss Choate and Mr. A. Choate; instrumental solo (piano), Miss F. Lech; song, "Tired," Miss Minore; reading, "Jimmy's Lecture," Mr. T. Lush; song, "Our Jack's Come Home To-day," Miss Stephens. The last number of the programme was a very amusing charade entitled, "A Love of a Bonnet," by several young ladies, and the entertainment was concluded by the singing of the National Anthem.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Gravenhurst and Callendar Railway—Another Reform Falsification—Provincial Subsidies—Hudson Bay Railway.

GRAVENHURST AND CALLENDAR RAILWAY.

Sir C. TUPPER on Tuesday laid upon the table a draft of the contract for the construction of a railway from Gravenhurst to Callendar. He explained that in case the railway should forfeit its independence it would be taken over by the Government on payment of the cost in excess of the grant.

FALSIFICATION.

Mr. ORTON called attention to the fact that, as reported in Hansard, Mr. Cameron, of West Huron, had read a letter which appeared in the Regina Leader censuring the Government as to the tariff on agricultural implements, and then read further what he pretended to be editorial remarks of the Regina Leader, though in fact they were by the Toronto Globe.

Mr. BLAKE, as if moved by fellow feeling, made repeated attempts by raising points of order to prevent this exposure of another falsification by a Reform leader.

PROVINCIAL SUBSIDIES.

Sir L. TILLEY moved the House into Committee on the resolutions providing that the increased subsidies of 1873 shall be reckoned as if granted in 1867. The sums thus due would be capitalised and placed to the credit of the several Provinces, interest being allowed at 5 per cent. In the case of Provinces that joined the Dominion later, they would be credited with similar sums, having regard to their population. The amount credited to Ontario would be $2,884,289, with a yearly payment of $142,400, and to Quebec $2,549,213, with a yearly payment of $130,000, and so on for the other Provinces. The total amount involved was $2,132,242. The leader of the Opposition should be satisfied with the proposition, as he had just been advocating that all the Provinces should be treated alike.

After a brief discussion the resolutions were adopted.

NEW LOAN.

Sir L. TILLEY moved the House into Committee on his resolution to authorise a new loan. By July 1885, $20,000,000 would be due to the C.P.R., liabilities falling due $3,483,000, Montreal and Quebec Harbour Commissioners and St. John Bridge $1,000,000, C. P. R. on contracts $2,400,000, International Railway $750,000, Canals $1,500,000, railway subsidies $1,000,000, or a total of $30,583,000. Of this we would be receiving interest on $18,733,000. It was proposed to borrow $25,000,000, and the remainder would be made up from surplus $1,000,000, Land sales $1,000,000 and Savings Bank funds $3,000,000.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT asked if this was the only loan required before July 1885.

Sir L. TILLEY said it would be sufficient with the authority given last session to provide for maturing liabilities.

The resolution was carried.

HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

Sir J. MACDONALD moved the House into Committee on a resolution to make a free grant of 6,400 acres a mile in Manitoba and 12,800 acres a mile in the North West Territories to aid a railway to Hudson Bay.

The resolution was reported.

THE RAILWAY ACT.

SIR CHAS. TUPPER moved the third reading of the Bill to amend the Consolidated Railway Act.

Mr. MCCARTHY moved an amendment giving power to any individual or corporation to sue for non-compliance with orders of the Railway Committee as to the protection of highways.

The motion was carried and with some further discussion the bill was read a third time.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

SIR L. TILLEY moved the second reading of the bill to amend the McCarthy Act.

Sir H. LANGEVIN in reply to Mr. Weldon said that the constitutional question would be submitted to the legal tribunals, and that a clause for the remission of penalties meanwhile would be introduced.

Mr. MCCARTHY proposed an amendment to keep valid Quebec municipal by-laws, passed since 1867, prohibiting the sale of liquor.

Mr. MILLS objected to favoritism to Quebec.

Mr. MCCARTHY said that other provinces had not such municipal by-laws. The prohibition in Ontario, for instance was by a direct vote of the people.

The amendment was carried, as was also one allowing hotels to let part of the building as shops.

Other amendments, principally to remove restrictions, were proposed and negatived, and the bill was reported.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Those Granted by the Provincial Commissioners for the West Riding.

At the session of the Provincial Board of License Commissioners for the West Riding of Peterborough, held on Wednesday, the following were granted licenses for the ensuing year:—

TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

TAVERNS.—Thos. Darcy, Wm. Croft, Catharine Roddy, John Sullivan, Mary Barbino, John Wilson, J. E. McIntyre, Daly Bros., J. B. Dunn, A. D. Faucher, Elizabeth Norris, M. Halpin, Wm. Chamberlain, Wm. Kenneally, Wm. Clancy, A. P. Morgan, Wm. Snowden, Joseph Brault and T. Cavanagh.

SHOPS.—John Cameron, John O'Shea, John O'Shea, John Garvey, Garret Galvin, M. Quinlan, Diamond & Co., W. J. Morrow & Co., John Trebell, Geo. Mitchell and Henry Rush.

LAKEFIELD.

TAVERNS.—Thos. Pettit, Susan Parser, Thos. Mason and George Berubee.

SMITH.

TAVERNS.—Jas. Kearney, L. G. Fobert and Thos. Eastwood.

The Board then adjourned until Monday, the 28th of April.

POLICE COURT.

A SAD SIGHT.

THURSDAY, April 17.—Richard Puxley and Eliza Puxley, man and wife, were charged by Constable Adams with being vagrants. They said that they had come from Toronto, and the woman was so much intoxicated that she had to be assisted into the Court room. The Magistrate enlarged the case until Monday, to give them an opportunity to leave town.

SERIOUS RIOTS IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

Fracas between Roman Catholics and Protestants at Carbonear—Guns, Bayonets, Pickets, Stones, Freely Used.

CARBONEAR, N. F., April 15.—On Sunday night when the Protestants were returning from church they were attacked by Roman Catholics with pickets and stones. One man named Squib was fatally wounded. The Protestants then collected, armed with pickets, and dispersed the mob. Yesterday morning a man named Brenan drew his revolver and fired at an Orangeman. He was arrested in the afternoon. A man named Hyden, now under arrest, shot at James, the brother of the Orangeman murdered in the Harbour Grace riot, while standing at Hogan's door on Water street. He fortunately missed him. The revolver is in the hands of the authorities.

The outrages were followed by a general turnout of Orange Protestants, all armed with guns and bayonets, who kept marching through the streets all night. The streets are all deserted save by the crowd in arms. The executive have ordered her Majesty's war ship Tenedos from Halifax, which port she left last night.

THE CONSPIRACY CHARGES.

Will the Grand Jury Find a True Bill?—The Defence Working up a "Spicy" Case.

"Do you think the conspiracy case will go to trial?" said one lawyer to another last night.

"I am inclined to think the grand jury will not find a true bill, indeed if half is true that I hear, both sides——"

"You do not mean to say that the grand jury would be fixed in order to find no bill."

"I do not say that, but I would watch the politicans closely. As a general thing our juries are fair minded—party spirit is about the only thing that will bias them. But that is not what I was going to say. Both parties would be glad to have no bill found, if half what I here is true. You know the conservatives have as yet put in no defence. But they are working up their case—a case that will show another side to the conspiracy revelations as to the movements of the members, especially of the approached members, of the places they frequented, of the little suppers and parties that were given, of the strange woman that were brought here from Buffalo, and a number of other matters that will whet the public appetite. More than this, a number of members are to be brought on the scene who have never yet figured in the investigation."

"And what about documents?"

Well, there are a number of letters and papers to be shown that will surprise the public when they are produced."—Toronto World.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

AMOY OCCUPIED BY THE FRENCH.

It is reported that the French fleet has occupied Amoy to secure payment of an indemnity from China. The capture of Hung-Hoa terminates the campaign in Tonquin. The French demand on China will be very heavy.

EXASPERATION OF THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT.

The Chinese Government is greatly exercised at the successes of the French in Tonquin. Persons in any way responsible for the reverses are being degraded and punished, and active measures are being taken to prevent further loss of prestige. The Viceroy of Canton has been publicly degraded for refusing to obey orders. The officers answerable for the loss of Bacninh have been condemned to be beheaded. The Governor of Yunnan has been summoned to Pekin to receive punishment. A general levy of men for the army has been ordered, and administrative changes of great importance are imminent.

THE CAPTURE OF HUNG-HOA.

Gen. Millot telegraphs:—"Hung-Hoa is ours. The First Brigade turned the enemy's position while the Second cannonaded it from the front. Our artillery terrified the enemy. The fall of the water prevented most of the flotilla from giving assistance. Both soldiers and sailors behaved gallantly."

ANXIOUS FOR PUNISHMENT.

The Viceroy of Canton confessed his fault and begged to be punished. The Empress, as an act of grace, postponed judgment, and instructed Prince Li-Pu to inquire into the viceroy's conduct. Meanwhile the viceroy retains office. Prince Chun, the Emperor's father, will regulate important matters in the grand council of the empire until the Emperor assumes the government.

A marvellous cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria, Canker mouth, and Headache. With each bottle there is an ingenious nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cts. Sold by J. D. Tully wholesale, retail agent.

The Quickest Thing on Record

Is Fluid Lightning for Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, etc. It does not blister or discolor the skin, requires but one application to banish all pain magically without using any greasy liniment or carrying your head in a poultice for weeks. Try a twenty-five cent bottle from John McKee's drug store.

Answer this Question.

Why do so many people we see around us seem to prefer to suffer and be made miserable by Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Coming up of the Food, Yellow Skin, when for 75c. we will sell them Shiloh's Vitalizer, guaranteed to cure them. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold. A few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1 00. If your lungs are sore, chest or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster Sold by J. D. Tully.

THAT COMMISSION.

MUCH remark is being excited by the delay of Mr. Mowat in issuing the proposed commission to three judges to investigate the bribery charges. There is a growing opinion that he is not all anxious for the investigation and will delay it as long as possible, even if it is not dropt altogether; that having attained the object of his plot by delaying his defeat and diverting attention for a time from his own misdeeds in Algoma, he is now anxious that no more light should be let in upon the proceedings of himself, his fellow-conspirators and his tools in this disgraceful affair. It was very well to have the matter before the courts, where his crimps and informers with their contradictory stories could have all the say to themselves, but it would be very different before the Commission, where other mouths could not be shut and where inconvenient facts would be brought to light.

Many believe that Mr. Clarke, the member for Toronto, hit the right nail on the head when he said that the money counted so theatrically by the Speaker might possibly have been supplied by the Government. Strange rumours are current as to "one Lynch." No one seems really to know who he is except Mr. Mowat, who must have better means of information than others, for he told the House what was his nationality. It is shrewdly suspected that Mr. Mowat may know far more about Lynch than he has yet told, and that he would be glad to avoid any investigation as to Lynch's identity, proceedings and objects, but most especially as to his employers. Then there is the awkward question as to what other supporters were ready to cease to support Mr. Mowat, the reasons for their defection, and the means by which some of them were retained in allegiance to the Reform party. There are various other points on which undesired light might be thrown by the Commission.

For these and other reasons we are persuaded that Mr. Mowat and his colleagues dare not proceed with the Commission, and that they are only deluding the public in the hope that something may turn up to improve their tottering condition.

Fit For Their Work.

Messrs. Mc Kim, Balfour, Dowling, and Cascaden may have rendered excellent service to their party and the Mowat Government, but it was service of a sort which no honorable man would undertake. The service they rendered is analogous to that performed by police spies and secret agents under European Governments. Such men are often very useful but no one respects them. Their motives may sometimes be good, and their former lives blameless; but generally they are great rascals. Lies and deception are invariably the means they employ to worm themselves into the confidence of those whom they mean to betray. It was so in the present case. The men above named, especially McKim confessed themselves guilty of any amount of lying and deception. We refuse to admire self confessed liars and deceivers, no matter in what cause.—Mitchell Recorder, Reform.

Reciprocity.

It was our neighbors and not we, who terminated the reciprocity treaty; and when the late Hon. George Brown went to Washington with a fresh offer—a very good one for them but a poor one for us—it was refused. More recently it was from their side, not from ours, that notice came to terminate the fishery clauses. Under these circumstances, it surely does not rest upon us to make the next offer. That the next offer should come from the United States has been more than once affirmed by the American national board of trade; aye, and by the Globe itself. If the Globe would have us go on our knees begging for reciprocity it is not only sadly lacking in patriotism, but it is also inconsistent with its own record.—Toronto World (Independent Liberal.)

Mowat And his Tools.

The Gazette boasts that the suits against Grit deputy returning officers have been abandoned for luck of funds. Our contemporary knows very well that the iniquitous white-washing bill passed by Mr. Mowat's followers, which render a verdict against these officials an impossibility, is responsible for the withdrawal of the suits.

CENSUS STATISTICS.

How the Inhabitants of Peterborough County are Employed.

From the second volume of the census of 1881, issued by the Dominion, we take the following statements giving the number of persons engaged in different callings in the West and East ridings of the county of Peterborough. It will be remembered that the Village of Lakefield and some of the northern townships are included in the East Riding in these tables, the riding being that of the Dominion. Persons engaged in more than one occupion are assigned that to which they appeared to attach the most importance, or to that which they happened to be following at the time the census was taken:—

A Rebuke Justified.

Senator Macpherson certainly used strong language in referring to Mr. Mowat and his colleagues in the Ontario Government, but it cannot be said that the reflections of the worthy senator were altogether unjustifiable. So far as can be seen, the only ground which Mr. Mowat had for connecting Senator Macpherson's name with the conspiracy was the discovery on the person of Wilkinson, one of the alleged conspirators, of a letter signed by the senator, appointing Wilkinson to a registrarship at Edmonton. It is contended that this appointment was transferable, and that Wilkinson had the right to make it over to his own appointee. The evidence taken in the bribery case showed that Wilkinson had offered the position to McKim, but there is absolutely nothing to show that he was authorized to do so, nor is there any valid reason for believing that when Senator Macpherson wrote the letter he intended that any such use should be made of it. The members of the Ontario Government, however, were anxious to connect the Government at Ottawa with the conspiracy, and the Macpherson letter was the only connecting link that could be found.—Toronto Telegram (Independent).

A Sad Story.

A handsome young Swiss girl was found dying in a barber's house at Astoria, N. Y., the other night. She had been attended by a female doctor, who claimed to have had a professional certificate from Germany, but it had been lost. She called the barber to her when satisfied that the end was near and told him that she was the affanced bride of a son of the proprietor of a leading hotel in Berne, but as she was only a common girl the rather aristocratic father consented to his son marrying only on conditions that she would come to America and wait until his son joined her, when they could be married, and after a year or so return home and no notice would be taken of it. He gave her $200 and a ticket to New York. She gave the money to her lover, reserving for herself only a few dollars. She waited in vain for him to come, but he came not. When at last the supreme hour of trial and need came she had no money to employ a competent physician and had to put up with the treatment of a poor midwife, from whose carelessness a coroner's jury says she and the babe both died.

Queen's Forthcoming Convocation.

The coming convocation of Queen's College will be exceedingly interesting. Miss Fitzgerald, of St. Catharines, and Miss Fowler, daughter of Prof. Fowler, of this city, will graduate as B. A.'s, being the first instance in Canada in which these degrees will have been conferred upon ladies. Portraits of ex-Principals Dr Cook, of Quebec, and Dr. Snodgrass, will be presented to the college, and other matters will transpire that will make the convocation especially interesting, among them being the conferring of seven different degrees.

One From a Thousand.

MORTON, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Yelro, one of my neighbors, was taken with violent cramps and pain in the stomach. My wife was called in to see her. The woman was in great distress. We had a bottle of your Nerviline in the house, which we got from your agent, Mr. Slater. My wife gave a dose and bathed her freely, and the woman became relieved immediately.—CALVIN STRUTHERS, J.P. You can test Polson's Nerviline for the small amount of 10 cents by buying a sample bottle at Ormond & Walsh's drug store. Large bottles 25 cents.

A Cure for Cuts, Sores Etc.

The finest healing compound under the sun is McGregor & Park's Carbolic Cerate. There is no sore but will succumb to its wonderful healing properties. It is an invaluable dressing for scalds, festers etc. Price twenty-five cents at John McKee's drug store.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling above the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for tetter, itch, salt rheum, scald head, erysipelas, barber's itch, blotches, all scaly, crusty skin diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes, $1.25 (in stamps) Adpress DR. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of THURSDAY, 1st MAY, 1884, for the delivery of the usual Indian Supplies, duty paid, in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, consisting of Flour, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Oxen, Cows, Bulls, Agricultural Implements, Tools, &c.

Forms of Tender and full particulars relative to the Supplies can be had by applying to the undersigned, or to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Regina, or to the Indian Office Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods separately or for all the goods called for in the Schedules.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque of a Canadian Bank, for at least five per cent. of the amount of the tenders for Manitoba, and ten per cent. of the amount of the tenders for the North-West Territories, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

Tenderers are required to make up and attach to their tender the total money value of the goods they offer to supply, or their tender will not be entertained.

The Tender for Beef must be a separate tender; if it includes any other article it will not be considered.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

NORWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ROADS, ETC.—The snow has about disappeared in the vicinity of the village, and the roads are becoming dried up. The merchants are now looking forward to the improvement of spring trade.

REWARD OFFERED.—A reward of $100 has been offered to anyone who will furnish information that will lead to the conviction of the person or persons who fired Mr. Cuthbertson's buildings, which were burned on the 9th of April. Mr. Cuthbertson has the sympathy of the people here, and it is hoped the culprit will be brought to justice.

LEAP YEAR SOCIAL.—On Good Friday evening the young ladies of the village held their "Leap Year Mum Social" in the lecture room of the Methodist Church. The entertainment, which consisted of singing, readings, &c., was was "The one" of the season, as was anticipated, and the ladies were amply rewarded for their labors by having a full house. The singing which made up the principal part of the programme, was excellent, and drew forth rounds of applause, especially a song entitled "A Little Farm Well Tilled," by Messrs. Duffield, Jackman and Birt. During the entertainment an intermission of fifteen minutes was given, during which time all gentlemen found talking were liable to a fine of five cents, while the ladies used all their persuasive powers to induce them to talk. Several unlucky, and amorous bachelors were fined heavily. The proceeds, amounting in all to about $30, went to help the Ladies' Aid Society.

CELEBRATION.—The Queen's Birthday will be celebrated in grand style in Norwood. Caledonian games, calithumpian procession, lacrosse match and fire works will be the chief features.

BREAD.—A storm of opposition prevails among the bakers here, bread being only eight cents a loaf.

BUTCHERS.—Two more butchers have lately opened out shops here, yet beefsteak, to the unlooked for disappointment of the public, has risen to 13c. per lb. The butchers apparently do not act on the same principle as the bakers.

ONTARIO AND QUEBEC RAILWAY.—Work is being rapidly pushed on the road near here, and two ballast trains are passing through the village daily.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Fred Brennan has returned home from Trinity College, Toronto, where he passed very creditably, his second year's examination in medicine, having taken honors in all his subjects.

Mr. Richard Lees, teacher in the Lindsay Model School, is visiting friends here.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.—On Monday April 14th, Mr. Geo. Taylor, of Roseneath, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Miss Eliza Higgins, of this place, in the Church of England, by its pastor, the Rev. Mr. Gibson.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From our own Correspondent.

THE DRIVES.—A large gang of men passed through here last Monday en route to the back townships for Messrs. Ullyott & Sadler's sawlog drives. They looked a respectable lot of men.

THE ROADS.—It is really wonderful to see the roads—in all sections so nicely dried up so soon after the deep snow and snow drifts. Wheeling from here to Lakefield and Peterborough is really good.

AUCTION SALE.—Do not forget Stewart's auction sale of all his household effects, &c., on Thursday, April 24th. Mr. Chalmers will also sell on that day a lot of lumber and shingles. C. Stapleton, auctioneer.

NEW STORE.—Mr. P. Phelan, Jr., has now opened out in his new store a first-class assortment of groceries, dry goods, &c. His motto will be to sell cheap. Look out for his posters in a few days.

ADIEU.—Your correspondent at this place very respectfully says good-bye to the proprietors of the REVIEW for their kindness in inserting nearly all his correspondence to that paper in its entire form as sent weekly. I have always tried to the best of my ability not to be personal, always endeavoring to satisfy the public in giving the local news. Desirous of a change and pastures new, I wish all my Young's Point readers of the REVIEW and elsewhere in the adjoining townships my hearty greetings for their present and future welfare.

[We heartily reciprocate for our part the good wishes of our Young's Point correspondent, and regret that our pleasant relations should be terminated by his departure.—ED. REVIEW.]

HALIBURTON.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HIGH GRADE SHEEP.—The commissioners of the Canadian Land and Emigration company puplish a liberal offer to the settlers in their territory: A loan of high grade sheep for three years at the end of which time the original number of sheep (from 5 to 10) to be returned to the company together with one half the increase. The fleece to go to the settler less sufficient only to pay interest to the company on cost of sheep. This will be a great boon to the poor settlers, as they will get a flock of sheep without paying for it—the only cost will be wintering and this should be covered by sale of wool.

SICKNESS.—Mr. Young lost his baby the other day very suddenly, it is supposed from some infectious disease caught in a car. He telegraphed for Dr. Lowe, who, however, could not arrive in time to see it alive. Several children are ill, two of Mr. Blomfield's seriously. Mr. Bloomfield himself has hardly recovered from rather a bad attack of bronchitis.

VESTRY MEETING.—At the annual vestry meeting on Easter Monday at St. George's Church, the Rev. Geo. Ledingham notified the meeting of his resignation, which he has contemplated for some time. Messrs. Blomfield, Jas. Dover, and J. F. Young were elected delegates to the Provincial Synod. Mr. Blomfield was re-elected churchwarden, and Mr. Young treasurer. Ten dollars was voted to the Lee House Fund, in response to a letter from the Committee to the Churchwarden.

BREAKING UP.—The lake show signs of a break up.

Roasted to Death.

BRENHAM, Tex., April 15.—A negro named Gibbs murdered the wife of L. P. Moore, a prominent farmer of Burelion county, on Saturday evening, because she would not allow him to sit at the supper table with the family. Moore was not at home, but returned shortly after. The community in the neighborhood turned out Sunday afternoon and overtook Gibbs and captured him after a fight, in which the negro was wounded. He was taken back to Moore's place, where the citizens chained him to a post and burned him to death. Gibbs was an escaped convict.

Dr. Jos. Holt, New Orleans, La., says: "I have frequently found it of excellent service in cases of debility, loss of appetite, and in convalescence from exhaustive illness, and particularly of service in treatment of women and children."

KEEPING IN.

"Pupils are kept in at recess and after school to study." This is literally a crying evil. It is a custom handed down to us from the past, and sanctioned by age; but teachers are perceiving its enormity, and are fast discarding the practice. It is both unnecessary and injurious. Scholars may be profitably directed to remain after school for the purpose of receiving suggestions, counsel, etc,, from the teacher, but not to study, and at recess never! The object of an intermission is to preserve the health of the pupil. Nature demands this, and it is her right. No teacher should rob a child of legitimate exercise. It is a physical wrong. Moreover, in play the superabundant flow of the animal spirits is worked off, and that force is employed in throwing a ball, or running a race, which would otherwise find vent in mischief or restlessness. The whole fifteen minutes usually given is demanded, and the thoughtful teacher, instead of depriving a pupil of any of those precious moments, should urge every one to use them in the best manner possible. It is well to explain this subject, especially to the few studious girls who are inclined to keep their desks at that time, and to convince them of their duty to preserve their health, and that play-hours should be as sacredly devoted to recuperation as study hours to work. Even when the weather is unfavorable for out-door sports, the necessary relaxation can be secured by throwing open the windows far enough to obtain fresh air (taking pains that no one shall receive the direct draught) and then putting the school through the light gymnastics.

Keeping a pupil after school to learn a lesson is wrong in principle. It begets a dislike for the teacher, the school-room, the study and all connected with it. What should be a delight is made a punishment. Moreover, it punishes the teacher as much as it does the pupil. It wearies him unnecessarily, and depriving him of time for rest and study, unfits him for work, and so robs the school of its right—his best services. The difficulty with the pupil is generally an inability to concentrate the mind upon the lesson. If that cannot be secured during the fresh, vigorous hours of the day, under the inspiration of the class, and example of companions, the teacher may well despair of success under less favorable condition.—J. Dorman Stelle.

The Luna Island Tragedy.

The reward for the recovery of Vedder's body though small, has inspired a thorough search and the river and whirlpool are being watched carefully. A body generally comes to the surface in the whirlpool in about five days in summer and seven in winter.

How and by whom the revolver which did the shooting was obtained is not known. Vedder's revolver has been looked up at home, and Pearson's revolver was taken away from him several days before by the family, so a weapon must have been procured by one or the other of the dead men before they went to the fatal spot, and was undoubtedly obtained for the purpose of doing harm. The idea that other parties were at the bottom of the affair has many adherents. That both men may have been murdered by tramps or professionals might be true, but that argument is met by the fact that it would have been impossible for any stranger to enter the island at that time of the evening without being seen. Had strangers been lingering on the island they would have been looked after. The most conclusive proof, however, that no outsider interfered is that nothing was taken from Pearson's body, and that neither of the men were known to have dangerous enemies.

About three months ago Vedder made a new will, which is in the hands of Lawyer Tucker, and it is understood that it contains many charitable bequests, besides liberal provisions for relatives. The amount of property he owned, when actually brought to an accounting, will probably be something over $100,000.

BENEFIT MY SUFFERING SISTERS!

Mrs. Geo. M. Franklin, 65 Hunter street, Hamilton, Ont., suffered from torpid liver, congested kidneys, ulceration and falling of the womb, weakness and palpitation of the heart, dyspepsia and catarrh. She complained of pains in the left side, small of back and between shoulders; nervousness and biliousness; pain over kidneys, headache and cold feet; inability to sleep on the left side; back very weak, feeling "as if there was a load against it" in the morning; ached from small of back to knees; often felt as if her heart would stop and as if she would smother. Had also every symptom of female weakness. After her case had been abandoned as hopeless by several physicians she took treatment of the Drs. K. & K., who speedily CURED her. She says: "Benefit my suffering sisters by publishing the facts of my case."

LIFE LOOKS BRIGHT TO ME.

"Mr. I. D. Boardman, editor of the Petersburgh (Mich.) Bulletin, says: "My health having become undermined when fighting for the Union, I was attacked in '79 by consumption in its worst form. I had severe pains in the left breast, a dry hacking cough, night sweats, daily fevers and frequent violent bleeding from the lungs. I also suffered from indigestion, heart disease and general debility and was greatly emaciated. In '81 I was told that I must soon die by all the local physicians and in despair applied to Drs. K. & K. I was then a complete wreck. Their first month's treatment set me on my feet; in four months I was Cured. I am now in good health, life looks bright to me, I bid fair to live and work for years, and I owe all this to Drs. K. & K."

AT HARD, SOLID WORK.

Garrison Shadd, of North Buxton, Ont., was operated on for fistula in December, 1882, by the Drs. K. & K. His recovery was complete, and rapid. In November, 1883, he wrote: "I am permanently cured of the fistula for which you treated me, and have been at hard, solid work most of the season."

AS BRISK AS A BEE.

Mrs. S. J. Finnie, Oshawa, Ontario Co. Ont., 66 years old, previous to Sept. last had considered her diseases—Rheumatism and Prurigo—incurable. After one month's treatment by the Drs. K. & K. she writes: "My disease is quite gone and so are the wandering pains in my limbs. I am as brisk as a bee and feel better than I have in ten years."

CHRONIC DISEASES EXPERIENCED BY 18

A WALKING ADVERTISEMENT.

Miss Hattie Cameron, a school teacher of Kemptville, Ont., had suffered for three years from a most annoying and painful eruption on her face and nose. Unable to obtain relief at home she took treatment of the Drs. K. & K. She now says: "In April, 1883, I commenced treatment and was soon entirely cured. I have been a walking advertisement for Drs. K. & K. since I commenced to improve for everyone thought my face was spoilt for life."

EQUALLED MY MOST SANGUINE EXPECTATIONS.

Mrs. A. H. Skillin, Ames, Ouray Co., Colorado, had been terribly afflicted with scrofula, indigestion, catarrh, liver complaint and female weakness. Since her 10th year she had large bunches on her neck, blotches and pimples on her face, and swollen glands. She suffered constantly from chills and fever, heartburn, weak back, sleeplessness, costiveness, catarrhal discharge from the nose and throat, headache and other very distressing symptoms. Weary and hopeless she regarded herself as incurable, but was persuaded by friends to try the Drs. K. & K. She wrote in October last: "I am at last well and strong, and thank Drs. K. & K. The remedies have equalled my most sanguine expectations and I feel most grateful for the wonderful benefit I have received."

MAY YOU LIVE LONG ON THE EARTH TO DO GOOD.

Mrs. Eliza Clutz, Novi, Oakland Co., Mich., had been troubled many years by an erysipeletous condition of the blood, complicated with indigestion and slight female weakness. She had dull, heavy pains after eating, belched wind constantly, felt weak, was very restless at night, had frequent headache, aching pain in small of back and the eruption of the skin known as hives. After one month's treatment with the Drs. K. & K. she wrote them: "I am quite cured, no doctor round here could help me but your medicine is so good and I know it; I feel its good effects in good health. I thank the good Lord for sending us such good doctors and may you live long on the earth to do good."

How Would it do?

This bad weather requires a remedy. It seems as if the whole responsibility should rest on Vennor and Wiggins, for we had some kind of weather before they appeared upon the scene. How would it do to string them up? Would it make things better? Another hint of importance—don't hang on to your corns as weather indicators. Better string them out root and branch. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor will do it quickly, painlessly and with certainty. Don't buy dangerous flesh-eating substitutes. Get Putnam's, and no other.

Gives causes and symptoms of all diseases of the sex, with positive cure for each in plain language, written by ladies who have made these diseases a life study. A plain talk in delicate language which every woman, young and old, should read. It is recommended by many eminent lady physicians as a safe guide for the sex. Handsomely bound and illustrated. Sent postpaid for $1.00. Address the ROCHESTER PUBLISHING CO., 32, 33 & 35½ Osburn Block, Rochester, N.Y.

Our Canadian Industry

is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required in nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must nessarilly be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs. Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding, Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind, colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

LOCAL NEWS

The Price of Meat.

The butchers have decided on account of the high price which they have to pay for cattle, that the price of meat would have to be raised. They have accordingly adopted a uniform scale of prices, which will be posted up in each of their shops.

Real Estate Sale.

At a public sale on Wednesday, conducted by Charles Stapleton, auctioneer, the property of the late Andrew Jackson, on the corner of Stewart and Sherbrooke streets, was purchased by Mr. W. G. Ferguson, the price paid being $2,275.

Shipping Horses.

Mr. Zimmer, of Rochester, N.Y., has a fine lot of horses stabled at the Stewart House, which he has purchased for the American market. They include two fine teams purchased from Mr. Cavanagh at a high figure. The average price paid for the carload was over $200.

Sunday School Anniversary.

Special sermons in connection with the anniversary of the Charlotte Street Methodist Sunday School, will be preached on Sunday next, by the Rev. J. E. Starr, formerly of Peterborough. A public meeting will be held on Monday evening, at which addresses will be delivered by Mr. Starr and others.

Remember the Concert To-Night.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh north to west winds, clearing weather, not much change in temperature today, higher temperature to-morrow.

A Serious Accident.

A lad named George Flake, aged about ten years, whose parents reside on Driscoll street, Ashburnham, met with a serious accident at about half-past two o'clock this afternoon. He was gathering edgings for wood outside of the mill, when his leg got caught in the carriers and was drawn against the building, breaking the bone and brusing and cutting the leg. The boy was taken home and a surgeon was sent for.

A Driving Park.

Tenders have been asked for the building of a race track and a fence around the same. This project is an extensive one, as the gentlemen who are in it propose not only to have a track for racing purposes, but also a driving park and grounds on which exhibitions and sporting events may be held. The grounds they have in view for this purpose are in the south part of the town, and are well adapted for these purposes. They propose to spend a considerable amount of money upon them, and it is to be hoped that the project will be a success.

Going to the North.

Eighteen men were hired last week by Mr. T. Cavanagh for Messrs. Buck & Stewart's drives, and went north to Muskoka, and also twenty-five to thirty men for Messrs. Dellar & Cook, who proceeded to the same district. On Monday of this week thirty or thirty-five men went to Eel's creek, Chandos, to attend to Messrs. Ullyott & Saddles's logs, and on Wednesday another gang of men started for Hilliard's limits at Digby. Messrs. Strickland & Co's. foremen have also been in town engaging men for their drives.

Injured by a Cow.

At about eleven o'clock this morning Harry, the youngest son of R. King, M. D., aged about four years, was severely injured by a cow. He was amusing himself near the gate of his father's residence, when the animal, which was on the street, suddenly rushed towards him, and, catching him by the head with her horns, hurled him into a wheelbarrow that was standing near by. The little fellow received two severe cuts on the forehead, either by the horns of the animal or by the fall, and was also injured about the mouth. Dr. King was close at hand, and attended to the child's injuries.

THE "GOLDEN LION."

A Magnificent Display—Dazzling Collection of Millinery and Dry Goods Materials.

According to our promise we to-day attempt to give, according to custom, some account of the millinery opening of Messrs. Fair, Van-Every & Co. To the masculine visitor to the showrooms of this firm, however, the myriad articles exhibited to view present difficulties which well nigh baffle description. Millinery is an art in itself, and a very voluminous one at that, a fact which the well-filled apartments of the "Golden Lion" strongly impressed upon us. If, therefore, the pen of the reporter fails to describe adequately the brilliant contents inspected, our readers, must, by personal examination, gratify the curiosity which we doubt not we shall evoke.

At the rear of the shop proper is a flight of stairs, gracefully ornamented, leading to the "Reception Room." Here are placed a variety of mantles, dolmans, jackets, brocades, etc., of the best quality, and of English, French, German and American patterns. A mirror against the wall makes the apartment complete as a fitting room.

The chief beauty of Messrs. Fair, VanEvery & Co's. establishment, however, is only discovered by ascending to the show-room above—a large roomy space lighted by a skylight. We venture to say that the display here exhibited was a charming surprise to all visitors to the "Golden Lion." Under the supervision of Mlle. Choquette, the immense variety of goods is here displayed to the best possible advantage. These numerous articles we find it impossible to enumerate, much less to adequately describe. We may just mention en passant, however, that some handsome lace curtains caught our eye; some Zulu cloths, table cloths, artificial flowers of every hue, parasols, and, of course, hats, bonnets, shapes, etc., etc. What we particularly noticed was the excellence of the stock, and on imparting to our guide our fears that it was beyond our town, we were strongly assured to the contrary, thus proving our former assertion that Peterborough is visibly advancing in taste and opulence.

The ceiling of this room is tastily festooned with ribbons. On the right, shown off well by a dark background, are displayed many beautiful satins and real lace goods, interspersed here and there with brilliant colored fans, parasols, etc. The west side of the room is decorated with chenille fichus and analagous articles, the whole presenting a remarkably pleasing picture. At the further end of the room is placed a mirror which has been ornamented in a way to please the most fastidious. On either side are show cases containing, the one, plumes, aigrettes, birds, feathers, etc., the other delicate coloured ribbons.

To single out from this blaze of beauty a few examples on which to dilate, is a difficult task, but we cannot resist the temptation of calling attention to one or two of the fascinating hats and bonnets. Their name is legion but one—a small, tightly fitting capote caught our eye. Briefly it was of Neapolitan crossed with gold cord, faced with the most delicate edelweiss lace, a bold japonica wreath harmonizing with the brilliant geranium ribbons. Another was of Leghorn shirring, surmounted with a very beautiful pompon interspersed with aigrettes; in the front a rich velvet trimming caught with octagonal pendants, the ribbons being a sort of ophelia plaid. A Henri Quatre hat too we noticed as well worth mentioning. The marabout feathers in which were placed a couple of humming birds, suited excellently with the soft, beige coloured, shot and embossed ribbons. This we are aware gives but a faint idea of their beauties, but indeed it is necessary to see them really to admire them, and we do not by any means intend to rob our readers of any part of a prospective pleasure.

In conclusion we can only say that the streets of our town ought this season to be gayer than ever, to judge from the style of apparel offered to its fair denizens by our various clothing establishments, amongst which the "Golden Lion" has, by its opening to-day, shown that it takes very high rank.

The wonderful perfection to which the printer's art has been carried may be judged from our advertisement of the Drs. K. & K. U. S. Medical and Surgical Association in another column of this issue. Come to us for your printing.

Wild Geese.

A flock of eight wild geese were seen flying southward on Weston [illegible] morning. They were only about 100 feet above the ground, and our informant states that he would have shot them all, only that his weapon wouldn't go off. He is a great sportsman, and became so excited with the tempting sight that he tried to shoot them with a broomstick.

We do Not Claim

that Shaker Blood Syrup will cure everything but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depends the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as Shaker Blood Syrup undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

GENTLEMEN.—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Shaker Blood Syrup. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Shaker Blood syrup (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears to my eyes. The first bottle benefitted me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. Hoping many others may learn the value of Shaker Blood Syrup, and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
C. A. HOWARD, West 11th St., New York.

FRIDAY, APRIL 18, 1884.

A SERIOUS CHARGE

WE learn from the Globe that Mr. J. A. Macdonell has made application at Osgoode Hall to have Mr. Samuel H. Blake struck off the rolls. It will be remembered that Mr. Macdonell has publicly brought the serious charge against the Vice-Chancellor of dishonest and unprofessional conduct, amounting to an endeavour to obtain money under false pretences, at the Chancery Sittings in this town last autumn. The judge, chancellor Boyd thought that the application should stand, holding it to be premature until the charges had been investigated by the Benchers of the Ontario Law Soceity, as requested by Mr. Macdonell. The case naturally excites much local as well as general interest.

THE RIFLE.

Annual Meeting of the County of Peterborough Association.

The annual meeting of the County of Peterborough Rifle Association was held on Wednesday evening. The Treasurer's report, which was quite satisfactory, was referred to the auditors, and, being reported correct, was adopted. An idea of the importance of this Association may be obtained from the fact that $650 passed through the Treasurer's hands during the year. The following officers were elected:—

PRESIDENT—Col. H. C. Rogers, re-elected.

1ST VICE-PRESIDENT.—Rev. V. Clementi, B A., re-elected.

2ND VICE-PRESIDENT.—Col, J. Z. Rogers, re-elected.

SECRETARY-TREASURER.—Major R. W. Bell, re-elected.

COUNCIL.—W. H. Hill, F. Hall and James Stothart.

It was decided to affiliate with the Ontario Association this year, as usual, and the question of affiliating with the Dominion Association was left over. It was also decided to hold monthly matches, on the last Thursday in the months of May, June, July and Agust, at which ammunition will be given as prizes, and at which also the Ontario Association medal will be competed for. An effort will be made to secure support for the Association by increasing the number of members, instead of canvassing for prizes for the annual matches, as was done heretofore. The season will commence on the first Thursday in May, as the committee hope to have the range in order by that time, and a marker will be found on the range on every Thursday afternoon during the season.

Matrimonial.

On Wednesday afternoon Mr. Alex. Thompson, grain dealer, of Montreal, and Miss Helen Ostrom, daughter of E. K. Ostrom, Peterborough, were united in matrimony. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's father by the Rev. John Shaw, and was attended by friends of the parties. The bride received a number of very handsome presents. The happy couple departed on the afternoon train, going to New York on their wedding tour, followed by the best wishes of many friends.

To a Correspondent.

We have received an anonymous letter in regard to an alleged dog fight in English-town, but, in accordance with our well-known rule requiring the name of the writer to accompany a communication, we withhold it from publication. We may also say that the letter is too personal in its tone for our columns.

We pride Ourselves in keeping the Cheapest and Best Range of Rubber Coats and Umbrellas in Town. It does not cost anything to Inspect them at Andrew McNeil's.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Scott Act—Family Homesteading—The C. P. R., North Shore and Hudson Bay Railways—Section B. Contract—The Ontario Boundary and the Privy Council.

MARINE AND FISHERIES.

Mr. MCLELAN on Wednesday moved the third reading of the Bill to subdivide the Department of Marine and Fisheries having two deputy heads under one Minister.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT moved that the Bill be read that day six months.

The amendment was negatived by 100 to 54, and the third reading was carried.

CONCURRENCE.

The House voted concurrence in several items passed by the Committee of supply, there being considerable discussion upon some details.

THE SCOTT ACT.

Sir J. MACDONALD moved the second reading of the bill from the Senate to amend the Scott Act, explaining that it was to remove a doubt that had arisen as to the Act coming in force where there were no licenses. The amendment was proposed at the instance of the temperance people.

Some additional amendments were proposed, but they were negatived, and the third reading was carried.

FAMILY HOMESTEADING.

Sir J. MACDONALD moved the second reading of the Bill to amend the Dominion Land Act. One clause was to allow homesteaders, instead of building each a separate house on their farms, to live together in a house within two miles; another clause reserved forests at the foot of the Rocky Mountains to protect the river sources; and a third would continue for two years the right to pre-empt.

Mr. WATSON moved an amendment to allow homesteaders to be non-resident if they cultivated and built a $400 house.

Sir J. MACDONALD declined to give such an opening to speculators to exclude actual settlers.

M. SUTHERLAND (Selkirk) said the settlers were opposed to non-resident homesteading. He greatly approved, however, of the proposal of the Government as allowing farmers' son to homestead and yet to reside with their parents.

The amendment and others proposed were rejected, and the bill was reported, after a clause had been added at the instance of Sir J. Macdonald to carry out the land grant to the Hudson Bay Railway.

RAILWAY SUBSIDIES.

Sir C. TUPPER proposed an additional clause to the railway subsidies bill providing that the C.P.R. might within six months purchase the North Shore Railway to Quebec.

The motion was carried, and the bill was reported.

SECTION B. CONTRACT.

Sir C. TUPPER in Committee of Supply said that the arbitrators had awarded $395,000 to the contractors for Section B. of the C.P.R. for extra work. Even if this amount was paid the section would have cost nearly half a million less than the original contract. However, the Department of justice was considering the matter to determine whether they should appeal from the award, which they thought excessive. Judge Clarke the arbitrator for the Dominion had dismissed from the award.

The item passed after some discussion.

THE ONTARIO BOUNDARY.

Sir J. MACDONALD moved the second reading of the bill from the Senate to enable the Dominion to join in the reference of the Ontario Boundary question to the Privy Council.

The second reading was carried.

SWINDLING EXPOSED.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—While travelling in the insurance business in the counties of Northumberland, Durham, Peterborough and Hastings, I often hear of farmers and others being swindled by Patent Right men, but the most successful swindle is the Lightning Rod and Hay Fork deal. Having got possession of one of the bogus orders, I deem it justice to expose the mode commonly used by the swindlers. We will suppose in this case it is sewing machines the agent is selling. He is usually a nice dressed, oily tongued fellow. He calls upon his victim and says he has been directed to him by a neighbor as a good man to take an agency for his locality. He also tells him he can have one free of charge for himself, and has not got to pay for any until sold. He also gets an order signed the same as below:—

☞ This order is negotiable. Agents are not allowed to vary from it.

ONTARIO SEWING MACHINE WORKS,
Toronto, Ont.

Deliver at Warkworth, Ont. Ten Sewing Machines, for which I agree to charge Twenty-Five Dollars each, when a sale is made by me. I also agree to pay you Twenty Dollars for each machine on Demand. Payment to be made to the collector, if not to him, at Toronto, Ont. I am to have for my use one machine without charge, which is to be my property.

Dated .....1884.

(sig.) JOHN BLYE.

P. O. Warkworth. Con. 1. Lot 40.

In reading the order as the agent reads it, stopping at "each," as if the sentence ended there, the victim is led to believe he is to charge $25 each, and when a sale is made he pays $26 each, but the correct way of reading binds him to pay $20 each on demand. Now, I trust all parties who read this will expose it to the public, and if they hear of any one signing the orders, advise them not to accept delivery of goods from agent No. 2, and not to settle with him in any way, as they never sue on the original order, but scare the man into giving his note, which they can sell. The way would be when No. 2 agent comes round, to horsewhip him, or laugh at him, and tell him to sue the order. I trust the above exposure will save many innocent, honest farmers in the above counties.

Yours truly,
H. S. CASEY,
Insurance Agent, Colborne, Ont.

April 8, 1884.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH.

AMERICAN POLITICAL AFFAIRS.

LONDON, April 17.—The Times, speaking editorially of the political outlook in America, says at no time since before the civil war in America has so little attention been paid in England to affairs in the States as during the past four months.

THE VICEROY OF INDIA ILL.

LONDON, April 16.—The Marquis of Ripon, Governor-General of India, is reported to be dying. He has been ailing for three years, and for a long time has been unable to take exercises A day or two ago he was seized with an epileptic fit, which left him so much shattered that his life is despaired of.

GORDON'S POSITION HOPELESS.

LONDON, April 17.—Gordon has telegraphed to Sir Evelyn Baring that his position is hopeless unless Zebehr Pasha is sent to Khartoum immediately. An English lady at Cario has offered £20,000 for the rescue of General Gordon.

THE NEW CABLE.

LONDON, April 16. The Steamship Faraday cleared for Nova Scotia to-day. She carries the first instalment of the Mackey-Bennett cable.

THE CINCINNATI RIOTS.

CINCINNATI, April 16.—Coroner Muscroft has begun an inquest on the victims of the late riot, and has selected thirteen of the dead, intending to let the examination of these cases cover the entire number. So far nothing has been elicited beyond the identification of the dead bodies. It is said the coroner will not make a searching investigation, leaving that to be done by the special grand jury which began its duties this morning. The testimony before the grand jury was given privately and all were sworn to secrecy.

Judge Avery's charge to the jury was fearless and vigorous. He instructed them to thoroughly investigate the Berner trial, including the attorney officers, and jurymen connected with it; also the riot in all its details, and to indict those who killed the militiamen and policemen. The jury was also charged to indict for arson those who fired the court-house and gaol, and directed to issue processes in all counties of the State, if necessary, to secure witnesses.

How They Fought in Egypt.

A Correspondent sent to the London (Eng.) Morning Post the following from a seaman with Graham's force:—"Dear Aunt,—I take the opportunity of sending these few lines, and from the look of things I should fancy that they will be the last you will have, for our fellows are getting cut up every day. It is a confounded shame to send such a handful of men to fight so many thousand. Northcote in Parliament says, 'One Englishman is a match for nearly 20.' If he was here he would find his mistake out, for these are a brave lot of men, and neither ask nor give quarter. Just before 11 a.m. we were formed in square, with our fellows at each corner with a Gatling gun. There was no wind, and after firing for half an hour the smoke hung like a fog. We could hardly see the next man to us, and to see the enemy was out of the question. They crept up under our rifles through the wheels of our machine guns, and almost routed us. Our fellows stood their ground like men, and I saw many a brave fellows lose the number of his mess fighting for a country who holds his life as nothing at all, or they would send us reinforcements. We cannot advance much further for want of water, and Admiral Hewett, I am sure, will not retreat, neither do we want him too. We have got the Black Watch watch with us, and they fight like demons. My chum, poor fellow, was one of the first to get ripped up with a lance, but the fellow who did it will never handle his lance again, for I brained him with the but of my rifle before my poor messmate had touched the ground. It is 6 p.m. now and we are afraid of a night attack. Give my best love to all my cousins and uncle and aunt, and accept the same from your affectionate nephew. Do not think that this is bad writing, that my hand is shaky; but I am writing on the sand by the watch fire, and there are about 200 poor fellows wounded round it and no more ambulance waggons to put them it."

A Miraculous Escape.

MONTREAL, April 16.—From a leading lawyer who arrived here last evening from New York, via the Delaware and Hudson railway, your correspondent learned that the train he was on, filled with passengers, had a marvellously narrow escape from being derailed and upset during its passage. As the train was approaching Whitehall at a rapid rate an immense boulder came toppling down on the line from the rocky cliffs above. It dropped so close to the rails in front of the train that all the iron steps on the cars were taken off as clean as if they had been cut with a saw. An inch or two further over would have sent the train and its human freight flying over into the lake. Everyone felt nervous on contemplating the terrible peril they fortunately escaped.—Mail Correspondence.

MR. BLAKE'S FIASCO.

THE crushing defeat of Mr. Blake in his attack upon the general railway policy of the Dominion Government was so complete and even startling that for a time the details of the disaster to the Reform leader escaped attention. They are, however, well worthy of consideration.

It cannot be said that it was a division of little importance, or that the point in debate might be considered as an open question, upon upon which the votes of members would have no party significance. The policy of the Macdonald Administration on a most important subject, that of the development of the Dominion by aid to railway enterprises, was upon trial. It was not upon mere details of the ministerial proposition that Mr. Blake called upon his followers to support him in his opposition to the railway aid resolutions. Some of the details were indeed considered in the amendments that were offered by himself and others, only to be rejected. But the attack of Mr. Blake was upon the whole policy as demoralizing and corrupt, and this view he endeavored to enforce both by his own oratory and by the votes of his followers. It was a grand assault, deliberately planned and obstinately maintained, by the leader of the Reform party upon the Government at a vital point, and we all know the result; he made no impression upon the opposite ranks, while a large proportion of his own following deserted him, declining to back him in such a quarrel.

An analysis of the division affords interesting subjects for contemplation. In the first place the majority of 93 was the largest that has been obtained by the Government on an important question of policy. Some Reform journals have ventured to assert that the catastrophe was simply the result of the Quebec members voting in a body, regardless of party, for a measure which they considered to be in the interest of their Province. This is by no means true. Among the seventeen supporters of Mr. Blake who declined to follow him in his unpatriotic attempt to obstruct the development of the country, and who supported the statesmanlike policy of the Government, were members from Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Manitoba. No member from British Columbia could change, because Mr. Blake had no supporters there to change. Thus it was only Prince Edward Island that did not fail the Reform leader in his disastrous attempt. Nor was this defection confined to the rank and file alone, but some of the officers also refused to follow such a lead. Three ex-Cabinet ministers and colleagues of Mr. Blake, Messrs. Vail, Laurier and Geoffrion, were among those who preferred country to party, and to them may be added Mr. Casgrain, who might fairly aspire to Cabinet rank as a prominent leader. The case of Mr. Mills is even more note-worthy. Though his name appears in the immediately preceding divisions on the amendments it is not to be found in the decisive list. He dared not follow his leader and he could not bring himself to side with his political opponents even when forced to admit them to be in the right, so he prudently ran away.

The division list shows that New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and British Columbia were unanimous against Mr. Blake on this important question; that Quebec and Manitoba were all but unanimous against; that Ontario gave a considerable majority against him; and that Prince Edward Island alone supported him.

The result shows that Mr. Blake could boast of 34 supporters through thick and thin, and a large portion of his scanty following differs from him as to the policy of developing our country by means of railways, one of the most important questions of the day as affecting the future of Canada.

It appears then that a leader who had a small majority in our smallest Province, and who is in a minority in all the other Provinces of our wide Dominion, aspired, though vainly to rule the destinies of Canada.

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Birdie Harrison, aged 11 years and six months, died on Friday evening last after 24 hours illness. She was Dr. Harrison's oldest daughter, a bright, of kind disposition and full of life. She will be sadly missed by her friends, and especially by her parents, who have the sincere sympathy of all in this their sad and sudden bereavement. She was laid at rest in the Pine Grove cemetery on Saturday last.

"Requiescat in Pace."

SPECIAL SERVICES.—The revival services have been given up in Keene, after three weeks of hard work on the part of Rev. Mr. Tozeland.

HITTING HARD.—The Hastings Star of last week was rather rough on the reporter for one of your local papers.

CORNER STONE.—The corner stone of the new Presbyterian Church will be laid on May 24th, under the supervision of Keene lodge No. 374 G. R. C., assisted by the M.W.G.M., D. Spry, and R.W.D.D.G.M.H.B., F O'Dell. Teams are drawing stone for the foundation, and work has started in earnest.

EASTER SUNDAY.—Services were held in all the churches on Sunday last. At the service in the C. M. Church Rev. J. Tozeland preached on "The Resurrection of Christ," and at the close alluded very touchingly to Birdie Harison's death.

OF COURSE.—The courting season has broken out real bad, as even the young children are affected, and report says that even some engaged in journalistic labors (once a week) have had a severe attack.

AUCTION SALE.—Last week an auction sale was held every evening in the store next to the Victoria House.

CAMPBELLFORD.

A CURIOSITY.—Mr. Hawley showed us a peeled potato a few days ago, on which beneath one of the eyes were the figures "18" very distinctly shown in delicate lines of a dark colour.

ANOTHER DEATH.—We regret to record the death of Mr. Wm. Kerr, which occurred at his brother's residence, the St. Lawrence hotel, on Tuesday, at about 11 o'clock. For some time past Mr. Kerr has suffered at intervals from internal injuries caused by a fall, the nature of which is not known. This did not prevent him from walking about, however, and he appeared strong and in good health. One day last week he became suddenly ill while sitting at the table, and on Tuesday this illness terminated in his death. The deceased was unmarried and was 32 years of age.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES.—Two armies in battle array for salvation are to make their advance upon Campbellford simultaneously. We believe the Saved Army officers have been communicated with, and they are willing to take up arms against the soldiers hiding behind the entrenchments of sin in Campbellford. The Salvation Army may use the skating rink for their garrison during the summer months, while the Saved Army may bring the captives into the Music Hall. The armies intend to commence operations this month, or early in May, and the battle is expected to continue for a long period. —Herald.

HASTINGS.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.—The sport's committee are quietly, but satisfactorily perfecting all their arrangements, and from the success which has attended previous celebrations will eclipse all former efforts. Negotiations are now pending with an aeronaut to give a baloon ascension, and we understand that the Campbellford band have been engaged for the occasion.—Star.

A Sensation in Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—During the progress of the Shanon divorce trial, Harry Wells testified that Sharon had, in his presence, introduced Miss Hill to H. M. True, of Santa Cruz, as Mrs. Sharon." The deposition of True, who is on his death bed, read to-day, says that Wells' story is a put-up job between Miss Hill, Wells, and himself. He thought he could make money out of the arrangement, but being on his death bed he now wanted to tell the whole truth before it is too late, saying: "I don't propose to go to my grave with a lie on my lips." The reading of this deposition caused a great sensation.

The National League.

At a meeting of the Irish National League in Dublin Parnell said the success of the League was evinced by the flow of funds into the treasury and by the large number of its branches, and that the National League would hand down to history as bright a record as the Land League.

Polson's Nerviline.

Polson's Nerviline, the great pain cure, never fails to give prompt relief in the following complaints:—Sprains, bruises, cuts, tic douloureux, rheumatism, spinal pains, neuralgia, toothache, lumbago, sciatica. It never fails, for Nerviline is composed of the most powerful pain subduing remedies in the world. Get a bottle at Ormond & Walsh's. You will be made happy. Ten and 25 cents a bottle.

The Woman's Physician.

A common sense medical work for ladies only. Fully answers all questions which modesty prevents asking a male physician. Gives causes and symptoms of all diseases of the sex, with positive cure for each in plain language, written by ladies who have made these diseases a life study. A plain talk in delicate language which every woman, young and old, should read. It is recommended by many eminent lady physicians as a safe guide for the sex. Handsomely bound and illustrated. Sent postpaid for $1.00. Address the ROCHESTER PUBLISHING Co., 32, 33 & 33½ Osburn Block, Rochester, N.Y.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, seems as if pin-worms were crawling above the parts affected. If allowed to continue very serious results may follow. "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT" is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for tetter, itch, salt rheum, scald head, erysipelas, barber's itch, blotches, all scaly, crusty skin diseases. Sent by mail for 50 cents; 3 boxes, $1.25 (in stamps) Adpress DR. SWAYNE & SON, Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Druggists.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold. A few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1 00. If your lungs are sore, chest or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster Sold by J. D. Tully.

H. LEBRUN.

THE BABY'S PRAYER.

She knelt with her sweet hands folded,
Her fair little head bent low,
While dead vines tapped at the window
And the air was thick with snow.
Without, earth dumb with winter;
Within, hearts dumb with care;
And up through the golden silence
Rose softly the baby's prayer.

"Bless all whom I love, dear Father,
And help me be good," she said;
Then stirred by a sudden fancy,
She lifted the shining head.
Did she catch on the frozen maple
Some hint of the maple green,
Or the breath of the woodland blossoms,
The drifts of the snow between?

"The beautiful trees," she whispered,
"Where the orioles used to sing,
They are tired of the cold, white winter,
Oh, help them to grow in spring;
And the flowers that I love to gather,
Lord, bring them again in May;
The dear little violets, sleeping
Down deep in the ground to-day."

Ah, earth may be chill with snowflakes
And hearts may be cold with care,
But wastes of a frozen silence
Are crossed by the baby's prayer;
And lips that were dumb with sorrow
In jubilant hope may sing,
For when earth is wrapped in winter
In the heart of the Lord 'tis spring.

INFELICE.

By AUGUSTA J. EVANS WILSON.

Author of "St. Elmo," "Beulah," "Micaria,"

CHAPTER IV.—Continued.

Indeed, Peyton, you distress me. What can be the matter? I heard you walking the floor of your room long after midnight, and feared you were ill."

"Not ill, Elise, but sorely perplexed. If I felt at liberty to communicate all the circumstances to you, doubtless you would readily comprehend and sympathize with the peculiar difficulties that surround me; but unfortunately I am bound by a promise which prevents me from placing all the facts in your possession. Occasionally ministers involuntarily become the custodians of family secrets that oppress their hearts and burden them with unwelcome responsibility, and just now I am suffering from the consequences of a rash promise which compassion extorted from me years ago. While I heartily regret it, my conscience will not permit me to fail in its fulfilment."

An expression of pain and wounded pride overshadowed Mrs. Lindsay's usually bright, happy face.

"Peyton, surely you do not share the unjust opinion so fashionable now-a-days that women are unworthy of being entrusted with a secret? What has so suddenly imbrued you with distrust of the sister who has always shared your cares and endeavoured to divide your sorrows? Do you believe me capable of betraying your confidence?"

"No, dear. In all that concerns myself, you must know I trust you implicitly—trust not only your affection, but your womanly discretion, your subtle critical judgment; but I have no right to commit even to your careful guardianship some facts which were expressly confided solely to my own."

He laid his hand on his sister's shoulder, and looked fondly, almost pleadingly, into her clouded countenance, but the flush deepened on her fair cheek.

"The conditions of secrecy, the envelope of mystery, strongly implies something socially disgraceful, or radically wicked, and ministers of the Gospel should not constitute themselves the locked reservoirs of such turbid streams."

"Granting that you actually believe in your own supposition, why are you so anxious to pollute your ears with the recital of circumstances that you assume to be degrading or sinful?"

"I only fear your misplaced sympathy may induce you to compromise your ministerial dignity and consistency, for it is quite evident to me, that your judgment does not now acquit you in this matter, whatever it may be."

"God forbid that, in obeying the dictates of my conscience, I should transgress even conventional propriety, or incur the charge of indiscretion. None can realize more keenly than I, that a minister's character is of the same delicate magnolia-leaf texture as a woman's name,—a thing so easily stained that it must be ever elevated beyond the cleaving dust of suspicion, and the scorching breath of gossiping conjecture. The time has passed (did it ever really exist?) when the prestige of the pastoral office hedged it around with impervious infallibility and to-day, instead of partial and extenuating leniency, pure and uncontaminated society justly denies all ministerial immunities as regards the rigid mandates of social decorum and propriety, and the world demands that instead of drawing heavily upon an indefinite fund of charitable confidence and trust in the clergy, pulpit-people should so live and move that the microscope of public scrutiny can reveal no flaws. Do you imagine I share the heresy that the sanctity of the office entitles the incumbent to make a football of the restrictions of prudence and discretion? Elise, I hold that pastors should be as circumspect, as guarded as Roman vestals; and untainted society, guided by even the average standard of propriety, tolerates no latitudinarians among its Levites. I grieve that it is necessary for me to add that I honour, and bow in obedience to its exactions."

The chilling severity of his tone smote like a [illegible] chord, which had rebelled only against the apparent lack of faith in its owner, and springing forward Mrs. Lindsay threw her arms around her brother's neck.

"Oh, Peyton! don't look at me so sternly, as if I were a sort of domestic Caiaphas set to catechise and condemn you; or as if I were unjustly impugning your motives. It is all your fault,—of course it is,—for you have spoiled me by unreserved confidence heretofore,—and you ought not to blame me in the least for feeling hurt when at this late day you indulge in mysteries. Now, kiss me, and forget my ugly temper, and set it all down to that Pandora legacy of sleepless curiosity which dear mother Eve received in her imprudent tete-a-tete with the serpent, and which she spitefully saw fit to bequeath to every daughter who has succeeded her. So—we are at peace once more! Now keep your horrid secrets to yourself, and welcome!"

"You persist in believing that they must inevitably be horrid?" said he, softly stroking her rosy cheek with his open palm.

"I persist in begging that you will not expect me to adopt the acrobatic style, or require me to instantly attain sanctification per saltum! You must be satisfied with the assurance that you are indeed my 'Royal Highness,' and that in my creed it is written the king can do no wrong. There, dear—I am not at all addicted to humble pie, and I have already disposed of a large and unpalatable slice."

She made a grimace, whereat he smiled, kissed her again, and answered very gently:

"Will you permit me to put an appendix to your creed? 'Charity suffereth long and is kind; is not easily provoked; thinketh no evil.' My sister, I want you to help me. In some things I find myself as powerless without your co-operation as a pair of scissors with the rivet lost; I cannot cut through obstacles unless you are in the proper place."

"For shame, you spiteful Sequod! to rivet your treacherous appeal with so sharply pointed an illustration! Scissors indeed! I will be revenged by cutting all your work after a biased fashion. How would it suit you, Reverend Sir, to take the rivet out of my tongue, and repair your clerical scissors?"

"How narrowly you escaped being a genius! That is precisely what I was about proposing to do; and now, dear, be sure you bid adieu to all bias. Elise, I received a letter two days since, which annoyed me beyond expression."

"I inferred as much, from the vindictive energy with which you thrust it into the fire, and bored it with the end of the poker. Was it infected with small-pox or leprosy?"

She opened he work basket, and began to crochet vigorously, keeping he eyes upon her needle.

"Neither. I destroyed it simply and solely because it was the earnest request of the writer that I should commit it to the flames.

"Par parenthese! from the beginning of time, have not discord, mischief, trouble, been personified by females? Has there been a serious embroglio since the days of Troy without vexatious Helen? Now don't scold me, if in this case I conjecture—He? She? It?"

"The letter was from a mother, pleading for her child, whom I several years ago promised to protect and befriend. Subsequent events induced me to hope that she would never exact a fulfilment of the pledge, and I was unpleasantly surprised when the appeal reached me."

"Let me understand fully the little you have to tell me. Do you mean that you were unprepared for the demand because the mother had forfeited the conditions under which you gave the promise?"

"You unduly intensify the interpretation. My promise was unconditional, but I certainly have never expected to be called upon to verify it."

"What does it involve?"

"The temporary guardianship of a child ten years old, whom I have never seen."

"A girl, who will in all probability arrive before noon to-day."

"Peyton!"

The rose-coloured crochet web fell into her lap, and deep dissatisfaction spread its sombre leaden banners over her tell tale face.

"I regret it more keenly than you possibly can, and Elise, if I could have seen her mother before it was too late, I should have declined this painful responsibility."

Dyspepsia and Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters can't live in the same Stomach, one of them has got to go and it is'nt the Stomach Bitters. The people's own favorite family medicine in large bottles at 50 cents.

IT SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED.—If any of our readers suffer from chronic diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys, or the blood, they should investigate the merits of Burdock Blood Bitters. It is making the most remarkable cures on record.

IN the Jeannette investigation, Seaman Nindermann testified that Melville had told him the officers of the expedition had poison to kill themselves with when all hope of being saved was abandoned.

Go to Church, but if you have a cold be sure and get a bottle of Hub Cough Cure first and settle your cough. Ask J. D. Tully.

THE appointment of Rev. Canon Carmichael to the deanery of Montreal, in the place of Bishop Baldwin, has been confirmed by the bishop.

NAMES, FACTS AND FIGURES—Will be cheerfully given by the proprietors of Burdock Blood Bitters, regarding the many certificates of wonderful cures made by that medicine in chronic diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, revealing proof that it is beyond the possibility of dispute by the most incredulous.

A QUESTION TO THE POINT.—Reader, have you a languid, weak and tired feeling, with nervous exhaustion, especially in the early spring? Then your liver is inactive and circulation poor. Arouse the torpid liver, cleanse the sluggish blood and regulate the secretions with that purifying tonic Burdock Blood Bitters.

Gannie Jeffers, queen of the gypsies in the United States, who died at Greenfield, Tenn., March 10th, was buried at Dayton, O., on Tuesday. Fifteen hundred gypsies from all parts of the country were present.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Foretelling the weather is uncertain at the best, but it is certain that if you catch cold in this changeable climate you can best break its ill effects by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, the most reliable and pleasant remedy for coughs, colds, bronchial, and lung complaints. It is so agreeable that even a child may take it.

Rev. Merritt N. Capron, of Leyden N.Y., formerly of Rome, has been deposed by the Northern New York Methodist Episcopal Conference on charges of imprudent and immoral conduct and fraud. Capron will appeal.

WHY go on day after day suffering with splitting headache when a bottle of Dr. Austin's Phosphatine will cure you? If you do not believe it ask your druggist for a circular, and read what those who have used it say about it. Price $1.00.

IT is said the widow of the millionaire Louis Hamersley, whose will is now being contested, has been received recently into the Roman Catholic Church. Her conversion is said to have been effected through the influence of Mgr. Capel.

THE most prolific source of disease of the kidneys is traced by scientists to the impurities of the water we drink. To guard against this evil, Sir Garnet Wolseley is said to have ordered 10,000 cases of Dr. Van. Buren's Kidney Cure for the use of the army. It is the only known remedy that will cure permanently all forms of kidney disease, and every family should keep it.

CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.—Sufferers from either acute or chronic rheumatism will find no more ready relief or better cure than Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the popular household remedy for external and internal use in all painful affections.

A VALUABLE HINT.—Artizans, actors, sports smen, mechanics and laboring men, in fact all who unduly exert muscular strength, are subject to painful contractions of the cords, stiff joints and lameness; to all such Hagyard's Yellow Oil is a prompt relief and perfect cure.

How Would it do?

This bad weather requires a remedy. It seems as if the whole responsibility should rest on Vennor and Wiggins, for we had some kind of weather before they appeared upon the scene. How would it do to string them up? Would it make things better? Another hint of importance don't hang on to your corns as weather indicators. Better string them out root and branch. Our Canadian Industry is prosperous. The great difficulty to be contended with is the low grade of goods required in nothing is this more apparent than in the comparatively small article of sewing silks. The great demand in Canada seems to be for a cheap quality, buyers forgetting that a cheap thread must nessarily be a fine and consequently a weak one. Messrs Belding, Paul & Co. make three grades of spool silk; of these different qualities the poorest one has by far the largest sale, at the same time they constantly hear of complaints of poor sewing silk. If ladies will take the trouble to ask for Belding, Paul & Co's own brand, and see that their name is on the end of each spool, they will be sure of getting the best made.

LOCAL NEWS

Telephonic.

Dr. Kincaid has had his office connected with the telephone system, an instrument having been recently placed in his office.

Lacrosse Club.

A meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club will be held at 7.30 o'clock this evening in the Little Windsor Hotel, to consider matters of importance to the club.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds; fair weather; higher temperatures.

The Harper Periodicals.

It is worth notice that three of the great English novelists are simultaneously contributing to the Harper periodicals: Charles Reade, with "A Perilous Secret," to the Bazaar; Wilkie Collins, with "I Say No," to the Weekly; and William Black, with "Judith Shakespeare," to the Magazine.

Leg Amputated.

The injury received by the boy George Fligg, at Mr. Roger's saw mill, which we noticed yesterday, was more serious than was at first supposed. When Dr. King, who was called in, saw the wound, he found that the bone of the leg had been broken and mangled, and that there was an extensive wound around the leg cut in to the bone. It was therefore found necessary to amputate it just below the knee joint, and the operation was performed by Dr. King and Dr. Bell. The lad is now doing well.

Hymeneal.

On Wednesday afternoon, April 16th, Mr. John K. Moore, of North Monaghan, and Miss Elliott, daughter of Mr. Geo. Elliott, of Smith, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony took place at Mr. Elliott's residence, the Rev. Wm. Johnston, of Lakefield, being the officiating clergyman. A number of friends of Mr. Moore and Miss Elliott were present, and the bride was presented with a large number of rich and handsome gifts. The happy couple departed on the evening train on their wedding tour. We join in wishing them a long and happy life.

Dr. Barnardo's Branch Home.

A detachment of sixty vigorous, smartly-trained lads, of ages ranging from twelve to seventeen years, arrived at the Home, Front street, a day or two since from the parent institution in England, being the third band of young immigrants who have been received into the temporary branch since its opening in July last. The boys are in the charge of the Rev. F. Fielder, governor of the Home in London, who as soon as they are placed, will proceed to Peterborough to open a branch house in that city for the reception and distribution of girls, either for situations as servants or for adoption. It is understood that several influential people in Peterborough, as in Toronto, are much interested in Dr. Barnardo's Homes and his work amongst orphan and destitute children, and that Mr. George A. Cox has very generously undertaken, at his own cost, to provide and fit up the Home in Peterborough. The management of the Canadian work will henceforth be under the care of Mr. and Mrs. Duff, who are coming out in June with a contingent of 150 girls. They will also be assisted by a staff of visitors and correspondents, so that there is every guarantee that the work will be conducted in the most thorough and efficient manner, and that all the children will be carefully looked after until they are fully able to provide for themselves. It will be noticed also that Dr. Barnardo himself intends visiting Canada in June next, and will then give a series of lectures on the character and marvellous growth of his work in London, England. The Homes now contain upwards of 1,300 boys and girls, who are wholly maintained and educated by the free-will offerings of Christians in nearly every part of the world.—Mail.

CRICKET CLUB CONCERT.

A Large Audience and a Splendid Entertainment.

The concert in Bradburn's Opera House on Thursday evening, given under the auspices of the Peterborough Cricket Club, was a decided success in every respect. There was a large attendance, the full seating capacity of the hall being used.

The opening piece in the programme gave the audience a favorable opinion of the concert at once. It was a piano solo, "Ballade in A Sharp Major" (Chopin), by Miss Edmison, who was loudly applauded. Miss Edmison also gave a magnificent piano solo in the second part. A duet by Messrs. Porteous and Elliott, "All's Well," was so well received that they were compelled to repeat it. Each of them possesses a good and well cultivated voice, and when they sing together, as they did in this duet and in "The Pilot Brave" later on, the effect is very pleasing. Mrs. Chambers sang "That Traitor, Love," and in response to a recall "I've Got a Letter." In the second part she sang "It was a Dream," and being again loudly and deservedly encored, she gave a pretty song "Ask Me."

The chief feature of the programme was undoubtedly the violin playing of Miss Lenora Clench. Her manipulation of the bow and strings was a revelation, and the audience was held spell-bound every time she appeared. The bursts of applause which broke out in the pauses in the music, and at the conclusion of each performance, testified to the delight of the audience.

Miss Howden, of Millbrook, sang "Long Live Moments of Pleasure," and in answer to a recall, "A Letter to My Love." Miss Howden is an excellent vocalist, and when, in the second part of the programme, she sang "Che Gioja," she was again encored. Mr. Porteous sang "Good-bye" in his inimitable manner, and in the second part, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep." The latter song is a magnificent one, and Mr. Porteous did full justice to it, receiving a loud recall. The last number of the first part of the programme was a song by Miss Clara Cluxton, "Berceuse." Of her singing, as of the other local vocalists, it is almost unnecessary to speak, as she is known to be a vocalist of rare power. Being encored she sang "The Last Rose of Summer" very sweetly. In the second part she sang "La Serenata," with violin obligato, and the applause which followed the performance was loud, the audience insisting on its being repeated. Mr. J. Haggart, who was very warmly received, read "The Irish Schoolmaster," and being enthusiastically recalled gave "Bridget O'Hallaghan's Letter" with renewed applause. Mr. Elliott sang "Our Jack's Come Home To-day" with his usual ability, and was warmly applauded. The concert was concluded by the company singing the National Anthem. Miss Cluxton played the accompaniments during the evening with marked ability.

The entire programme was excellent, and the Cricket Club are to be congratulated upon the success of their concert. The audience was large and was thoroughly satisfied, and the receipts must have been large.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

FRIDAY, April 18.—John Muir was charged by Constable Adams with having been drunk in a public place. He acknowledged his guilt, but this being his first appearance in the court, he was allowed to go.

A CHARGE OF THEFT.

The case against John Cronan, who was charged with having stolen two pigs which strayed from Joshua Saunders' premises, was again called, Mr. J. O'Mera appearing for the defence. The evidence of Joseph Saunders was heard, and Cronan was bound over to appear at the next session of the County Court for trial, bail having been furnished.

A Successful Experiment.

Mr. A. T. Smith received instructions to place a telephone in the Music Hall at Port Hope on Wednesday evening, on the occasion of Mr. Singleton's concert, thus connecting the hall with Toronto and Hamilton. The music and singing was distinctly heard, and enjoyed, at Hamilton by the telephone company's manager, who thus demonstrated the remarkable powers of the telephone.

Journalistic.

We have received a copy of the first issue of the News Letter, a new paper published in Orillia by Messrs. John Curran & Sons. It is neatly printed and its make-up is good. It starts as an independent newspaper.

Our Credit Stands High.

Discussing the budget speech of Sir Leonard Tilley, the London Times adopts the opinion that the credit of the Dominion never stood higher than it does at present. This, in the face of a period of business depression the world over, speaks well for Canada. Another fact in favor of the Dominion, is that it is less affected by the depression than either the United States or Britain.

A Startling Discovery.

Physicians are often startled by remarkable discoveries. The fact that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and all Throat and Lung diseases is daily curing patients that they have given up to die, is startling to realize their duty, and examine into the merits of this wonderful discovery resulting in hundreds of our best Physicians using it in their practice. ## DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE SECOND SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Grand Trunk Double Track—Liquor License Jurisdiction — The Ontario Boundary and the Privy Council—Section B. Contract—Globe Slanders Ignored

THE GRAND TRUNK.

Sir J. MACDONALD moved on Thursday to withdraw the bill to correct the change made in the Grand Trunk Bill by the Senate. The Grand Trunk Company had given the Government satisfactory assurances that it would set aside $5,000,000 out of the money to be received to be applied to the doubling of the track between Toronto and Montreal.

Mr. MITCHELL expressed himself satisfied with this, and said he had been actuated by public not private interests.

THE QUEBEC BRIDGE.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said in answer to an enquiry, that the Government recognized the importance of connecting the Intercolonial Railway and the G. T. R. by a railway bridge at Quebec, and believed it must be constructed in the early future, but until the C. P. R. was extended to that city and some practical scheme was submitted they were unable to give any more definite answer to the question.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Sir. J. MACDONALD moved the third reading of the bill to amend the McCarthy Act.

Mr. MCCRANEY moved to reimpose the restriction, struck out in committee, preventing an hotel from communicating with a shop where merchandise is sold.

The amendment was carried by 75 to 62.

Mr. MCCARTHY moved to add a clause to prohibit prosecutions for the penalties in sections 73, 84, 89 and 91 of Provincial licenseholders until the question of the constitutionality of the Act was determined. Also to empower the Governor-General-in-Council to refer the matter to the Supreme Court, any Province being entitled to become a party and to be heard by counsel. The Supreme Court decision to be final, unless the Dominion or any Province should appeal to the Privy Council.

Mr. MILLS expressed his preference for the suspension of penalties except in a test case.

Sir J. MACDONALD objected that there could be no litigation unless there were a penalty and the courts might decline to consider a collusive case.

Mr. DAVIS thought some parts of the Act might be constitutional and others not, and the question should not be as to the validity of the whole Act but as to what parts were valid.

Mr. MCCARTHY would accept this proposition.

Mr. OUIMET thought the Provinces might have concurrent jurisdiction and would also refer to the courts the questions of the validity of the Provincial Acts.

Mr. MCCARTHY thought there was not concurrent jurisdiction, but the whole question would be decided by the courts.

The amendments were concurred.

Sir J. MACDONALD moved the third reading.

Mr. IRVINE moved to the repeal of the exemption of bars and restaurants under the control of the Speakers of the Legislature.

Sir J. MACDONALD suggested that this motion affected Provincial rights.

The amendment was negatived.

Mr. MILLS moved that as the Privy Council decision in the Hodge case had established the validity of Provincial legislation the McCarthy Act should be repealed.

The SPEAKER ruled the motion out of order as the matter had been already disposed of this session.

The bill was then read a third time and passed.

THE ONTARIO BOUNDARY.

Sir J. MACDONALD moved the third reading of the bill to refer the Ontario Boundary question to the Privy Council.

Mr. DAWSON said the Dominion Government should be fully prepared to meet the elaborate case of the Ontario Government. He thought himself that the Act of 1774 had never been over-riden and that it fixed the boundary at the height of land, between St. Lawrence and Hudson Bay watersheds. We might be astonished to wake up some morning and find a decision had been given extending Ontario to the slope of the Rocky Mountains. It was very improbable but it was possible unless the Government was properly prepared with a case.

The bill was read a third time and passed.

SECTION B. CONTRACT.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT on the vote to concur in the item of $395,000 awarded to the contractors for Section B. of the C. P. R., said that their claim should not have gone to arbitration, but to the Exchequer Court. He also complained of not having fuller and earlier information, especially after charges had been made by a newspaper as to the relations between the contractors and the Government. One of the contractors had brought an action against the paper, but had abandoned it. Reporters also had not been admitted to the investigation. For these reasons he could not concur in the vote.

Sir C. TUPPER explained that changes had to be made in the contract to secure its early completion. The contractors complained that the change was prejudicial to them, and that they were suffering heavy loss through the delay in the completion of section 15, by the specified time. They threatened to throw up their contract unless there was an arbitration. As this would have caused a great expense and much delay the government had agreed to an arbitration, though not admitting the validity of the claims. One arbitrator was appointed by the Government, one by the contractors, and the third by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Their arbitrator, Judge Clarke, had dissented from the award, the other two agreed. As to the allusion to the relations between the contractors and the Government, his transactions with them as representing the Government were such that they complained throughout that he and the officers of his department treated them not only with scant justice but even with great injustice. The sum awarded by the arbitrators showed that the contractors had not received undue consideration. As to the exclusion of reporters, it was by no wish of his or his colleagues, but he found on enquiry that the arbitrators had excluded them, because it was the rule at arbitrations not to admit the press or the public, and also because they did not think it in the public interest. Competent reporters had been employed to make an official report, which was to be available for publication. As Judge Clarke had dissented from the award the money would not be paid till the opinion of the best counsel had been taken whether it could be contested with a prospect of success. The matter had been expedited as much as possible.

Mr. MACKENZIE asked what proportion of the award was for the delays on section 15, and what for the charges in the contract.

Sir C. TUPPER said the award was for a lump sum.

Mr. DAVIES thought that they had not sufficient information, and that hardly any member understood the matter except Sir C. Tupper and Mr. Mackenzie. He thought there was no valid claim on account of the delay on section 15, as there was no obligation to complete it by a specified time.

Mr. ALLISON (Hants), reminded the House that under Mr. Mackenzie's administration a quarter of a million had been lost to the country through an unfinished contract.

Mr. MACKENZIE said he could defend that transaction but it was not then the question. He thought the claim for delays on section 15 should never have been submitted to arbitration as that was much the same as admitting it and there was no valid claim. As to the charges in the contract, the Government only agreed to furnish an approximate quantity of each kind of work, and each was priced, so he could not see how such an award could have been made.

Mr. MILLS said there should have been no secret enquiry, as charges of collusion had been made by a newspaper. He said he had no material on which to judge of the propriety of the award. He also said that he judged that the award was excessive.

Concurrence in the item was carried by a vote of 82 to 34.

SUPPLY.

Sir L. TILLEY introduced the Supply Bill, and it was put through all its stages.

PROROGATION.

Sir J. MACDONALD in answer to Sir R. Cartwright, said that Parliament would be prorogued on Saturday.

THE MCCARTHY ACT.

Mr. MCCARTHY on Friday moved concurrence in the Senate amendments to the Liquor License Act. They were only verbal except one giving the Commissioners discretion as to the prohibition of communication between hotels and shops.

The amendments were concurred in.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

Sir L. TILLEY in reply to Sir R. Cartwright, said that no answer had been received from Newfoundland to the despatch sent.

PROROGATION.

The SPEAKER announced that His Excellency would prorogue the House next day.

THE POLICY OF DYNAMITE.

Fresh Disclosures Anticipated — Dynamite Carried by a Girl—A General Explosion Contemplated.

LONDON, April 17.—The Birmingham police have made additional discoveries regarding the dynamite plot. Highly sensational disclosures are anticipated at the examination of Eagan. Further arrests are propable.

DYNAMITE BEING SENT INTO ENGLAND.

PARIS, April 17.—The dynamiters received $3,000 from America during the past week. Small packets of dynamite have recently been forwarded to England. Among the members of the Clan-Na-Gael are a number of Russian Nihilists and four French Communists.

A FEMALE CARRIER OF DYNAMITE.

A letter received here from an Irish sympathizer with the dynamite party states that the dynamite campaign is not yet ended. Two hundred and fifty pounds of dynamite have been sent from France to England within the past three weeks, a girl resident in Cork, and the sister of a dynamiter living in Paris, carrying it across the channel. The girl is also the medium of communication between the dynamiters in Paris and those in Great Britain and Ireland. The woman who conveyed the dynamite used in the Victoria depot explosion, London, has gone to America.

The dynamiters in England are opposed to isolated attempts, and contemplate a general explosion in various parts of the country on a certain day and hour.

END OF THE SESSION.

PROROGATION OF THE SECOND SESSION OF OUR FIFTH PARLIAMENT.

The Speech from the Throne by the Governor-General—The Ipmortant Work of a Busy Session.

Special to the Review.

OTTAWA, April 19.—At three o'clock to-day His Excellency, the Governor-General, proceeded in state to the House of Parliament, and the members of the House of Commons having been summoned to the bar of the Senate, His Excellency was pleased to prorogue the second session of the fifth parliament of Canada with the following speech:—

Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate:

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The assiduity and zeal shown by you in the performance of your important duties deserve my best thanks, and I desire to convey them to you.

There is every reason to anticipate that the liberal aid given by the loan to the Canadian Pacific Railway will secure the speedy and satisfactory completion of that great national work.

I congratulate you on the adjustment of all matters of difference between the Dominion and the Province of British Columbia by the legislation of this session.

The larger appropriations made for the furtherance of railway construction may be expected to assist materially in the development of our commerce, both foreign and domestic, as well as to open up for settlement extensive fertile districts, hitherto almost inaccessible.

The several measures for the benefit of the Indian communities, and for their encouragement to assume the responsibilities of self-government are well adapted for the purpose, and the amendments of the laws relating to the Dominion Lands will give additional facilities and advantages to settlers in the Northwest Territories.

The readjustment of the annual subsidies to the several provinces, while adding to their resources, will place their pecuniary relations with the Dominion on a satisfactory and permanent basis.

The several important measures which occupied your attention, and will now become law, must all tend to the benefit and improvement of the country, and the numerous private bills with industrial objects submitted to me indicate the existence of a healthy spirit of enterprise among our people.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I thank you in Her Majesty's name for the supplies you have granted for the public service.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In bidding you now farewell until next session, I trust that when we next meet I may be able to congratulate you on the continuing prosperity of our country.

PARNELL'S RETIREMENT PROBABLE

LONDON, April 18.—There are rumours of the early retirement of Parnell from the leadership of the nationalist party. Two reasons for this step are given, one that he is tired of parliamentary life, the other that the party is wearied of him. His retirement is obstructed, however, by his recent acceptance of £40,000 of the people's money.

SCANDALOUS LEGISLATION.

"It is scandalous to find the most important legislation of the session introduced and rushed through at the last moment without discussion or consideration."—Globe, of Thursday, April 17.

We agree with the Globe that it has become too much the practice of all our governments to withhold important legislation until the closing days of the session, and thereby preventing its receiving that full consideration which is desirable. But while that is the case we think it would be well if the Globe would correct the shortcomings of its own friends in this respect before it proceeds to condemn its opponents for the same, although in a degree smaller, offence. Let us, for a moment, look at the records of the Mowat Government in this respect during the past session of the Ontario Legislature.

The House met on the 23rd January, on the 24th the address was delivered, and on the 5th February the reply thereto was passed. On the 6, 7 and 8th the House was kept supplied with work by the Opposition up to six o'clock; on the 11th it adjourned at 4.30; 12th at 5; 13th and 14th at 6; 15th at 4; 18th at 4.30; 19th at 5.45; 20th at 3.30 on account of Mr. Lauder's death; on the 21st it sat to 11.05, the Treasurer making the financial statement; 22nd at 5.25; 25th at 6; on the 26th until 11.15, on the Reader question; on 27th to 10.55; and on the 28th February until 1.25 next morning, when the Reader debate was closed. Having largely wasted the month of February, both in the House and in the Committees, the Mowat Government then set to work to rush things, and for the balance of the session the sittings lasted on the average to midnight.

That there was no good reason why the House's time should have been wasted in February, and the Opposition overworked in March is obvious from the following facts:—

1st. Of the measures mentioned in the address, the Board of Health Bill was not distributed until the 14th March; the Liquor License Act was not taken up for a second reading until March 6th, and did not reach its third reading until the last working day of the session; and the Lake and Streams Bill was not introduced until the 25th February, did not receive its second reading until the 18th March, and was not passed until the day before prorogation.

2nd. Not a single Government Bill received a second reading before the 4th March, and everybody knows that that is the stage at which the first discussion takes place.

3rd. The supplementary estimates were not presented until Monday, the 24th March—the last working day of the session.

4th. The Bill whitewashing the returning officers in Muskoka and Algoma was not introduced until Friday, the 21st March, while it was passed through the rest of its stages on the Monday and during the "wee sma' 'oors" of the Tuesday morning following.

And 5th. The clause of the Election Law Amendment Act relieving Dowling from the judgment of the judges in his election trial was introduced without previous notice of any kind on the morning of the day on which the session was closed.

With these facts before him, and others might easily be added, the reader will have no difficulty in arriving at the conclusion that Mowat is a much greater sinner than Macdonald in the matter of this kind of scandalous legislation.

ARCH-BISHOP LYNCH'S LETTER.

We publish the letter from Arch-bishop Lynch to Mr. Higgins, about which there has been so much discussion, as we find it in the Toronto Mail and Globe:—

ST. MICHAEL'S PALACE,
TORONTO, Dec. 9 1882.

MY DEAR MR. HIGGINS,—We are now anxious to sustain the Mowat Government. If it go then we shall have Orange rampant, and we may as well quit the country. The first act of the new Government will be to incorporate the Orange Order, and then, indeed, the Catholics will suffer. If Catholics do not wish to vote for Mr. Drury then they need not vote at all. I would be ashamed of Catholics changing politics for mean purposes, and some so-called Catholics are doing so, and playing into the hands of the Orangemen. Alas, there will always be traitors! You, I know, Mr. Higgins, will keep staunch. Yours faithfully,

(Signed) JNO. JOSEPH LYNCH,
Archbishop of Toronto.

NOXIOUS WEEDS.

During the recent session of the Ontario Legislature an act was passed "to prevent the spread of Noxious Weeds and of Diseases affecting Fruit Trees." from which we make the following extracts as likely to prove of more than ordinary interest to a large proportion of our readers:—

It shall be the duty of every owner of land, or the occupant thereof if the owner is not resident within the local municipality wherein the same is situate—(1) To cut down or destroy all the Canada thistles, ox-eye daisy, wild oats, rag-weed and burdock growing on his land, and all other noxious weeds growing on his land to which this Act may be extended by by-law of the municipality, so often each and every year as is sufficient to prevent the ripening of their seed; (2) To cut out and burn all the black-knot found on plum or cherry trees on his land, so often each and every year as it shall appear on such trees; and (3) To cut down and burn any peach, nectorine or other trees on his land infected with the disease known as yellows, and to destroy all the fruit of trees so infected.

The Council of any city, town, township or incorporated village may and upon a petition of fifty or more ratepayers shall appoint at least one Inspector to enforce the provisions of this Act in the municipality, and fix the amount of remuneration, fees or charges he is to receive for the performance of his duties; and in case a vacancy shall occur in the office of Inspector, it shall be be the duty of the council to fill the same forthwith.

The council of any township in which there are any large tracts or blocks of waste or unoccupied land, may upon the petition of not less than thirty ratepayers, by by-law suspend the operation of this Act, in respect of such waist or unoccupied lands; the by-law to define with sufficient clearness the tracts or blocks of land so exempted; such by-law to remain in force until repealed by such council; and until repealed the lands therein described shall be exempt from the operation of this Act.

It shall be the duty of such Inspector to give or cause to be given in writing to the owner or occupant of any land within the municipality whereon the said noxious weeds are growing and in danger of going to seed (and in the case of property of a railway company, such notice shall be given to any station master of such company, resident in or nearest to the municipality), requiring him to cause the same to be cut down or destroyed within ten days from the service of such notice; and it shall be the duty of the Inspector to give or cause to be given such notice for the first time not later than the tenth day of July in each year, or such other earlier date as may be fixed by by-law of the municipality.

In case such owner or occupant of land (or, if it be railway property, when the station master upon whom notice has been served) refuses or neglects to cut down or destroy all or any of the said noxious weeds within the period aforesaid, the said Inspector shall enter upon the land and cause such weeds to be cut down or destroyed with as little damage to growing crops as may be, and he shall not be liable to be sued in action of trespass thereof; or the Inspector, instead of entering upon the land and causing such weeds to be cut down or destroyed, may lay information before any Justice of the Peace as to such refusal or neglect, and such owner or occupant shall, upon conviction, be liable to the penalties imposed by section 10 of this Act.

But no such Inspector shall have power to cut down or destroy noxious weeds on any land sown with grain; and where such noxious weeds are growing upon non-resident lands it shall not be necessary to give any notice before proceeding to cut down or destroy the same.

If written complaint be made to the Inspector that yellows or black-knot exist within the municipality, in any locality described in such complaint with reasonable certainty, he shall proceed to examine the fruit trees in such locality, and if satisfied of the presence of either disease he shall immediatly give notice in writing to the owner or occupant of the land whereon the affected trees are growing, requiring h mwithin five days from the receipt of said notice to deal with such trees in the manner provided by section 2 of this Act.

Any owner or occupant of land who refuses or neglects to cut down or destroy any of the said noxious weeds after notice given by the Inspector, as provided by section 4, or who knowingly suffers any of the noxious weeds to grow thereon, and the seed to ripen so as to cause or endanger the spread thereof, or who suffers any black-knot to remain on plum or cherry trees, or keeps any peach, nectarine or other trees infected with yellows or the fruit of trees so infected, shall upon conviction be liable to a fine of not less than five nor more than twenty dollars for every such offence.

Any person who knowingly sells or offers to sell any grass, clover or other seed, or any seed grain among which there is seed of Canada thistles, ox-eye daisy, wild oats, rag-weed burdock or wild mustard shall, for every such offence, upon conviction, be liable to a fine of not less than five nor more than twenty dollars.

Any person who knowingly offers for sale or shipment, or sells or ships the fruit of trees infected with yellows shall, upon conviction, be liabel to a fine of not less than five nor more than twenty dollars.

Every Inspector, Overseer of highways, or other officer, who refuses or neglects to discharge the duties imposed on him by this Act shall, upon conviction, be liable to a fine of not less than ten nor more than twenty dollars.

The Queen's Journey to Germany.

LONDON, April 15.—Her Majesty and the Princess Beatrice proceeded yesterday on a special train to Clapham Junction and thence to Sheerness, where the Royal yacht Osborne was in readiness to receive the Royal party. The Queen was oppressed with a nervous horror of her journey to Darmstadt in consequence of the recent dynamite developments. The most extraordinary precautions were taken to guard her. An extra force of sentries was placed all along the carriage road from Windsor Castle to the station, and at Clapham Junction and the terminus at Sheerness. A pilot engine preceded the royal train troughout the entire distance, and several high officials of the two railway companies were on the engine and in the carriages of the Queen's train.

Poison's Nervilline.

Poison's Nervilline, the great pain cure, never fails to give prompt relief in the following complaints:—Sprains, bruises, cuts, tic douloureux, rheumatism, spinal pains, neuralgia, toothache, lumbago, sciatica. ### TORONTO.

GRAND'S HORSE SALE.—At Grand's spring sale of horses on Thursday over 150 animals were disposed of at good prices. The highest price paid was by Dr. Henderson, of Syracuse, N. Y., he giving $750 for an imported heavy draught stallion.

BREACH OF PROMISE CASE.—Robt. Ennis, a young man employed at Gooderham & Worts', was arrested on Wednesday by a sheriff's officer on a capias. An action is being brought against him for $1,000 by Miss Goggins for breach of promise of marriage. Hearing that he was going to leave the city to escape the action she had the capias issued. He was released on bail last evening.

THE NEW ARCADE.—Men have commenced placing the glass on the roof of the new arcade. The work on the whole structure is going on apace, and it is confidently expected that the building will be finished by the middle of June.

ELECTRIC LIGHT TEST.—The Canada Electric Light Company held a meeting recently, when it was decided to accede to the request of the City Council to put up twenty-five lamps for the purpose of having the Van de Poele system compared with the Hochhausen system, the latter being that operated by the Toronto company.

FIRE IN THE GENERAL POST-OFFICE.—A serious conflagration was narrowly averted in the post-office on Wednesday night, caused by the explosion of a lamp. Since the work on improvements in the buildings has been commenced coal oil lamps have been used instead of gas. On Wednesday night, in the assorting department, one of the lamps was accidentally knocked down and exploded. The oil was scattered over a number of letters and they were badly scorched, but only one was destroyed. The name of the sender, however, was fortunately known, and he was notified of the fact. The fire was put out without much trouble.

A MAN'S THUMB.—A peculiar discovery was made on Thursday morning by an employee of Messrs. Hillock & Kent, while engaged in removing a pile of boards in the centre of their yard on Albert street. Imbedded in a cake of ice which had formed beside the pile he found a man's thumb, which had apparently been cut off with a sharp instrument close to the hand. The severed member was but slightly decomposed and had evidently bid farewell to the main anatomy but a few weeks ago. Beside it were found two or three pieces of bone with the flesh clinging to them in decayed shreds. As no accident of any nature is known to have happened within the yard for months back, the discovery is regarded as somewhat curious.—Mail.

GIRLS' FRIENDLY AID SOCIETY.

OUR MOTTO: "Bear Ye One Another's Burdens."

In union strong we pledge each heart,
In firmest faith join hand in hand,
Bear bravely in the strife our part,
While side by side we take our stand:
Each other's burdens gladly bear,
Each other's joys and sorrows share.

For Christian love has made us one,
Whate'er our state in this life's way;
The Name we bear, the race we run,
Tell out this truth with every day:
And we each other's burdens bear,
Each other's joys and sorrows share.

Lord, give us grace the more to know
The power of kindly actions done,
This blessed gift on all bestow,
Till earth is past, and Heaven won:
For ours it is all trials to bear,
Each other's joys and sorrows share

When sorrow comes, and storm-clouds lower
And dark and dreary grows the night,
Brave hearts speak words of peace and power
For courage in the frequent fight:
For we each other's burdens bear,
Each other's joys and sorrows share.

When welcome joy itself imparts,
And all is smooth on life's fair way,
Then gladly, loving kindred hearts,
Are ready with responsive lay:
For we each other's burdens bear,
Each other's joys and sorrows share.

Our prayers, our alms, before Thy Throne
We offer up, in union meet;
Accept them, Lord, they are Thine own,
We lay them at Thy mercy-seat:
For ours it is all trials to bear,
Each other's joys and sorrows share.

And as we work, and watch pray,
In constant faith and union strong,
We look for that eternal day
When ours shall be the triumph song:
Till then each other's burdens bear,
Each other's joys and sorrows share.

INFELICE.

Author of "St. Elmo," "Beulah," "Macaria,"

CHAPTER IV.—Continued.

"Too late? Is the woman dead?"

"No, but she has sailed for Europe, and notifies me that she leaves the little girl under my protection."

"What a heartless creature she must be to abandon her child."

"On the contrary, she seems devotedly attached to her, and uses these words: "If it were not to promote her interest, do you suppose I could consent to put the Atlantic between my baby and me?" The circumstances are so unusual that I dare say you fail to understand my exact position."

"I neither desire nor intend to force your confidence, but if you can answer tell me whether the mother is in every respect worthy of your sympathy?"

"I frankly admit that upon some points I have been dissatisfied, and her letter sorely perplexes me."

"What claim had she on you when the promise was extorted?"

"She had none, save such as human misery always has on human sympathy. I performed the marriage ceremony for her when she was a mere child, and felt profound compassion for the wretchedness that soon overtook her as a wife and mother."

"Then, my dear brother, there is no alternative, and you must do your duty—and I shall not fail to help you to the fullest extent of my feeble ability. Since it cannot be helped, let us try to put our hearts as well as our hands into the work of receiving the waif. Where has the child been living?"

"For nearly seven years in a convent?"

"Tant mieux! We may at least safely infer she has been shielded from vicious and objectionable companionship. How is her education to be conducted in future?"

"Her mother has arranged for the semi-annual payment of a sum quite sufficient to defray all necessary expenses, including tuition at school, but she urges me, if compatible with my clerical duties, to retain the school-fees, and teach the child at home, as she dreads outside contaminating associations, and wishes the little one reared with rigid ideas of rectitude and propriety. Will you receive her among your music pupils?"

"Have I a heart of steel, and a soul of flint? And since when did you successfully trace my pedigree to its amiable source in—

'Gorgons and hydras and chimeras dire?'

What is her name?"

Mr. Hargrove hesitated a moment, and detecting the faint colour that tinged his olive cheek, his sister smilingly relieved him.

"Never mind, dear. What immense latitude we are allowed! If she prove a mere sweet cherub, a very saint in bib-aprons—with velvety eyes brown as a hazel nut, and silky chestnut ringlets—I shall gather her into my heart and coo over her as Columba, or Umilta, or Umbeline, or Una; but should we find her spoiled, and thoroughly leavened with iniquity—a blonde yellow haired-tornado—then a proper regard for the 'unities' will suggest that I vigorously enter a Christian protest and lecture her grimly as Jezebel, Tomyris, Fulvia or Clytemnestra."

"She shall be called Regina Orme, and if it will not too heavily tax your kindness, I should like to give her the small room next your own, and ask Douglass to move across the hall and take the front chamber opening on the verandah. The little girl may be timid, and it would comfort her to feel that you are within call, should she be sick or become frightened. I am sure Douglass will not object to the change."

"Certainly not. Blessings on his royal heart! He would not be my own noble boy if he failed to obey any wish of yours. I will at once superintend the transfer of his books and clothes, for if the child comes to-day, you have left me little time for preparation."

She put away the crochet basket, and, looking affectionately at the grave face that watched her movements, said soberly:

"Do not look so lugubrious; remember Abraham's example of hospitality, and let us do all we can for this motherless lamb, or kid—whichever she may prove. One thing more, and hereafter I shall hold my peace. You need not live in chronic dread lest the Guy Fawkes of female curiosity pry into and explode your mystery; for I assure you, Peyton, I shall never directly or indirectly question the child, and until you voluntarily broach the subject, I shall never mention it to you. Are you satisfied?"

"Fully satisfied with my sister, and inexpressibly grateful for her unquestioning faith in me."

She swept him an exaggerated courtesy, and despite the gray threads that began to glint in her auburn hair, ran up the stairway as lightly as a girl of fifteen.

For some time he stood with his hands behind him, gazing abstractedly through the open window, and now and then he heard the busy patter of hurrying feet in the room overhead, while snatches of Easter anthems, and the swelling "Amen" of a "Gloria" rolled down the steps, assuring him that all doubt and suspicion had been ejected from the faithful, fond, sisterly heart.

Taking his broad brimmed gardening hat from the table, the pastor went down among his flower-beds, followed by Biorn, to whose innate asperity of temper was added the snarling fretfulness of old age.

A fine young brood of white Brahma chickens having surreptitiously effected an entrance into the sacred precincts of the flower-garden, were now diligently prosecuting their experiments in entomology, right in the heart of a border of choice carnations. When Biorn had chased the marauders to the confines of the poultry yard, and watched the last awkward fledgeling scramble through the palings, his master began to repair the damage, and soon became absorbed in the favorite task of tying up the spicy tufts of bloom, that deluged the air with perfume as he lifted and bent the tender stems. His straw hat shut out the sight of surrounding objects, and he only turned his head when Mrs. Lindsay put her hand on his shoulder, and exclaimed:

"Peyton, 'the Philistines be upon thee!'"

"Do you mean that she has come?"

"I think so; there is a carriage at the gate, and I noticed a trunk beside the driver."

He rose hastily and stood irresolute, visibly embarrassed.

"Why, Peyton! Recollect your text last Sunday: 'No man having put his hand to the plough,' etc., etc., etc. It certainly is rather hard to be pelted with one's own sermons, but it would never do to turn your back upon this benevolent furrow. Come, pluck up courage, and front the inevitable."

"Elise, how can you jest? I am sorely burdened with gloomy forebodings of coming evil. You cannot imagine how I shrink from this responsibility."

"It is rather too late, dear, to climb upon the stool of repentance. Take this beast of Bashan by the horns, and have done with it. There is the bell! Shall I accompany you?"

"Oh, certainly?"

Hannah met them and held up a card.

"ERLE PALMA,
New York City."

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

APPLE SAUCE.—When you wish to serve apple sauce with meat prepare it in this way:—Cook the apples until they are very tender, then stir them thoroughly so that there will be no lumps at all; add the sugar and a little gelatine dissolved in warm water, a tablespoonful in a pint of sauce; pour the sauce into bowls, and when cold it will be stiff like jelly, and can be turned out on a plate. Cranberry sauce can be treated in the same way.

A USEFUL DISH.—A great convenience is found in this simple contrivance: Have a tin dish made tapering and with a long handle; have it small enough around so that you can place it inside the tea-kettle; it is invaluable when there is sickness in the house, as there are so many occasions when one needs to cook gruel or custards at short notice, and with perfect immunity from the danger of burning, even though constant attention cannot be given them.

ECONOMY IN CARPETS.—A carpet in which all the colours are light never has a clean, bright effect, from the want of dark tints to contrast and set off the light ones. Carpets of many gaudy colours do not last bright very long. Two colours only, with the dark and light shades of each, will make a very handsome carpet. A very light blue ground, with the figure of shaded crimson or purple, looks extremely well; so does a saloon colour or buff ground, with a deep green figure, or a light yellow ground, with a shaded blue figure.

BROILED OYSTERS.—There are at least three ways in which they may be broiled: First, select large oysters, dry them by laying them on a soft linen cloth, as they will readily absorb the moisture, sprinkle pepper and salt over them, and broil on a very fine wire broiler which folds. Have a platter very hot waiting for them, and little lumps of butter divided ready to put on each one as it is laid on the platter. Another way is to dip the oysters in butter after drying them; put in the very finest cracker crumbs, then broil and serve as above. Still another way is to take a piece of wire and string the oysters on it with a small slice of salt pork next to each oyster; take your bread-toaster and twist the ends of the wire into the toaster, and hold it over a hot fire. If you like salt pork serve it. Put the oysters on a platter with the pork around; pepper well.

THE most prolific source of disease of the kidneys is traced by scientists to the impurities of the water we drink. To guard against this evil, Sir Garnet Wolseley is said to have ordered 10,000 cases of Dr. van. Buren's Kidney Cure for the use of the army. It is the only known remedy that will cure permanently all forms of kidney disease, and every family should keep it that Shaker Blood Syrup will cure everything but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depends the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as Shaker Blood Syrup undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

GENTLEMEN.—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Shaker Blood Syrup. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Shaker Blood syrup (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears to my eyes. The first bottle benefitted me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. Hoping many others may learn the value of Shaker Blood Syrup, and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
C. A. HOWARD, West 11th St., New York.

Salt Rheum Cured.

Are you troubled with Salt Rheum, Rough Skin, Pimples or Canker Sores; if so go at once to John McKee's drug store and get a package of McGregor and Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Price twenty-five cents. It was never known to fail.

Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy.

A marvellous cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria, Canker mouth, and Headache. With each bottle there is an ingenious nasal Injector for the more successful treatment of these complaints without extra charge. Price 50 cts. Sold by J. D. Tully wholesale, retail agent.

$500.00 Reward.

For any testimonials commending McGregor's Speedy Cure for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Costiveness, Headache, etc., that are not genuine; none of which are from persons in the state or thousands of miles away, but from persons in and around Hamilton, Ont. We give trial bottles free of cost, so that you cannot be deceived by purchasing a worthless article, but know its value before buying. Trial bottles and testimonials given free at John McKee's drug store.

Nothing further has been heard as to the whereabouts of Mr. Bunn, of Ruthven, who has been missing from his home over three weeks. He was last seen on Sandwich street, Windsor, late at night. He had a considerable sum of money in his pocket.

How Would it do?

This bad weather requires a remedy. It seems as if the whole responsibility should rest on Vennor and Wiggins, for we had some kind of weather before they appeared upon the scene. How would it do to string them up? Would it make things better? Another hint of importance—don't hang on to your corns as weather indicators. Better string them out root and branch. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor will do it quickly, painlessly and with certainty. Don't buy dangerous flesh-eating substitutes. Get Putnam's, and no other.

One From a Thousand.

MORTON, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Yeiro, one of my neighbors, was taken with violent cramps and pain in the stomach. My wife was called in to see her. The woman was in great distress. We had a bottle of your Nerviline in the house, which we got from your agent, Mr. Silter. My wife gave a dose and bathed her freely, and the woman became relieved immediately.—CALVIN STRUTHERS, J.P. You can test Polson's Nerviline for the small amount of 10 cents by buying a sample bottle at Ormond & Walsh's drug store. Large bottles 25 cents.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind, colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the perscription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

LOCAL NEWS

Ladies' Athletic Club.

A class for Indian club swinging, bar and bell exercise and light calisthenics will be formed by E. W. Johnston at the Oriental Hotel for ladies, at three o'clock p. m. on Monday next.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds, fair to cloudy weather with local showers to-night; not much change in temperature.

Correct.

Mr. Bradburn has posted notices in the Opera House warning all persons not to stamp their feet, whistle, or make other disturbing noise. This will apply at all times, when a performer is being applauded or encored as well as before a performance begins, and it is to be hoped that the notices will have the desired effect.

Slang and Pet Names.

The Lindsay Post approves of the resolution of the Peterborough Board of Education denouncing slang, and suggests that the Lindsay School Board should adopt a similar resolution. But the Post goes further, and says it would be an improvement if all teachers were to write in their records the proper Christian names, and not the diminutives that are commonly used.

Women's Foreign Missionary Society.

The regular monthly meeting of the St. Paul's Church Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Women's Foreign Missionary Society was held on Friday afternoon in the room adjoining the Opera House. Between twenty-five and thirty ladies were present. A more than usual interest attached to this meeting from the fact that the principal feature was the reading of the report by the delgates appointed by the Peterborough branch of the Society to attend the annual meeting just brought to a close at Hamilton. The report dealt with the business there transacted, and was listened to through out with deep interest. After a few remarks a special vote of thanks was proposed to Miss Haultain (who had represented the Peterborough branch at the annual meeting), by Mrs. Innes, and seconded by Mrs. James Dennistoun.

Sale of Unclaimed Freight.

A sale of unclaimed goods lying on the hands of the Express Company took place on the market Square to-day, conducted by Mr. C. Stapleton, auctioneer. The parcels, boxes, trunks, etc., sold rapidly and some of them at good figures, but roar after roar of laughter told that some one had been "sold," while at other times murmurs of "That's good," "One lucky man," told that some person had purchased a prize. Syndicates were formed for speculative purposes, and one of them bid in enough drugs in bottles to start a small drug store, each time hoping that they had drawn a prize, until the covering was taken off and the familiar neck of a bottle was seen. Among the curiosities was one bid in by "Syndicate No. 2." It was a long love letter, written on thin boards with a copying lead pencil, and addressed to a young lady in Lindsay. If the young lady wishes to have the letter, the syndicate will sell at a small advance on cost—apply at this office. One man bought a neat looking box, but it was filled with rags. He said that he would publish the fact, but we have now saved him the trouble. Another made a hit by bidding in a very handsome Masonic apron at a low figure. The sale caused a great deal of amusement.

STRAY SHOTS:

Notes of the Saved Army, their Meetings and Sayings.

Another large attendance at the meeting on Friday evening.

Lieut. Munt denied a rumor that the Saved and Salvation Armies were going to amalgamate. He pointed out in what way they differed, and said that these differences could not be reconciled.

The Rev. T. Manning, B.A., delivered a vigorous and pointed address, dwelling particularly on the passage, "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?"

Lieut. Munt referred to another anonymous letter which he had received, and said the Army was doing good when the devil roared out.

Five persons "at the fountain" (Saved Army phrase) on Friday night.

Mr. Archie Gall received his commission on Friday, and is now a full lieutenant in the Saved Army. He has gone home to Douglas, for a few days, and will be back to his post at Lakefield at the first of next week.

The Army attacked the capital of the Dominion on Friday. Gen. Lindsay and Capt. Detlor commanded the invading host.

A silver collection will be taken up at the door to-night. The Army do no call this an admission fee, as no one is compelled to contribute.

The Port Hope Times of Thursday last says: "Mrs. Willis, of the Saved Army, left for Portsmouth on Saturday last, for a month's rest. She has been somewhat overworked of late and needs the rest which she will obtain at home very much. We hope to see her return with renewed health and vigor."

At Nine O'clock.

A prayer meeting will be held in the Y.M.C.A. rooms at nine o'clock to-morrow evening.

License Commissioners.

The Provincial License Commissioners for the East Riding are in session this afternoon.

The Market.

There was a large attendance on the market this morning. Prices remained generally at the same figures. Poultry was scarce and dear.

The Cells.

The police cells were untenanted last night—no prisoners and no tramps. We believe this is the first time this has occurred this year. There was a clean sheet at the Court this morning.

P. B. C.

The Peterborough Boating Club will, according to adjournment, hold a meeting in the club house on Monday evening. Business of importance will be considered, and a large attendance is requested.

For Stylish Clothing and Handsome Men's Furnishings, coupled with fair and honest Dealing, try Andrew McNeil's.

Liquor Licenses.

The license commissioners appointed under the McCarthy Act (Dominion), at a session held to-day, granted hotel licenses to Mr. E. Brown, of the Little Windsor, hotel, and Mr. A. D. Faucher, Peterborough.

Lacrosse.

At the meeting of the Lacrosse Club held in the Little Windsor Hotel on Friday evening it was decided to arrange for a match to take place here on the 24th of May. It was also decided that the new uniform should consist of navy blue shirts, white pants, and blue stockings. The boys will look nobby on the field in this uniform.

Railway Notes.

Mr. H. Ryan arrived in town this morning, having come from Perth over the Ontario & Quebec Railway. The Moira bridge was finished on Tuesday, and that completed the line between this town and Perth. Mr. Ryan proceeded on west, being accompanied from here by Mr. Barber. His instructions are to push the work on as rapidly as possible. Large forces are at work both east and west ballasting the track, and more trains will be put on to hurry the work forward.

An exchange says that the Ontario and Quebec Company has contributed $500 yearly to the Railway Men's Christian Association, Toronto, and that Mr. White, General Manager, urges the men to visit and use the rooms fitted up for them.

OMEMEE.

BRIDGE AND DAM.—The damage caused by the recent high water has been repaired and now the bridge is safe and the mills have plenty of power to run to their fullest capacity.

FINE CATTLE.—Last week Mr. Mitchael Crowley, of Otonabee, passed through Omemee with sixteen head of fine steers, the average weight of which was about 1200lbs and the price paid was $25 a head. Mr. Crowley is said to be one of the best buyers in the country, Mr. Wm. Crowley, of Emily, has some thirty-one head of steers averaging 1200lds, each, which he intends selling at the June market. This will be a fine chance for buyers as Mr. Crowley is noted for raising fine stock.—Herald

POLICE COURT.

ASSAULT.

FRIDAY, April 18.—At an afternoon session of the Court, Joseph Graham appeared on a charge of having assaulted Joseph Levasseur on August 26, 1883, and occasioned him actual bodily harm. The charge was proven and Graham was fined $20 and $6.60 costs, besides having to pay Levasseur $5.

NOTICE.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of THURSDAY, 1st MAY, 1884, for the delivery of the usual Indian Supplies, duty paid, in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, consisting of Flour, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Oxen, Cows, Bulls, Agricultural Implements, Tools, &c.

Forms of Tender and full particulars relative to the Supplies can be had by applying to the undersigned, or to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Regina, or to the Indian Office Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods separately or for all the goods called for in the Schedules.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque of a Canadian Bank, for at least five per cent. of the amount of the tenders for Manitoba, and ten per cent. of the amount of the tenders for the North-West Territories, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

Tenderers are required to make up and attach to their tender the total money value of the goods they offer to supply, or their tender will not be entertained.

The Tender for Beef must be a separate tender; if it includes any other article it will not be considered.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Peterborough, April 18, 1884.

On account of the great number who thronged our Millinery Department during the past three days of our formal opening, we fear that some Ladies may have experienced difficulty in getting properly attended to. In order to prevent disappointment in future, we intend, by keeping up a constant supply of Novelties, to make every day a show day in our rooms, which are so well adapted for an extensive display.

We may remark that our Millinery display has received unqualified praise from our customers and the public generally. Such appreciation will stimulate us in concentrating our efforts to excel in this department.

*With such rapid and continuous sales as we have had, arrangements for a regular correspondence will now be made with the leading wholesale houses for supplying us with all the beautiful designs and latest fashions as they come in vogue, which the demands of our customers may indicate. DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

MONDAY, April 21.—Hugh Casey was charged by Constable Adams with having been drunk and disorderly. He said that if pardoned this time he would never offend in the same way again, and on the strength of his promise he was allowed to go.

Parting Tributes.

The following is from the Winnipeg Free Press of April 12th. One of the gentlemen referred to, Mr. E. R. Rogers, is well known here:—

"One of those pleasing incidents that now and again take place in the community, occurred yesterday afternoon in the hardware store of Mr. J. H. Ashdown, when two of the employees, Messrs. Archie Grant and E. R. Rogers who are about to sever their connection with the establishment to enter into business for themselves at Calgary, were presented with testimonials as tokens of esteem, from Mr. Ashdown and their fellow employees, Mr. Grant, who has, for the past four years, been manager of the wholesale department, was presented with a handsome gold watch and chain. Mr. Rogers, who was a salesman in the same department, was given a beautiful gold locket.

"Mr. Thos. Black, manager of the retail house, in a short address, made the presentation on behalf of Mr. Ashdown and the employees.

"Mr. Ashdown spoke at some length in the most complimentary terms of both the gentlemen who had been honored, and particularly Mr. Grant, who had for so long a time ably assisted him in the management of the establishment.

"Messrs. Emslie, Forlong and Le Capellain, followed, expressing regret at the loss to be sustained by the retirement of their two companions, but wishing them success in their new venture.

Messrs. Grant and Rogers replied in suitable terms, and briefly acknowledged the compliment. They thanked Mr. Ashdown and the men for their kindness towards them at all times, and particularly for their handsome testimonials.

"The whole party then adjourned to the St. Julien, where a festive hour or two was spent in taking farewell of their two old companions, who start next week for Calgary, where they intend opening an extensive hardware store.

A SPITEFUL ACT.

Malicious Damage Leading to the Loss of Fifteen Hundred Dollars.

STRATFORD, April 18.—Last night some persons unknown entered the Times printing office here and pied all the type in the place, including every case and all the forms in advertisements and jobs. Mr. H. T. Butler, who is the editor and publisher, attributes the outrage to personal spite, and not as the result of party or sectional feeling. He is deputy reeve of the town, and thinks perhaps some action of his in the Council may have led to the dastardly affair, but is unable at present to lay his finger on the guilty party. Entrance was had by a window, which was forced open. The loss is estimated at $1,500.

THE DYNAMITE POLICY.

PARIS, April 18.—The export of dynamite to England from Havre continues. There is no law to prevent it.

HOW THE EXPLOSIVE IS CONVEYED.

The dynamite taken to England is conveyed by persons who conceal it between the lining and cloth of their coats. It is wrapped in oil paper in cakes like blacking. The cakes, which are an inch in thickness and five inches in diameter, are left at one place in England, where they are joined into one mass. One section of the dynamiters complain that the recent explosions were unworthy of a great cause. They think a public building should have been blown up.

PATRICK JOYCE'S MANIFESTO.

The manifesto of Patrick Joyce is not considered serious. Manifestoes are contary to the spirit of the Clan-Na-Gael. It is denied that Joyce is the secretary of the Fenian Brotherhood. The actual chief, it is said, lives in Paris is not connected with the Clan-Na-Gael, and repudiates violence.

ENGLAND AND THE SOUDAN.

LONDON, April 18.—A merchant who has arrived at Khartoum from El Obeid reports that the sheiks of the Fagallat tribes having become dissatisfied at the Mahdi's administration rebelled. The Mahdi's supporters attempted to chastise the rebels, but the latter defeated them, the Mahdi's losing heavily. Next day the engagement was resumed, and the Mahdi was defeated with great loss. The Fagallat tribes also lost many men. When the Merchant left the Fagallat tribes had the Mahdi surrounded.

A Cairo despatch says Zebehr Pasha is willing to go to Khartoum and act under the authority of the Khedive, but not under Gordon. The President of the Ministry believes Zebehr is the only man who can pacify the Soudan.

MILLBROOK.

EGYPTIAN MASONRY.—Mr. W. Bro. R. Ramsey, substitute Grand Master-General of the Sovereign Sanctuary of Royal and Oriental Treasury instituted Adonai Rose Croix Chapter, No. 21, G.R.C., at Millbrook, on 15th of April. The following officers were duly installed, and from the well-known Masonic skill and experience of the brethren there is no doubt of its success:—Ill. Bro. Dr. Turner, W. M. of J. B. Hall Lodge, M. W.; Ill. Bros. Lough and Hunter, Past Masters of the same, S. and J. W's; and Ill. Bro. J. L. Preston, orator; M. Sutton, prelate; J. B. Smith, C. of G.; S. H. Barber, Gd. of T.; W. J. White, Organist, and Wm. Piercy Organist.

Anarchist Murder Near Pesth.

The body of a man has been found in the forest near Pesth hanging by his legs to a tree. His pockets were rifled. The police attribute the crime to Anarchists.

Stanley's Intentions.

The Times says that Stanley has resolved before leaving Africa to reach from the Congo country one of the Egyptian stations in the Morntbutter country on the Wellemakur river. This is the task Gordon intended to attempt before he accepted the mission to Khartoum.

St. George's Curacy.

KINGSTON, April 19.—Rev. Mr. Petry will return to Quebec at the expiration of this month. In consequence of the heavy debt the vestry of St. George's cannot see their way to paying anything towards the stipend of a curate. The reverend gentleman has made six hundred and seventy-five visits since he came to Kingston on the first of January.

The "Hallelujah Band."

The Hallelujah Band a Belleville company, conduct religious meetings in that city, and occasionally visit surrounding villages. The News-Argus gives the following account of their visit to Stirling: "The Hallelujah Band, of Belleville, made their long looked-for visit to Stirling on Sunday last. Part of them arrived on Saturday night, and a meeting was held as announced in the new church, and another at 7.30 on Sunday morning, which was well attended for the early hour. At the 10.30 service the building was full. The platform was empty, but sharp on time a sound as of approaching music was heard, the east front door opened, and the entire band, some thirty in number, marched with measured tread up the aisle, singing in concert "He's the Lily of the Valley." The procession was well strung out, no haste used, and the effect quite imposing, the singers keeping time by clapping their hands, and at times motions of the body. Reaching the platform they disposed themselves to good advantage, continuing to sing for some time. The meeting was led by Mr. Wm. Jones, of the firm of N. Jones & Son, though Rev. Mr. Young, of the College, is captain. The exercises varied, consisting of exhortations, experiences, prayers, reading of the lesson, with abundance of singing without accompaniment, and there was no sermon. The service lasted nearly two hours, and another held at 2.30 o'clock, and still another at 7. About seventy-five professed conversion during the visit of the band."

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D., New York City.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH.

CABLE.

FALL IN RAILWAYS.

LONDON, April 20.—There was a heavy drop in American railway securities in London in the past week.

AN APPEAL FROM GORDON.

LONDON, April 19.—Gordon telegraphed to Sir Samuel Baker, April 8:—"Have provisions for five months, but am hemmed in by five hundred determined men and two thousand ragtag Arabs. Do you think if an appeal was made to millionaries in England and the United States for two hundred thousand pounds it would be available? If the Sultan will send two or three thousand Nizams to Berber under Zebehr Pasha we could not only settle affairs at Khartoum but do for El Mahdi, in whose collapse the Sultan is necessarily interested. I am sure if it was known how loyally the inhabitants and garrison of Khartoum hold to me and how my lot is involved in theirs my appeal would be considered fully justified."

THE QUEEN'S HEALTH.

LONDON, April 19.—Her Majesty Queen Victoria is at Darmstadt, and suffering from lumbago. She is confined to the palace. Much anxiety prevails in London regarding her condition.

LONDON, April 20.—Queen Victoria attended church at Darmstadt this morning, and went out driving this afternoon.

FIRE IN A COLLIERY.

LONDON, April 20.—A fire in Page bank colliery, near Durham, caused damage of £30,000, throwing 700 hands out of employment.

NO FEARS OF CHOLERA.

ALEXANDRIA, April 20.—It is the opinion of German cholera commission, who have arrived at Alexandria from India, that there will be no outbreak of cholera in Egypt this year.

EGYPT AND THE SOUDAN.

LONDON, April 20.—Sir Evelyn Baring has been summoned to England to discuss Egyptian affairs and the Soudan question. His absence from Cairo will probably be a long one.

DYNAMITERS REMANDED.

LONDON, April 20.—The dynamiter Daly has been remanded at Liverpool until the Government is fully prepared to begin his trial. Egan has also been remanded at Birmingham for another week.

DYNAMITERS IN PARIS.

PARIS, April 20.—The Paris police are disposed to recommend that the dynamiters be expelled if their actions become too suspicious.

ENGLAND AND EGYPT.

LONDON, April 20.—It is reported that the English Government will convoke a European conference to regulate the financial affairs of Egypt. The French Government has assented to a modification of the Egyptian law of liquidation, and has agreed to support the English proposals for financial reform in Egypt. No further opposition is expected from any power.

SUAKIN TO BE ATTACKED.

LONDON, April 20.—It is reported that Osman Digma has 2,000 men, and his force is growing. He intends to attack Suakin after the English leave.

We pride Ourselves in keeping the Cheapest and Best Range of Rubber Coats and Umbrellas in Town. It does not cost anything to Inspect them at Andrew McNeil's.

Test of a New Fire Escape.

OTTAWA, April 17.—Hundreds witnessed the test this afternoon of the Spencer patent fire escape, patented yesterday in Canada. The escape, which is very simple of construction, being made solely of heavy cotton, was attached to the top window of the southern tower of the City hall, and held at the bottom by two firemen. About 200 boys descended without the slightest difficulty. Children from four years upward went down fearlessly and repeated the descent.

"Hub" Cough Cure, 25 Cents.

Prescription of a Boston physician, dispensed years by a Boston Druggist. One dose will cure any ordinary cough. It acts almost magically Ask J. D. Tully for a 25 cent bottle of Hub Cough Cure.

Have you Thought About It.

Pain is one of the sure things of life, and it becomes then a most important question to have at hand the quickest and most efficient remedy. Polson's NERVILINE cannot fail to cue cramps, toothache, neuralgia, headache, and all pain, internal or external. Nerviline is the most perfect combination ever offered to the public for the relief of pain. It will not cost you much to try it, for you can buy it at Ormond & Walch for 10 cents a trial bottle, which will convince you of its mighty pain relieving power.

ANOTHER railway horror is reported as having occurred in Georgia, on the Western and Atlantic railway, a mail train breaking through a trestle and a portion being precipitated into a roaring torrent. One of the mail officials was burned to death, and several of the train hands were fearfully burned and otherwise badly injured.

How to Make Candy.

This book gives full directions for making all kinds of plain and fancy candy. The receipts for making caramels, chocolate drops, French mixed and all other kinds of candies contained in this book are the same as used by the leading city confectioners. Any one can have these candies at home at less than one third the usual cost. Sent post paid for 50 cents (no stamps taken). Address, ROCHESTER PUBLISHING CO., 24, 33 & 33½ Osburn Block, Rochester, N.Y.

Right at Home Testimony

LEEDS COUNTY, Jan. 9.—We are not in the habit of puffing patent medicines, but we cannot withhold our testimony as to the great value of NERVILINE as a remedy for pain. We have pleasure in recommending it as a never-failing remedy.—JOHN MCARDLE, JOSEPH HUDSON, CYRUS EATON, REV. H. J. ALLEN, BENJAMEN DILLION, and many others.

Thousands of similar testimonials may be seen at our store. Go to Ormond & Walsh drug store and buy a bottle to-day. Nerviline, the sure pop pain cure. Ten cent sample bottles. Large bottles 25 cents, at

A BLACK LETTER RECORD.

THE Globe, in accordance with its amiable custom, is black-lettering Ontario members who voted in the majority in favor of the Government railway policy, with majorities from the other provinces. Upon this list, however, we do not find the name of Mr. Allison, of Lennox. Yet he voted the same way. This is a pretty clear proof that the Globe's black-lettering is not to express disapproval of the particular action of the members thus decorated, but for the purpose of making political capital against them at the next election, even if they have to falsify the list for that purpose. Neither do we find this time the usual appended list of those who "shirked the vote." It might have been inconvenient to place Mr. Mill's name upon the list of "Traitors to Ontario," as the Globe dubs them.

DELIBERATE SLANDER.

THE member of the Globe staff who is retained at Ottawa to telegraph slanderous falsehoods to Toronto is still repeating his insinuations as to the $62,989 erroneously reported as for labourers, gardeners, jobbers, etc. The auditor-general, Mr. Lorn McDougall, has explained to the Public Accounts Committee that this was a blunder of one of his subordinates, who thus described expenditure for repairs on the public buildings, extensive alterations, and so on. It was pointed out to Mr. McDougall that he should be careful to guard against such blunders, as Reform journals would continue to repeat their slanders, founded upon his error, without regarding his contradiction. This prediction is being verified. The Globe correspondent, for instance, says that no such item as $62,989 for labourers, gardeners, jobbers, etc., appeared in Mr. Mackenzie's time. Of course not, for Mr. Lorn McDougall was a creature of Mr. Mackenzie's and took care not to falsify the accounts in such a manner to the disadvantage of his patron.

A GOOD REASON.

THE Newmarket Era is surprised that, if true, no allusion was made in the Ontario Legislature during its recent session to the fact that Mr. W. Coe, who opposed the Minister of Customs in North Hastings in 1882, has recently acquired from the Ontario Government about 125,000 acres of land in the same county. The reason is not far to seek, and comes about in this wise: On the 6th February (the very first day of the session upon which it was possible to make such a motion) Mr. A. F. Wood moved for a return showing:—

"1. The several lots in the Townships of Tudor, Wollaston, Limerick and Faraday, in the County of Hastings, which have been sold, located, disposed of or applied for since Jan. 1st, 1880. 2. The dates of said sales; the persons to whom sold; the prices paid and terms of payment. 3. The dates of the several applications for the purchase or location of said lots."

To this a partial return was only brought down about 3 a.m. on the morning of the 25th March—the day upon which the Legislature was prorogued. Under these circumstances the Era will at once see that it was impossible to make any allusion on the floor of the House to the facts disclosed even by the partial return which "the majority" deigned to lay before the country. Among the important things ordered but omitted from the return were the "price and terms" upon which Mr. Coe obtained nearly 100,000 acres of the 125,000 acres which this return shows he has recently obtained through his friend Mr. Pardee, and if we may judge from the experience of the past Mr. Wood may, if he is very persevering, get the balance of the information asked for last February about the last day of next session. So that under the rule of the present majority in the Ontario Legislature the official information necessary to the proper discussion of Mr. Coe's "big push in mining lands" may be available for the third session of the present Parliament.

Coming of Age of the Czarevitch.

An extensive series of festivities is arranged to take place at Moscow on the 6th of May, the date of the coming of age of the Czarevitch, Nicholas Alexandrovitch, who will then attain his sixteenth year. The Czar and Czrina have promised to attend, and it is announced that at the conclusion of the festivities the Imperial couple will make an extended to the south-eastern provinces of Russia.

S. S. ANNIVERSARY.

Charlotte Street Methodist Church—Sermons by the Rev. J. E. Starr.

Special sermons were preached by the Rev. J. E. Starr, of Newmarket, in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church on Sunday, in connection with the anniversary of the Sunday School of the church. There were very large congregations present at both the morning and evening services, the church being filled to overflowing in the evening.

THE MORNING SERMON.

Mr. STARR, at the morning service, based his remarks on the eighteenth chapter of 1st Kings, from the 41st to the 45th verse, both inclusive. He described graphically the circumstance of the drouth and famine, and, in applying the text, divided the sermon into three heads, viz.: the Prophet's summons to prayer, the Prophet upon his knees, and the answer to prayer. There were many things summoning the church of God to prayer, and they should heed the "sounds of abundance of rain." They should humble themselves before God and pray confidently and persistently, and then there would come a drenching downpour of the Holy Spirit such as never had been before.

THE EVENING SERMON.

Mr. STARR chose for his text at the evening service, Revelations xxi., 5:—"Behold, I make all things new." Although the earth was enveloped in darkness, the church was taught to look forward to victory and triumph. Some told them that the Christian Church was loosing its hold upon the people, and they harped upon this continually. This was called pessimism, and was atheistic in its origin. The air was so surcharged with this idea that the ardor of many was dampened. But the Apostle of the Apocalypse stepped upon the platform of the eternal truth and told by the picture he had seen of the world transformed and renovated, and of the voice he had heard of Him on the great white throne saying "Behold I make all things new." This was an electrifying assurance. He who had spoken all things into existence would speak all things new. He noticed first the process by which all things would be made new. One theory was that ere long Christ would come and clarify and recreate the world by fire, while others believed that the time for miracles was past and that the world would be made new by the working of the Spirit. What if the two theories were combined? When miracles were spoken of the mind was apt to go back to those recorded in the New Testament, but they were only a portion of the miraculous in Christianity. Miracles generally meant the supernatural in the realm of matter. As Christianity was a supernatural religion the miraculous predominated, but it predominated now in the realm of spirit. That was the reason why Christ told the disciples that they would do greater miracles than He performed. Making a saint out of a sinner was a greater miracle than healing a withered hand or a lame foot. A regenerated man was a living wonder—a walking miracle. Such was the process by which the world was to be recreated. To some it might appear to be a slow process at first sight, but they should consider its far-reaching effects. A regenerate man has implanted in him a desire to see his fellowmen regenerated. He goes to the islands of the seas, crosses the thresholds of the mighty eastern empires, girdles the round globe with his achievements, and summons to his aid the forces of nature. Men said it was a slow process, yet, what moved more quickly? Science was 5,000 years finding out the simple fact of the circulation of the blood, and it was 5,800 years before it dreamed of making electricity of practical use. If Christianity was a failure, then science must be a failure. The greatest results have been obtained by slow processes. If the process of Christianity was slow, it was sure and would be triumphant. It would usher in the recreation of all things new. What progress had been made towards the making of all things new? Go back to what was called the golden age of Roman literature, and it was only by prolonged study that they could arrive at any idea of the corruption and helplessness of that time. At that time Christ came to establish a universal kingdom. He, a carpenter, summoned fishermen to His aid. At the time when most men began life He gave up His, and the struggle for victory began. These men, armed with the story of the cross, began to be aggressive. They told that story until the seventy disciples was multiplied by 100,000 living wonders. When it was beginning to give great promise, superstition crept in and overshadowed it like a pall. Art fled and nations died, yet Christianity lived, and at last it lifted and hurled back the pall. The 100 living wonders of the first century had multiplied into 400,000,000 now. The scientific wonders of this century, as the telegraph, &c., were products of Christian manhood and Christian civilization. Look at what Christianity had done towards removing the bitterness existing between nations, and for education, justice and charity. The so-called schools of Ingersollism owed what good they possessed to Christianity. The homes for the poor and helpless, hospitals and asylums were proofs of the church's beneficence. They were told that the church was becoming defunct, but at the first of this century there were 150 missionaries and now there were 7,000 ordained missionaries in foreign missions, besides native assistants, and 3,500,000 adherents in the mission fields. Last year $8,000,000 was contributed towards the evangilization of the world. What institution was to-day closest to the hearts of the race? If they went into any part of Christendom they would find that it was the church of the Lord Jesus Christ. They were told that the church was drifting away from the fundamental truths of Christianity. While this was true of a few pulpits and magazines, the great body of the ministers and the people were true to them. Throughout the world institutions of learning were maintained by Christian philanthropy. Christianity was not a failure. God through it was moving in the direction of all things new. They could see it in the substitution of diplomacy for human butchery. The Bible was more popular than it had ever been. Two copies of it were issued every minute of the day and night and it was accessible to two thirds of the people of the world. The whole earth was mapped out into missionary diagrams, and the struggle between darkness and dawn was going on all over. Our statesmen, educators, etc., were making purer laws and greater efforts for the good of the world. Around the Christian Gibraltar there had thundered the noise of strife from the beginning, but not a stone had been removed, and it stood to day as firm as the everlasting hills, while the same blood-stained banner floated above it. What were the prospects for victory through the triumphs of faith? He could hear now the tramp of the feet and the sound of the riders in the triumphal procession. At last the recreation of all things new would be fulfilled; the church would be crowned with victory, and the cross would be triumphant. The world was being transformed and renovated. One hundred years might not pass before Christianity would be wielding its predestined sway. What was there to hinder it? Some might say there was infidelity, but infidelity was a negation, without creed or organization. Where were its schools and hospitals, or where had they ever been? When had it lifted the drunkard, reformed the gambler, or raised the savages into civilization? Some great men had been sceptics, but infidelity, as an organization, had never done anything for the good of man or the uplifting of the race. Infidelity had been powerless to stop the progress of Christianity, and in the future it would be as powerless to arrest its course. It could never devise a substitute for Christianity. Once for all Christ had died, and never could another be produced. Christianity must prevail. The Gospel was its own clear sounding prophecy of triumph. The character of those who lived out the spirit of Christianity was such that it was commended. They only wanted an outpouring of the Spirit and that was coming. Signs of it were seen in the revivals of Moody and the spread of the Salvation Army, showing a deep religious feeling among the masses of the people. All governments would be absorbed in an overshadowing democracy and God would be Lord of Lords and King of Kings forever. He spoke to inspire them with confidence in the triumph of the cross. On its banner was purity in business, in commerce and in society, and everything that touched the good of man. Not a prayer would be lost and not a charitable act would lose its reward. Christianity was on the winning side, and one day would be lifted the victor's shout, "The kingdoms of the world have become the kingdoms of Christ." Perhaps this would not occur during their natural life, but they would live to see it.

The service was concluded by the Rev. T. Manning pronouncing the benediction.

Suit Against a Navigation Company.

MONTREAL, April 18.—An action was commenced before a special jury in the Superior Court here to-day against the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company, for $25,000 damages on account of the alleged criminal negligence of Capt. Talraverse, of the steamer Sorel, belonging to the company, by which three young men, one named Michaud, and the other two Paradis, the later sons of Chief Paradis, of the city force, lost their lives by drowning in the St. Lawrence. The sad event which led to the institution of the action occurred down the St. Lawrence last summer. The young men were going out boating, and got a tow by the steamer for a short distance. By some alleged bungling the skiff got upset and all three youths, who were students just about to quit college, were drowned.

A BLACK LETTER RECORD.

THE Globe, in accordance with its amiable custom, is black-lettering Ontario members who voted in the majority in favor of the Government railway policy, with majorities from the other provinces. Upon this list, however, we do not find the name of Mr. Allison, of Lennox. Yet he voted the same way. This is a pretty clear proof that the Globe's black-lettering is not to express disapproval of the particular action of the members thus decorated, but for the purpose of making political capital against them at the next election, even if they have to falsify the list for that purpose. Neither do we find this time the usual appended list of those who "shirked the vote." It might have been inconvenient to place Mr. Mill's name upon the list of "Traitors to Ontario," as the Globe dubs them.

DELIBERATE SLANDER.

THE member of the Globe staff who is retained at Ottawa to telegraph slanderous falsehoods to Toronto is still repeating his insinuations as to the $62,989 erroneously reported as for labourers, gardeners, jobbers, etc. The auditor-general, Mr. Lorn McDougall, has explained to the Public Accounts Committee that this was a blunder of one of his subordinates, who thus described expenditure for repairs on the public buildings, extensive alterations, and so on. It was pointed out to Mr. McDougall that he should be careful to guard against such blunders, as Reform journals would continue to repeat their slanders, founded upon his error, without regarding his contradiction. This prediction is being verified. The Globe correspondent, for instance, says that no such item as $62,989 for labourers, gardeners, jobbers, etc., appeared in Mr. Mackenzie's time. Of course not, for Mr. Lorn McDougall was a creature of Mr. Mackenzie's and took care not to falsify the accounts in such a manner to the disadvantage of his patron.

A GOOD REASON.

THE Newmarket Era is surprised that, if true, no allusion was made in the Ontario Legislature during its recent session to the fact that Mr. W. Coe, who opposed the Minister of Customs in North Hastings in 1882, has recently acquired from the Ontario Government about 125,000 acres of land in the same county. The reason is not far to seek, and comes about in this wise: On the 6th February (the very first day of the session upon which it was possible to make such a motion) Mr. A. F. Wood moved for a return showing:—

"1. The several lots in the Townships of Tudor, Wollaston, Limerick and Faraday, in the County of Hastings, which have been sold, located, disposed of or applied for since Jan. 1st, 1880. 2. The dates of said sales; the persons to whom sold; the prices paid and terms of payment. 3. The dates of the several applications for the purchase or location of said lots."

To this a partial return was only brought down about 3 a.m. on the morning of the 25th March—the day upon which the Legislature was prorogued. Under these circumstances the Era will at once see that it was impossible to make any allusion on the floor of the House to the facts disclosed even by the partial return which "the majority" deigned to lay before the country. Among the important things ordered but omitted from the return were the "price and terms" upon which Mr. Coe obtained nearly 100,000 acres of the 125,000 acres which this return shows he has recently obtained through his friend Mr. Pardee, and if we may judge from the experience of the past Mr. Wood may, if he is very persevering, get the balance of the information asked for last February about the last day of next session. So that under the rule of the present majority in the Ontario Legislature the official information necessary to the proper discussion of Mr. Coe's "big push in mining lands" may be available for the third session of the present Parliament.

Talraverse, of the steamer Sorel, belonging to the company, by which three young men, one named Michaud, and the other two Paradis, the later sons of Chief Paradis, of the city force, lost their lives by drowning in the St. Lawrence. The sad event which led to the institution of the action occurred down the St. Lawrence last summer. The young men were going out boating, and got a tow by the steamer for a short distance. By some alleged bungling the skiff got upset and all three youths, who were students just about to quit college, were drowned.

NOTICE.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of THURSDAY, 1st MAY, 1884, for the delivery of the usual Indian Supplies, duty paid, in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, consisting of Flour, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Oxen, Cows, Bulls, Agricultural Implements, Tools, &c.

Forms of Tender and full particulars relative to the Supplies can be had by applying to the undersigned, or to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Regina, or to the Indian Office Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods separately or for all the goods called for in the Schedules.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque of a Canadian Bank, for at least five per cent. of the amount of the tenders for Manitoba, and ten per cent. of the amount of the tenders for the North-West Territories, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

Tenderers are required to make up and attach to their tender the total money value of the goods they offer to supply, or their tender will not be entertained.

The Tender for Beef must be a separate tender; if it includes any other article it will not be considered.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

CHAPTER IV.—Continued.

As the minister entered his parlour, Mr. Palma advanced to meet him, holding out his hand.

"I hope Dr. Hargrove has been prepared for my visit, and understands its object?"

"I am glad to know you, sir, and had reason to expect you. Allow me to present Mr. Palma to my sister, Mrs. Lindsay. I am exceedingly——"

The sentence was never completed, and he stood with his eyes fastened on the child, who leaned against the window, watching him with an eager, breathless interest, as some caged creature eyes a new keeper, wondering, mutely questioning whether cruelty or kindness will predominate in the strange custodian.

For a moment, oblivious of all else, each gazed into the eyes of the other, and a subtle magnetic current flashed from soul to soul, revealing certain arcana, which years of ordinary acquaintance sometimes fails to unveil. From the pastor's countenance melted every trace of doubt and apprehension; from that of the girl all shadow of distrust.

Studying the tableau, Mr. Palma saw the clergyman smile, and as if involuntarily opened his arms; and he was astonished when the shy reticent child who had repulsed all his efforts to become acquainted, suddenly glided forward, and into the outstretched arms of her new guardian. Weary from the long journey, and rigid restraint imposed upon her feelings, the closely pent emotion broke all barriers, and clinging to the minister, Regina found relief in a flood of tears. Mr. Hargrove sat down, and keeping his arm around her, said tenderly:

"Are you so unwilling to come and live under my care? Would you prefer to remain with Mr. Palma?"

She put her hands up, and clasping them at the back of his head, answered brokenly:

"No, no; it is not that. Your face shows me you are good; so good! But I can't help crying; I have tried to keep from it, ever since I kissed the Sisters good-bye; and everything is so strange—and my throat aches, and aches—oh, don't scold me! Please let me cry!"

"As much as you please. We know your poor little heart is almost breaking, and a good cry will help you."

He gathered her close to his bosom, and the lawyer was amazed at the confiding manner in which she nestled her head against the stranger's shoulder. Mrs. Lindsay untied and removed the hat and veil, and placing a glass of water to the parched trembling lips, softly kissed her tearful cheek, and whispered:

"Now, dear, try to compose yourself. Come with me and bathe your face, and then you will feel better."

"Don't take me away. I have stopped crying. It rests me so,—to feel somebody's arms around me."

"Well—suppose you try my arms awhile? I assure you they are quite ready to take you in, and hug you close. Just let me show you how I put my arms around my own child,—though he is a man. Come, dear."

Mrs. Lindsay gently disengaged the clasped hands resting on her brother's neck, and drew Regina into her arms, while, won by her sweet voice and soft touch, the latter allowed herself to be led into another room.

They had scarcely disappeared when Mr. Palma said:

"I find I was mistaken in supposing that you and your ward were strangers."

"We are strangers; at least I never saw her until to-day."

"Did you mesmerize her?"

"Not that I am aware of. What suggests such an idea?"

"She receives your friendly overtures so graciously, and rejected mine with such chill politeness. I presume you are aware of the fact that we have a joint guardianship over this child?"

"If you will walk into the library, where we can escape intrusion, I should like to have some confidential conversation with you."

When he had placed his visitor in his own easy-chair, and locked the door of his library, Mr. Hargrove sat down beside the oval table, and folding his hands before him, leaned forward scrutinizing the handsome non-committal face of the stranger, and conjecturing how far he would be warranted in unburdening his own oppressed heart.

Coolly impassive, and without a vestige of curious interest, the lawyer quietly met his incisive gaze.

"Mr. Palma, may I ask whether Regina's mother has unreservedly communicated her history to you?"

"She has acquainted me with only a few facts, concerning which she desired legal advice."

"Has she given you her real name?"

"I know her only as Madame Odille Orphia Orme, an actress of very remarkable beauty and great talent."

"Do you understand the peculiar circumstances that attended her marriage?"

"I merely possess her assurance that she was married by you."

"Have you been informed who is Regina's father?"

"The name has always been carefully suppressed, but she told me that Orme was merely an alias."

"Have you ever suspected the truth?"

"Really that is a question I cannot answer. I have at times conjectured, but only in a random unauthorized way. I should very much like to know, but my client declined giving me all the facts, at least at present; and while her extreme reticence certainly hampers me, it prevents me from asking you for the information, which she promises ere long to give me."

Mr. Hargrove bowed and leaned back more easily in his chair, fully satisfied concerning the nature of the man with whom he had to deal.

"You doubtless think it singular that Mrs. Orme should commit her daughter to my care, while keeping me in ignorance of her parentage. A few days since, she signed, in the presence of witnesses a cautiously worded instrument, in which she designated you and me as joint guardians of Regina Orme, and specified that should death or other causes prevent you from fulfilling the trust, I should assume exclusive control of her daughter, until she attained her majority, or was otherwise disposed of. To this arrangement I at length very reluctantly assented, because it is a charge for which I have no leisure, and even less inclination; but as she seems to anticipate the time when a lawsuit may be inevitable, and wishes my services, she finally overruled my repugnance to the office forced upon me."

"I must ask you one question, which subsequent statements will explain. Do you regard her in all respects as a worthy, true, good woman?"

"The mystery of an assumed name always casts a shadow, implying the existence of facts, or of reports inimical to the party thus ambushed; and concealment presupposes either indiscretion, shame or crime. This circumstance excited unfavorable suspicions in my mind, but she assured me she had a certificate of her marriage, and that you would verify this statement. Can you do so? Was she legally married when very young?"

"She was legally married in this room eleven years ago."

BELLEVILLE.

ARRIVAL OF CHILDREN.—A number of children from Scotland have arrived at the Marchmont Home Belleville.

LICENSE COMMISSIONERS.—The Ontario License Commissioners met in Belleville on Friday and granted the full number of applications for licenses.

BOBCAYGEON.

STARTED.—The Independent says:—The little Bob saw mill is now in full blast and working well. Mr. W. Bick's shingle mill is also at work, and has a big season ahead of it.

BOATS.—The steamer Victoria is beginning to shape up again. The official inspector of hulls made a thorough investigation of the hull and pronounced it first class. Previous to the fire, the entire hull had been renewed and the the slight charring of the timbers by the fire is rather an improvement than otherwise, the hardening of the surface rendering it less pervious to the wet. The upper works having now to be renewed, they will be arranged specially for the passenger traffic, and it is understood that every convenience and comfort is to be provided, that the size of the boat will permit. In the end, although the firm will have sustained a considerable loss by the fire, they will have a boat much more fitted for the service than otherwise would have been the case. The Beaubocage is in dry dock and is having her hull repaired. The Eva has thrown off its winter dress, and Capt. McCallum is busily engaged in getting her into good order for the season's work.

LINDSAY

A GOOD FRIDAY FIRE.—On the night of Good Friday, at about 9 o'clock, the alarm was sounded. No flames were visible but smoke was rolling from the doors of Farquharson's confectionery store. The brigade had the hose reels out in a hurry, and in a few minutes the branch was playing inside the shop. The fire was first noticed under the staircase, and was supposed to have had occurred from a lamp kept burning at the head of the cellarstairs. The lamp was used when oysters, etc., were taken from the cellar. The fireman worked at a disadvantage as there was no light other than that afforded by a lantern. A second line of hose was laid down and the branch carried into the building from the rear, and the whole lower floor flooded. The men then pushed in, and eventually reached the cellar, where the fire had taken a second start. Ten minutes drenching put the fire completely out. The loss to Mr. Farquharson on stock and fittings was about $300, covered by insurance. The shop was damaged to the extent of about $200, also covered by insurance. The brigade deserves great credit for the intrepid and fearless manner in which they mastered what might have proved a very serious conflagration had it not been promptly checked. The waterworks gave a steady pressure, and all the water that could be used was supplied.

FIRE IN EMILY.—On Saturday morning at about six o'clock, the house owned and occupied by Mr. R. McConnell, took fire and was totally destroyed together with a portion of the contents. Loss partly covered by insurance.

To the Gentlemen of Peterboro'.

We are very glad to be able to state that a large proportion of you are regular customers, but to such of the gentlemen of this town who have been in the habit of doing that most foolish of all foolish things, namely, THROWING AWAY MONEY by paying far more than they ought for their goods, and, though giving exhorbitant prices, we would say, don't DO SO ANY LONGER. By dealing at the City Clothing Store you can always RELY on getting articles of FIRST-CLASS MAKE AND MATERIAL, of the NEWEST POSSIBLE DESIGN and at PRICES hitherto UNPRECEDENTED. Our stock in the undermentioned articles is carefully selected, and very complete, and every gentleman will need one or more of such goods:—

SHIRTS, TIES, GLOVES, CUFFS, COLLARS,
UNDERWEAR, HANDKERCHIEFS, HOSIERY, &c.

LOCAL NEWS

Arrival.

By the evening train from Belleville, on Saturday night, twelve young gentlemen from the old country arrived in Peterborough with the intention of taking up farming.

Personal.

We regret to hear that Mr. Henry Collins, Réeve of Monaghan, and ex-Warden of the County, is very seriously ill with inflamation of the lungs.

Vennor's Predictions.

The probabilities for this week in Mr. H. G. Vennor's almanac are as follows:—

"Summer-like weather, with some days of decided heat. Rapidly advancing vegetation. 'Showery April' to the letter this time. Wind storms in Western States."

An Outside View.

In its article on Cricket in Saturday's issue, the Mail says:—

"The Peterborough men are already on the alert, and it is supposed that, with the new energy in the management, the club will win its way to a good name sooner or later during the season."

Funeral.

The funeral of the late John McGregor, who died on Saturday, took place this afternoon from his late residance on Donegal street. He was an employee of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, whose workshops were closed this afternoon, his former fellow-workmen attending the meeting in a body.

Bible Class.

Young Men are reminded of the Bible Class conducted by the Rev. A. H. Munro this evening in the Young Men's Christian Association. Last Monday night seventy young men attended the class, and it is hoped that to-night the attendance will be even larger. The Association will have to look out for new quarters if the increase in attendance continues.

The Ontario and Quebec Railway.

The Toronto Mail says:—

"Although the formal opening of the Ontario and Quebec railway takes place on May 1st, the line will not be open for regular passenger business until two months later. The object of this is that the whole line may be tested and inspected thoroughly, and that the balasting may be finished off so as to ensure perfect safety when passenger trains are put on the road. In the meantime, however, a heavy freight business is expected principally between eastern points and the North-West."

St. John's Church.

At the morning service at St. John's Church on Sunday, the Rector, the Rev. J. W. R. Beck, announced that the Bishop of the diocese would celebrate the rite of confirmation on July 8th. After dwelling upon the importance of the rite as a means of grace in itself, and as qualifying for admission to the Holy Communion, he showed that it was both a duty and a privilege. Classes would be held every Friday evening at 7 o'clock for the younger candidates, and at half past seven for those of maturer years, in addition to the usual Sunday school preparation. Mr. Beck also announced that the annual collection for the Theological Students' Fund would take place next Sunday both morning and evening. He pointed out how essential it is to provide a fitting education and training for young men for the ministry, and showed the necessity for pecuniary assistance, as the educational course was more expensive and more prolonged than in the case of the other learned professions.

SUDDEN AND SAD.

Mrs. T. Postlethwaite, of Lakefield, Drops Dead at the Midland Station.

Mrs. Postlethwaite, wife of Thomas Postlethwaite, of Lakefield, died very suddenly in town this forenoon. She left home in the morning and came to Peterborough by the stage, intending to go to a sister's in Campbellford in the afternoon, and she and her sister were going to Cobourg to see their mother, Mrs. Jacques, of Cobourg who is very ill.

On the way down from Lakefield Mrs. Postlethwaite appeared to be very cheerful, and did not at all complain of being ill. The stage was driven down to the Midland Station, and as it was going into the yard she said that she had a severe headache. Mr. W. A. Scrimger, of Lakefield, who was also a passenger in the stage, asked whether she was often troubled with it. She replied that she was, and immediately fell forward. Mr. Scrimger caught her, and drew her back into the seat. Her head fell on his shoulder, and she gasped a couple of times, but he did not feel her move.

Having inquired where to find a physician, the driver of the stage drove at once to Dr. King's, but when the doctor saw Mrs. Postlethwaite he pronounced her dead. The stage was then driven to the Commercial House, where it put up, and Dr. Kincaid, who was passing, was called over. The body was then taken to the Council Chamber and laid in the Collector's office.

Dr. King believes, from the suddenness of the death, that the cause must have been heart disease.

Mr. Postlethwaite was telegraphed for at once, and arrived here at about twelve o'clock. Mrs. Postlethwaite had had a slight cold, but had not been ill. Although Mr. Postlethwaite did not know that his wife had suffered from heart disease, he said that she had spoken of her heart palpitating at times. The husband was overcome with grief. The lady was much respected in Lakefield, and the family will receive much sympathy in their sad and sudden affliction.

Turnips.

Another supply of turnips at CARTON BROS

Firemen's Drill.

The Fire Brigade will have a practice at 7 o'clock to-morrow evening. The officers wish to see all the members on hand.

The Bicycle.

A meeting of the Peterborough Bicycle Club will be held in the room adjoining the Mechanics' Institute on Wednesday evening.

The Saved Army.

The attendance at Saturday night's meeting was not as large as usual, but, of course, the silver collection had nothing to do with that. On Sunday, however, there was the usual jam, Lieut. Gall and Miss Pearse had charge of the evening meeting on Sunday.

For Stylish Clothing and Handsome Men's Furnishings, coupled with fair and honest Dealing, try Andrew McNeil's.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Northerly winds, gradually decreasing in force, fair, cool weather, with frosts at night, slightly higher temperature to-morrow.

Fresh and Salt.

Fresh Herring, Fresh Pickerel, Fresh Pike, Smoked Haddie, and Smoked Fish of all kinds on hand. We intend keeping constantly on hand a supply of Fresh Fish, and our customers can depend on getting them at all times, nice and fresh, and at reasonable prices. Fresh Herrings 20 cents per dozen. CARTON BROS., opposite the Market Square.

A Bereavement.

We regret to learn of the death of the youngest son of Mr. Robert Hall, of the firm of Hall, Innes & Co., which occurred on Sunday morning. A melancholy feature in the death of Mr. Hall's little son is that it makes the fourth or fifth bereavement suffered by a close circle of intimate friends. Other members of Mr. Hall's family are ill, and the parents will receive much sympathy.

High Grade Sheep.

The following circular has been issued by the Canadian Land and Emigration Co., Limited, and has been circulated in their townships in the County of Haliburton:—

"The Commissioners being desirous of doing what they can to help the settlers in the townships belonging to the Canadian Land and Emigration Company, and believing that these Townships are well adapted for raising sheep and cattle, propose to encourage the business of sheep farming in the settlement in the following manner:

The Commissioners are prepared to receive applications from settlers whose farms and farm buildings are suitable for the purpose, for high grade sheep which will be loaned to them on the following terms:

The sheep to be kept and attended to by the settler at his own expense for three years, at the end of which time the original number of sheep loaned him by the Company, (which will be from five to ten, as the case may be,) to be returned to the Company together with one-half the increase.

The proceeds of shearing the sheep in the meantime to go to the settler, less sufficient to pay interest to the Company on the cost of the sheep originally loaned to the settler.

JAMES M. IRWIN,
W. H. LOCKHART GORDON } Commissioners.
Haliburton, 15th March, 1884."

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of liver, kidney or stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure, and you will be well rewarded for your trouble besides. All blood diseases, biliousness, jaundice, constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

Bass & Co., Burton-on-Trent, Indin Pale Ale now on draught, at Chamberlain's Restaurant—direct importation.

TORONTO.

G. T. R. WAGES.—The Grand Trunk pay car was in the city on Friday. The wages of the employees of the road were paid as usual, no reduction being made.

NEW ARRIVALS.—About 200 immigrants arrived at the sheds on Friday. The majority were farm hands who, judging from their appearance, are well-to-do. They went west during the afternoon, with the exception of a few who remained over.

SUIT AGAINST THE CITY.—The Mayor has been served with a writ at the instance of County Constable Waites, claiming $2,500 compensation from the city for injuries sustained by his wife by falling on a defective sidewalk at the corner of Major and Herrick streets.

THE Q. O. R. ANNUAL VISIT.—Preparations are being actively pushed forward by the officers of the Queen's Own Rifles for the proposed visit to Brantford on the 24th of May. It is understood that five hundred members of the corps have signified their willingness to celebrate the Queen's natal day at that place.

TRINITY UNIVERSITY CONVOCATION.—The successful candidates at the recent final medical examinations had the degree of M.D.C.M. conferred upon them. There were fifty-seven candidates who received this degree at the Convocation on Thursday, besides six former graduates who got an additional degree to which they were entitled. The list of successful candidates at the primary examination was a very large one and has been published before.

THE HUMBER RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—The Humber Relief Committee, after many meetings and long and careful consideration, have come to a decision as to the amount of damages they will recommend each of the sufferers by the Humber disaster to accept from the Grand Trunk Railway. The apportionment of the amounts between the widows and children has not yet been considered, but will be as soon as administrators have been appointed to the estates. The committee are in hopes that their decision will be accepted by the Grand Trunk railway, but neither the company nor the sufferers are compelled to abide by the recommendations of the committee, and they are at liberty to accept the same or not, just as they see fit. The total amount computed by the committee is $94,300.

A Run on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any drug store as now at Taylor and McDonald's for a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. All persons affected with asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, severe coughs, or any affection of the throat or lungs, can get a trial bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at the above drug store. Regular size $1.

A caucus of all the members of the Manitoba Legislature was held on Thursday night, at which a committee was appointed to draw up a memorandum of the requirements of the Province, to be submitted to the Federal Government by a delegation.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by Taylor & Macdonald.

TAKE YOUR PRESCRIPTIONS and recipes to MORGAN'S Drug Store and have them accurately compounded to your satisfaction. Find MORGAN'S Drug Store.

AN UNPROTECTED FAMILY—Is one that has not that valuable remedy, Hagyard's Yellow Oil in the house for accidents and emergencies. It cures colds, croup sore throat, deafness, rheumatism, neuralgia, chilblains, burns, bruises and all painful injuries.

A CASE MUCH TALKED OF.—The case of Mr. John Morrison, of St. Ann's N.S., who was afflicted with a serious dropsical disease of the kidneys. The best medical aid having failed, his life was despaired of. Two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him. His statement is vouched for by J. D. McLeod, J.P., who knew of his condition. The cure is considered marvellous in his town.

Circular to  the Ladies

Office of Fair, VanEvery & Co.,
Peterborough, April 18, 1884.

On account of the great number who thronged our Millinery Department during the past three days of our formal opening, we fear that some Ladies may have experienced difficultly in getting properly attended to. In order to prevent disappointment in future, we intend, by keeping up a constant supply of Novelties, to make every day a show day in our rooms, which are so well adapted for an extensive display.

We may remark that our Millinery display has received unqualified praise from our customers and the public generally. Such appreciation will stimulate us in concentrating our efforts to excel in this department.

With such rapid and continuous sales as we have had, arrangements for a regular correspondence will now be made with the leading wholesale houses for supplying us with all the beautiful designs and latest fashions as they come in vogue, which the demands of our customers may indicate. Yours respectfully,

TORONTO.

REGISTRAR'S RETURNS.—There were registered at the City Hall the past week 50 births, 10 marriages, and 39 deaths.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT TEST.—The Fire and Gas Committee will meet on Monday afternoon to select the portions of streets upon which the Canada and Toronto Electric Light Companies shall place their lights for the test of systems. It is proposed that the Canada Company shall have King and Queen streets west, and the Toronto Company the remaining streets upon which they have poles. This arrangement will probably be made.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.—A very sad and distressing accident occurred on saturday afternoon, by which the wife of Mr. Robert Gill, Inspector of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, was killed almost instantly on Givens street, near College, shortly after five o'clock. Mr Gill and his wife were riding along the road, the latter being some distance behind her husband. After crossing the bridges at Bell-Woods park a rough portion of the road was reached. It was here that the horse which Mrs Gill was riding stumbled and fell, crushing the unfortunate lady under it. Dr. Davidson, who happened to be passing in company with another gentleman, saw that life was almost extinct, Mrs. Gill was then removed to a cottage near by, and Dr. McCullum was summoned. Before he arrived, however, she had succumbed to her injuries, passing away quietly without once regaining consciousness.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE ACCOMMODATION.—The necessity of having more accommodation at University College was clearly demonstrated on Saturday. The college examinations began on that day, and the medical examinations have been in progress since Monday. Both examinations have to be conducted in one room, Convocation hall. The candidates for the college went in at nine o'clock. At ten o'clock they were interrupted much to their annoyance by the medical students coming in. The medicals were interrupted by the college students going out at eleven o'clock and a new class entering the room at half-past eleven o'clock. Those who have been engaged in examinations will at once see how much valuable time is lost by such interruptions.

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO SENATE.—The following gentlemen, who have been nominated by at least ten members of convocation, are the candidates for the Senate of the University of Toronto:—James Loudon, M. A., James Thorburn, M. D., James Henry Coyne, B. A., Marcellus M. Crombie, M.A., LL.B., R. E. Kingsford, M.A., LL.B., W. B. McMurrich, M.A.

FENELON FALLS.

THE FURNITURE FACTORY.—Mr. McKeown's new furniture factory, commenced five weeks ago, is rapidly approaching completion, and he hopes to be able to set his planer to work in three or four days and begin furniture making a little later. All the machinery has arrived and some of it is in place, the engine and boiler have been erected on good stone foundations, and a tank to hold a plentiful supply of water is now being built.

THE CUT.—For some time past nothing has been heard about the cut which the Government is expected to have made parallel with the canal, in order to afford power to drive various kinds of machinery; but the project has not by any means been dropped. A delay has been caused by Mr. R. C. Smith's claim to the site of the proposed excavation; but this question will be argued in a few days, and, should the decision be in favor of the Government, as is generally anticipated, operations will probably be commenced almost immediately thereafter.

THE CANAL.—So far this season only a few men have been put to work on the canal, and they are engaged at the lower end, where an engine has been busy for some days past pumping out the water behind the dam. We heard early in the week that the engine was not sufficiently powerful, and that a larger one would have to be procured; but, on visiting the scene of operations last Thursday morning, so little water was left that the ability of the engine had evidently been underrated. A ridge of shelly rock between high water mark and the lowest level reached last fall is being removed, and, when the weather becomes settled, a large force of men will be put on and work proceed merrily "all along the line."—Gazette.

THE POLICY OF DYNAMITE.

OPINIONS OF PROMINENT IRISHMEN.

LONDON, April 21.—A Paris correspondent of the London Times has been interviewing Patrick Casey, James Stephens, John O'Leary, Father Hogan, and other prominent Irishmen. Casey strongly favours the dynamite policy. He declares it will probably be extended to blowing up the Atlantic passenger steamers and afterwards merchantmen. Jas. Stephens condemns the principles and practices of the dynamiters and advocates armed revolutions. A continuance of the dynamite policy, he thinks, means the certain death of the revolutionary agitation during the present generation, and perhaps forever. It may besides lead to the expulsion of Irishmen from England. O'Leary disapproves of the dynamite policy on grounds of its inexpedient and criminal character. He favours open rebellion. War between England and Russia, he thinks, would give the Irish a chance to strike an effective blow. Hogan declares the action of the dynamiters is morally a crime, politically a blunder, and socially a disaster. If the Irish get fair play, Ireland, in a few years, will be one of the most prosperous countries in Europe.

ENGLISH DETECTIVES FOILED.

The English detectives are returning from France, having failed to link any of the Irish American suspects with dynamite plots. The French authorities deny that they intend to expel the suspects. In the absence of positive proof of guilt the French Government will not interfere. Even the British Embassy at Paris holds aloof. No trace has been found of the reported private dynamite factories in the north of France.

ENGLAND AND THE SOUDAN.

LONDON, April 20.—A large number of refugees owing to the shortness of provisions left Shendy a few days ago in a steamer for Berber. The steamer ran aground on a sand bank near El Baala. She was soon surrounded by swarms of rebels, who attacked the steamer on all sides and massacred everybody on board. The fugitives numbered 450, including a portion of the Shendy garrison and many women and children.

EL MAHDI'S PECULIAR ACTIONS.

The reports that El Mahdi was recently twice defeated by the Tageba tribes is not believed at Cairo. It is said to be part of his tactics to propagate falsehoods to cloak his movements.

A MEASURE OF CONCILIATION.

The Government has issued a proclamation at Suakin to friendly sheikhs abolishing taxes and requesting their assistance in opening the roads to Berber and Kassala. Sheikh Morghani approves of the proclamation, which he believes will calm the natives.

ADMIRAL HEWETT WELL RECEIVED.

Advices from Admiral Hewett, April 13, say he was then close to Adowa. He had been cordially received along the route from Massawah. He was escorted by Abyssinian horsemen and infantry, and had met with an unparalleled reception.

The War of Steamships Rates.

NEW YORK, April 19.—All the North Atlantic steamship companies have cut steerage rates to and from Europe. There is no indication that cabin rates will be reduced.

The Greeley Relief Expedition.

WYSHINGTON, April 19.—The steamer Bear, the advance ship of the Greeley relief expidition, will probably sail from New York Wednesday or Thursday next. The supply ship Alert is expected at New York in a day or two.

The High Commissioner for Canada.

Sir Charles Tupper left the capital on Saturday for England, to resume his duties as High Commissioner. He will spend some days in Toronto and then proceed to Boston, from which place he sails for Liverpool.

Battleford Quiet.

WINNEPEG April 19.—Advices from Battleford show that the reported Indian uprising is a canard. The Indians are gathering there, and are discussing their usual grievances. The telegraph wire inopportunely grounded immediately after receiving the report, which led to the belief that trouble had occurred.

OTTAWA, April 19.—There is no truth whatever in the report of an Indian uprising at Battleford, and that they had seized the telegraph office, &c. There are no more Indians at Battleford, than have been there all the winter, and everything is quiet.

Nothing Hunts Out Corns.

Like tight boots. Corns are very small affairs but apply to them a pair of tight boots and all other concerns of life sink into insignificance. Tight boots and Putnam's Corn Extractor (the great and only sure cure for corns) may go together, and comfort will be their partner; but don't fail to use Putnam's Corn Extractor. Frauds, cheap, poisonous and dangerous substitutes are in the market. Beware of them. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Poison & Co., proprietors, Kingston.

A CASE MUCH TALKED OF.—The case of Mr. John Morrison, of St. Ann's N.S., who was afflicted with a serious dropsical disease of the kidneys. The best medical aid having failed, his life was despaired of. Two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him. His statement is vouched for by J. D. McLeod, J.P., who knew of his condition. The cure is considered marvellous in his town.

SANITARY INSPECTION.—If you would avoid sickness clear away the filth and rubbish about your premises, establish proper drainage and admit pure air. The skin, kidneys and bowels are the sluiceways of the human body. Regulate these channels of health with Burdock Blood Bitters which act directly to purify the blood and regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys.

ANOTHER GRAND-DAUGHTER.

LONDON, April 21.—The Duchess of Edinburgh has been delivered of a daughter.

SOCIALISTS EXPELLED.

PARIS, April 21.—The Paris police have decided to expel the two Austrian Socialists recently arrested. They also believe that they will presently have sufficient evidence to justify the expulsion of several prominent Irish-Americans.

BERBER SURROUNDED BY REBELS.

LONDON, April 21.—Nubar Pasha fears before long the spirit of rebellion will reach Assouan. He has received a desponding telegram from Hussein Pasha, Governor of Berber, who says the attitude of the population is threatening. He expects Berber will shortly be surrounded and captured by the rebels, who are constantly increasing in number around the town and threatening all the avenues of communication. Hussein Pasha will resign unless troops are sent to his assistance.

GORDON'S INDEPENDENCE.

LONDON, April 21.—General Gordon has notified the British Government that owing to the difficulty and delay experienced in sending and receiving communications, he will henceforth act on his own judgment and responsibility.

FEARFUL ACCIDENT AT BUCHAREST.

LONDON, April 21.—During the performance at the Sidoli circus this evening in Bucharest, the roof of the structure fell in upon the spectators. The lights were extinguished by the crash and a terrible panic ensued, increased by the outbreak of fire. Five dead bodies and one hundred wounded have been carried from the spot. A large number of persons are missing.

REVOLUTIONARY OFFICERS.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 21.—Naval officers Rachmanoff, Dobrotvorski, and Postenikoff have been arrested at Cronstant and imprisoned at St. Petersburg charged with belonging to the revolutionary party. Nine Government officials of superior rank have been arrested at Saratoff on the same charge.

GENERAL GORDON.

LONDON, April 21.—Foreign consuls at Khartoum report on April 9th that Gordon considers the time for treating has arrived. Gordon will send with Col. Stewart, and the Vice Consul Power, who are to return to lower Egypt via Abyssina, all foreigners who choose to accompany them. Gordon has himself no intention of retiring. He hopes England will yet send him aid. He sent a telegram to Sir Evelyn Baring expressing the utmost indignation at the manner in which he has been abandoned by the English Government, and saying that henceforth he will cut himself entirely adrift from those who have deserted him, on whom will rest the bloodguiltiness of all lives hereafter lost in the Soudan.

PROPOSED NEW IRISH PARTY.

PARIS, April 22.—Jas. Stephens is discussing with prominent Irishmen the formation of a new Irish party, which shall embrace the societies now existing which disapprove of Mr. Parnell's theories as well as those which oppose the use of dynamite, the object being to secure united action. A conference will shortly be held here to decide upon the platform and the future operations of the new party.

ABYSSINA AND ENGLAND.

LONDON, April 22.—The King of Abyssinia asks through Admiral Hewett for direct diplomatic relations with England, and wishes to send a mission to London to conclude a treaty defining the boundaries of Abyssinia, and to obtain English aid to organize the Abyssinian army. If England will contribute to the cost of the army he will consent the soldiers being officered by Englishmen. It is not probable the English Governmeut will assent.

THE LATE PRINCE LEOPOLD.

LONDON, April 21.—One of the last acts of the late Duke of Albany, was to sign the memorial, now being prepared at Cannes for presentation to the French Government, praying them not to sell the island of St. Marguerite to the company who is seeking to buy it for speculative purposes.

AMERICAN.

MORMONS IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Three hundred Mormon converts and seventeen missionaries arrived in New York from Europe on Sunday.

THE POCHONTAS MINE.

NEW YORK, April 21.—One hundred and more bodies have thus far been recovered from the Pocahontas mines. The operators say they will resume work in a few days.

THE PRICE OF WHISKEY.

CINCINNATI, April 21.—A meeting of whiskey men at Cincinnati this afternoon decided to fix the price of high wines to-day at $1.10. It is thought that this action indicates that the pool will be maintained.

THE PRESIDENCY.

NEW YORK, April 21.—It is stated that a conference was held in New York last week at which arrangements were made for the nomination of Butler for President, and Congressman Regan, of Texas, for Vice-President, by the anti-monopoly and Greenback parties.

HANLAN AND TRICKETT.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—It is reported here from Sydney that a sculling match with Trickett and Beach against Hanlan for £1,000 has been arranged.

EXTENUATING CIRCUMSTANCES.

THE Orillia Packet severely condemns Mr. Drury, M. P. P. for East Simcoe, as having lost his reputation for probity through holding his seat by virtue of Mr. Mowat's Whitewashing Act. Now the REVIEW will not be suspected of sympathising with Mr. Drury's political views, nor of underrating the iniquity of this most scandalous and corrupt measure. We, however, deem it only right to point out that in the case of Mr. Drury there were extenuating circumstances, which we think the Packet has not fully considered.

Mr. Drury was as much taken by surprise as any member of the House by this dishonest proposal, which was sprung upon the Legislature within a few hours of its prorogation, and was no party to it in advance. He even left the chamber before the division was taken, being too honest to vote for such an outrage. It may be said that his strict duty should have led him to vote against it, but perhaps it would be too exacting to expect him to exercise the extreme self-denial of opposing it actively, and the tacit condemnation of his withdrawal rather than sully his good name by a participation in the dishonor of his party leaders, should not be overlooked.

There is also another point that deserves consideration. In the case of Mr. Drury the chief affect of this fraudulent Act is to validate his election in spite of the merely technical defect of the nomination being held a little later than the legal hour without the result being thereby effected. If it interferes for his benefit in other respects, as to which there seems to be some doubt, at all events it was not framed to relieve him from the consequences of personal corruption and fraud. This is very different from interfering with the courts to force upon misrepresented constituencies men of the degraded character of Dowling and Lyon, who were only elected by the grossest corruption and fraud. One of them indeed, Informer Dowling, has been judicially declared by one of our judges to be unfit even for the meanest office. We would be sorry to class Mr. Drury with men of their stamp, or to place his case in the same category with the participation of Mr. Mowat, his colleagues and supporters, in the fraud and corruption of the other precious pair.

There is certainly no reason to suspect that Mr. Drury had been employed by Mr. Mowat and his colleagues as an informer and an inciter to bribery, and that the Act confirming him in his seat was the payment for these base services, as in the case of Dowling and Lyon.

REVIVING ITS SLANDERS.

SIR HECTOR LANGEVIN a short time ago was falsely assailed by the Globe for having received a testimonial to which contractors under his Department and officials looking to him for promotion, had contributed. Sir Hector, in his place in the House, indignantly refuted these charges; he denied that he knew who had contributed; and he went over the Globe's list of names, showing that they had nothing to do with his Department with the exception of the single case of a contractor who publicly denied that he had contributed. Not a member of the Reform party had a word to say in defence of their slanderous organ, and yet, now that the session is over, the Globe deliberately repeats its exploded falsehood that "the chief contributors to his testimonial were those who had dealings with the Department in which he presided." It is not strange that the people of Canada have little sympathy with such an untrustworthy and dishonest journal, or with leaders who willingly countenance such slanders for their benefit, and never repudiate them, though they dare not attempt to substantiate them in the House.

Edinburgh University Tercentenary.

The celebration of the Edinburgh tercentenary has filled several days with an elaborate programme of speeches, dinnners, balls, academic ceremonies, and every kind of attraction for men of the first scientific and literary celebrity from every quarter of Europe, the University conferring no fewer than 120 degrees of doctor of laws and fourteen of doctor of divinity, the latter including divines of the widest theological diversity. Mr. Lowell, Mr. Browning, M. de Lesseps, Count Nigra, Professor Helmholz and M. Pasteur were among the guests.—Mail.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

VOICE OF THE PRESS.

Backing Blake.

The force of what Mr. Blake has said has been somewhat broken by the fact that the chief Grit organ, behind his back, waved a flag to the French Tories, and signalled them that if they came over to Mr. Blake they could make terms.—Toronto Telegram (Independent).

Lost, Strayed, or Stolen.

Will some kind friend get out a search warrant to find the great Government crisis that was expected to make the pendulum of victory hang over on the Grit side. It is really too hard to keep Mr. Blake in such suspense.—Ottawa Citizen.

A "Times" Innovation.

The Times has startled its readers by publishing a signed book notice, and then a long article on Russia by Stepniak, of suspicious veracity. The Pall Mall Gazette hails the new departure as the end of a tedious superstition of the English press.—Mail.

A Correct Opinion.

While Goldwin Smith in his weak way is agitating the annexation of the entire Dominion to the United States, the common sense of Canada is wholly against it. Those who are not over loyal to England want independence, if they want anything. There is no more talk, or wish, or feeling about this question of annexation in Canada than there is in the United States.—New York World.

Cheap Postage.

The two-cent postal rate adopted in the United States seems to be working with satisfactory results. While the number of postal cards taken out has considerably decreased the number of letters has increased. The loss to the revenue by the reduction of the postage rate from three cents to two will be small. The Canadian postal authorities at Ottawa show no signs as yet of following the example of their American contemporaries, although letters from the States have to be carried at the two-cent rate to any office in Canada, whereas Canadian letters require a three cent stamp.—Toronto Telegram, (Indpt.)

Complimentary Expulsion.

Mr. Woodworth was indeed expelled from the Nova Scotia Legislature. He was persecuted by a corrupt Grit majority. He brought an action at law against the Speaker and the Government and the majority; and he won his suit and compelled them to pay damages by the decision of the Supreme Court of the province and of the Supreme Court of the Dominion. He did more than that. He exposed the corrupt railway policy of the Grit party. He exposed one of the most ignorant of their bumpkins in a disgraceful attempt to sell the Speakership. He fought them on every hustings; and next to the gigantic efforts of Sir Charles Tupper the victory of 1878 in Nova Scotia in local and Dominion politics was due the brilliant efforts of Douglas Woodworth.—Toronto Mail.

Another Two-faced Shield.

It is true Mr. Blake has issued an amended and expurgated edition of his speech for Ontario; and that he has written letters denying he included Free Masons and Oddfellows in his general denunciations. But, as we have said, the speech as circulated by his political friends in Quebec is not so altered; and he is as eager to be understood in that Province to condemn Free Masons and Orangemen alike as he is to be understood in Ontario to have singled out the Orange body for attack. It is in keeping with his tricky character to do that. He never made an honest speech in his life. He is a demagogue and a trickster. He would run with the hare and hunt with the hounds. He would have the support of Free Masons and Oddfellows in Ontario and have the credit in Quebec for opposing them.—Hamilton Spectator.

SPRINGVILLE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

AGRICULTURAL.—The genial weather of the last few days has revived the greater part of the fall wheat crop in this section, and started the spring sowing; the roads however, need a little more influence from Old Sol.

A FINE HORSE.—Messrs. Robert and William Bothwell, who, last year lost the celebrated horse Statesman have purchased another equally good from Mr. Grandy, of Manvers, and expect to hold the honours of good stock for this neighborhood.

TO THE FRONT.—Mr. Wm. Bidgood has his usual supply of harrows etc., good mechaniam, good material, and an honest article throughout are characteristic of Mr. B.

PERSONAL.—Miss. Edminson teacher of the Town Hall school has been compelled to retire, it is hoped only for a short time, on account of illness; her place is efficiently filled by Miss Keele, of Peterborough. Mr. Francis Beavis who cut his foot in January last, is still unable to walk but is improving.

COBOURG.

A TROPHY.—On Monday Capt. Dumble, of Cobourg Battery, received a very handsome badge for Sgt. Russel, who was one of the team that took the prize at Shoeburyness last year, for quickness in shifting, when they beat the flower of the English army. The badge is a very handsome one, with royal arms and crown, on crimson center, surrounded by a wreath of maple leaves, and the words "Shoeburyness, 1883," all worked in gold thread.

BOTH ARMS CUT OFF.—On Tuesday evening about a quarter past eight o'clock, just after the Local arrived from the west, a man named John Moriarity, met with an accident which occasioned the loss of both of his arms. After getting off the train he walked down the platform, with the supposed intention of going across to the hotel to get a drink. The train began to draw down, to go on the siding for the night, when he made an effort to pass in front of it, and jumped off the platform to do so. He fell with his right arm across the rail, and the train passed over it, crushing it between the elbow and the shoulder, and by some means he got the other arm across, and it was also crushed. Medical aid was called and both arms were amputated. The man has a slim chance of recovery.—Sentinel Star.

SAVED AND UNSAVED.—On Good Friday a baseball match between the "Saved and the Unsaved" was played on the grounds south of the Arlington Hotel. It resulted in a victory for the "Saved" by twelve to nine.

BELLEVILLE.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.—The electric light is being introduced into the city of Belleville.

THE ASSIZES.—There are 34 cases for trial at the coming assizes at Belleville, 28 jury and 6 non-jury.

PURCHASE BY THE GOVERNMENT.—The brick building, immediately south of the Post Office on Pinnacle street, is now being demolished. The site has been purchased by the Dominion Government.

THE FERRY.—Capt. Jellett has entered into arrangements with the merchants for running the ferry steamer Prince Edward, and all the difficulties in the way have been removed. The work of constructing the docks will be begun at once.

HOW TO PREVENT FIRES.

The following simple precautions suggested by the New York Independent, if strictly followed, would prevent a great many destructive fires. The rules might be posted in every store, dwelling, and factory with good results:

The leading causes of fires are kerosene oil, matches, and furnaces.

1. Always buy the best quality of oil.
2. Never make a sudden motion with a lamp, either in lifting it or setting it down.
3. Never place a lamp on the edge of a table or mantle.
4. Never fill a lamp after dark, even if you should have to go without a light.
5. See that the lamp wicks are always clean and that they work freely in the tube.
6. Never blow out a lamp from the top.
7. Never take a light to a closet where there are clothes. If necessary to go to the closet, place the light at a distance.
8. Use candles just as much as possible in going about the house and in bedrooms. They are cheaper, can't explode, and for very many purposes are just as good as lamps.
9. Matches should always be kept in earthen jars, or in tin.
10. They should not be left so rats or mice can get hold of them. There is nothing more to the taste of a rat than phosphorus. They will eat it if they can get at it. A bunch of matches is almost certain to be set fire if a rat gets at it.
11. Have good safes in every place where matches are used, and never let a match be left on the floor.
12. Never let a match go out of your hand after lighting it until you are sure the fire is out, and then it is better to put it in a stove or earthen dish.
13. It is far better to use the safety matches, which can only be lighted upon the box which contains them.
14. Have your furnaces examined carefully in the fall, and at least once during the winter by a competent person. All of the pipes and flues should be carefully looked to.
15. If there are any closets in the house near chimneys or flues, which there ought not to be, put nothing of a combustible nature into them.
16. Never leave any wood near a furnace, range, or stove to dry.
17. Have your stove looked to frequently, to see that there are no holes for coal to drop out.
18. Never put any hot ashes or coal in a wooden receptacle.
19. Be sure that there are no curtains or shades that can be blown into a gaslight.
20. Never examine a gas meter after dark.

Fires, of course arise from other causes than those we have stated. Smokers burn up much valuable property which is not in the shape of cigars. Bunches of oiled rags of the most inanimate nature in themselves still perform the most wonderful feats in the destruction of property. Tramps, with their old pipes, will creep into barns and haymows, and servants will be careless in thousands of ways, but if every person who owns property will give the subject attention, and see that those around him are posted, and see that reasonable rules are always obeyed, many thousands of dollars could be saved annually which are now burned out of existence.

United States Wheat Prospects.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Crop reports from the winter and spring wheat belts of Indiana, Illinois Mitchigan, Iowa, Lebraska, Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, show that winter wheat has only been damaged in a few localities, and is now doing well. Spring wheat prospects are not cheering, owing to the continued cold wet weather.

Railway Litigation.

MONTREAL, April 19.—The arguments in the disputed case of the right of the Grand Trunk railway to run through freight to the west over a part of the Canadian Pacific to the junction with the new branch known as Jacques Cartier built by the former, took place here to-day before Mr. Justice Mathieu. Mr. Bethune, Q. C., and Mr. Lacoste, Q.C., represented the companies respectively. Judgment was reserved.

Have you Thought About it.

Pain is one of the sure things of life, and it becomes then a most important question to have at hand the quickest and most efficient remedy. Polson's NERVILINE cannot fail to cue cramps, toothache, neuralgia, headache, and all pain, internal or external. Nerviline is the most perfect combination ever offered to the public for the relief of pain. It will not cost you much to try it, for you can buy it at Ormond & Walsh for 10 cents a trial bottle, which will convince you of its mighty pain relieving power.

Right at Home Testimony

LEEDS COUNTY, Jan. 9.—We are not in the habit of puffing patent medicines, but we cannot withhold our testimony as to the great value of NERVILINE as a remedy for pain. We have pleasure in recommending it as a never-failing remedy.—JOHN MCARDLE, JOSEPH HUDSON, CYRUS EATON, REV. H. J. ALLEN, BENJAMEN DILLION, and many others.

Thousands of similar testime niais may be seen at our store. Go to Ormond & Walsh drug store and buy a bottle to-day. Nerviline, the sure pop pain cure. Ten cent sample bottles. Large bottles 25 cents, at

MISS ARMSTRONG.

☞One Door North of Hall's Confectionery Store, George St., Peterboro'.

To the Gentlemen of Peterboro'.

We are very glad to be able to state that a large proportion of you are regular customers, but to such of the gentlemen of this town who have been in the habit of doing that most foolish of all foolish things, namely, THROWING AWAY MONEY by paying far more than they ought for their goods, and, though giving exhorbitant prices, we would say, don't DO SO ANY LONGER. By dealing at the City Clothing Store you can always RELY on getting articles of FIRST-CLASS MAKE AND MATERIAL, of the NEWEST POSSIBLE DESIGN and at PRICES hitherto UNPRECEDENTED. Our stock in the undermentioned articles is carefully selected, and very complete, and every gentleman will need one or more of such goods:—

SHIRTS, TIES, GLOVES, CUFFS, COLLARS, UNDERWEAR, HANDKERCHIEFS, HOSIERY, &c.

THE SECRETS OF THE SPRING.

Come out and hear the robins sing,
And hear the bluebirds' tale of spring,
And see the swallows on the wing.

Come out and listen, listen low,
And hear the grasses as they grow,
And list the little winds that blow.

And learn their secret well—
The secret that they softly tell
To bird and bee in drowsy dell,

Of bloomy banks that are to be,
Of fragrant field and leafy tree,
And all the summer mystery

Of bud and blossom, flower and fruit
That quickens now in sap and root,
And now in tender springing shoots

Come out, come out, the days are long
But nature sings her secret song
In secret ways—the days are long.

But swift as sweet from day to day,
From hour to hour, the tuneful lay
Runs headlong on a changeful way.

Come out, then, in the early glow
Of early springtime's bud and blow,
Come out and hear the grasses grow

And all the secrets of the spring
That melt and murmur, speak and sing,
To ears attuned to listening.

—Nora Perry, in the Manhattan.

THE LADIES' COLUMN.

BLACK LACE.

To make old black lace look as good new, dip in alcohol, squeeze dry and wind smoothly and straightly around a large black bottle, or jar, and let it remain until perfectly dry.

THE WOMEN FO'K.

They has plagued my heart an' pleased my e'e,
An' teased an' flattered me at will,
But aye, for a' their witcherie,
The pawky things, I lo'e them still.

—Hogg.

HOW TO BUY SILK.

An experienced buyer of silks says that a good test to secure one from being deceived in the quality of black silk is to pinch a specimen on the bias and afterward pull it in an opposite direction. If the crease made by the pinch looks like a similar fold in a piece of writing paper, reject the piece unhesitatingly. On the contrary, if the mark smooths out and is hardly distinguishable, it is safe to purchase.

MATCHES.

If John marries Mary, and Mary alone,
'Tis a very fair match between Mary and John.
But if John weds a score, oh the claws and the scratches!
It will not be a match, but a bundle of matches!

—Cowper.

VEILS.

The spring of 1884 has brought us in a vast variety in veils. Fashion in this line, as in all others, is apparently spending its strength in modifying the old rather than in inventing the new. To obtain a veil that shall suit the dress should in general be the aim of the purchaser. Transparent veils suit some women, not all.

UNDERWEAR.

There seems no limit to the extent to which ladies' underwear is ornamented now-a-days, silks, laces and satin being frequently lavishly used.

EMBOSSED GOODS.

Ribbons, satins, silks, etc., are now very handsomely stamped with patterns en relief or in relievo, as it is sometimes termed. This is but another example of fashion in the nineteenth century modifying old and well-known ideas. It is fair to say, however, that the modifications presented are so exquisite that their prototypes are hard to recognize. A very pretty combination is a ribbon embossed on one side with a floral pattern and shot on the other, especially if the ribbon be used for a bow, as then both sides become visible.

A PROBLEM SOLVED.

Which is of greater value, pritbee say,
The bride or bridegroom? Must the truth be told?
Alas, it must!—The bride is given away,
The bridegroom often regularly sold.

THE FASHIONABLE JACKET.

There is a decided return of favor this spring towards short jackets, after the rage for very long mantles and redingotes reaching nearly to the foot of the dress skirt. The most stylish and fashionable jacket is single breasted, has a wide turn-over collar, and is slanted off at right angles over the waist line. Its pockets, which are numerous, are all square and covered with velvet or braiding.

DO GIRLS SWEAR?

The Philadelphia Progress says:—Most any girl who is frank will tell you yes, that most girls do swear upon occasions. Their swearing is not shocking, except as all swearing is shocking, and that any bad done by the weaker sex is worse than it done by ours. Girls swear as they smoke cigarettes, when nobody is about, and because they think it does them good. They keep their swearing as a secret gratification, for no one is better satisfied than themselves how badly the habit would fit them. The swearing of girls, such as it is, is a mere declaration of power and independence; we can swear if we choose, and we will swear when we want to. But they are careful, very careful, as to when and where. No girl ever swears when real angry. Then she cries. Swearing is a weapon she does not know how to use. Her swearing means nothing. It never even goes up as high as the big D. It is all small, very small d's, and a combination of genuine oaths so mixed that all their vigour is gone.

THE FASHIONABLE CORSAGE.

Ladies continue faithful to the corsage with pointed basque and cut well off the hips, which, better than any other, suits Louis XV. style of costume but besides this, is a pleasing contrast in the shape of the round waist, encircled by band or sash. Dresses of the directoire and Premier Empire periods are no startling exceptions.

A PUZZLER.

One of two Newport girl chums received a letter from her young man, and as she was reading it as they were going along she said: "I wonder what he means by this: 'I will see you anon.' I wonder what kind of a see that is?" "Blessed if I know," said the other. "He has seen me every way that I know of that a fellow could see a girl, but maybe it's a new fashioned way."

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

TO WASH WINDOWS.—When you wish to wash off your windows without much trouble or taking them out, or the glass over pictures of mirrors, take a piece of newspaper and wet in soft water and go over them thoroughly; then polish with dry newspaper and you will be pleased with the result.

TO THICKEN GRAVY.—In thickening gravy with corn flour it is best to add the corn flour the last thing as it gets thin afterwards, if the gravy is allowed to get cold.

COVERS FOR TEA-TRAYS.—Covers for small tea-trays are scalloped around the edge, and then bottonholed with scarlet, brown or blue, with little figures in the centre, or corners are worked in the same color that is chosen for the border.

TO REMOVE STOPPERS.—To remove glass stoppers attach one end of a stout cord to something firm, wind it once around the neck of the bottle, hold the end firm with the one hand, and with the other hand move the bottle rapidly back and forth. The friction will readily heat the glass enough to expand it just where it is needed.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA.

ENGLAND.

A NEW system of signalling the value of hits is to be introduced at Wimbledon in July.

THE late Prince Leopold was a Past Grand Senior Warden of the Masonic Grand Lodge of England, and Provincial Grand Master of Oxfordshire.

THE nation's expenditure on intoxicating liquors in 1883 amounted to £125,477,275, a decrease of £774,084. The total increase in 1882-3, as compared with 1881, was £1,597,185.

SOME extensive gunpowder works in England are now lighted by the electric light, they being the first works of the kind where this safe mode of illumination has been adopted. The works are very extensive, at least two miles in length. The dynamo is placed near the centre of the works. Very long mains were thus necessary, as each dangerous building is about two hundred yards from its neighbour.

IRELAND.

DAMAGE to the extent of £100 was done by fire at Barbour & Coombe's Foundry, Belfast, on Sunday, the 23rd March.

LORD DESART, master of the Kildare hounds, will not continue as master after this year, owing to the state of sport in the country.

PRINCE Edward of Saxe Weimar will succeed General Sir Thomas Steele in command of the troops in Ireland if the Government gives consent.

Mr. Chas. Dawson, M.P., and Mr. Michael Davitt were presented with the freedom of Limerick on April 14th. In connection with the event a monster meeting was held, at which resolutions were adopted favouring home rule for Ireland and expressing confidence in Mr. Parnell.

SEVEN men were arrested at Killarney, on March 23rd, under the Crimes Act. They were marching in military order along the road near the police barrack at Mulgrave when the police sallied out and arrested them.

THE new branch railway, connecting the towns of Clara and Banagher, has been inspected by Major General Hutchinson, who expressed himself satisfied with the line, which will shortly be opened for traffic.

A DESTRUCTIVE fire broke out on the 30th of March, at the North Wall, Dublin, in the oil stores of Mr. Isaac Beckett. They contained four thousand barrels of oil. The adjoining cabinet and joiner works of Messrs. Martin were completely destroyed. The loss is estimated at £10,000.

FLATTERED!

From the many complimentary remarks made by ladies who visited our MILLINERY SHOW ROOMS on our Opening Days, we feel more than flattered; competent judges have pronounced it the BEST DISPLAY we have ever made, and the most tangible proof is the fact that we have taken more orders than on any previous opening.

OUR MANTLE DEPARTMENT

is now in working order, and is still in charge of MISS STRATTON, who for the past two seasons has given general satisfaction as to Style, Fit and Work.

This Department will be found complete in all the new materials for MANTLES, consisting of:—

Plain Silks, Ottoman Silks, Saten de Lyons, and a New Material in Black Kamugario Cloth, just opened.

This Cloth is specially recommended for DOLMANS and MANTLES, as it is not so heavy as the ordinary Mantle Cloth and heavier than Cashmere, and all wool.

LOCAL NEWS

Police News.

There were two tramps in the cells last night. The Court had a rest this morning.

Personal.

Mr. A. Caswell, Travelling Passenger Agent of the Ontario and Quebec Railway, was in town on Monday.

Removal.

The offices of Messrs. Dumble and Henry, barristers, &c., has been removed to Mr. Cox's block, over the Bank of Commerce.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds mostly northerly, continued fair weather, stationary or slightly higher temperature.

Clear up the Yards.

The Health Inspectors are after those who are neglecting to clean up their yards, with a sharp stick. They are sending out notices, and if these warnings are not heeded, more vigorous measures will be taken. Look to your yard at once.

Proposed Military Display.

The Mail of Monday says:—

"The 14th Battalion of Kingston have signified their intention of being present at the military display in connection with the semi-centennial celebration in Toronto if it can be arranged to be held on Dominion Day. The 2nd Cavalry corps of Cobourg and Peterborough expect to be present if satisfactory arrangements can be made with the Ontario and Quebec railway."

Lacrosse Notes.

The new badges for the club have been ordered. They will consist of cardinal ribbon, with a narrower light blue ribbon with the name of the club on it, leaving a cardinal border around the blue.

The grounds in Ashburnham are now dry enough for the players to practice running on, and the committee hope to see the boys at work practising at once.

Journalistic.

The London Advertiser gives proof not only of the enterprise of its proprietors, but also of the progress of the press in Canada. It is now printed from stereotype plates, and on a Bullock Printing Press, which prints from the web, and delivers the papers folded, pasted and ready for mail. Its typography and arrangement are excellent, and as a newspaper we can give it high commendation—we will say nothing about its politics on this occasion.

P. B. C.

A meeting of the Peterborough Boating Club was held at the Boat House on Monday evening. There was a good attendance, showing that a lively interest is being taken in the affairs of the club. Sixteen new members were elected and a number of other names were proposed for membership. The members of the Property Committee are already at work. A special committee was appointed to arrange for a club regatta to open the season, to be held on the Queen's Birthday, in case the usual sports held by the Cricket Club and Boating Clubs should fall through. It is felt that there is good material in the Club for the organization of a four-oar crew. A committee was also appointed to make arrangements for the holding of a concert in aid of the club. It is understood that Miss Lenora Clench, who so delighted the audience at the concert given by the Cricket Club, has consented to play at this concert before her departure for Germany.

METHODIST ANNIVERSARY.

The Charlotte Street Church Sunday School Celebration.

A public meeting was held in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church on Monday evening in connection with the anniversary of the Sunday school. There was a very large attendance of the pupils of the school and of members of the congregation.

The Rev. T. Manning, B. A., pastor of the church, occupied the chair, and in his opening remarks said that the Sunday School had made rapid progress since the room was enlarged and improved last year. It was now a very comfortable room. He referred in a touching manner to the losses the school had suffered through death during the year.

The children, who occupied seats on temporary platforms, provided the singing during the evening, and they sang very nicely, showing careful training by their instructors in this department, Mrs. Chambers and Mr. Porteous. The infant class, who had prepared their pieces under Miss Stephens' guidance, sang two pieces in such a manner as to draw forth loud applause.

Recitations were also given by the pupils of ot the Sunday School, and they acquitted themselves in a very creditable manner, one, "The Last Hymn," being especially well rendered.

Mr. GEO. A. COX, Secretary of the school, gave a verbal report. He said that the average attendance at the school had, since its commencement, increased from 23 to 157, from which fact it would be easily seen that more accommodation was required. This accommodation had been provided, at an expense of $1,066.61. The Ladies' Aid Society, in addition to furnishing the church, had undertaken these improvements in the Sunday school room, and they had reduced the debt on the room to $475. The collections at the services on Sunday, which were for the benefit of the school, amounted to $50.73, and they had $28 cash on hand, with a liability for current literature amounting to $53. He thought this was a good exhibit, and they also wished to make additions to the library.

The Rev. J. E. STARR delivered a vigorous address. He dwelt on the importance of the Sunday School, as it would settle the question of the character of the church of the future, would solve the problem as to the time when the world would be evangelized, was a fire brigade turning the waters of life upon the fires of sin, and was the chief factor in determining the destiny of the nation. He congratulated the congregation on the Sunday school room they possessed, as such rooms should be bright, well ventilated, comfortable and cosy. The world made its schools, the bar-rooms, saloons and theatres, attractive to destroy, and the church should make its school rooms attractive to save. Money was needed for these schools, but money had to be expended on the children, either to educate and save them when young or to restrain them when older. The address was attentively listened to and the speaker was loudly applauded when he resumed his seat.

Mr. J. FRITH JEFFERS, superintendent of the school, then distributed prizes for good attendance to the following pupils:—Emma Morrow, Bertha Brundrett, Alice Kingdon, Edith Cameron, Jessie Brundrett, J. Kingdon, Samuel Stanton, Percy Hamilton, Wm. Redmond, Bertie Cox, Bella Morrow, Willie Kingdon and Walter Brundrett.

Votes of thanks were tendered to the ladies and gentlemen who had trained the children for the anniversary, and to the Ladies' Aid Society for their services to the school.

The meeting was concluded by the Rev. J. E. Starr pronouncing the benediction.

Wanted, two good Pant Makers. Apply at Andrew McNeil's.

STRAY SHOTS:

Notes of the Saved Army, their Meetings and Sayings.

The attendance on Monday evening was not as large as usual, yet there was a good audience.

Lieut. Annie White was in command, assisted by Miss Pearse and other soldiers.

Mr. W. A. Scrimger officiated as reader of the Scripture.

Two persons forsook the ways of sin and went forward to the penitential bench.

Lieut. Gall was in command at Lakefield.

The Council of War is being held this week at Cobourg. This station is represented by Lieut. Munt, Sergt. Byrne, and Messrs. G. B. Sproule and R. Weir.

Gymnastics for Ladies.

On Tuesday afternoon Mr. E. W. Johnston held his first class in calisthenics for ladies. A very goodly number attended—over a dozen being present, we believe. We recommend the young men to look after their laurels. One of M. Du Maurier's nineteenth century mothers, we remember, boasted that there was "not one of her daughters but could knock down her own father!"

Office of the Singer Manufacturing Co.,
PETERBOROUGH, April 22, 1884.

As the Company have deemed it advisable to make a change in the management of this office, Mr. W. S. Hyland will, until further notice, have charge of the management of the office, and Mr. J. E. Murray will again travel in the interests of the Company, with his headquarters in Toronto.

JAS. M. MARSHALL,
General Manager for Ontario.

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of liver, kidney or stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure, and you will be well rewarded for your trouble besides. All blood diseases, biliousness, jaundice, constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

Bass & Co., Burton-on-Trent, India Pale Ale now on draught, at Chamberlain's Restaurant—direct importation.

The Midland Railway.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Midland Railway of Canada, which was to have been held this afternoon, was postponed until Thursday, May 8th.

A Fire.

The fire alarm was sounded at about a quarter after two o'clock this afternoon. The occasion of it was a fire in the house of Mr. Robert Moore, on Sherbrooke street, near the North Monaghan road. Children while at play set fire to a bed, and the flames caught in the floor, but they were extinguished before much damage was done. The firemen turned out but their services were not required.

Wanted, two good Vest Makers. Apply at ANDREW McNEILS.

Change of Management

A change has taken place in the management of the Singer Sewing Machine Company's agency in Peterborough, Mr. H. S. Hyland succeeding Mr. J. E. Murray. Mr. Murray will travel in the interests of the company, as a superintending agent. Many will join in regretting that this change necessitates Mr. Murray's removal from Peterborough, and he will carry with him warm wishes for his welfare. His headquarters will be in Toronto.

Lecture in Aid of Mission School.

Prof. A. B. Kent will lecture on Electricity and Chemistry on the evening of Tuesday, 29th instant, in the school room of the George Street Methodist Church.

"Having heard Mr. Kent's lectures with experiments, I can freely bear testimony to the fact that they are entertaining and useful in a high degree."—H. Coleman, Wesleyn Minister.

"Prof. Kent's lectures on Magnetism and Electricity elicited much interest and attention and I commend the whole as calculated to benefit and awaken an interest in the wonderful works of nature."—H. B. Osler, Incumbent of St. Mary's, Lloydtown.

Hereditary Scrofula.

Are you aware that in your blood the taint of scrofula has a prominent place? This is true of every one. It is liable at any time, on the slightest provocation, to develope itself in some insidious disease. Consumption and many other diseases are outgrowths of this impurity of the blood, Shaker Blood Syrup has a wonderful power over all scrofulous troubles, as the remarkable testimonials we have received unmistakably prove.

We refer by permission to Mrs. P. Elliott, Hanover, Maine, who was cured by Shaker Blood Syrup of 11 Scrofula Sores, the severity of which confined her to the house for two years. Six months, previous to taking Shaker Blood Syrup, she could not get about her room without crutches. Her friend says I did not think it possiable for her to live many months she was reduced to a mere skeleton. Her cure is hardly less than a miricle. There is no doubt that in Shaker Blood Syrup, we have the most remarkable medicine that has ever been produced, and a positive cure for Syphilis and Scrofula in their numerous forms.

A Run on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any drug store as now at Taylor and McDonald's for a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. All persons affected with asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, severe coughs, or any affection of the throat or lungs, can get a trial bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at the above drug store. Regular size $1.

Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

Is it not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of those distressing complaints? If you think so call at our store and get a bottle of Shiloh's vitalizer. Every bottle has a printed guarantee on it, use accordingly, and if it does you no good it will cost you nothing. Sold by J. D. Tully.

A PANIC was caused in Brooklyn theatre on Saturday night owing to the cry of a drunken man being mistaken from an alarm of fire. Fortunately, however, quiet was restored with no more serious result than a few women fainting.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by Taylor & Macdonald.

AN UNPROTECTED FAMILY—Is one that has not that valuable remedy, Hagyard's Yellow Oil in the house for accidents and emergencies. It cures colds, croup sore throat, deafness, rheumatism, neuralgia, chilblains, burns, bruises and all painful injuries.

MUCH IN A LITTLE.—Many proprietary medicines, if they c re at all, require such a large quantity to produce effect that it makes them very uncertain and expensive remedies. Not so with Burdock Blood Bitters. It is highly concentrated, and for all diseases of blood, liver and kidneys, one or two bottles will cure more than gallons of the weak mixtures usually sold. Send for facts and figures.

PRESENTATION.

On Tuesday afternoon the members of St. Luke's Church choir presented Miss Lech with a handsome jewel case, as a recognition of her services as organist of the Church, and on the occasion of her approaching marriage. The presentation was made at the residence of Mr. Lech by some of the members of the choir, and the following address was read by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw:—

DEAR MISS LECH,—The members of St. Luke's Church choir beg to offer you their most sincere congratulations on your approaching marriage, and ask your acceptance of the accompanying jewel case as a very inadequate token of their earnest good-will and wishes for your future happiness.

In your position as organist for many years, the undersigned have had more than ordinary facilities for knowing you intimately. They cannot speak too strongly of their appreciation of your many excellent qualities, your patience, skill and unfailing good nature, and they sincerely regret your departure from Peterborough. You have endeared yourself very much to all who knew you at St. Luke's, and in losing you the Church loses a tried friend, a skilled musician, and a faithful and steadfast worker—one, indeed, whose place it will be most difficult to fill.

Had opportunity permitted, we should have been glad to tender you some more valuable token of esteem—one more commensurate with your deserts and our own wishes—but as only a few hours have elapsed since we knew of your approaching marriage, we must ask you, with the unfailing kindness which has ever characterized you, to accept the will for the deed.

That you and your partner may long be spared, that you may both enjoy a full measure of health and prosperity, and above all that the blessing of God may be vouchsafed te you in all coming time, is our sincere and heartfelt wish.

(Signed,)

PRINCE LEOPOLD.

During an interview yesterday, Canon Duckworth, who was four years and a half—1886-70—the Duke of Albany's private tutor, stated that the extremely delicate health of his Royal Highness interfered, as might be expected, very materially with the progress of his education. During the whole period named, no regular system of lessons could be practised. In fact, Canon Duckworth was chosen for the responsible post he occupied in relation to the young prince largely because his connection with public school life had enabled him to deal with pupils who could not submit to the routine and discipline which robust health permitted. It was in spite of these drawbacks that his Royal Highness attained the singular amount of culture which his after life displayed. His progress was greatly assisted by a wonderfully retentive and accurate memory. The canon has seen few youths who equalled him in this respect. His favorite study was history, in which his reading was extensive and thorough. He was also proficient in Italian, French and German literature.

In the general features of his character, and especially in the strength and constancy of his attachments, he bore a striking resemblance, said the canon, to Her Majesty. He was debarred from the ordinary manly exercises in which his brothers indulged. He could not enter into hunting or shooting, or even fishing. The result was that he was thrown largely upon the companionship of people older than himself, and the naturally contemplative cast of his character was hereby confirmed. Few princes were ever so popular as he was during his stay at Oxford. He entered thoroughly into the spirit of the scholarly life which there surrounded him, and he frequently, after leaving the university, alluded to his residence at Oxford as embracing the happiest days of his life. He had the rare power of discerning and attaching to himself the best intellects among his fellow-students, and at his rooms the ablest men in residence were found as frequent guests. To his interest in his fellow students may be traced much of that interest in social and intelectual questions which pre-eminently distinguised him. His attachment to Christ Church College may be gauged from the fact that he retained his rooms at college in order that he might at any time renew his old associations of undergraduate days.—London Telegraph

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, April 22.—Parliament re-assembled to-day.

In the House of Lords Earl Granville said the Government felt no fears for the personal safety of General Gordon, and that Gordon's indignation at being abandoned would be understood when it was known that of all the despatches which the Government had sent him only one short note had reached him.

In the House of Commons Mr. Gladstone said the Government had received no request from Gordon for the despatch of British troops to Khartoum. Gordon had simply suggested that a small cavalry force be sent to Berber. He was unable to say whether Gordon had sent a telegram to Sir Evelyn Baring at Cairo expressing indignation at being abandoned by the Government.

INVINCIBLE NOTICES.

DUBLIN, April 22.—A notice has been found in Phœnix park, near where Lord Cavendish was assassinated, declaring that the Invincibles are impregnable. The notices were on mourning paper, to which rifle cartridges were attached tied with green ribbon. They were distributed along the road from Beggar's bush to Phœnix park. Some were found on the quays, others in the letter-boxes of newspaper offices. The words "We will have revenge," were written in red ink. In one corner was a black and white cross.

ANGLO-FRENCH HARMONY.

PARIS, April 23.—There are rumours of a renewal of the former complete accord between the English and French Governments, due to Earl Granville's pledge to M. Waddington given in last week's interviews, that an early date would be fixed for the withdrawal of the English troops from Egypt, and also that the financial reforms would restore French control in the financial administration.

GREAT FIRE IN LONDON.

LONDON, April 23, 4 a. m.—An extensive fire is in progress in the city. Five persons have been killed by falling walls.

5 a.m.—The fire broke out in the Bell restaurant and public house in the Old Bailey, opposite the entrance to the Central Criminal Court. It is believed that the fire will be confined to that building. The hotel was a very old one, and was principally patronized by witnesses attending the court.

IRISH JURORS THREATENED.

DUBLIN, April 22.—A number of rifle cartridges have been found at Four Courts. The officers and jurors have received threatening letters.

A QUESTION OF PRECEDENCE.

LONDON, April 21.—The precedence given at Prince Leopold's funeral to Lord Lorne, after Prince Francis of Teck, was much commented on. Even if the Queen's son-in-law has no position accorded to him ipso facto, surely, says the World, the eldest son of the Duke of Argyll is of higher rank than the son of a German serenity.

GENERAL LUARD'S SUCCESSOR.

LONDON, April 22.—Colonel Middleton, who succeeds General Luard as commander of the troops in Canada, is to be given the temporary rank of major-general, which will enable him to retain the post for about three years and half. Otherwise he would have been compulsorily retired from the Army in November next.

EARTHQUAKE IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, April 22.—At 9.30 o'clock this morning an earthquake shock was felt in the eastern counties of England. At Ipswich the walls of the houses were shaken, plates were rattled and bells rung. The people were thrown into such a state of consternation that business was suspended. The shock was still more severe at Colchester. The concussion lasted half a minute. The first symptom was a deep rumbling sound, which was speedily followed by a quaking and shaking of all the buildings. The tall chimney stacks of factories fell, and other lofty structures were destroyed. The spire of one of the largest churches in the city, 150 feet high, fell with an awful crash. In one part of the city a fire was caused by the shock.

In private houses tables and chairs were overturned, glassware shattered, and pictures and other ornaments fell to the floor. Men, women and children rushed shrieking into the streets. At Chelmsford one shock was so severe that the people were filled with terror. At the south end the earth trembled for miles around. The windows in many dwellings were broken and chimneys were demolished. At Maldon the town hall and private houses swayed. The wave passed from the south to the north. In the Strand, London, the business houses were perceptibly rocked, and the employees fled. The duration of the shock at Ipswich is estimated at three seconds. The earthquake has caused a general feeling of alarm.

Colchester was the centre of the disturbance. In some of the streets traffic is forbidden, as the buildings are in a dangerous condition. The side walls of houses near Colchester were shaken out. At Ipswich a mansion was shattered and the railway depot partially destroyed. The damage at Colchester is estimated at £40,000.

At Colchester a child was killed and a woman's skull was fractured. The woman lies in a precarious condition. There were many narrow escapes. The old parish church at Langenhoe was demolished. The place looks as if it had been bombarded. An invalid at Wivanhoe died from terror. The damage there will reach $4,000. At Coggeshall a number of school girls rushed panic-striken into the streets, and many of them were crushed.

A Chapter In the History Of Peterborough.

GROWTH OF THE REVIEW

OUR WEEKLY ISSUE ENLARGED AND IMPROVED BEYOND RIVALRY.

New Presses, Type, and Other Appliances—Improvements in all Branches of the Business—Remodelling of Departments.

The Peterborough Review Printing and Publishing Co. (Limited) is determined not only to keep up the old reputation of the office, but also to advance with the requirements of the times, so as to keep fully abreast of the improvements that are being made in other respects in our thriving and progressive community.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW.

The Peterborough REVIEW has long been acknowledged not only to be the leading paper of the County, but also to stand in the very front rank of the journals of Central Ontario. Not content, however, with this high standing, we have made arrangements to meet the pressing demands upon our space by increasing the size of the WEEKLY REVIEW till it is now the largest weekly paper (with, perhaps, one exception) outside the City of Toronto.

This enlargement will enable us to devote more space to matters which we feel have been somewhat neglected in the past for want of room. A tale and other light reading, with matters of domestic interest, will be not unwelcome to our lady readers. The agriculturalists will find that a special department, under adequate supervision, is devoted to their interests. While giving, as of old, a reasonable and not servile support to the great Conservative party which has done so much for the Dominion of Canada, we will have more space at our disposal for the news of the day, and especially for events of local interest.

This enlargement also facilitates a better arrangement and classification of the reading matter, which will be satisfactory to our readers. With all these improvements the WEEKLY REVIEW still remains at the low price of one dollar a year.

In order to carry out this enlargement, with the consequent improvements, we have just purchased a new press, surpassing in size, rapidity and excellence of performance any press previously in use in this district. We give elsewhere a more detailed account of it.

THE DAILY REVIEW.

That rapidity was essential may be judged when it is remembered that, besides our large weekly circulation, the DAILY REVIEW still continues to grow in favour in our town. What was thought a rash venture on its first appearance, causing predictions of a speedy cessation, has proved to be a live journal, firmly established, and progressively improved. It will have its share in the further improvements we are now making.

THE CANADA LUMBERMAN.

Beside our local issue we have also the CANADA LUMBERMAN, which, as the organ of one of the most important industries of our country, makes its way from Peterborough into every Province and to the shores of both oceans, to say nothing of the numerous copies that cross the international line and go to many different parts of the universe.

NEW TYPE, etc.

In order to carry out the improvements in the WEEKLY REVIEW and our other papers, we have also added considerably to our type and other appliances, though our offices was already unsurpassed by any between Toronto and Montreal.

THE JOB DEPARTMENT.

The improvements in our job office have also been in keeping with those for our news department. Our new press will execute book work in a style hitherto unequalled in this district. The large press on which we formerly printed our newspapers will now be set free to run off posters and other large jobs with an expedition that will leave nothing to desire in that respect, while our smaller job presses of the most approved manufacture, and, with all the latest improvements, will ensure rapidity and excellence for every variety of printing.

OUR BOOK-BINDERY.

Incoming Spring always increases business, and this is as true of the bindery department as in other lines, so we address a few words to our old customers, and we hope, also, to new ones.

While making great improvements throughout our office we have not neglected our bindery. Already for completeness and variety of stock, for the excellence of its machinery and the appliances to be found there, our bindery was admitted to be unrivalled outside the cities.

By extensive re-arrangements of our premises we have increased the conveniences for turning out good work, we have added to our appliances, and have augmented our stock so as to meet every possible requirement. Our staff, too, is qualified to turn out work fully equal to that of city binderies.

We have also just secured the services of a practical book-binder, MR. JOHN TABERNER, who has had a lengthened experience in some of the best binderies of Toronto, Ottawa, and other cities in Canada and England, so that he is thoroughly skilled and is conversant with the best styles of workmanship in all the branches connected with a completely equipped bindery.

We are therefore in a position to give satisfaction to our customers, and to do even better justice than of old to the work of the coming season. We therefore solicit with confidence a continuance of past favors from old customers and a trial from new ones, who will find that we can supply them with first-class work, at fair prices, and executed with expedition.

We are steadily remodelling all our departments, and with a view of attaining still more efficiency throughout, are employing more competent workmen in each department.

To maintain a leading position in business we find that changes have to be made periodically, in order to secure the best talent in the market for the constantly increasing demands of our growing town. Specimens of work can be seen and perfect satisfaction guaranteed to every customer.

STATIONERY DEPARTMENT.

Our stock of stationery, though already large and varied, has been augmented, especially in staple lines for a printing establishment, so as to supply the manifold wants and various tastes of our numerous customers.

DESCRIPTION OF OUR PRESSES.

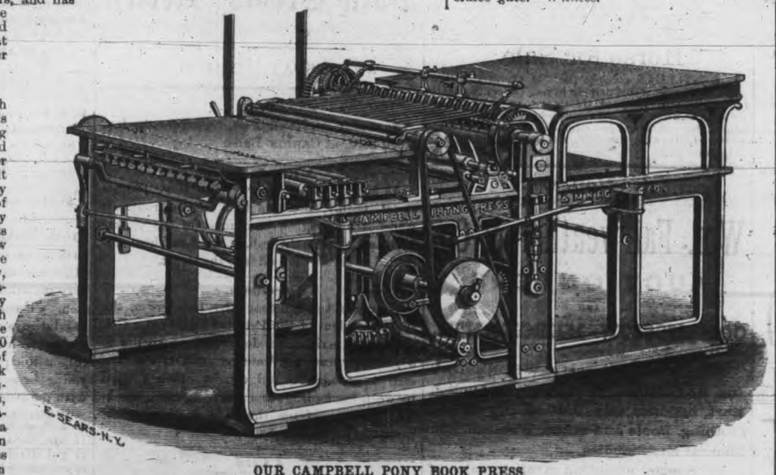
The following description of our printing presses shown by the cuts of the various machines, will be of interest to our readers, and afford some idea of the extent of our facilities for turning out work.

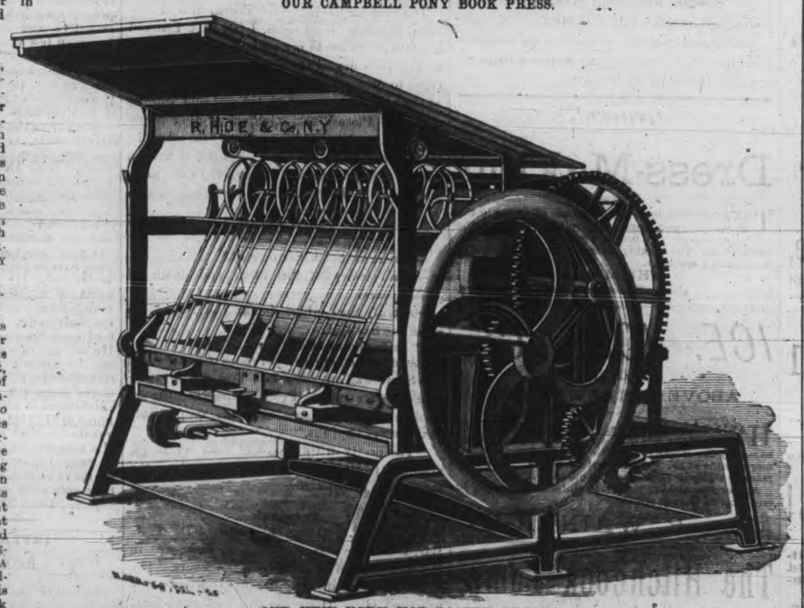
THE GORDON PRESS.



This press, which is named after the original inventor, was manufactured in Toronto by Westman & Baker, and has all the most modern improvements for the production of first-class printing. It can be run at a speed of from 1,000 to 1,500 impressions per hour, and is adapted to all kinds of commercial work—billheads, memorandums, circulars, business and visiting cards, labels, and in short all the many and varied forms of fine printing which now finds daily use in mercantile and manufacturing interests. It is needless to remark that for fine color work this press is as capable as for ordinary black inks. The one now in use has but recently been purchased from the makers, and has been put up to supply the place of our old Gordon, as we required a speedier press and one that could be relied upon for a finer class of work.

OUR NEW GORDON CARD PRESS.

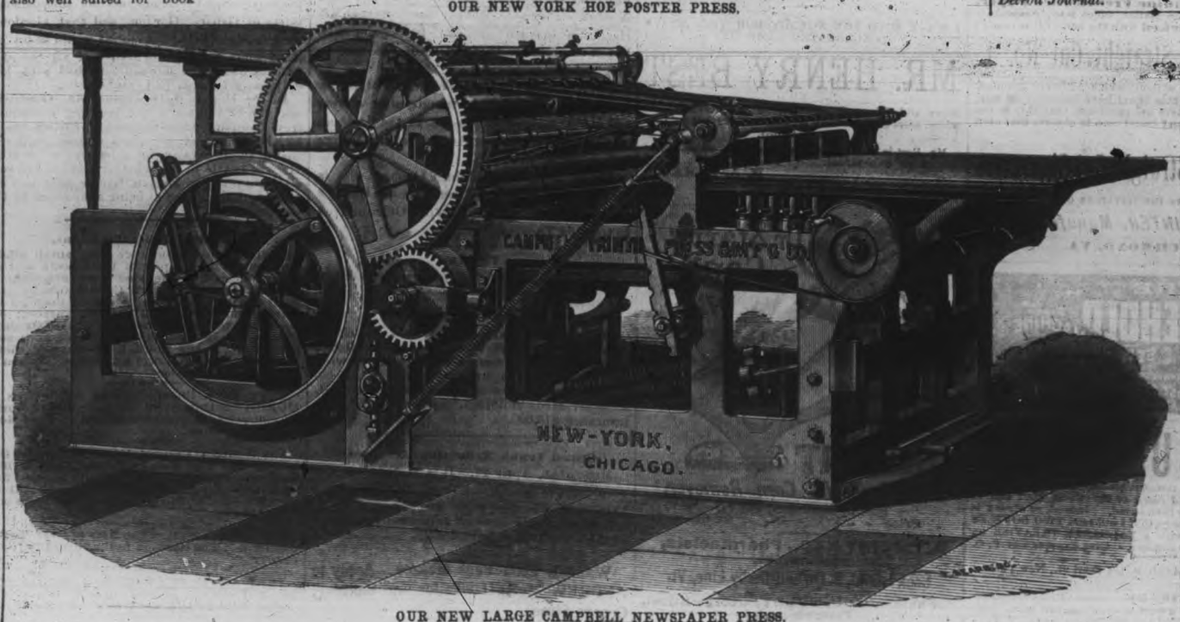
THE PONY CAMPBELL.



The Campbell press, of which this is a small, or jobbing size, is built with the object of running at high rates of speed, combined with the production of a superior class of work,—thus rendering it one of the best (if not the very best) of the printing presses of the present day. It was built by the "Campbell Printing Press & Manufacturing Co.," of New York and Chicago, whose name is so well known for the quality, both of workmanship and material, and for excellence in every detail of the many presses which they make. This press is capable of printing from 2,000 to 2,800 sheets per hour. The class of work it excels in is fine book work, illustrated with wood engravings, pamphlets, price lists, cheque books, circulars, catalogues, and all fine work of a larger size than can be put upon our Gordon press,—and it gives equal satisfaction whether in plain black ink, or in gold or colors, or all combined.

OUR CAMPBELL PONY BOOK PRESS.

THE HOE PRESS.



This is our poster press, and, although of a somewhat older style of construction than our other presses, is capable of running at a good speed (from 700 to 1,000 per hour) and of doing good work in its own particular line. Upon it we print all auction sale bills, concert and lecture bills, dates, hangers, &c., &c. This is the press which has for so many years printed the DAILY and WEEKLY REVIEW.

OUR NEW YORK HOE POSTER PRESS.

THE INTERMEDIATE CAMPBELL PRESS.

The cut below represents the latest addition to our stock of machinery, and is one of the best, swiftest, and most reliable presses of the kind to be found in Canada. Its speed is equal to from 1,500 to 2,000 copies per hour. It has been purchased from its makers, the "Campbell Manufacturing Co.," and has just been erected and started in its work by an engineer sent from New York for that purpose. The daily and weekly editions of the REVIEW and the CANADA LUMBERMAN are the specialties of this press, but it is also well suited for book work of any description. It is one of the Campbell Co.'s latest styles of presses, and is fitted with all the latest appliances for turning out good work rapidly. It is altogether one of the finest and most handsome pieces of machinery to be seen, and of a class so near perfection that it is indeed difficult to find its equal anywhere.

OUR NEW LARGE CAMPBELL NEWSPAPER PRESS.

CONCLUSION.

We cannot conclude without thanking our advertisers and other customers for the liberal patronage with which they have favored us in the past, and expressing our confident hope that they will continue and even increase this patronage, which our enlarged facilities will fully warrant. Advertisers will see for themselves that the REVIEW, with its marked superiority to its competitors, must necessarily afford them the best medium for giving publicity to their announcements, and will feel that an advertisement in our columns will most surely attract the attention of those they wish it to reach. Our subscribers, we feel sure, will appreciate the result of our efforts to give them a newspaper which is far ahead of all local competition and need not fear rivalry even from city journals. They can with good grounds recommend the REVIEW to those who are not at present subscribers, and so aid us to increase our already large subscription list, thus enabling us the better to persevere in a course of making still further improvements. Those who require job printing or work in other departments of our business, will find that our equipment is so complete and that our facilities for turning out good work of all kinds are so great that they can rely upon obtaining satisfactory results from us. The old reputation of the REVIEW office has not only been maintained, but the improvements we have introduced have, we find, made it still more widely known. This has been proved to us most satisfactorily by the fact of our drawing work from the surrounding towns, and even from a considerable distance, and receiving many important orders, more especially for our bindery and for work of various kinds for lumbermen, banks, insurance companies, &c.

We have always found the people of Peterborough enterprising themselves, and ready to encourage enterprise in others, and we feel confident that our endeavors to make the REVIEW office, its publications and its varied branches of business a credit to the town and to the whole district, will meet with kind appreciation.

A DISASTER AVERTED.

MONTREAL, April 21.—What might have been a very serious accident took place at Lachine yesterday. The canal is now empty undergoing its annual spring cleaning, and yesterday forenoon the gate of the second sluice of the guard lock, or supply weir, at Lachine succumbed to the pressure, and was twisted back against the first pier in such a manner as to threaten its safety. A gang of men, under the direction of Mr. Conway, of the canal staff, were soon at work sinking square timber in front of the stone piers of the injured sluice gate. Although things were in a very dangerous state the opening formed was not large, so that the current did not interfere with the work, and the opening was, after an anxious time, at length securely stopped and the gates saved. Had the second pier given way, as it was at one time feared it would, the whole St. Lawrence river would have turned into the empty canal, and what the result would have been it is hard to say. One gentleman said that taking the levels as they came, had the second sluice gate gone there would have twelve feet of water over the first lock gate, twenty over the second, and thirty-six over the third.

The amount of damage that would have been done therefore, had the second sluice gone, would have been incalculable, for a good part of the city would have been forty feet beneath a torrent of water. The sluices held, however, the damage done was very slight and a number of men are now engaged in repairing the injured sluice gate.—Witness.

Rumored Changes in the C.P.R. Directorate.

The Montreal correspondent of the Mail says that it having been rumoured for two or three days that Mr. Duncan McIntyre, first vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, had disposed of all his interest in that gigantic enterprise, and had retired from all official connection with it, enquiry was made from the secretary of the company on Saturday as to what dependence might be placed in the report. His reply was simply that he had heard a similar assertion on the street, but he had no official knowledge of such an event having occurred. Mr. McIntyre, he remarked, had not sent in his resignation, and when leaving a few days ago with his family for Europe said he expected to return home in about a month or six weeks at the utmost. It is current that Mr. R. B. Angus, the second vice-president, will soon withdraw also, but how much faith to put in the statement is not known, as he has gone to meet his family, who are returning from the South, where they will have been wintering.

Respectful Advice.

Of the countless good stories attributed to Artemus Ward, the best one perhaps is one which tells of the advice he gave to a Southern railway conductor soon after the war. The road was in a wretched condition, and the trains, consequently, were run at a phenomenally low rate of speed. When the conductor was punching the ticket Artemus remarked: "Does this railway company allow passengers to give advice, if they do so in a respectful manner?" The conductor replied in gruff tones that he guessed so. "Well," Artemus went on, "it occurred to me that it would be well to detach the cow-catcher from the front of the engine and hitch it to the rear of the train: for you see we are not liable to overtake a cow, but what's to prevent a cow from strolling into this car and biting the passengers?"

A Russian Pacific Railroad.

The Railway Gazette says: "The Russian Government has an immense railway project under consideration. The author of the scheme calls it the Russian Pacific line. The line would start from Ikaterinenburg, join Tobolsk, Yenesceisk and Yakutsk, ending in Nikolajew, with a branch line from Yenesceisk and Yakutsk to Kiakhta, which would form a connection with the Amoor and China. A second main line will start from Astrachan to connect Herat, Persia and India, with a branch line to Bokhara over Kashgar. The extent of railway would be nearly 10,000 miles, and cost $750,000,000. The capital would be spread over 20 years. One part of the proposal is to employ part of the army on the works."

A Railway Director Horsewhipped

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—A. J. Reynolds, formerly director of the People's railway, organized in Indianapolis, was to-day horsewhipped by by Emil Kennedy, president of the same company. Kennedy drew a revolver, but was prevented from using it. Reynolds accuses Kennedy of having obtained $90,000 cash through a subscription for which there was no accounting, that Kennedy proposed issuing twenty million dollars in bonds at 50 cents on the dollar, taking what cash he could get, and the balance in promissory notes.

Disorder in Mexico Denied.

BOSTON, April 19.—Simon Levy, of the Mexican Financier, now here, said to-day the recent stories of disturbances in Mexico were the merest fabrications. The stamp tax trouble was not a revolution; it was too heavy to to be borne, and the merchants quietly close their doors. It was a sensible manner of protesting against an onerous tax. There was not the slightest doubt of the reelection of President Diaz, and there would be no political disturbance.

Washout on Lake Champlain.

TROY, N. Y., April 21.—The biggest washout ever known in the Lake Champlain division of the Delaware and Hudson railroad occurred last night. For miles between Whitehall and Tisconderoga the tracks are washed out. A strong north wind caused the high water. No trains were running to-day in that division.

Railway Amalgamation.

OTTAWA, April 21.—A meeting of the directors of the Ottawa, Waddington, and New York Railway and Bridge Company was held for the purpose of making some arrangements to amalgamate the Canadian and American companies. Mr. Anderson, president of the company, who was here from New York and attended the meeting.

The Verdict.

The verdict of the House on Monday night really meant this:—That it will not do to let local considerations override those affecting the good of the Dominion. There were 128 who took that view of the matter, and 35 who thought with Mr. Blake.—London Free Press.

The Wish Fathers the Thought.

In fact the followers of the administration have, during the whole session, been in a condition of mutiny, and it is impossible to say at what hour a political crisis may arise.—London Advertiser (Reform.)

General Printing.

The REVIEW job office executes every description of job printing required, from the mammoth poster to the smallest visiting card, at the rates to suit the times. Particular care bestowed on turning out work correctly and giving every satisfaction. Patronize the job office of the REVIEW and be convinced of its superior styles.

Nationalist.

At a great Nationalists meeting held at Mallow on Saturday addresses were made by O'Brien and Wm. Redmond, M.P.s. Resolutions were passed in favor of the independence of Ireland, peasants proprietary, justice to labourers, and encouragement to home manufacturers, and expressing admiration for the courage, eloquence, and devotion of Parnell and the Irish party.

"Bystander's" View.

It is equally true that he greatly misunderstands and frequently maligns Mr. Blake, almost invarisbly attributing the worst motives conceivable to a man who is above all honorable and and incapable of anything base or mean.—Globe.

Bothwell Unrepresented.

The member for Bothwell shirked the vote on the railway resolutions. Mr. Mills knew the measure to be wise, and he knew the people demanded its passage. But his political leader called him to oppose it. Between the two he made a compromise by quietly slipping out of the House and dodging the vote. We have heard a good deal about Bothwell being unrepresented: why was it unrepresented on this occasion?—Hamilton Spectator.

BELLEVILLE.

SONS OF ENGLAND.—The Sons of England met in their hall at two o'clock on Sunday afternoon and proceeded to Christ church, where Grand Chaplain Rev. E W. Sibbald, delivered a sermon.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.—It is said that about 30 merchants have contracted for a supply of electric light for six months. The manager here expects to place fifty lights. The merchants without it say they must keep up with their neighbors and those with it say they cannot do without it.

BUILDING.—The Intelligencer thinks that the prospects show that building operations will not be brisk here during the coming summer.

THE BUTCHERS.—Owing to the high price the butchers of this city are obliged to pay for cattle they have decided to advance the price for the best cut and have fixed the price at 15 cents per pound, which they assert is the same as that paid in other places.

SONS OF ENGLAND.—The Belleville Sons of England had a very large turnout on Sunday. Rev. Mr. Sibbald, Grand Chaplain, preached a highly impressive sermon.

THE ASSIZES.—The Assizes opened at Belleville yesterday before Mr. Justice Patterson. Mr. B. M. Britton, Q. C., of Kingston, will conduct the Crown business.

TORONTO.

A MARK OF RESPECT.—Flags were flying at half mast on Monday on the public buildings as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Chief-Justice Spragge.

UNIVERSITY MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS.—There are between seventy and eighty candidates writing on the medical examinations now in progress in connection with the University of Toronto.

ARRIVAL OF AN ENGLISH EVANGELIST.—Mr. George Soltau, who has been for some time past labouring with Mr. Moody in England, has arrived at Toronto, and will take up Evangelistic work.

THROUGH SLEEPERS FROM CHICAGO.—The first through sleeping car from Chicago via the Credit Valley and Michigan Central railways arrived at the union station at 9.40 on Monday morning. Quite a number of railway men were down at the station to witness the arrival. The cars were Wagner sleepers, and were pronounced by competent judges to be in every respect first-class.

NORTHWEST NOTES.

CATTLE SHOW.—Pilot Mound is to have a cattle show about May 1st.

GRAIN AT BRANDON.—About 500,000 bushels of grain are said to have been marketed in Brandon the past winter.

COW BY-LAW.—Ald. S. Macdonald has signified his intention to introduce a "cow-by-law," to prevent animals from running at large at Winnipeg.

BRANDON LAND OFFICE.—Says a Brandon despatch: The business being done in the land office here at present is very great. Between applications for lands patents and cancellations of claims the staff is overworked.

ICE ON THE RED RIVER.—The ice on the Red River is rapidly breaking up and a considerable portion of the stream on the St. Boniface side is clear and the ice is piling up in several places. A few more days of hot weather will set the whole in motion.—Winnipeg Times.

Emigrant Sleeping Cars.

There are two new emigrant sleeping cars belonging to the Canadian Pacific Railway in the Grand Trunk yard at Point St. Charles. The upper berths are let down the same as in Pullman cars and the seats are converted into beds by dropping the back and sliding the seat forward. The arrangements for ventilation, heating, etc., are also very good and will help to make things comfortable for the emigrants. These cars were built by Messrs. James Harris & Co., of St. John, N.B.—Montreal Witness.

A Duel Between Fenians.

PARIS, April 20.—A duel with swords was fought to-day in the Bois de Boulogne between Joseph Carey, a Fenian, and Capt. Scully, an Irish-American, a soldier in the Union army during the late war and the Mexican war. Scully was suspected of being an informer, and out of charges incident thereto the duel arose. Scully was wounded in the neck. The combatants were afterwards reconciled.

Served Him Right.

"Don't you think she's pretty?" said the mother to the father, as she stroked the baby's silken hair. The father was in a sulky mood—something had disagreed with him—and he replied somewhat curtly—"Oh, all babies are about alike. They look like little monkeys." Just then a neighbor entered, and, taking the baby on her lap, said—"Mercy on us, how like its father that child is.

He Did Take Care of It.

"Now, Mr. Lawyer," said the dying man, "I want you to make it in my will so that my son Joe won't get a cent. He is a worthless fellow, and will spend his money in a week." "Oh, that's all right," said the lawyer, politely; "I'll take care of it. I'll see that he doesn't get anything." And he didn't. Neither did anybody else.

TO INCREASE THE APPETITE and strengthen digestion, to drive off the Blues, and bring color to your skin and temperament, cheer up your liver with Zopesa. It regulates the system, nerves and brain, makes your eyes bright, and your work easy. Ask J D. Tully.

MEDICAL AND SCIENTIFIC.

THE DOSE OF QUININE.—Professors Bartholow and Da Costa agree that the antipyretic dose of quinine is not less than five grains every two hours until four doses are taken, or else thirty grains in two or three doses close together. The former believed a small dose of morphine given with quinine is the best thing to counteract the unpleasant cerebral symptoms of the latter.

ALCOHOL AND DIGESTION.—"We see many preparations of which the chief virtue is supposed to be that they contain all the digestive principles. These can be active only so far as they contain pepsin, and have no advantage over the simple drug. It has also been shown that certain substances combined with pepsin in solution, render it inert. Alcohol is one, and even in moderation diminishes its action; while, in any quantity, the activity of pepsin is totally prevented. This is a point often lost sight of, and serves as a hint conserning the use of liquor at meals, by dyspeptics."—Med. and Surg. Rep.

HOW TO STAY WELL.—A doctor thus addresses a patient in a sketch in a recent magazine: You have every advantage in life; your existence might be a happy one, if you had—excuse me—any method in your madness, if you were not entirely a slave to your own feelings, whether real or imaginary—and they are more often the latter then the former. There are tens of thousands in these islands suffering from nervousness, with functional disease of the heart, that have not half the chances of getting well that you have, although there is really no case that ever I met with that cannot be either cured or alleviated by attention to diet, avoidance of stimulants, the daily use of bath and friction with rough towels and flesh-brush, unlimited exercise in the open air, whether the weather be wet or dry, cold or hot, and pleasent society. Mixing with pleasant society is one of the very best means for the cure of nervousness. It takes one for the time being quite out of one's self, quite away from one's troubles and aches. It must, however, never be exciting society, for this sends the blood to the head, and injures the very foundation of the nerve power. What do you tell me? You never take stimulants to excess? I doubt it, for tea, if too much indulged in, is a dangerous stimulant, and so is coffee. A cup of milk that has been boiled and allowed to cool would often do far more good than tea. Tea-drinking grows on one, and assuredly, when it does so, it shatters the nerves as irremediably as does wine, or even spirits.

LOCAL NEWS

Police News.

There was no business before the Police Magistrate this morning.

Cleaning the Streets.

We are glad to see that the Street Inspector is having the heaps of road scrapings removed instead of leaving them to be scattered again, as has sometimes been the case.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds, fine milder weather.

Incipient Fire.

The chimney of a house on Rubidge street took fire this forenoon and burned for a time so fiercely that the occupants commenced removing the furniture. With the assistance of neighbours, however, the fire was extinguished. There was plenty of fright but no danger.

An Expensive Accident.

This morning about 10 o'clock the plate glass window on the north side of Mr. Thomas Menzies' book store was broken. A young man was cleaning the windows when the jar of the sidewalk from the footsteps of passers-by caused the ladder to slip, and in its fall it was precipitated through the window.

Enlargement.

We have to make our acknowledgements to the Peterborough Times for the following complimentary remarks:—

"Our next door contemporary, the REVIEW, has lately enlarged its weekly sheet. It is now one of the largest weeklies in the Province, and is printed in good style. It has always been newsy and readable, and we trust it will remain so, notwithstanding the additional ground to be covered. It is ever teeming with the latest political events, and works with strenuous efforts for its party. Its motto is "Measures, not men," and it is wonderful how well it supports them without being stigmatized as supporting the 'men.'"

Fire.

About 2.30 o'clock this morning a fire occurred in the house occupied by Mr. Archie Morton on Chamberlain street, and owned by Mrs. Christie, the result being its total destruction. There are strong indications that it was the work of an incendiary. The flames were ignited in the summer kitchen near the door from the sheds and thence spread to the eaves of the main building of brick, which was totally consumed. Mr. Morton saved a portion of his furniture on which he had a small insurance. We cannot learn whether the building was insured. The ward fire bell rang for a considerable time before the alarm was repeated from the Town Hall. The fire brigade then turned out, but arrived on the scene after the flames had nearly done their work of destruction.

Trip to Youngs' Point.

As will be seen by the notice in another column, the steamer "Cruiser" will leave Lakefield to-morrow (Thursday) morning for Young's Point at 9 a. m., returning at 5 p. m., so as to accommodate those who wish to attend Mr. Stewart's auction sale at the point. This sale should attract many from Peterborough, since it is made so easy of access, and it is one of so much importance. Besides the excellent household furniture there will be offered a buggy, cutter and harness a pleasure boat, and tent, the remainder of the stock in Mr. Stewarts store, and a number of other articles, a catalogue of which can be obtained from Mr. C. Stapleton the auctioneer. Mr. Stewart's house a half acre lot at Buckhorn will also be sold at the same time, besides a quantity of lumber and shingles in convenient lots. There is thus an opportunity of having a pleasant trip and obtaining bargains also.

STILL GOING ON.

Further Improvements to Business Places on George Street.

The inhabitants of Peterborough boast, with good reason, of having one of the prettiest business streets of any town in the district. In fact, many persons from large cities are struck with its fine appearance. This is owing to the liberality of the property owners, and the taste and enterprise of those who occupy the places of business. And the work of improving George street is still going on.

The drug stores of the town are very neat and well furnished, and the druggists appear to each be striving to possess the best furnished and most attractive store. We recently noticed the fine manner in which Mr. J. Morgan had filled up his new drug store; and also extensive improvements in

MR. J. D. TULLY'S.

We have now to record further improvements in this drug store. Mr. Tully has had two new and large cases, made by Mr. D. Belleghem, put in his store. They are of solid walnut with French burl panels, and are twelve feet long and ten feet high. Each case contains thirty drawers, besides glass cases above them. The drawers have glass labels, sunk into the walnut, and nickel drawer-pulls, and the cases are handsomely finished. A new glass show case, double decked, with solid walnut back and nickel joints, has also been added to the fittings in the store, and a large mirror behind the counter, in the centre of the row of shelves, adds much to the good appearance of the establishment. The large case which formerly stood in the store has been moved into the back shop, where it still does good service. A small parlour has also been fitted up there for physicians, for fitting in trusses and attending to patients. The back shop possesses a counter, shelves, etc., and is as well furnished with fittings and stock as drug stores usually are in towns of less enterprise, such as Lindsay and other places. Mr. Tully certainly has a fine-looking and well-furnished establishment.

MESSRS. TAYLOR & MACDONALD.

In Messrs. Taylor & Macdonald's premises, on the corner of George and Hunter streets, extensive improvements have been made. A case, previously large, has been extended to make room for more stock required for their increasing business, and a neat dispensary has been fitted up at the end of the store. To give space for these improvements, the office had to be moved. An office has therefore been built in the rear of the store, and is a very neat and handsome one. A convenient arrangement is a hoist, which has been put it for raising heavy articles from the back shop to the second or third stores, or lowering them down. In the second story a room has been fitted up especially for medical men for fitting on trusses, and it will no doubt be found convenient by the profession. The laboratory has been moved to the third story to make room for the changes below, and it now occupies a commodious apartment. A well stocked storeroom is also in the third story. These changes, which were made under the superintendence of Mr. Jas. McClennan, greatly improves an establishment that was even previously a commodious and convenient one, and the store is furnished with an immense stock of goods. The improvements are not yet all completed, as bent glass will be put in the main door, and other work done, and when they are completed the store will be a very handsome one indeed.

MR. JOHN MCKEE'S.

Mr. John McKee has also been aiding the march of improvement, and his drug store has been brightened up greatly. The brush of the painter has been passed over the interior of the store and the result produced is most pleasing. The walls have been decorated with very pretty pink paper, and the ceiling with handsome paper of gold and copper color. A wide gold border on the ceiling decorations, and gilt moulding at the conjuncture of the walls and ceilings, greatly enhance the general good appearance of the store. A chandelier, with gold varnished rods and ornaments and pendant crystal prisms, has also been added. Mr. W. J. Watson did the work of painting and decorating with his usual skill. Mr. McKee has also ordered a new set of bottles of the newest design with glass labels, and when they arrive in a few days, he will have an exceedingly neat and well furnished establishment.

MR. JOHN MCCLELLAND'S.

Workmen are engaged at Mr. John McClelland's jewellery store in making extensive changes and improvements. Plate glass has been put in the windows, and other alterations are being made, which can be better described when completed. This from Mr. McClelland's down to Mr. John Cameron's will be greatly improved by the owner, Mr. James Stevenson. An ornamented mansard roof will be erected on it, and other additions made, which will greatly improve the appearance of the block and of the street.

WHOLE BLOCK,

"Very Sweet."

"Sweet idol of my lonely heart, if thou wilt place thy hand in mine, and say—Dear love, I'll be thy bride, we'll fly to sunny Italy, and 'neath soft cerulean skies we'll bask and sing and dream of naught but love. Rich and costly paintings by old masters shall adorn the walls of the castle I'll give thee. Thy bath shall be of milk. A box at the opera shall be at thy command, and royalty shall be thy daily visitor. Sweet strains of music shall lull thee at eventide, and warbling birds shall wake thee from thy morning slumber. Dost thou accept? Say yes, and fly, oh, fly with me"—to buy a tie at Andrew McNeil's!

A Run on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any drug store as now at Taylor and McDonald's for a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. All persons affected with asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, severe coughs, or any affection of the throat or lungs, can get a trial bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at the above drug store. Regular size $1.

Notes of the Saved Army, their Meetings and Sayings.

There was a very good attendance at the Saved Army on Tuesday night, although there was not as great a jam as there has been at some meetings of the Army.

The soldiers were commanded by Lieut. Gall and Lieut. Annie Pearse. The former delivered a very earnest address.

The Peterborough soldiers were assisted in the battle by allies from Lakefield, about twenty in number. They fired some telling shots at the enemy in the body of the hall at the opening of the experience meeting.

The Peterborough soldiers, who had been held in reserve, were then ordered up and poured in a running fire.

One result of this united attack was six converts added to the ranks.

The soldiers from Lakefield sang Saved Army songs when entering the town and when going out again after the battle was over for the night.

Lieut. Munt will conduct the meeting in the Opera House this evening.

Yesterday's Fire.

We learn that the fire at Mr. R. Moore yesterday was caused by a heated stove pipe, the children not being in the house at the time.

Health Bulletin.

The official report of the health of Ontario for the week ending Saturday, April 12th, shows that influenza, which has maintained a high degree of prevalence for some time, has during this week considerably decreased. Bronchitis is still high, also pneumonia and neuralgia is on the decrease. Whooping cough and mumps are very prevalent, but, on the whole, contagious diseases are not rife. Anæmia, as was noticed in the spring of 1883, is advancing. The six most prevalent diseases in the district in which Peterborough is included are as follows:—

|---|---|
| Bronchitis | 9.5 |
| Anæmia | 8.8 |
| Influenza | 7.9 |
| Mumps | .7 |
| Consumption | 6.6 |
| Diarrhœa | 6.3 |

Have you Thought About it.

Pain is one of the sure things of life, and it becomes then a most important question to have at hand the quickest and most efficient remedy. Polson's NERVILINE cannot fail to cue cramps, toothache, neuralgia, headache, and all pain, internal or external. Nerviline is the most perfect combination ever offered to the public for the relief of pain. It will not cost you much to try it, for you can buy it at Ormond & Walsh for 10 cents a trial bottle, which will convince you of its mighty pain relieving power.

THE FIRE AT LINDSAY.

TOTAL DESTRUCTION OF THE HANDSOME CONVENT BUILDING.

Narrow Escape for the Church—An Appeal to Peterborough for Aid Afterwards Recalled—Shock to One of the Sisters.

By Telephone to the Review.

LINDSAY, April 24.—At about half past eleven o'clock this forenoon, the convent, the handsomest building in Lindsay, was discovered to be on fire. Energetic efforts were made to save the structure, but in vain, as it was totally destroyed. The nearest hydrant was about two blocks distant from the building, and the water had to be forced through a long length of hose. Only one branch was used.

The convent was three stories high, with a mansard roof. The fire originated in the northwest corner of the third story, but from what cause is not known. Nearly all the furniture was rescued from the building, but in a damaged condition.

At about noon the church, which stood within one hundred feet of the convent, also became ignited, and the excitement became intense. This fire was extinguished, however, before it did much damage, although it was some time before the church was considered out of danger.

A Sister of the Convent, who was very ill, was safely removed from the burning building, but it is feared that the shock may prove injurious to her.

THE NEWS IN PETERBOROUGH.

When the news of the fire was received in Peterborough it caused considerable excitement.

At about one o'clock Mr. Geo. A. Cox, Mayor, received a telegraphic message from Mr. J. W. Wallace, Mayor of Lindsay, asking to have the Peterborough steam fire engine and hose carts sent to their assistance. Before the engine was got off, however, another message was received to the effect that the assistance was not required, as the convent was destroyed and the church was out of danger.

REVIEWS.

CONSTITUTIONAL POWERS.—Mr. J. Travis, of St. John, N.B., has written a work which will be of interest and value as a contributor to the discussion of the subject of the respective powers of our Dominion Parliament and our Provincial Legislature. It is entitled The Constitutional Powers of Parliament, and of the Local Legislatures, under the British North America Act, 1867, and it reviews the decisions not only of our own tribunals, especially the Supreme Court of the Dominion, but also of the Imperial Privy Council, that bear upon this subject. It is a work that will be read not only by lawyers and politicians, but also by all who wish to inform themselves as to the constitution of this country.

NORWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LACROSSE.—A meeting of the Norwood Lacrosse Club was held on Friday evening, the 18th, for the purpose of reorganization and electing new members. It is the intention of the club to play a match game here with some team, probably Campbellford or Madoc, on the 24th of May.

THE REEVESHIP.—Mr. W. H. Stephenson, merchant, was elected Reeve by acclamation on Thursday, the 17th, in place of Mr. Thos. Fraser. Mr. Stephenson has had a full knowledge of municipal affairs, and will no doubt be the right man in the right place.

REMOVAL.—Mr. P. W. Reynolds has moved into the corner store of Mr. Roxburgh's new brick block. Mr. R. has purchased a large stock of dry goods, and evidently intends doing a rushing business.

FROST.—A very hard frost was experienced here on the night of the 20th. No very serious damage, however, is reported concerning the fall wheat, which seems to have suffered very little during the winter, and which now bids fair to be a good crop.

N. C. BAND.—The Norwood Cornet Band paraded the streets on Saturday evening, the 19th, giving some fine exhibitions of their skill in music. The band is making rapid progress under the leadership of Mr. Stickles, and will soon, should the same progress be maintained, take a stand among some of our leading amateur bands.

BRANCH STORE.—Mr. E. D. Gough, merchant of Norwood, has opened a branch store in Hastings, where he is already doing a rushing business. He is selling coal oil for 15 cents a gallon, and other goods at very low prices.

MILLINERY OPENING.—The millinery and mantle show rooms of Misses Williams & Knapp were opened to the inspection of the public on the 16th and 17th. The display of millinery was the finest ever shown in Norwood and reflected great credit on the firm.

NEW STORE.—The corner store of Mr. Roxburgh's new brick block presents a fine appearance with its large plate glass windows, which give the outsider a complete view of the interior. The entire block is a credit both to the owner and to the village.

HALIBURTON.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SPRING.—At last we have got rid of the ice in our lake, though the nights are still cold. We are overhauling our boats and canoes, and are trying to feel warm.

STEAMERS.—We expect to see two steamtugs plying on these waters this summer. Irwin is having a serviceable craft built at Haliburton to tow ties, shingle bolts and scows of cordwood, and we hope to call for milk at the farms along the shore for the cheese factory. Laurence, of Glen Major, will also have a tug to bring up his lumber from his mill at Sawyer's Narrows.

STOCK-FARMING.—Some of our people are going west, but others are moving in. There is as much money to be made here in farming as anywhere else if reasonable industry be linked with common sense. The glut in the hay market this winter has been a very good thing for the farmers if they only set up to their expressed intention and raise stock instead of hay.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FORESTERS MEETING.

Court Lakefield No. 43, C.O.F., will meet in Union Hall on Queen street in Lakefield this Friday evening. April 25th, instant, at 8 o'clock instead of Thursday, on account of the concert. Election of officers for the ensuing six months is the principal business.

SUDDEN DEATH.

The news of the lamentable sudden death of Mrs. Postlethwaite in Peterborough, was received with much surprise by her friends here, as she seemed in good health when she started, so short a time previously.

AUCTION SALE.

On Tuesday, April 29th, Mr. G. McIlmoyle, auctioneer, will, according to instructions, sell by public auction at Mr. W. C. Sanders' residence, a quantity of furniture, household goods, etc.

Greeley Relief Expedition.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The Greeley relief steamer Alert arrived here this morning. The Alert being the largest ship of the expedition will be used as a supply ship. She will leave between the first and fifth of May. Commander Schley says the Bear will start Thursday afternoon at four o'clock.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The Secretary of the Navy sent orders to-day to Commander Schley to take command of the Thetis, Bear and Alert to find and rescue, or ascertain the fate of Lieut. A. W. Greeley and his comrades. The Secretary expresses full confidence in the officer to do all that can be required of him.

Where is the Commission?

People are beginning to ask when Mr. Mowat intends to issue the Commission he bragged so much about to enquire into the alleged briberies of Grit members of the Ontario Legislature. Up to the present time the mouth of these accused have been closed; but when the time comes for an impartial investigation to be had revelations may be made which Mr. Mowat had little idea of when he asked Mr. Speaker to exhibit the money said to have been paid for the purposes of bribery to McKim and Balfour.—London Free Press

Nothing Hunts Out Corns.

Like tight boots. Corns are very small affairs but apply to them a pair of tight boots and all other concerns of life sink into insignificance, Tight boots and Putnam's Corn Extractor (the great and only sure cure for corns) may go together, and comfort will be their partner; but don't fail to use Putnam's Corn Extractor. Frauds, cheap, poisonous and dangerous substitutes are in the market. Beware of them. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Polson & Co., proprietors, Kingston.

RUMOURED CAPTURE OF BERBER.

LONDON, April 23.—It is reported at Cairo that the rebels have captured Berber. It is uncertain whether or not the garrison and the inhabitants have been massacred. The Khedive and the Ministers are deeply affected by this report. Hussein Pasha has been asking for assistance for a month past, and it will now be too late. A Cairo despatch says it has been decided to advise the British Government to send an expedition of British and Egyptian forces to the relief of Berber.

ANOTHER ARREST.

LONDON, April 23.—A man named Sutten was arrested at Shiffnal, Shropshire to-day. A package of dynamite and dynamite cartridges were found in his possession.

GORDON'S RESCUE.

LONDON, April 23.—A movement is on foot in London to enlist 200 volunteers to rescue General Gordon. Sir Edward Watkin offers £1,000 toward the rescue. He asks the newspapers to open a fund for that purpose. Several sums of money forwarded to the Times to form a fund for the rescue of General Gordon have been returned, as it is anticipated direct Government intervention will render the subscriptions unnecessary.

THE SESSION.

The session of the Parliament of Canada that is just concluded will long be a memorable one, and will leave its mark upon the history of the country. It will be noted, for one thing, on account of the adoption in two instances of the statesmanlike policy of carrying disputed questions to the Courts, and thus removing them from the arena of party strife. The old proposition of the Conservative leaders to refer the Ontario boundary matter to the Imperial Privy Council is now happily adopted, Mr. Mowat having at length given way and agreed to an appeal to the Courts in the place of rebellion and violence. So, too, with the vexed liquor traffic question. Judicial decisions have already shown that our constitution gives jurisdiction to the Dominion in some respects, and to the Provinces in others, but the line of demarcation has never been authoritatively drawn, and this will be effected by the submission of the question to our Supreme Court with an appeal to the Privy Council. In dealing with our great national railway, and with other lines tending both to unite and open up our Dominion, Parliament has shown unmistakably its determination to develop the country in this manner by giving due aid and encouragement to such enterprises. The large vote in favor of the C. P. R., it must be remembered, was only for an advance, on ample security, and with interest payable upon it, so as not to add to our burdens. The necessity for it was chiefly due to the unpatriotic course of the Reform politicians and journalists, who, in combination with those interested in rival lines, had attacked the credit of our great national highway till its securities could not be sold in the great money markets of the world, except at a greater sacrifice than would have been justified. Delay would have been prejudicial to the best interests of the country, so the credit of Canada had to be used to supplement that of the C.P.R., so recklessly injured for factious motives. As to the other grants to railways, Parliament has pronounced unmistakably in their favor. Our fiscal policy, with its encouragement for home industries, has again been sustained by the House in conformity with public opinion; any changes that were made in the tariff were in the direction of wise protection to our manufacturers and producers, with the result of better goods at cheaper rates for the consumer, and remunerative employment for own people. The policy of aiding the settlement of our Northwestern territories, so important a part of the Conservative programme, was also adhered to, and indeed fresh strides were made, such as the throwing open of further districts for homesteading, the land grant and contemplated survey to facilitate the opening of the Hudson Bay route, and the assistance given to the C.P.R. to continue with all speed its road north of Lake Superior, and meantime to make the connection by steamboats. Then there was the step in advance of giving Parliamentary representation to the great territorial divisions of the Northwest, a very proper recognition of these future Provinces of our great Dominion. We need not enumerate the many other useful measures that were passed during the three months of the session. If not of a startling character they were of great practical importance, being in a great measure the amendment and perfection of existing legislation. It is true that more than one Government measure of importance had to be postponed till next year; this, in fact, was the one mark that the Opposition left upon the proceedings of the session—that of obstructing work with a plethora of talk apparently with no other aim. Time after time, on going into Committee of Supply, a debate on our tariff policy was started by them, and the old free trade fallacies and mistatements, so firmly rejected by the people, were repeated by the Reformers with wearisome iteration. So, too, on our railway policy, there were oceans of words, dull speeches by the leaders, made more dull as repeated by the parrot-like rank and file, with the result of a most unmistakable condemnation by Parliament of their factious opposition. The attempt to excite sectional rivalries by telling each Province in turn that it was contributing too much and receiving too little, only led to every Province in the Dominion, with one small exception, pronouncing strongly in favour of the wise and just policy of the administration.

The session, we may add, was as satisfactory from the point of view of the party as from that of the country. The Macdonald Administration, although so strong that some loss of votes would be only natural, was actually strengthened and received fresh accessions. On the other hand, the Reform leader, even with the aid of his new lieutenants, Sir R. Cartwright and Mr. Mills, saw supporters leaving him on almost every vote of importance, till his factious tactics led to the culminating disaster for him of the defection of about a score of his scanty supporters on a weighty question of national policy, and their patriotic support of the Conservative administration of Canada.

ENGLAND AND THE SOUDAN.

TELEGRAPHING FOR TROOPS.

CAIRO, April 22.—Mudir Pasha has telegraphed from Berber asking if troops are to be sent to his assistance. If not he says he wants instructions prior to making the best possible terms with El Mahdi, as he will be unable to hold out much longer.

TURKISH TROOPS.

LONDON, April 22.—The Times says General Gordon has telegraphed to Cairo, asking if it will be possible to hire Turkish troops to assist him.

WITHDRAWING FROM EGYPT.

LONDON, April 22.—The Pall Mall Gazette denounces the "foolish speech make by Sir Wm. Harcourt, Home Secretary at Derby, on Wednesday, in which he protended the withdrawal of England from Egypt. The statement, the Gazette asserts, is kindling hopes in France that the French Republic will be able to seize the government of Egypt. "The British," it says, "irrespective of party, are resolved to prevent Egypt from falling into the hands of France. Any ministry which should sanction that could not command fifty votes in the commons. The Gazette demands that the Government shall at once declare that England will not retire from Egypt for five years, "otherwise," if says, "we shall speedily drift into war with France."

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

MASONIC.—Keene Lodge, 374, G.R.C., A.F. & A.M., will hold an emergent meeting in the Masonic hall, Keene, on Tuesday evening next, at 7.30, to complete arrangements for laying the corner stone of the Presbyterian church on May 24th. A large number of masons in this vicinity have signified their intention to be here on that day.

IMPROVEMENT.—Mr. R. Proutt, millwright, of this village, has fixed up his residence lately. He is at present putting up a verandah.

FARM WORK—The roads are drying very well, and the farmers are hard at work ploughing and seeding.

GARDENING.—Mr. Wylie, our new shoemaker, has decided to extend his business by working a garden this summer.

PARTY.—There was a large party at Mr. Lang's on Tuesday evening last,

STAGE.—Our new stage to the G.J. is being well patronized.

RIFLE MATCH.—The following members of Keene Company, 57th Battallion, left on Wednesday morning last to take part in a match at Hasting: Capt. Birdsall, Sergt. McIntyre, Private Wedlock, Private Millar, Private McFarlane. We wish our villagers success in every way,

THE FASHIONABLE FEVER.—The courting fever is subsiding a little, but still it is rather bad.

TEMPERANCE.—A temperance lodge of I.O. G.T. will shortly be organized in Allandale.

JOURNALISTIC.—Dame Grundy says there is to be a reporter's war here before long, and that the Hastings Star representative had better look out. The REVIEW, as enlarged and improved, is now the leading weekly outside of Toronto.

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.—The 24th of May will be a big day in Keene.

INVASION INVITED.—The Saved Army ought to try Keene, unless they think it too far gone.

TORONTO.

WATERING CARTS.—The Commissioner on Tuesday set seventeen watering carts to work.

NEW SEWERS.—Plans are being prepared in the City Engineer's department for twelve new sewers.

NEW BIBLE HOUSE.—Already $4,000 has been promised towards the building fund of the new Bible house to be erected on Yonge street on the site of the present building.

DR. TALMAGE.—A large audience assembled in Bond street Congregational church on Tuesday evening on the occasion of the well known American divine, Rev. Dr. Talmage, of Brooklyn, N. Y., delivering his lecture on "Bright and Happy Homes." His Honour the Lieut.-Governor presided, and in a few appropriate observations introduced the lecture to the audience.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.—An endeavour is being made by the Mathematical and Physical Society to found a scholarship in their department in the third year with a view to raising the necessary funds. The society is circulating a letter among the graduates stating the case and asking for subscriptions. * * * The establishment of a Political Economy Society in University College is proposed.

ONTARIO AND QUEBEC RAILWAY.—A [special general meeting of the stock and bondholders of the Ontario and Quebec railway was held on Tuesday afternoon in the company's office. Mr. E. B. Osler, the president of the company, occupied the chair. There were present Hon. Peter Mitchell and A. B. Chaffey, of Montreal; W. Hendrie and Adam Brown, of Hamilton; John Burns and H. E. Suckling, of Toronto, and F. W. Kingston, representing the Quebec Bank. The object of the meeting was to consider and ratify the lease of the company's, line to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, as sanctioned by Parliament, and also determined the issue of debenture stock over the whole line. The meeting ratified the lease, and after the other buisness had been disposed of, adjourned.

KINGSTON.

AN OBNOXIOUS BY-LAW REPEALED.—The City Council has repealed the by-law which prevented merchants from exposing goods on the street, and passed one which allowed them twelve inches of the board walk, but makes it necessary that movable platforms should be used on which to place goods.

ARRANGEMENT WITH THE STREET RAILWAY.—The Council has come to an agreement with the Street Railway Company, so that the road will be running again in a week or two.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

BELLEVILLE.

BURGLARS.—Several stores and hotels in Frankford have been entered by burglars, whose spoil consisted chiefly of liquors, hardware, about $50 in cash and a gold watch.

THE ASSIZES.—In the assizes on Tuesday several cases were disposed of. Michael Ryan, against whom true bills were found for stealing tickets and obtaining money under false pretences from parties in Trenton, pleaded guilty.

THE WHEEL.

The six day horse and bicycle tournament in San Francisco ended on Saturday. The bicycles won by a mile and a quarter, making 1,073 miles.

The bill excluding bicycles from the public highways of Kentucky, which passed the lower House last week, died in the Senate, and another was passed making riders responsible for damages caused by their carelessness.

The Toronto Bicycle Club took advantge of the pleasant weather on Saturday and a goodly number turned out. At Clarence Square they grouped themselves about the fountain and were photographed by Mr. Doolittle, who carries a whole gallery on his wheel. After a short club drill they took a run out to Brockton and back to the city. Mr. Doolittle hopes to see a large turn out next Saturday, when he expects to take another photo of the club.

At the Oakland (Cal.) Trotting Park, April 6th Miss Louise Armaindo, on a bicycle defeated Mr. Jackson's horse Tom, driven to a sulky, in a five-mile race, by about 100 yards, in 22 :17. Following this came a twenty-mile race between the champion bicyclist, John S. Prince, and Mr. Jackson's brown trotting horse Ed. It was won by Prince by a few yards in 1 hour 21 minutes 50 seconds.

A Feat of Horsemanship.

KINGSSTON, April 21.—On Saturday afternoon Miss Grace Armour, daughter of Judge Armour, while riding on horseback on Barriefield common in company with Col. Montizambert, had, a lively experience. Her horse became excited and began to plunge, when she noticed that the saddle was shifting. She kept her seat till a favourable opportunity presented itself, when she sprang off the animal's back to the ground. The saddle was firmly fastened, when she remounted and subdued the horse.—Mail.

Two Religious Armies.

BRAMPTON, April 22.—Another highly interesting Salvation meeting took place last night in the Town Hall here. As Lieut. Laurie was conducting it, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Thom and other ministers, General Robinson, of the Lord's Army, without permission, delivered a vehement speech against the first-named officer. The audience and Lieut. Laurie permitted him to proceed for a few moments, but very soon imperative demonstrations of disapproval were manifested by the audience, and it was with great difficulty that Lieut. Laurie maintained order until the General had left the hall, when the religious exercises were proceeded with.

MADAME LA MARQUISE.

The folds of her wine-dark violet dress
Glow over the sofa, fall on fall,
As she sits in the air of her loveliness
With a smile for each and for all.

As I bend o'er her bosom to tell her the news,
The faint scent of her hair, the approach of her cheek,
The vague warmth of her breath, all my senses suffuse
With HERSELF: and I tremble to speak.

Could we find out her heart through that velvet and lace?
Can it beat without rumling her sumptuous dress?
She will show us her shoulder, her bosom, her face;
But what the heart's like we must guess.

With live women and men to be found in the world
(Live with sorrow and sin, live with pain and with passion,)—
Who could live with a doll, though its locks should be curled,
And its petticoats trimmed in the fashion?

'Tis so fair!...would my bite, if I bit it, draw blood?
Will it cry if I hurt it? or scold if I kiss?
Is it made, with its beauty, of wax or of wood?
....Is it worth while to guess at all this?

CHAPTER IV.—CONTINUED.

"I am glad it is susceptible of proof. This point established, I can easily answer your question in the affirmative. As far as I am acquainted with her record, Mrs. Orme is a worthy woman, and, I may add, a remarkably cautious, circumspect person, for one so unaccustomed to the admiration which is so lavished upon her. I believe it is conceded she is the most beautiful woman in New York, but she shelters herself so securely in the constant presence of a plain but most respectable old couple, with whom she resides, and who accompany her when travelling, that it is difficult to see her except upon the stage. Even in her business visits to my office, she has always been attended by old Mrs. Waul."

"Can you explain to me how one so uneducated and inexperienced as she certainly was has so suddenly attained, not only celebrity (which is often cheaply earned), but eminence in a profession involving the amount of culture requisite for dramatic success?"

A slight smile showed the glittering line of the lawyer's teeth.

"When did you see her last?"

"Seven years ago."

"Then I venture the assertion that you would not recognize her, should you see her in one of her favorite and famous roles. When, where, or by whom she was trained I know not, but some acquaintance with the most popular ornaments of her profession justifies my opinion that no more cultivated or artistic actress walks the stage than Madam Odille Orme. She is no mere amatrice or novice, but told me she had laboriously and studiously struggled up from the comparatively menial position of seamstress. Even in Paris I have never heard a purer, finer rendition of a passage in Phedre than one day burst from her lips in a moment of deep feeling; yet I cannot tell how or where she learned French. She made her debut in tragedy somewhere in the West, and when she reappeared in New York her success was brilliant. I have never known a woman whose will was so patiently rigid, so colossal—whose energy was so tireless in the pursuit of one special aim. She has the vigilance and tenacity of a Spanish bloodhound."

"In the advancement of her scheme do you believe her capable of committing a theft?"

"What do you denominate a theft?"

The piercing black eyes of the lawyer were fixed with increased interest upon the clergyman.

"Precisely what every honest man means by the term. If Mrs. Orme resolved to possess a certain paper, to which she had been denied access, do you think she would hesitate to break into a house, open a secret drawer, and steal the contents?"

"Not unless she had a legal right to the document which was unjustly withheld from her; and even then my knowledge of the lady's character inclines me to believe that she would hesitate and resort to other means."

"You consider her strictly honest and truthful?"

"I am possessed of no facts that lead me to indulge a contrary opinion. Suppose you state the case?"

Briefly Mr. Hargrove narrated the circumstances attending his last interview with Regina's mother, and the loss of the tin box, dwelling in conclusion upon the perplexing fact that in the recent letter received from her, relative to her daughter's removal to the Parsonage, Mrs. Orme had implored him to carefully preserve the license he had retained, as the marriage certificate in her possession might not be considered convincing proof, should litigation ensue. He could not understand the policy of this appeal, nor reconcile its necessity witw his conviction that she had stolen the license.

Joining his scholarly white hands, with the tips of his fingers forming a cone, Mr. Palma leaned back in his chair and listened, while no hint of surprise or incredulity found expression in his cold imperturbable face. When the recital was ended, he merely inclined his head.

"Do you not regard this as strong evidence against her? Be frank, Mr. Palma."

"It is merely circumstantial. Write to Mrs. Orme, inform her of the loss of the license, and I think you will find she is as innocent of the theft as you or I. I know she went to Europe believing that the final papers of her marriage was in your keeping; for in the event of her death while abroad she has empowered me to demand that paper from you, and to present it, with certain others, in a court of justice."

"I wish I could see it as you do. I hope it will some day be satisfactorily cleared up, but meanwhile I must indulge a doubt. On one point at least my mind is at rest; this little girl is unquestionably the child of the man who married her mother, for I have never seen so remarkable a likeness as she bears to him."

He sighed heavily, and patted the shaggy head which Biorn had some time before laid unheeded on his knee.

During the brief silence that ensued the lawyer gazed out of the window, through which floated the spicy messages of carnations, and the fainter whispers of pale, cream-hearted Noisette roses; then he rose and put both hands in his pockets.

"Dr. Hargrove, you and I have been—with equal reluctance—forced into the same boat, and since blongre malgre we must voyage for a time together, in the interest of this unfortunate child candour becomes us both. Men of my profession sometimes resort to agencies that the members of yours usually shrink from. I too was once very skeptical concerning the truth of Mrs. Orme's fragmentary story, for it was the merest disjecta membra which she entrusted to me, and my credulity declined to honor her heavy drafts. To satisfy myself, I employed a shrewd female detective to 'shadow' the pretty actress for nearly a year, and her reports convinced me that my client, while struggling with Napoleonic ambition and pertinacity to attain the zenith of success in her profession, was as little adicted to croquetry as the statue of Washington in Union Square, or the steeple of Trinity Church; and that in the midst of flattery and adulation she was the same proud, cold, suffering, almost broken-hearted wife she had always appeared in her conferences with me. Indulging this belief, I have accepted the joint guardianship of her daughter, on condition that whenever it becomes necessary to receive her under my immediate protection, I shall be made acquainted with her real name."

"Thank you, my dear sir, for your frankness, which I would most joyfully reciprocate, were I not bound by a promise to make no revelations until she gives me permission, or her death unseals my lips. I hope you fully comprehend my awkward position. There is a conspiracy to defraud her and her child of their social and legal rights, and I fear both will be victimized; but she insists that secrecy will deliver her from from the snares of her enemies. I suppose you are aware that General—"

He paused, and bit his lip, and again the lawyer's handsome mouth disclosed his perfect teeth.

"There is no mischief in your dropped stitch; I shall not pick it up. I know that Mrs. Orme's husband is in Europe, and I was assured that motives of a personal character induced her to make certain professional engagements in England, and upon the continent. I am not enthusiastic, and rarely venture prophecies, but I shall be much disappointed if her Richelieu tactics do not finally triumph."

"Can you tell me why she does not openly bring suit against her huspand for bigamy."

"Simply because she has been informed that the policy of the defence would be to at once attack her reputation, which she seems to guard with almost morbid sensitiveness, on account of her daughter. She has been warned of the dangerous consequences of a suit, but if forced to extremities will hazard it—hence I bide my time."

He threw back his lordly head, and his brilliant eyes seemed to dilate, as though the suggestion of the suit stirred his pulse, as the breath of carnage and the din of distant battle that of the war-horse, panting for the onward dash.

THE FASHIONS.

THE TOURNURE.

The tournure is reaching quite prominent proportions; bat, let us add, the old-time hoop is not restored to favour, nor is there a prospect of its being so.

BLACK DRESSES FOR SPRING.

For entirely black dresses for the early spring the handsomest satins are being provided for the greater part of the dress, to be enriched by a vest and skirt front of elaborate embroidery done on satin, or else upon net that is laid upon satin.

GLOVES.

Gloves worn for evening are very long—at least one yard and oftentimes one and a half. They are worn much wrinkled and extend to the shoulder. Gloves thirty-one inches long in mosquetaire shape, without a single button, are made of reddish tan Siede leather, to be worn with any evening dress, either white, black or coloured.

TRAINS.

The length of the train of a dress worn on the occasion of a presentation at the English Court is from three and a half to four yards, and there are usually three widths of material, the petticoat also being trimmed.

HIP TRIMMINGS.

Though paniers have quite gone out, there is a new form of hip-trimming. The brocade is pleated from the waistband so as to stand out in large pleats on the hips, where it forms two rather sharp points in front. Similar pleats serve to throw out the basque of the bodice at the back, and altogether have the effect of diminishing the apparent size of the waist.—Tribune.

Six Thousand Mummies.

LONDON, April 23.—The Times says;—Prof. Maspero, a French Egyptologist, has discovered at Ekmeen the ancient Khemmis (the Panopolis of the Greeks), between Assioot and Thebes, an immense necropolis, which dates from the Ptolemaic period. Five catacombs so far have been opened, and yielded one hundred and twenty mummies. The sites of one hundred similar catacombs are still in act. It is believed that they contain as manyas six thousand mummies. A large harvest of jewels and funeral treasures is expected.

Cuban Filibusters.

KEY WEST, April 22.—The military commander at Cardenas has been imprisoned because he allowed Aguero to land. Matanzas' papers say two American war vessels which sailed thence to the united States have unexpectedly returned because another filibustering expedition is expected. Steam launches and boats are nightly partrolling the harbour of Key West in search of a suspicious boat reported to have been seen off the bar. Francisco Aguilera a prominent Cuban, has arrived from New Orleans.

To the Gentlemen of Peterboro'.

We are very glad to be able to state that a large proportion of you are regular customers, but to such of the gentlemen of this town who have been in the habit of doing that most foolish of all foolish things, namely, THROWING AWAY MONEY by paying far more than they ought for their goods, and, though giving exhorbitant prices, we would say, don't DO SO ANY LONGER. By dealing at the City Clothing Store you can always RELY on getting articles of FIRST-CLASS MAKE AND MATERIAL, of the NEWEST POSSIBLE DESIGN and at PRICES hitherto UNPRECEDENTED. Our stock in the undermentioned articles is carefully selected, and very complete, and every gentleman will need one or more of such goods:—

LOCAL NEWS

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, fine milder weather, stationary or higher temperature.

Another Incipient Fire.

At about ten o'clock on Wednesday night the roof of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's machine shop was ignited by a cinder. Fortunately, several workmen were in the shop at the time, as they were working overtime, and the flames were extinguished before they had gained headway.

A Fine Team.

Mr. Terence Smith has purchased a team of horses for corporation work, and a strong looking pair they are. One was purchased from Mr. R. Cavanagh, Peterborough, and the other from Mr. D. McFadden, Percy, the sum paid for the two being $350. Their combined weight is 2,850 pounds.

Into the Water.

A young man who was returning from the fire on Wednesday morning, attempted to walk across the Ontario and Quebec railway bridge. He turned around to look back at the fire, and in doing so made a misstep and fell into the river. Being a good swimmer he reached the shore in safety. Several persons got a wetting by falling into a cattle guard on the Midland Railway while on the way to the scene of the same fire.

An Old Friend.

Mr. D. A. McDonald, late of St. Charles' Point, Peterborough, lumber merchant, and who has been more recently in the same business in Haliburton, has retired from that line and has gone into the grocery trade in Lindsay, opposite to the Lindsay Marble Works. His many friends in this town and neighbourhood will wish him success in his new enterprise, and will no doubt call upon him when they visit the Victorian capital, with every assurance of a cordial welcome.

Oddfellow's Anniversary.

The 65th anniversary of the introduction of Oddfellowship into America occurs on Saturday next. On Sunday evening the Oddfellows of Peterborough will attend divine service in the George street Methodist Church, where a special sermon will be delivered by the Rev. John Shaw. The members of Peterborough Lodge will assemble in their hall and then parade down to Otonabee Lodge Hall, from which place both Lodges will proceed to the church.

"Very Sweet."

"Swest idol of my lonely heart, if thou wilt place thy hand in mine, and say—Dear love, I'll be thy bride, we'll fly to sunny Italy, and neath soft cerulean skies we'll bask and sing and dream of naught but love. Rich and costly paintings by old masters shall adorn the walls of the castle I'll give thee. Thy bath shall be of milk. A box at the opera shall be at thy command, and royalty shall be thy daily visitor. Sweet strains of music shall lull thee at eventide, and warbling birds shall wake thee from thy morning slumber. Dost thou accept? Say yes, and fly, oh, fly with me"—to buy a tie at Andrew McNeil's!

A CHILD'S TRAGIC DEATH.

A Little Daughter of Mr. D. Kennedy Caught in a Fence and Killed.

An accident of a very distressing character occurred on Wednesday forenoon in Otonabee, by which a little child, a daughter of Mr. Dawson Kennedy, was suddenly taken away from this world.

The little girl, who was only two years and three months old, but was large and smart for her age, went out with the other children when they started for school. She was out about fifteen minutes, when Mrs. Kennedy went to see where the child was, and the mother's horror can be easier imagined than described when she saw her little daughter hanging on the fence lifeless. The child was released and a physician summoned, but medical aid was of no avail, as the child was dead before she was discovered.

The accident appeared to have occurred through the child trying to climb over the fence. The top rail was not directly above the one next and the child had evidently slipped down between them. Her head caught on the rails, and she was thus suspended, death ensuing, according to the physician's opinion, in about two minutes after the accident happened.

The child's name was Clara, and she was a very bright little girl. Mr. Kennedy was away from home at the time, and returned on the evening Grand Junction train, when he heard the distressing intelligence. The parents will receive much sympathy from their many friends in the town and county.

The funeral will take place from Mr. Kennedy's residence at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, and proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery.

THE BICYCLE CLUB.

The Annual Meeting—Enthusiastic Gathering—Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Bicycle Club was held on Wednesday evening, in the room adjoining the Mechanics' Institute rooms. There was a good attendance of enthusiastic wheelmen, and judging from the manner in which this club has commenced the season, we may expect to hear from it before the season is over. The club is not a year old, but its members are enthusiastic sportsmen and it has been steadily gaining strength since its organization.

The following officers were elected for the present year:—

PRESIDENT—D. W. Dumble.
CAPTAIN—F. Hilliard.
LIEUTENANT—C. McClelland.
SECRETARY-TREASURER—W. F. Kingan.
COMMITTEE OF MANAGEMENT—F. Hilliard, C. Clementi and B. Tate.

Ten new members united with the club. A constitution and code of by-laws were submitted and referred to a special committee, who will report at a meeting to be held on Monday night next.

Mr. Kingan has imported nine bicycles this spring, for new members, and no doubt further additions will be made to the number of 'cylists in the town.

LIVE STOCK SHOW.

Exhibition of Stallions and Cattle at the Village of Hastings.

A spring show of stallions, bulls and fat cattle was held on the grounds of Mr. R. Johnston, at Hastings, on Wednesday afternoon, under the auspices of the East Peterborough and East Northumberland Agricultural Societies.

Of stallions, there were 19 entries, in the following classes:—Clydesdale, 4; Perchon, 2; blood, 1; general purpose, 5; and carriage 7. The judges of the stallions were Messrs. V. Best, Peterborough; G. T. Cummings, Trent Bridge; and M. McGregor, Norwood.

The judge's position was no sinecure, as they had a fine lot of horses to judge between and a careful examination could alone decide which animal was entitled to the prize. This was especially the case with the general purpose stallions, in which the competition for first prize was keen. The

were awarded as follows:—

CLYDESDALE STALLION—1st, "Pride of Aberdeen," owned by Watson and Campbell, Hamilton; amount of prize, $15; 2nd, "Autocrat," Douglas of Johnston, Percy, $10.

PERCHERON STALLION.—1st, "Lothair," Geo. Harper and C. Burkell. Roseneath, $15; 2nd, "Molo" May and Wynne, Cranabe, $10.

BLOOD STALLION.—1st, "Jack the Barber," Alex. McLeod, Cobourg, $15.

GENERAL PURPOSE STALLION.—1st, "Centennial Jock," W. W. Shearer, Otonabee, $8; 2nd, "Young Canada," Geo. J. Chalmers, Young's Point, $6.

CARRIAGE STALLION.—1st, "Lord Derby," (imported coach horse), John Mason, Bowmanville, $8; 2nd, "Paragon," Dr. Lean, Roseneath, $6.

The above were all the prizes offered for stallions, and every class called for was represented. The show of bulls and fat cattle was, however, not so successful. There were only five entries in all the classes, namely, two Durham bulls, one Ayrshire bull and two fat steers.

The judges were Messrs. J. Garbutt and Jas. Stothard, of Smith, and R. Bennett, of Campbellford, and the prizes were awarded as follows:—

DURHAM BULL (over two years)—1st, M. Douglas, Percy, $5; 2nd, Geo. English, Asphodel, $3.

AYRSHIRE BULL (under two years—1st, John Breckenbridge, $5.

FAT CATTLE.—1st, James Moore, Asphodel, $5; 2nd James Moore, Asphodel, $3.

The attendance of spectators on the grounds during the time of the exhibition was fair, but not as large as might have been looked for at a united exhibition of two Ridings or as large as it might have been if the management had advertised more judiciously and not neglected to take advantage of the best means in the district for giving the show publicity. This penny-wise and pound-foolish policy had the usual result. The spectators numbered about 500.

The awards of the judges appeared to give satisfaction generally. The grounds are well adopted for such exhibitions, and future exhibitions at Hastings are to be looked for.

STRAY SHOTS:

Notes of the Saved Army, their Meetings and Sayings.

Mr. Munt has been promoted to the office of Captain in the Saved Army. Capt. Munt is one of the most energetic officers the Army possesses.

There was a good attendance at the meeting on Wednesday evening.

Mr. J. Harry Wyatt read a portion of Scripture and Capt. Munt delivered an address.

Six names were added to the list of converts.

Mr. Geo. B. Sproule, one of the delegates to the Council of War at Cobourg, has arrived at home.

The three delegates from Peterborough were the Chairmen of three of the most important committees at the Council of War.

An Anniversary.

Not every body will know that on this day one hundred and fifty-three years ago died the writer of one of the pet books of childhood—and indeed, in many cases, of adult life—Danial Defoe, author of Robinson Crusoe.

Sale of Horses.

The annual sale of Clydesdale horses and Shetland ponies, the property of the Marquis of Londonderry, took place lately at Seaham Harbour. The bidding was very brisk and good prices were realized, The stock was disposed of without reserve, excepting the stallion Viscount, which was offered at 500 guineas, but was withdrawn. The total sum realized by the sale was £2,569.—London Times.

Hereditary Scrofula.

Are you aware that in your blood the taint of scrofula has a prominent place? This is true of every one. It is liable at any time, on the slightest provocation, to develope itself in some insidious disease. Consumption and many other diseases are outgrowths of this impurity of the blood. Shaker Blood Syrup has a wonderful power over all scrofulous troubles, as the remarkable testimonials we have received unmistakably prove.

We refer by permission to Mrs. P. Elliott, Hanover, Maine, who was cured by Shaker Blood Syrup of 11 Scrofula Sores, the severity of which confined her to the house for two years. Six months previous to taking Shaker Blood Syrup, she could not get about her room without crutches. Her friend says I did not think it possiable for her to live many months she was reduced to a mere skeleton. Her cure is hardly less than a miricle. There is no doubt that in Shaker Blood Syrup, we have the most remarkable medicine that has ever been produced, and a positive cure for Syphilis and Scrofula in their numerous forms.

Ormond & Walsh, Druggists, Agents for Peterborough.

A Shanghai despatch says it is believed that the accession of Prince Chun to the control of the Grand Council of the Chinese Empire is the forerunner of war. Defensive measures are being taken. Much excitement prevails. Prince Kung and other officials recently dismissed for their dilatory action in the Tonquin affair, have joined in forwarding a memorial to the Empress, thanking her for her lenient treatment.

A Run on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any drug store as now at Taylor and McDonald's for a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. All persons affected with asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, severe coughs, or any affection of the throat or lungs, can get a trial bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at the above drug store. Regular size $1.

KINGSTON College cadets, B Battery, and the Brighton Engineers had a good lesson in the art of modern warfare on Monday night, being engaged in digging trenches and building a battery to attack Fort Henry, which was supposed to be in possession of an enemy. The work was successfully accomplished by four o'clock in the morning.

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of liver, kidney or stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure, and you will be well rewarded for your trouble besides. All blood diseases, biliousness, jaundice, constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by Taylor & Macdonald.

Have you Thought About it.

Pain is one of the sure things of life, and it becomes then a most important question to have at hand the quickest and most efficient remedy. Polson's NERVILINE cannot fail to cure cramps, toothache, neuralgia, headache, and all pain, internal or external. Nerviline is the most perfect combination ever offered to the public for the relief of pain. It will not cost you much to try it, for you can buy it at Ormond & Walch for 10 cents a trial bottle, which will convince you of its mighty pain relieving power.

NOTICE.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of THURSDAY, 1st MAY, 1884, for the delivery of the usual Indian Supplies, duty paid, in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, consisting of Flour, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Oxen, Cows, Bulls, Agricultural Implements, Tools, &c.

Forms of Tender and full particulars relative to the Supplies can be had by applying to the undersigned, or to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Regina, or to the Indian Office Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods separately or for all the goods called for in the Schedules.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque of a Canadian Bank, for at least five per cent. of the amount of the tenders for Manitoba, and ten per cent. of the amount of the tenders for the North-West Territories, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

Tenderers are required to make up and attach to their tender the total money value of the goods they offer to supply, or their tender will not be entertained.

The Tender for Beef must be a separate tender; if it includes any other article it will not be considered.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 1884.

STRAY SHOTS:

Notes of the Saved Army, their Meetings and Sayings.

There was a good attendance at the meeting on Thursday night.

Mr. Geo. E. Williams officiated as reader of the Scripture.

Miss Emma White, sister of Lieut. Annie White, was at the meetings on Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Sergt. Byrne and Mr. Robt. Weir have returned from the Council of War. The latter said on Thursday evening that the Council prayer meeting reminded him of the record of the day of Pentecost.

A man who had been confined in gaol for some time, but who has reformed, spoke at the meeting.

Four or five persons went forward to the penitent bench.

A choir is to be organized to conduct the singing at the meeting.

POLICE COURT.

THE BUILDING BYLAW.

FRIDAY, April 25.—The case of Constable Adams against Thos. Bradburn, for having violated the Building By-law by erecting a wooden building inside of the fire limits, was again called this morning. No one appeared for the defendant.

The MAGISTRATE remarked that Mr. Bradburn was out of town.

Mr. EDWARDS, who appeared for the town, said that the case had been enlarged until today at the request of Mr. Bradburn's solicitor, who had been promised to have the building taken down. Personally he had no objection to another enlargement.

The MAGISTRATE said that it was admitted that the building was a violation of the by-law, and he did not think that another enlargement was necessary.

Constable PIDGEON was called, and testified that the building had not been removed.

The MAGISTRATE said that he would impose a heavy fine, because Mr. Bradburn's attention had been called to the by-law and he proceeded with the building with his eyes open. He fined him $50.

OBSTRUCTING A STREET.

Wm. Brundrett, station agent in Peterborough for the Midland division of the Grand Grunk Railway, was charged by Thomas Beavis with having, on March 12th, obstructed Bethune street, between Simcoe and Charlotte street.

The alleged obstruction was the allowing of cars to stand on a siding on the street mentioned, which siding was close to Mr. Beavis' property.

At the request of Mr. Brundrett the case was adjourned until Tuesday next.

The Cattle Disease Bill.

OTTAWA, April 24.—A cablegram to Sir Chas. Tupper, dated April 23rd, states that the Gladstone Government was defeated last night on the cattle bill and the amendments of the House of Lords upheld. The vote was not a party one. A question was asked about infection among Canadian cattle in Cambridge. The Government stated that it was satisfied that no disease existed in Canada, the disease must have been contracted after arrival at Liverpool.

ATHLETIC CONTEST.

The Coming Trial of Strength Between Noted Athletes.

We have been requested to publish the following articles of agreement, which have been entered into by Messrs. E. W. Johnston and John Keating:—

BARRIE, Ont., April 19th, 1884.

Articles of agreement entered into this day between E. W. Johnston, at present of the Town of Peterborough, Ont., Canada, and John Keating, of Boston, Massachusetts, U. S., for a match in athletic games, for two hundred ($200) dollars a side, to be a sweepstake match, open to all athletes in the world, winner to take all the stakes. The sum of one hundred ($100) dollars to be deposited by each athlete on signing this agreement with Mr. Crawford, of the Simcoe House, Barrie, and the remaining one hundred ($100) dollars, to be deposited with the said Crawford on or before the 20th day of May 1884.

The contest to take place in the Town of Peterborough, Ont., May 24th, 1884, and any participant failing to deposit his money as per above agreement, or to make his appearance on the above date, at the time and place to be hereafter settled, to forfeit all claims to the stakes.

It is also agreed that E. W. Johnston shall allow each athlete participating in this contest the sum of fifty ($50) dollars for expenses.

And it is further agreed, that each participant shall have the privilege of choosing his own judge. The stake-holder to appoint the Referee.

And it is also agreed that the contest shall consist of the following feats, viz.:—

1. Throwing the heavy shot.
2. Standing long jump.
3. Tossing the caber.
4. Standing high jump.
5. Throwing heavy hammer.
6. Running high jump.
7. Throwing heavy weight, high.
8. Standing hop, step and jump.
9. Hurdle race, 200 yards.
10. Wrestling, catch-as-catch-can style.
11. Throwing 56lb. weight, with ring.

The participant making the most points to be declared the winner. First place in any of the above feats to count three (3) points, 2nd place to count two (2) points, and 3rd place to count one (1) point.

Signed in the presence of J. W. Smith, Thos. R. Hewson (for E. W. J), and Jas. KNOX (for J. K.)

E. W. JOHNSTON,
JOHN KEATING.

It will be seen from the above that there will be a rare attraction in Peterborough for the Queen's Birthday this year, as the athletic contest will doubtless be one of high merit.

The League Seeking Funds.

CHICAGO, April 22.— A circular from the headquarters of the Irish National League sets forth the need of money for lawful expenses at the approaching general election, and asks for contributions to that end from supporters of Parnell's policy and purpose.

Reduction in Miners' Wages.

PITTSBURG, April 23.—The coal operators of the fourth pool meet on Friday to consider the advisability of ordering a reduction of a quarter cent a bushel in miners' wages. The miners declare that a general strike will be inaugurated if the reduction is insisted upon.

A Father as a Rival.

MONROE, Ga., April 23.—Willis Gunn, a widower, and his son, Jesse, of this place, both courted the same young woman. Jesse Gunn, the son, won and married her two weeks ago. The father sent his son word to be on his guard, as he was coming to kill him. This morning a child saw him slipping into his son's house, and told the latter, who fired on his father as he was taking aim with a double-barrelled gun. The ball lodged over the eye, and death was instantaneous. The son gave himself up to the sheriff.

Remedy for the Ohio Floods.

The recent destructive floods of the Ohio and Mississippi have revived the plan originated by the eminent engineer, Mr. Chas. Ellet, to go to the source of the floods for their cure. The idea, we think, is to select deep ravines and narrow valleys enclosed on three sides by natural wall and across their openings construct immense dams of stone, having gates for regulating the outflow. The object is to gather in these immense reservoirs sufficient water to prevent an overflow, and then as the water in the streams below begin to recede within their channels to allow the water in the reservoirs to flow out gradually and follow in the wake of the flood. When the amount of water necessary to be held back is considered, the undertaking is at once appreciated as one of stupendous proportions; but it is claimed that the construction of these reservoirs would cost far less than the damage done by floods, and the feasibility of the plan is being vigorously agitated.—American Lumberman.

Nothing Hunts Out Corns.

Like tight boots. Corns are very small affairs but apply to them a pair of tight boots and all other concerns of life sink into insignificance, Tight boots and Putnam's Corn Extractor (the great and only sure cure for corns) may go together, and comfort will be their partner; but don't fail to use Putnam's Corn Extractor. Frauds, cheap, poisonous and dangerous substitutes are in the market. Beware of them. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Polson & Co., proprietors, Kingston.

THE DECISION POSTPONED.

LONDON, April 24.—The final decision of the Government in regard to the expedition for the relief of Berber has been postpond until the arrival of Sir Evelyn Baring and General Graham on Monday.

THE GORDON RESCUE FUND.

LONDON, April 24.—London newspapers refuse to open a fund for the rescue of Gordon, preferring to leave the responsibility with the Government.

GREAT FIRE AT PORT SAID.

ALEXANDRIA, April 24.—Half the Arab quarter at Port Said was destroyed by fire to-day. Four thousand Arabs are homeless.

ANGLO-FRENCH RELATIONS.

LONDON, April 24.—Although the tone of the French press is unfriendly toward England, the relations between the two Governments are harmonious.

CONFERENCE ON EGYPT.

LONDON, April 24.—The English Government has sent invitations for a conference regarding Egyptian affairs to all the powers who signed the treaty of Berlin. It estimates that Egypt is in need of a loan of £8,000,000 to meet most pressing requirements, and says the suppression of the Egyptian army would effect a large saving.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE.

LONDON, April 24.—In a blue book issued containing the correspondence between the British and United States governments in relation to cattle disease, it is stated that foot-and-mouth disease is not indigenous in America, but rather that outbreaks of it throughout the States are traceable to cargoes of cattle from England.

TROOPS FOR EGYPT.

LONDON, April 24.—A Cairo despatch says a Cabinet Council has resolved that an immediate despatch of troops to Upper Egypt is imperatively necessary. The Prime Minister has been directed to submit the resolutions to the British Government.

DEPRESSION IN SHIPBUILDING.

LONDON, April 24.—In the shipyards of the Tyne the depression in shipbuilding has thrown out of work 2,000 men at Lower Walker, 2,500 at Wallsend, 1,000 at Hepburn, 1,000 at Jarrow, 1,000 at Howden, and 700 at Scotswood, making close upon 10,000 out of employment at Tyneside alone. At Sunderland, too, it is estimated the depression has laid 10,000 men idle.

THE IMPERIAL BUDGET.

LONDON, April 24.—The budget was introduced in the House of Commons last night. The national debt is shown to be lower now than since 1811. The interest is lower than since 1805. The debt was reduced in 1883 by eight and a half millions. The estimated expenditure for the current financial year is £85,252,000, against £85,954,000 during the previous year. Revenue is estimated at £85,550,000, against £71,866,000 last year. It is proposed to convert the three per cent. consols into two and three-quarter per cents.

ILLNESS OF THE GERMAN EMPRESS.

BERLIN, April 24.—The Emperor William keeps his room, but continues to receive visitors and work throughout the day. The condition of the Empress causes the greatest disquietude in Court circles, in which her death is considered a matter of only a few weeks.

MURDERERS SENTENCED.

DUBLIN, April 24.—Elliott Swords, Bernard Byrnne, and Bryan Fitzpatrick were yesterday convicted in Dublin of the murder of Mrs. Smythe, and sentenced to ten years each.

A CARDINAL FOR AMERICA.

ROME, April 24.—The Pope has decided to create another cardinal in the United States. It is intended to always have two in the States and also in South America.

GENERAL STRIKE IN BERLIN.

BERLIN, April 24.—The general strike movement in Berlin is progressing. Twenty-five hundred joiners met to-day and demanded an increase of 10 per cent. in wages, and a decrease in the hours of labour, and to strike if their demands were not complied with. The masters have refused to accede to their demands, and a number of men have already quit work. At other trade meetings similar action was decided on.

CABINET DIFFERENCES.

LONDON, April 24.—The Pall Mall Gazette declares there was a marked difference of opinion among members of the Ministry regarding Egypt at yesterday's Council. If the Cabinet sacrifices Berber it says England must assume the Government of Egypt. If they relieve Berber they postpone the evil day. On the decision of the Cabinet to-day the fateful issues hangs.

AMERICAN.

LARGE TANNERY BURNED.

CINCINNATI, April 24.—The American oak leather tannery was burned this morning, with 45,000 hides. Loss $400,000; insurance $300,000. Four hundred people are thrown out of employment.

A RING IN DRUGS.

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—A combination in Pennsylvania controlling 30,000 retail drug stores and 700 wholesale establishments has been formed to keep up prices.

GREELY RELIEF EXPEDITION.

NEW YORK, April 24.—A large crowd gathered to day to see the Bear sail. Mrs. DeLong paid a visit to the vessel to bid good bye to the officers and Captain Emory. Emory said he felt confident they would return all right with Lieutenant Greely. As the vessel moved away she was greeted with prolonged cheers and watched by many until she disappeared from sight. The Thesis will follow the Bear within a week.

OUR CONSTITUTION.

THE Hon. Mr. Flynn in a debate on Provincial antonomy in the Legislative Assembly of Quebec made those excellent remarks :—

"The great British constituti on, which was broad enough and long enough to cover the rights of everyone, had been the work of years of experience; so would it be with the Canadian constitution, which had been copied from it. As necessity arose it could be modified, but he warned the people not to be in a hurry to amend it, or protest against it until necessity actually arose."

We believe that the people of Canada have patience to give our constitution a fair trial, and are not anxious to amend it even before time and judicial decisions have fully interpreted it. The assaults upon our constitution come from Reformers who hope that anarchy and sectional rivalries may help them to office, with which view they act the part of factious obstructionists.

CANADA'S RAILWAY POLICY.

THE Globe makes use of a quibble to defend itself from our censure of its dishonesty in black lettering for factious and partisan purposes the Ontario members of the House of Commons, who voted with the Government on the railway policy, while it leaves out the name of Mr. Allison, of Lennox, who, though a Reformer, also voted for the railway grant resolutions. The leading Reform journal points out that Mr. Allison voted for Mr. Blake's tricky and factious amendment to the resolution, but conceals the really important fact that the member for Lennox with many other Reformers voted against Mr. Blake and with the administration in the main division on the proposed railway grants. These gentlemen might go a little way with their leader but they would not follow him in his factious opposition to the development of the country by encouraging and aiding railway enterprise. Mr. Blake's speech condemning such grants as dishonest, concluding with a motion to increase the grants for Ontario, was a trick unworthy of the leader of a party.

ENGLAND AND THE SOUDAN.

ESCAPE FROM KHARTOUM.

LONDON, April 23.—Gregler Pasha, writing from Korosko, says before Khartoum was surrounded by the rebels 3,000 persons quitted the town. Six hundred of them reached Korosko safely and were sent northwards.

THE MASSACRED SHENDY REFUGEES.

The refugees from Shendy who were massacred consisted of Copts, Egyptians, Assyrians, and Greeks. Before they left Khartoum Gen. Gordon said to them, "You are safe in Khartoum, but go if you like."

SUBMISSION TO EL MAHDI DEMANDED.

El Mahdi's lieutenant commanding the rebels between Shendy and Berber has sent Ulemas to Berber and the villages in its vicinity, and to the district between Shendy and Khartoum, demanding immediate submission to "our Lord, the long-expected one."

Knights of Pythias.

NEW ORLEANS, April 23.—Delegates from every grand jurisdiction in the world of Knights of Pythias, except the Sandwich Islands, and a large delegation from almost every State and Territory are present here attending the thirteenth session of the Supreme Lodge of the World Knights of Pythias. John Vanvalkenburg, of Fort Madison, Ind., was elected Grand Chancellor to-day.

The Locomotive Building Business.

Two hundred employes of the Baldwin locomotive works, Philadelphia, have been discharged owing to the lack of orders. The remainder of the force is working on short time. About 600 more will be laid off by the end of May. The proprietors say there is a remarkable depression in locomotive building business.

The Mexican Stamp Law.

GALVESTON, April 23.—The Secretary of the city of Mexico has issued a circular stating that the stamp law will be strictly enforced. Not only merchandise on sale, but that in the warehouse must be stamped within a month. The people consider the law a forced loan, and trouble will result. They regard revolution as the only thing left.

UNIVERSITY CONSOLIDATION.

On this topic the Toronto correspondent of the Montreal Witness thus writes :—

"One of the most important questions that ever enjoyed the attention of those in charge of education is just now pressing for solution, and Mr. Ross is fully alive to the expediency of having it solved in the right way. The leading Methodists are by no means unanimous as to the best means of dealing with higher education. It has become a settled conviction that the Victoria College must be moved to Toronto if possible, but the present building at Cobourg would in that event be useless. It is quite probable that by removing to Toronto more than the value of the buildings may be secured in the way of donations, but the absurd jealousy of Toronto, which actuates so many other localities may make them unite to thwart a scheme which would be in itself an advantageous one for the church. It may be that the whole question will be kept open for another year, but it is more likely that at the coming general conference a settled plan of action for the whole church will be adopted, either the maintenance of a denominational university pure and simple, or algamation of Victoria College with the Provincial institution on such terms as will preserve to the church the oversight of the education of the young men and women, while they will secure for her some relief from the great burden involved in the maintenance of a university worthy of the name. If time is allowed for public opinion in the church to mature the latter plan is likely to become the more popular with the laity on whom the burden of denominational institutions must always rest, but in the Methodist church the laity have not so much to say as in some others; and when they have anything to say they have a less ready means of giving effect to their wishes. It is satisfactory to know that should the spirit of conciliation and toleration make itself felt in the deliberations of the Methodist Conferance it will meet with a frank response from both the Provincial University authorities and the Minister of Education, and if the latter can identify himself with a successful scheme of this kind for the promotion of higher education he will do much toward en hancing the reputation he is already acquiring for tact and ability in the discharge of his onerous and important functions.

TORONTO.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY.—The annual dinner of the St. George's Society took place on Wednesday evening at the Walker House, and was in every respect a complete success.

STRAWBERRIES.—Strawberries made their first appearance for the season on Wednesday. They are held at the tempting price of seventy-five cents per box.

MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS.—The examinations in clinical medicine and clinical surgery of the fourth year candidates for the degree of M.D. in the Toronto University were conducted at the bedside in the General Hospital on Tuesday under the supervision of Dr. O'Reilly.

BOTH LEGS BROKEN.—About eleven o'clock on Wednesday morning a boy named O'Regan fell from the roof of a building in course of erection on Borden street. He was terribly injured, both of his legs being broken. He was carried to his home at 153 Hope street, and the attendance of a doctor immediately secured. The boy was employed in assisting the tinsmiths.

THE SEMI-CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.—The change of the date of holding the Semi-Centennial celebration is producing satisfaction. The turn-out of the secret societies will be much larger than it could possibly have been on the day first selected. A communication has been received by the secretary stating that a special excursion will be run to Toronto from Cleveland, Ohio, during the celebration week. A large number of visitors are expected from that city.

LABOURERS FOR THE CANADA PACIFIC.—Fifty Greeks left the city on Wednesday morning en route for the far North-West by the Credit Valley Railway. They were engaged by Mr. Jno. Scully to work on the Canada Pacific railway in Henry McDermid's contract, Kicking Horse Pass, Rocky mountains, where they will work at rock drilling, blasting, &c. Orders are out for 2,000 more men on the Lake Superior section, whither Mr. Scully intends sending a large number on the opening of navigation.

BELLEVILLE.

SONS OF ENGLAND CONCERT.—The Sons of England celebrated their anniversary by a concert on Wednesday in the opera house.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—A young man named Gordon was brought up in the police court on Wednesday morning, charged with having procured Prussic acid with the avowed intention of poisoning himself. He was remanded for a week.

DEATH OF THE COUNTY CROWN ATTORNEY.—Mr. Coleman, County Crown Attorney, died on Wednesday afternoon, aged about 62. He was appointed by the Mcdonald-Sicotte Administration, and has held the office for nearly thirty years.

CAMPBELLFORD.

GILMOUR'S MILL REPAIRED.—Gilmour & Co.'s saw mill at Crow Bay has been overhauled and rebuilt from top to bottom, and bears a great contrast to the structure as it stood some weeks ago. A new saw has been put in, and new wheels have taken the place of the old. With the present convenience great additional capacity has been gained, and better work can be accomplished. A trial of the saw last week, showed most satisfactory results in ripping 1,410 feet of lumber in 56 minutes. Mr. J. H. Vrooman of this village, put the mill in its present condition.—Herald.

Measuring Time.

There is a spice of irony in this somewhat extravagant description of a trait truly American :—

"Why does that gentleman rise from his seat so quickly?"

"Because he gets out at the next station."

"But we have not got near the station yet."

"I beg your pardon. From an American point of view we are very near it. It is less than a mile away."

"See he rushes widly towards the door, and now he is on the platform. Is he not in danger?"

"The only danger he dreads is the danger of losing one quarter of a second."

"Ah! we are almost at the station now. Will he not wait until the car stops?"

"No, indeed; that would be a waste of precious time."

"There he goes. Oh, he has fallen! The cars have run over him."

"Yes, anch things frequently happen in America; but you know, where one man is killed, half-a-dozen jump off successfully. The chances of death are only one in six, or thereabout."

"They have picked him up. His lips move. He is speaking."

"Yes, he says, 'I die a true American.'"

Illicit Whisky Distillery.

KINCARDINE, April 23.—Collector Caven, of Stratford, had John Carter, of Kincardine township, convicted of illicit manufacturing of whisky, and sentenced to one month's imprisonment, and a penalty of $250.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

POTATO BALLS.—Season cold mashed potatoes; beat to a cream with melted butter. Add three beaten eggs. Roll into balls; dip in beaten eggs, then in bread crumbs; fry in hot lard.

EGG SAUCE.—Roll one tablespoonful of butter in flour and stir it into one cup of meat broth; add two beaten eggs; boil one minute. Pound the yolks of four hardboiled eggs and season; pour over the liquid.

LEMON FOAM.—Beat well together the yolks of six eggs, half pound of powered sugar, two grated lemons, half an ounce of gelatine dissolved in cold water. Simmer over the fire until thick. Beat the white of the eggs to a stiff froth, add them to the mixture, beat together, and pour into moulds.

OATMEAL CRACKERS.—One teacupful of oatmeal and water enough to make a dough; mix well and quick; if it will bear to be rolled out with a rolling pin, roll it; keep at it in the same way until it is one quarter of an inch thich; do it quickly or it will dry; make only dough enough at one time for one cracker; do not brown in baking.

JULIENNE SOUP.—Put a piece of butter the size of an egg into a soup kettle; stir it until melted; fry three onions, and then put in three quarts of good stock, salt, pepper, mace and celery seed, two chopped carrots, two chopped turnips, a pint of dried peas that have been soaked in water over night. Boil two hours.

TEA BISCUIT.—One quart of sifted flour, two tablespoonfuls of lard, one pint of milk and water mixed, a half teaspoonful of salt, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder; mix the flour, salt and powder together, then rub in well the lard add the milk and water; kneed until smooth; cut in round cakes, and bake in a quick oven.

SNOW PANCAKES.—Mix in a basin a quarter of a pound of flour, with a little salt, some grated lemon peel, and sufficient new milk to make rather a thick batter; mix and beat the mixture well. Melt some butter (or fresh dripping) in a fryingpan, divide the batter into four parts and just before frying beat up very quickly one tablespoonful of fresh snow into each pancake. Fry on both sides until a pale brown colour, fold them up, inserting a little sugar within the folds, sprinkle sugar over them, and serve immediately with a cut lemon and with powdered surgar.

POTATOES A LA MAITRE D'HOTEL.—Half boil the potatoes in salted water; than cut them in slices the round way, about an inch and a half thick, and put them into a sauce made of a small tablespoonful of flour mixed in half a pint of water, slightly salted. This quantity of sauce will be enough for a pound of potatoes, which simmer very slowly in it for twenty minutes, when some will be mashed and some pieces left whole. A small pat of butter may be added, and a few minutes before serving the potatoes throw in a teaspoonful of finely minced, parsley.

LENTIL PUDDING.—Wash half-a-pound of lentils, rubbing them with the hands in several waters until the last is clear. Put the lentils to soak in three pint of cold water, with a bit of soda the size of a large pea. The next day boil the lentils in this water until tender, adding more water as required, but allowing it to dry up at the last. When the lentils are cooked enough beat them up as smoothly as possible; add an ounce of butter, pepper and salt; stir over the fire until mixed, then press the mass into a buttered mould or basin, and after it has stood a minute, turn out on a dish and serve,

THE LATEST CRAZE.

FARMER JONES TO HIS DAUGHTER.

So you're making a crazy quilt, my girl,
With these tags, and strips, and strings,
And bits of your brother's old cravats,
And odds and ends and things?
Well, I dare say it is pretty enough—
I suppose you ought to know—
But it isn't a patch on one I've seen
A great many years ago.

It was no little bit of a light affair
Like that what-do-you-call-its-name?
But a generous, honest, double quilt,
Stretches out on a great big frame.
It was down at the Widow Bixby's house
Way back in '53,
And the girls in the neighbourhood all turned out
For the widow's quilting bee.

The people had gathered from all around,
And right pretty girls were there;
There were girls with blue eyes and girls with brown,
And dark-haired girls and fair.
And we young men came in at the end
For our share of the merry time,
And had cider and dough-nuts and simple games
Till we heard the midnight chime.

Then each one saw his sweetheart home,
And walked through the locust lane,
And the moon shone down through the tall tree tops—
I can see it all again.
And I walked home with the girl on my arm
Who had worked at the quilt the best,
And though it was hard to find much to say,
My heart was light in my breast.

It took a good while to find my tongue
As we walked on side by side;
But somehow before it was time to part
She had promised to be my bride.

* * * * * *

That's a pretty thing you are making, my girl,
But it isn't a patch, you know,
On the quilt that your mother helped to make
A good thirty years ago.

CHAPTER IV.—CONTINUED.

A species of human petrel—a juridic Procellaria Pelagica, whose habitat was the Court-house—Erle Palma lived amid the ceaseless surges of litigation, watching the signs of rising tempests in human hearts, plunging in defiant exultation where the billows rode highest, never so elated as when borne triumphantly upon the towering crest of some conquering wave of legal finesse or impassioned invective, and rarely saddened in the flush of victory by the pale spectres of strangled hope, fortune or reputation which float in the debris of the wrecks that almost every day drift mournfully away from the precincts of Courts of Justice.

The striking of the clock caused him to draw out his watch and compare the time.

"I believe the regular train does not leave V—— until night, but the conductor told me I might catch an excursion train bound south, and due here about half-past one o'clock. It is necessary for me to return with as little delay as possible, and after I have spoken to Regina, I must hasten to the depot. You will find my address pencilled on the card, and I presume Mrs. Orme has given you hers. Should you desire to confer with me at any time relative to the child, I shall promptly respond to your letters, but have no leisure to spend in looking after her. The semi-annual remittance shall not be neglected, and Regina has a package for you, containing money for contingent expenses."

They entered the hall, and found the little stranger sitting alone on the lowest step of the stairway, where Mrs. Lindsay had left her while she went to prepare luncheon for the travellers. She was very quiet, bore no visible traces of tears, but the tender lips wore a piteously sad expression of heroically repressed grief, and the purplish shadows under her solemn blue eyes rendered them more than ever pleadingly beautiful.

As the two gentlemen stood before her, she caught her breath pressing one little palm over her heart, while the other grasped the balustrade.

"Don't you think, dear, that you ought to be well cared for when you have two guardians, two adopted fathers, Mr. Palma and I, to watch over you? We both intend you shall be the happiest little girl in the State. Will you help us?"

"I will try to be good,"

Her voice was very low, but steady, as if she realized she was making a compact.

"Then I know we shall all succeed."

Mr. Hargrove walked to the front door, and the lawyer put on his hat and came back to the steps.

"Regina, I have explained to you that I brought you here because your mother so directed me, and I believe Dr. Hargrove will be a kind, good friend. Little one, I do not like to leave you so soon among strangers, but it cannot be helped. Will you be contented and happy?"

There was singular emphasis in her reply:

"I shall never complain to you, Mr. Palma."

"Because you think I would not sympathise with you? I am not a man given to soft words nor am accustomed to deal with children, but indeed I should be annoyed if I thought you were unhappy here."

"Then you must not be annoyed at all."

His quick nervous laugh seemed to startle her unpleasantly, for she shrank closer to the balustrade.

"How partial you are,—preferring Dr. Hargrove already, and flying into his arms at sight! Do you wish to make me jealous?"

His eyes gleamed mischievously, and he saw the blood rising in her white cheeks.

"Dr. Hargrove opened his arms to me, because he saw how miserable I was?"

"If I should chance to open mine, do you think that by any accident you would rush into them!"

"You know you would never have dreamed of doing such a thing. Are you going away now?"

"In a moment. If you get into trouble, or need anything, will you write to me? Remember I am your mother's friend?"

"Is not Mr. Hargrove also?"

"Certainly."

He took her hands, and bending down looked kindly into the delicately lovely face.

"Good-bye, Regina."

"Good-bye, Mr. Palma."

"I hope, little girl, that we shall always be friends."

"You are very good to wish it. Thank you for taking care of me. Because you are my mother's best friend, I shall pray for you every night."

His sternly moulded lips twitched with some strange passing reminiscences of earlier years, but the emotion vanished, and pressing her hands gently he turned and went down the walk leading to the gate.

CHAPTER V.

"Please let me come in and help you."

Regina knocked timidly at the door of the parsonage guests' chamber, and Mrs. Lindsay answered from within:

"Come in? Of course you may, but what help do you imagine you can render, you useless piece of prettiness? Shall I set you on the mantlepiece between the china kittens and the glass lambs,—right under the sharp nose of my grandmother's portrait, where her great solemn eyes will keep you in order? Whence do all those delectable odours come? Are you a walking sachet.

She was kneely before an open drawer of the bureau, methodically arranging sundry garments,—and pausing in the task, looked over her shoulder at the girl who stood near, holding her hands behind her.

"I am sure I could help you if I were only allowed to try. I am quite a large girl now, and more than a year older than when I came here, and Hannah has taught me to do ever so many things. She says I will be a famous cook some day. You didn't know that I made up the Sally Lunn for tea?"

"What an ambitious bit of majesty you are! You wish to reign in the kitchen, rule in the poultry yard, and now presume to invade my province—my special kingdom of making things ready for the Bishop! Have you been annointing yourself with a whole vial of Lubin's extract of—Ah!—delicious—what is it?"

"Whatever it may be, will you let me fix it to suit myself on the Bishop's bureau?"

"No—you impertinent wily Delilah in short clothes! I never promise in the dark; show it to me first, and then perhaps I may negotiate with you. You know as well as I do that the Bishop dearly loves perfumes, and if I should generously concede you the privilege of presenting "sweet smelling savours" unto him, you might some day depose me,—and I wish you to distinctly understand that I intend to reign over him as I live; not an inch of territory shall you filch."

Regina held up her hands, displaying in one several feathery sprays of Belgian honeysuckle, with half of its petals pearl, half of the palest pink; in the other a bunch of double violets, of the rarest shade of delicate lilac, so unusual in the floral kingdom.

"You should be called 'Mab,' and ride about the world on a butterfly on a streak of moonshine. How did you coax or conjure that honeysuckle into blossoming before its appointed time?"

"Here are three pieces; two for the Bishop and one for you. May I fasten it in your hair?"

"You recite a lesson in history every day, don't you?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Have you come to the Salem witches yet?"

"Not yet. What has my history to do with this honeysuckle?"

"When you study metaphysics and begin the chase after that pyschological fox, the law-of-association-of-ideas, you will understand. Meanwhile, thank your stars, dear, that you did not live in Massachusetts some years ago, or you would certainly have gone to heaven in the shape of smoke. How you do stare—you white owl! As if you thought St. Vitus had rented my tongue for a dancing saloon. It is all because the Bishop is coming. My blessed Bishop! Yes, put the handsomest stray in my hair, and then, if you make me look young and very pretty, you may do what you like with the others."

LOCAL NEWS

Lawn Tennis Meeting.

A meeting of the members of the Peterborough Lawn Tennis Club is requested at the Bank of Montreal offices, at five o'clock, to-morrow, (Saturday) afternoon.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to variable winds, fine warm weather.

Graduates' Meeting.

The Graduates of the University of Toronto resident in Peterborough are requested to meet at half past seven o'clock this (Friday) evening in the room adjoining the Mechanics' Institute.

Continued Affliction.

It is with great regret that we learn of the death of Willie, eldest and only remaining son of Mr. Robt. Hall, which occurred this forenoon. He was ten years of age. The parents and friends will receive heartfelt sympathy in their continued bereavement.

That Star Company,

McBride's specialty company got together and gave a couple of performances in Campbellford after their disaster here. They then flattened out completely. One of their number, the tumbler, gave an exhibition at Hastings cattle show to get enough money to carry him on. He gathered in a good many nickles.

Oddfellows' Anniversary.

We are requested to state that in order to celebrate the sixty-fifth anniversary of Oddfellowship in America, a meeting of Otonabee Lodge, I. O. O. F., No. 13, will be held on Sunday, April 27, at 6.30 p.m., at the Lodge Room, whence the members, having been joined by Peterborough Lodge, will proceed to the George Street Methodist Church, where an anniversary sermon will be preached by the Rev. John Shaw.

Personal.

The Port Hope Times has the following in reference to Mr. Porteous' appearance at Mr. Singleton's concert in that town:—

"Mr. Mitchelson Porteous, of Peterborough, then sang 'Deep in the Mine.' This was the first appearance of this gentleman before a Port Hope audience, and his rendition was highly appreciated, and his re-appearance at any time will be looked upon with much favor by those who heard him on that occasion. An encore called from him 'Good-By.' Mrs. Caldwell sang a duet with Mr. Porteous, entitled 'The Fisherman,' which was what might have been expected from two vocalists of their high class."

Mr. Wm. C. Jex, Railway Secretary of the Toronto Y. M. C. A., passed through here on Thursday, on his way to attend the funeral of his aunt, Mrs. T. Postlethwaite.

Calcutt's Line of Steamers.

These steamers are now fitted out and ready for business. They have been thoroughly overhauled and repaired, and will be painted as soon as the weather permits. The Whistle Wing will be placed on the route between here and Harwood, making one trip a week to Hastings and one to Keene. Tickets will be issued through to Cobourg for 80cts. and a large reduction will be made on freight to Keene and Hastings. Passengers will be brought up from these points and sent through by the Ontario and Quebec road east and west at reduced fares. Through freight will be delivered at Keene and Hastings at Peterborough rates. The Golden-Eye is now employed removing the sawdust out of the Little Lake. She will also be placed on the passenger route as soon as the dredging is completed. Business looks very promising, and when the season opens fully a large excursion business will be done on this favorite water route. The Golden-Eye will be mastered by Leon Dion, and the Whistle Wing by R. W. Carson. The first trip will be made on Monday, the 28th.

Fish.

Wanted, good Pant Makers. Apply to ANDREW McNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, George Street.

PRESENTATION.

Mr. J. E. Murray the Recipient of an Address from Brother Oddfellows.

An event which had not a place in the order of business in the manual of ceremonies, took place at the regular meeting of Peterborough Lodge, I. O. O. F., on Thursday evening, and it was an incident of a very pleasant character. Mr. J. E. Murray, who has resided in Peterborough for some time, and who has been an active member of this Lodge, is about removing to Toronto, and his brethren at this meeting presented him with a very handsome regalia of the Order and the following address:—

J. E. Murray, Esq.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,—The members of Mount Hebron Encampment, No. 56, and Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, I. O. O. F., learn with unfeigned regret of your intention to remove from Peterborough, and thus, as personal association is concerned, sever those fraternal ties which have heretofore bound us together.

On your departure we would cheerfully bear testimony to the invariably active exertions you have ever put forth for the promotion of the prosperity of Mount Hebron Encampment and Peterborough Lodge especially, and for the promotion of the interests of the Order generally. You have always been ready and willing to devote yourself actively in all undertakings in connection with the Order. Whether the occasion called upon your means, your time or your personal attention, you were always to be counted upon, and we assure you that your presence will be greatly missed amongst us, in both branches of our Order.

In earnest of the high esteem in which you are held by us, we ask your acceptance of this regalia, with the hope that you may be long spared to wear it, and with the same credit that you have earned in your past connection with the Order.

In conclusion, please accept the warmest assurance of our fraternal regard and our most cordial wishes for the welfare and happiness of yourself and family.

With the hope that you may make as many warm friends in Toronto as you leave behind you in Peterborough,

We remain, yours fraternally.

J. C. T. LACEY,
P. G. and D. D. G. M.

MR. MURRAY, to whom the presentation was unexpected, made a suitable reply, expressing regret at the severance of the personal relations between himself and his brethren in Peterborough, and returning thanks for the handsome gift and the good wishes expressed on his behalf.

"Very Sweet."

"Swest idol of my lonely heart, if thou wilt place thy hand in mine, and say—Dear love, I'll be thy bride, we'll fly to sunny Italy, and neath soft cerulean skies we'll bask and sing and dream of naught but love. Rich and costly paintings by old masters shall adorn the walls of the castle I'll give thee. Thy bath shall be of milk. A box at the opera shall be at thy command, and royalty shall be thy daily visitor. Sweet strains of music shall lull thee at eventide, and warbling birds shall wake thee from thy morning slumber. Dost thou accept? Say yes, and fly, oh, fly with me"—to buy a tie at Andrew McNeil's!

Pencil Points.

—New moon at 2.58 p.m. to-day.

—Faint auroral display visible last night.

—The street watering cart made its appearyesterday afternoon. It has donned a new coat of paint.

—The authorities inform us that those who wish to have their streets sprinkled should send in petitions to the Council, as formerly, and that they have not done so. The Council will meet on Monday night.

—The Mail made a mistake in saying that Mr. Jack Moriarty was injured by an accident at Cobourg. It appears it was a man of that name however, and thus the mistake. Jack wrote to the Mail saying that though he might be (h)armless he was confident of making a good show in his coming fight.

Railway Notes.

Mr. J. Morrison, of the engineering staff of the Ontario and Quebec, who was in here last summer, was in town this week renewing acquaintances.

An exchange says that the offices of the Ontario and Quebec railway company at Toronto are at present approaching completion. About $10,000 have been expended in beautifying the building. The general manager, Mr. Van Horne, will have special offices in the new edifice, as will also Mr. R. E. Suckling, the Secretary-treasurer; Mr. Nichol, the general passenger agent; the Dominion Express Company, and others. The line is expected to be opened to Perth by May 1st, when 600 miles will be in operation. When completed to Detroit through from Montreal this road will be nearly 1,000 miles long.

FARM AND GARDEN.

THE CARE OF A TIRED HORSE.—When a horse comes off a journey the first thing is to walk him about till he is cool, if he is brought in hot. This prevents him from taking cold. Let his legs be well rubbed by the hand. Nothing so soon removes strain. It also detects thorns or splinters, soothes the animal, and enables him to feed comfortably.

FORMING AND REPAIRING LAWNS.—The making of new lawns, and the best means for keeping old ones in good condition, and the keeping of our grass plats, great or small, free from weeds, are themes which interest and affect the majority of persons residing outside of our cities, and this is our excuse for so frequently referring to the subject.

The last number of the Garden (London) publishes the following article on lawns and their treatment, which contains much useful and timely information:—

"It has been said, and with much truth, that there is nothing which adds so great a charm to English homesteads as the lawns or grass plats that are generally to be found surrounding them; and as this is the season to form, relay, or repair them, a few remarks as to the proper mode of procedure, may possibly be useful. In forming new lawns, it is hardly necessary to say that their extent must be dependent on the ground at command: every endeavour should, however, be used to make them as roomy as possible, and towards this end much may be done by placing the shrubs and trees, or at least the greater part of them, as far away from the house as boundary will permit; any that stand out ought to be of the best kind. A lawn need not necessarily be flat or level; it may, on the contrary, be undulating, according to the natural formation of the ground. In preparing the latter for the turf, the most important thing is to see that any portion which has been moved is well rammed, for if not it will be continually subsiding, and nothing looks worse than little hollows caused by the settling of earth.

Another important matter to bear in mind is that the soil of lawns should not be rich, for if so the grass not only grows fast, but coarse, and it is impossible under such circumstances to get a good thick bottom or to keep it in anything like the perfect order attainable when the roots are less fed. This being so, it is a good plan to use sand, or to cart poor earth for the leveling and finishing off of the top, but when so applied it should be put on regularly or the grass will be patchy, which will spoil the effect of the whole. The leveling being completed and the surface raked smooth and fine, the next thing is either to sow seed or use turf, the latter being by far the best way, for though it involves more labour, time, and expense, the work is at once complete, while if seed be sown it takes a year to get a good bottom. The most suitable turf is that from pastures or waste places by the road-side which have been closely fed off and the grass is short and fine, with a sprinkling of white clover in it. If the turf of this kind can be got, a fine lawn may soon be made.

The most handy turfs to work with are those a yard long and a foot wide, and the thinner they are, so long as they will hang together, the easier will they roll and lay down again. No open joints should be left for the air to get in; to prevent this it is a good plan to pass the roller over the turfs quickly after they are down, so as to press them to the earth, in which the grass will soon take root. If any inequalities of surface should by chance exist after the roller has been used, they may easily be beaten down by means of a rammer when the ground is soft. Where fine turf can not be had, and seed has to be sown, it should be got specially for the purpose from some seedsman, as that otherwise obtained is full of weeds and never makes a good lawn. The time to sow is about the middle of March, when the seed should be scattered evenly over the surface of the finely-raked ground and slightly covered, after which, if birds are kept from scratching it out and devouring it, it soon germinates and grows at a quick rate if the weather proves favorable.

Lawns that are in a thin, patchy condition may be improved in two ways: the one by cutting out the bare or worn parts and relieving with fresh flag, and the other by a top-dressing of rich finely sifted soil, to which should be added some soot and fresh slacked lime, which will not only stimulate the grass and give it a rich, deep green color, but will also kill all moss, which on some lawns is very troublesome, and if not checked or destroyed soon gets entire possession. Daisies and plantains, too, are often a nuisance and to eradicate these weeds there is no plan better than cutting or digging them out, which, unless they are thick, is no great task if set about in real earnest with a sharp and suitable tool.

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of liver, kidney or stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure, and you will be well rewarded for your trouble besides. All blood diseases, biliousness, jaundice, constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

In Ireland the Kildare hounds had a narrow escape the other day. Poison was laid for them near a village through which they were to pass, but the master had warning and took his hounds another way.

THE CONSPIRACY CHARGES.

THE Grand Jury on Friday found a true bill against Messrs. Wilkinson, Meek, Bunting, and Kirkland, on the three counts of conspiracy.

POLICE COURT.

A WOMAN'S WAR.

SATURDAY, April 26.—Mrs. Louis Doig was charged with having assaulted Mrs. Mary McGee on Thursday. The evidence of the two women was heard, and it confused the Magistrate somewhat, as they directly contradicted each other, and he was in doubt as to what was the true account of the affair. A little son of Mrs. Doig was called, and after hearing what he had to say, and asking him some questions, the Magistrate came to the conclusion that he had been taught too well what to say. The defendant was fined $2.

The Banquet to Sir Charles Tupper.

MONTREAL, April 25.—Sir Chas. Tupper has accepted the invitation to a grand banquet here from the cattle shippers of the Dominion, in return for his distinguished services to England, when the trade from Canada was seriously imperilled. The day will be named on the High Commissioner's return from New York.

Newfoundland Fisheries.

PARIS, April 25.—The Anglo-French Commission to regulate the Newfoundland fisheries has terminated its labours. France renounces the right of fishing in certain bays of the Island, but will exercise strict supervision over places where former treaties empower French subjects to fish.

Narrow Escape of a Young Lady.

ST. THOMAS, April 24.—Last night Miss Capsey, daughter of Mrs. Capsey, of Alma College, not feeling well, was ordered by her physician to take some quinine powders, which were procured at a drug store. The young lady took one early in the evening and another about midnight. Early this morning her mother noticed that she was breathing very heavily, and tried to arouse her, but unsuccessfully. Medical aid was at once called and every means of restoration used, but it was several hours before any signs of life returned. This evening the young lady is pronounced out of danger. It is supposed a mistake was made by the druggist giving morphine instead of quinine.

LIBERAL CONVERVATIVE ASSOCIATION.—A Liberal Conversative association will be formed in St. Matthew's ward.

A MAYOR UNSEATED.—In Chambers on Wednesday, Mr. Dalton granted an order voiding the election of Michael Flemming, Mayor of Sarnia, on the grounds that Fleming was indebted to the corporation.

LINDSAY.

THE FIRE.—The loss by the convent fire is estimated at $40,000 or $50,000; insurance, $25,000.

HEAVY CATTLE.—Mr. M. O'Halloran, of Lindsay, the well-known butcher, purchased recently from John McKay, of Mariposa, lot 13, con. 15, two steers, one being 725 days old and weighing 1,600 pounds, the other 710 days old, and weighing 1,600 pounds. They dressed 2,600 pounds.

ENTERTAINMENT.—A very pleasing musical and literary entertainment was given by the pupils of Loretto Academy on Tuesday evening in honor of the fete-day of the esteemed Superior of the institution, Rev. Mother Matilda. There was quite a large gathering of parents and friends of the pupils, and the affair was very pleasant and successful. Bishop Jamot, of Peterborough, Vicar-General Laurent, Rev. Father Sweeney and others were present. The demonstration had been kept a secret from the venerated lady in whose honor it was given, and she was naturally deeply affected by it. The programme comprised sixteen pieces, and was very effectively rendered. Everything passed off smoothly and successfully and without any delay between the different numbers. The accompaniments were played with much skill and taste by Miss Teresa Murphy. Bishop Jamot then gave a few felicitous remarks on the happy and auspicious occasion. He expressed the pleasure with which he always came to Lindsay to visit this institution, and congratulated the Lady Superior and the other ladies upon its high standing. It appeared by the report of Mr. White, Inspector of Separate schools, that the Lindsay academy stood at the head of the schools in the Province. It was well for the pupils to vary their studies with these little intellectual recreations, which would have a good and healthy effect. Vicar-General Laurent added a few happy remarks and the entertainment was brought to a close. The young ladies and the little girls, as well as the Sisters, are to be congratulated upon the success of their festival.

Emigrants for Canada.

Nearly one thousand emigrants sailed on Thursday from Liverpool for Canada. A great number of them are farmers and agricultural labourers, just the kind of men required in Canada. There is also a large party from the East of London under the care of Rev. Mr. Bridger. —Globe.

Revolutionary Movement in Spain.

A Madrid despach says there are vague rumours of a revolutionary movement in the eastern provinces. At a Cabinet Council today, the King presiding, the Ministers stated that they possessed full details of the agitation. Precautions had been taken, and they apprehended no disorders.

Congress of Civil Engineers.

The American Society of Civil Engineers will hold its annual meeting about the middle of next June, Buffalo being the selected place for the gathering. Three years ago the engineers met in Montreal, and Canadians then manifested considerable interest in the proceedings. As this year's gathering is held in such close proximity to Western Ontario a considerable number of Canadian civil engineers will no doubt be in attendance.

Railway Traffic Receipts.

Traffic receipts on Canadian railways are still on the decrease. For the week ending the 19th inst., the total revenue of the Grand Trunk was $395,951, a decrease as compared with the same period last year of over $54,000. The decrease for the past sixteen weeks was $580 000. The report that the head of this great line in Canada, and two of his lieutenants had got notice from London to resign is emphatically denied.

The traffic receipts of the Canadian Pacific railway for the week ending the 14th inst. were $81,000, manifesting a decline of $17,000 as compared with last year, although nearly nine hundred miles were added to the length of the road in the twelve months. It is stated that Mr. Wm. Harder, traffic manager, and Mr. Worthington, superintendent for the Nipissing division, have got notice from the general manager to retire from the service owing to the falling off in traffic. One hundred mechanics in the locomotive shops at Hochelaga have received notice that their services will be dispensad with for some time.

Nothing Hunts Out Corns.

Like tight boots. Corns are very small affairs but apply to them a pair of tight boots and all other concerns of life sink into insignificance. Tight boots and Putnam's Corn Extractor (the great and only sure cure for corns) may go together, and comfort will be their partner; but don't fail to use Putnam,s Corn Extractor. GUNPOWDER OUTRAGE IN DUBLIN.

DUBLIN, April 25.—A canister of gunpowder was exploded this evening in the area of the barracks in Dublin. The windows of the barracks kitchen were shattered. Although the officers were dining in a room directly above no one was injured. Several pieces of nail rod, two inches in length, were found scattered about the place. No arrests were made. Fragments of clockwork were found near the scene. The report was very loud, and caused great alarm among people in the vicinity.

RAISING OCEAN FREIGHTS.

LONDON, April 25.—It is stated that the ship-owners of the North of England will hold a meeting on the 30th to arrange for the withdrawal for four months of one-fourth of the vessels of each owner, for the purpose of raising freight rates. The Glasgow steamship owners have decided that it will be impossible to withdraw a fourth of their vessels for four months.

GORDON A PRISONER.

LONDON, April 25.—A native paper at Alexandria publishes a rumour that Khartoum has fallen, that Gen. Gordon is a prisoner, and that the natives are signing a petition for an English protectorate for ten years.

CAMPAIGN TO RESCUE GORDON.

LONDON, April 25.—The Post says the Government has decided upon an autumn expedition for the rescue of Gordon.

THE EGYPTIAN QUESTION.

LONDON, April 25.—The Porte insists that if the Egyptian conference be held at all the objects shall include the settlement of the political as well as the financial question. Both the Russian and French Governments are unwilling to discuss the proposals for a conference in view of the absence of any statement regarding the term of occupation and the policy of pacification. The Berlin National Gazette says Germany is concerned only in the financial question, and will not touch the British proposals unless the political question is excluded.

WEAKNESS OF THE GOVERNMENT.

LONDON, April 25.—Lord Salisbury and Sir Stafford Northcote, replied to resolutions forwarded by Edinburgh Conservatives, set forth in strong terms that the importance of appealing to the country is becoming urgent. They declare the Government has lost the authority and influence which are absolutely necessary for the proper management of the House of Commons and foreign affairs.

In the House of Commons this evening Mr. William O'Brien, member for Mallow, called attention to the arrest of Fitzgerald, the alleged Fenian, a fortnight ago, and asked if there was any precedece for this hugger-mugger system of secret arrests and secret inquiry.

Mr. Thomas Sexton condemned private examinations.

Mr. Trevelyan spoke in justification of the action of the authorities.

Mr. Edmund Leamy referred to the illusage Fitzgerald had received in Waterford gaol.

Sir William Harcourt said the matter had been referfed to the prison commission in Ireland.

The Home Secretary repudiated the charges of inhuman treatment brought against Mr. Trevelyan.

OUR CONSTITUTION.

THERE is now arising in certain quarters a clamour for the revision and amendment of the constitution of the Dominion of Canada. There are among us sapient doctrinaires, who, possibly because they are so unsuccessful in practice, think that they are infallible in theory. In the early days of the French Revolution, when scores of men had in their pockets ideally perfect paper constitutions founded on first principles and the natural rights of man, these theorists might have been in their element. They would never have been countenanced in our mother country, where the constitution, upon which our own is so largely framed, grew up with the people, practical changes being made as they were found to be required, a process that is still going on.

Our written constitution is not 17 years old. Its principle is clear, that the Central Government shall control our general affairs and the Provincial Government our local affairs, so that the details of the division of jurisdiction are necessarily somewhat complicated. As yet certain doubtful points in this respect have not been definitely settled by the courts, which are the proper interpreters of the British North America Act, as of any other statute. They are being settled by degrees, and the process would be far more rapid and satisfactory, but for factious attempts to make party capital against the Dominion Administration, of what are in many cases only questions of legal interpretation. When the exact meaning of the B. N. A. Act as to the limits of Dominion and Provincial jurisdiction are authoratively decided, it will be quite time enough to consider if any revision and amendment of our constitution are required. Those who clamour for amendment virtually confess that it is they and not their opponents, who are assuming an unconstitutional attitude; they own that our existing constitution does not bear out their contentions.

It is vehemently insisted by those who are not now in power in the Canadian Government, that the Dominion is systematically invading the rights of the Provinces. This is said to be done in two ways; by legislation and by the exercise of the veto power. As to the idea that the Canadian Parliament can invade the rights of the Provinces, it is absurd on the face of it. The Dominion Legislature may of course exceed its jurisdiction, especially while it is in a measure undefined, but any act that it may pass in excess of its powers is necessarily invalid, and would be so declared upon an appeal to the tribunals, so that the Provinces cannot suffer in this respect.

The use of the veto power by the Governor-General-in-Council, that is virtually by the Administration of the day, is a wider question. The founders of our Constitution, in their discussions of the subject, Conservatives and Reformers alike, insisted upon the retention of this power by the Dominion, as necessary for the united action of our combined Provinces, being led to lay more stress upon this point on account of the then recent sad experience of the United States. That such a power must exist was firmly believed then, and such is still the belief of the great majority of the people of Canada. As to the manner of the exercise of this power, it was felt that it might safely be left in the hands of the Dominion Administration, which only exists through the support of the representatives of the people of every Province, and is thus responsible to the people for the exercise of its administrative functions. The Parliament of Canada represents the people of Canada, the Executive Council is in fact its creature, and it is absurd to talk, as some do, of the Dominion Legislation and Administration as being foreign powers, when they are really the chosen instruments of the people of Canada.

A very dishonest attempt is made by some Reform politicians and journalists to make the country believe that the veto power has been more largely used by the Conservative Administration. The truth is that though the Reformers were in power at Ottawa for a far shorter period than the Conservatives, the former disallowed a larger number of acts than the latter, Mr. Blake being personally responsible in very many cases as Minister of Justice, and in many others as a member of the Cabinet.

It is also falsely asserted that the interference of the Dominion authorities with Provincial legislation proves that there is a systematic attempt to invade Provincial rights. The records show a very different position of affairs. In many cases instead of exercising the veto power, the Dominion authorities have pointed out to those of the Provinces that their legislation must be amended because in excess of jurisdiction. In the great majority of cases the Provinces have admitted this, and have abandoned such legislation. Even if for argument's sake it were conceded that every Dominion veto has been an invasion of Provincial rights, they have been outnumbered many-fold by these admitted attempts of the Provinces to invade Dominion jurisdiction.

With experience of the working of our constitution, and with judicial decision as to its limitations, these grounds for difference of opinion will gradually be removed, and they may be settled harmoniously if they are treated in a proper spirit, and not with factious designs.

When the limits of jurisdiction are judicially settled it will be quite time enough to talk of amending our Constitution, and any such amendments should be made even then as the necessity arises, without raising a party warfare over the subject of our Constitution at large.

ENGLAND AND THE SOUDAN.

TROOPS FROM CAIRO.

LONDON, April 25.—The Standard says it is expected that 8,000 troops will be sent from Cairo to the Soudan, including some English.

BAKER PASHA.

Baker Pasha has been reinstated in office in connection with the gendarmerie, and will start for England next week.

GENERAL GORDON SANGUINE.

General Cordon telegraphs that he feels safe. He has three months' provisions, and the town is impregnable. He still hopes that Zebehr Pasha will come to the relief of Khartoum.

HUSSEIN MUST YIELD.

Hussein Pasha telegraphs that the rebels surrounding Berber only await the arrival of their commander, who is hourly expected, to begin the attack upon the garrison. Hussein fears he must yield to the insurgents by Thursday or Friday at the last.

PREPARED FOR THE WORST.

Mr. Herbin telegraphs from Khartoum to M. Barriere, the French Consul-General at Cairo, that, though not afraid, foreign residents are prepared for the worst, and the situation is desperate. The general health, however, is good, and food is plentiful.

THE TROOPS IN EGYPT.

The British regiment stationed at Assiout is suffering much from fever and heat. There has been many cases of sun stroke. Baker Pasha has been reinstated in office in connection with the gendarmerie, and will start for England next week. English soldiers dislike the idea of serving alongside Egyptians in the expedition to Khartoum.

BUYING UP BLACK WALNUT.

Unusual quantities of black walnut lumber says a recent Buffalo, N. Y., telegram, have been passing east from points in Ohio, Indiana and Iowa for some weeks past. The shipments have attracted attention among lumber dealers, and it is learned that a company of English capitalists, with whom a wealthy combination in Indianapolis is co-operating, have been for a year and more quietly getting possession of all the black walnut timber it has been possible to buy, and are now shipping it to England. The writer's informant, who was a buyer for those parties, says that the traveller on the railroads through the walnut belts will see at nearly every important station portable steam saw mills at work early and late ripping up black walnut logs into planks of a convenient size for shipment.

The company has had buyers out all through the States mentioned gathering up walnut trees wherever they could be found. In many cases the farmers have disposed of their trees at prices far below their value, and it has only been recently that they have become aware of the scheme that is to take out of the country the most of the remaining black walnut timber in it. The consequence is that all the walnut the company now buy costs them double the price they were paying a few months ago.

"If the original forests of Ohio and Indiana were now standing," says the gentleman referred to, "their valuation would be many times more than it is to-day under improvement. In making their farms the settlers in these States destroyed millions and millions of dollars' worth of black walnut, and the destruction ceased not more than 20 years ago. In searching for timber I visited more than one farm where miles of fence were laid with walnut rails and the fences are not old ones at that. This was in Bartholomew county, Ind., which, with Jennings county, contains about all the walnut forests that are left in that State. One old farmer told me that he worked alomst incessantly for eight years to clear away the walnut trees on his farm, and that he burned up more than 80 acres of the finest kind of timber. His farm, after 30 years of cultivation, could not be sold for more than $8,000. If it had its walnut trees back it would be worth more than $100,000. This farmer was an old settler in the State, and only one among hundreds of others who, for more than 50 years, girded and cut and burned the great forests they found occupying the land. The English company will send to England probably $5,000,000 worth of walnut that they have purchased from the farmer at almost nominal prices."

Sad Drowning Accident.

ORILLIA, April 24.—Yesterday afternoon a young man named James Plumbringe, from Hamilton, lost his life by drowning near Uptergrove in Lake Simcoe. Plumbridge went out netting early in the afternoon, and after some time George McDonald, a dumb young man, failing to see him in the boat, secured another boat and on reaching the place found Plumbridge in the lake with his head entangled in the net and apparently lifeless. McDonald, without attempting to remove Plumbridge, hurried on to Mr. Thompson's, where Plumbridge had been stopping, and gave the alarm, and the drowned young man was then brought in by Thompson's sons. Mr. Thompson came to Orillia to telegraph to Hamilton and notify the coroner here.

Death of Mrs. Spragge.

The widow of Chief Justice Spragge died on Thursday night, it is said of a broken heart. On her husband's death she took to her bed and gradually sank.

CHAPTER V.—CONTINUED.

Still kneeling, she inclined her head, while Regina twisted the wreath around the coil of neatly braided hair. Then kissing the girl lightly on her cheek, Mrs. Lindsay closed the drawer and rose. Drawing a silver cup from her pocket, Regina filled it with water and placed it close to the mirror, and proceeded to arrange the violets and honeysuckles. Stepping back to inspect the effect, she folded her hands and smiled.

"Mrs. Lindsay, tell him I gathered them for him, because he was so kind to me when I came here a stranger, and I wish to thank him. When he is at home it seems always summer time—don't you think so?"

Then mother's eyes filled, and laying a hand on the girl's head, she answered:

"Yes, dear, he is my sunshine and summer time."

"How long will he stay with us?"

"He could not say positively when his last letter was written, but I hope to keep him several months. You know it is possible he may be forced to go to England in order to complete some of his studies before—Oh, Regina? could we bear to have two oceans swelling between our Bishop and us!"

"Why, then, will you let him go?"

"Can I help it?"

"You are his mother, and he never would disobey you."

"But he is a man, and I cannot tie him to my apron strings, as I do my bunch of keys. I must not stand in the way, and prevent him from doing his duty."

"I suppose I don't yet know everything about such matters, but I should think it was his duty first to please you. How devoted he is to 'duty!' It must be horrible to leave all one loves, and go out to India, among the heathens."

"Pray, what do you know about the heathens?" said a manly voice, and instantly two strong arms gathered the pair in a cordial embrace.

"My son! You stole a march upon me! O, Douglass, I never was half so glad to see you as now!"

"If you do not stop crying, I shall feel tempted to doubt you. Tears are so unusual in your eyes, that I shall be disposed to regard your welcome as equivocal."

He kissed her on her cheek and lips, and added:

"Regina, can't you contrive to say you are a little glad to see me?"

There was no reply, and turning to look for her, he found she had vanished.

"Queer little thing? she has gone without a word, though she insisted on dressing her silver cup with those flowers, which she thought would suggest to you her gratitude for your numerous little acts of kindness. Have you seen your uncle?"

"Yes, mother, I stopped a few moments at the church, where he is engaged with one of the committees. Uncle Peyton is not looking well. Has he been sick?"

"He has suffered a good deal with his throat since you left us, and now and then I notice he coughs. He is overworked, and now that you can fill his pulpit, he will have an opportunity to rest. O, my son! in every respect your visit is a blessing."

Leaning her head on his breast, she looked up with proud and almost adoring tenderness, and drawing his face down to hers, held it close kissing him with that intense clinging fervour which only mother love kindles.

"Does my little mother know that she is spoiling her boy by inches;—making a nursery darling, instead of a hardy soldier, of him? You are weaving silken bonds to fasten me more securely here, when you ought rather to aid me in snapping the fetters of affection, habit, and association. Come, be so good as to brush the dust out of my hair, while you tell me everything about everybody, which you have failed to write, during these long months of absence."

For some time the talked of family matters, of occurrences in V——, of invidious and unkind remarks, some caustic personal criticisms upon the pastor's household affairs, which had emanated from Mrs. Prudence Potter a widowed member of the congregation, who had once rashly dreamed of presiding over the clerical hearth as Mrs. Peyton Hargrove, and having failed to possess her kingdom, had become a merciless spy upon all that happened in the forbidden realm.

"Poor Mrs. Pru! what a warfare existed between her name and her character. She should petition the Legislature to allow her to be called Mrs. Echidna! My son, I think modern civilization will remain incomplete, will not perform its mission, until it relives society from the depredations of these scorpions, by colonizing them where they will extend their poison without dangerous results. If sting they must, let it be among themselves. If I were lunatic enough to desire to vote, I should spend my franchise in favour of a 'Gossip Reservation—somewhere close to the great Western Desert—to which the disappointed widows, spiteful old maids, and snarling dyspeptic bachelors of this much suffering generation should be relegated for domiciliation and reform. Freedom serves America as much as Æsop's stork did the frogs;—we are appallingly free to be devoured by envy, stabbed by calumny, strangled by slander. I believe if I were a painter, and desired to portray Cleopatra's death, I would assuredly give to the asp the baleful features and sneering smirk of Mrs. Prudence. Every Sunday, when she twists those two curls on her forehead till they lift themselves like horns, puts up her eye glasses and pays her respects to our pew, I catch myself whispering 'Cerates!' and wishing that I were only the camera of a photographer."

"Take care, mother! Would you accept a homestead in your contemplated 'Reservation?'"

She pinched his ear.

"Don't presume, sir, to preach to me. Really, I often wonder how Peyton can force himself to smile and parry the vinegar cruets that woman throws at him, in the shape of observations upon the 'rapid decline of evangelical piety, and the 'sadly backslidden nature' of the clergy."

"Because he is the very best man in the world, and faithfully practises what he preaches—Christian charity. What is Mrs. Pru's latest grievance.

"That Peyton does not admit her to his confidence and supply her with all the particulars of Regina's history and family, which he withholds even from you and me, and about which we should never dream of catechising him. In a better cause her bold effrontery would be sublime. Fortunately she was absent in Vermont for some months after the child came, and curiosity had subsided into indifference, until she returned—when low! a geyser of righteous anxiety and suspicion boiled up in the congregation and well-nigh scalded us. What do you suppose she blankly asked me one day, in the child's presence? 'Were not Mr. Hargrove's friends mistaken in believing he had never married?' Now I contend that the law of the land should indict for just such cruel and wicked innuendoes, because these social crimes that the statutes do not reach, work almost as much mischief and misery as those offences against public peace which the laws declare penal. I confess Mrs. Potter is my bete noire, and I fell as no doubt Paul did when he wrote to Timothy: 'Alexander the coppersmith did me much evil; the Lord reward him according to his works.'"

"Mother, what reply did you make to her? I can imagine you towering like Mrs. Siddons."

"You may be sure I unmasked a battery. I looked straight into her little faded grey eyes—which straggle away from each other as if ashamed of their mutual ferret experiences—for you know one looks out so and one turns always up—and I answered that my brother had been exceedingly fortunate, as notwithstanding the numerous matrimonial nets adroitly spread for him, he had escaped like the Psalmist, 'as a bird out of the snare of the fowler,' and fled for safety unto the mountain of celibacy. Bishop, if the new school of science lack the link that binds us to the ophidian type, I can furnish a thoroughly developed' specimen of an 'evolved' Melusina; for Mrs. Pru's ancestors must have been, not very remotely, cobra-capellos. Such a chronic blister as she is keeps up more inflammation in a church than all the theology in Andover can cool. As for general society here in V——, she damages it more than all the three hundred foxes of Samson did the corn-fields, vine-yards and olives of the Philistines. What are you laughing at?"

"The ludicrous dismay that will seize you when the constabulary of your progressive civilization notify you that you must emigrate to the 'Gossip and Slander Reservation.' Poor Mrs. Prudence Potter! from my earliest recollection she has been practising archery upon the target of her neighbours' characters, and she seeks social martyrdom as diligently as Sir Galahad hunted the Sangreal. In the form of ostracism, I think she is certainly reaping her reward. Mother, let her rest."

"With all my heart! 'tis a consummation devoutly to be wished;'—but that is just the last thing she proposes—until the muscles of her tongue and eyes are paralyzed. Rest indeed! Did you ever see a hyena caged in a menagerie? Did you ever know it to rest for an instant from its snarling, snapping, grinning round? My son, I would not for my right hand malign or injure her, but how can I sincerely indulge charitable reflections concerning a person who has so persistently persecuted your uncle?"

"Then, dear little mother, do not think of her at all. Be assured her ill-natured shafts will fall as blunt and harmless upon the noble well-tried armour of my uncle's Christian character, as a bombardment of cambric needles against the fortress of Cronstadt. How rapidly Regina has grown since she came among us? Her complexion is perfect. Is she the same straightforward, guileless child I left her?"

"Unchanged, except in expansion of mind, which develops surprisingly. She is the most mature child I ever met, and I presume it is attributable to the fact that she has never been thrown with children, and, having always associated with older persons, has insensibly imbibed their staid thoughts, and adopted their quiet ways. I should not be more astonished to see my prim, puritanical grandmother yonder step down from the frame and turn a somersault on the carpet, or indulge in leap-frog, than to find Regina guilty of any boisterous, hoidenish behaviour, or any unrefined, undignified language. If she had been born on the Mayflower, raised on Plymouth Rocks and fed three times a day on the "Blue Laws" of Connecticut, she could not possibly have proved a more eminently 'proper' child. Even Hannah, who you may recollect, was so surly, harsh and suspicious when she first came here, and who really has as little cordiality or enthusiasm in her nature as a gridiron or a rolling pin, seems now to be completely devoted to her; as nearly infatuated as one of her flinty temperament can be; and who conquers old Hannah's heart, you will admit, must be well-nigh perfect."

"Does my uncle continue to teach her?"

"Yes, and I think it is one of his greatest pleasures. She is ambitious and studious, and Peyton is never too weary to explain whatever puzzles her. She is exceedingly fond of him, and he said last week that she was his 'Jabez;'—he had received her so reluctantly, and she proved such a comfort and blessing."

"I presume her mother writes to her occasionally?"

"Regularly every fortnight she receives a letter. Some times, for days after, Regina looks perplexed and sorrowful, but she never divulges the contents. Once, about two months ago, I found her lying on the rug in her own room, with her face in her hands, and her mother's last letter beside her. I asked if she had received eny bad news, for I knew she was crying in her quiet way, and she looked up, and said in a tone that was really piteous: "There is nothing new. It is always the same old thing; she does not know yet when she can come, and I must be good and patient. Oh, Mrs. Lindsay I am so hungry to see my mother! When I look at her picture, I feel as if I would be willing to die if I could only kiss her, and hear her say once more, 'My baby! My darling' Last night I dreamed she took me in her arms, and hugged me tight, and looked at me as she used to do when she came to the convent, and said, 'Papa's own baby! Papa's poor stray lamb!' Mrs. Lindsay, when I waked I had the pillow in my arms and was kissing it." Now, Douglass, it is a great mystery how a mother could voluntarily separate herself from such a child as Regina I asked her to show me the picture, and she cried a good deal, and said: 'I have often wished to show it to you, but she says she must let no one see it. Oh! she is so beautiful! Lovelier than the Madonnas in the chapels; only she always has tears in her eyes. I never saw her when she did not weep. Mrs. Lindsay, help me to be good; teach me to be smart in every thing, that I may be some comfort to my mother. The saddest feature in the whole affair is, that Regina begins to suspect there is some discreditable mystery about her mother and herself; but Peyton says it is marvellous how delicately she treats the subject. She came home one day from sunday-school, and told him that Mrs. Prudence asked her, in the presence of the class, how her mother could afford to dress her in such costly clothes; and whether she had ever seen her father? Peyton wished to know what reply she made, and she said her answer was: 'Mrs. Potter if I were you, and you were Regina Orme, I think I would have my tongue cut out before I should ask you such questions.' Then Peyton told me she looked at him as if she were reading his secret soul, and added: 'It is hard not to understand every thing, but I will be patient, for mother writes that some day I shall know all; and no matter what people say—no matter how strange things may seem—I will believe in my mother as I believe in God!' Most girls of her age would be curious to discover what is concealed from her; but although your uncle thinks she is uncertain whether her father be living or dead, she carefully shuns all reference to the subject. There is the door bell; Hannah will let some body in, before I can fly down and tell her to excuse me. How stupid of people not to know that my Bishop has come! Oh, dear! it is Mrs. Cartney—and she has come for the aprons I promised to make for the Asylum children, and they have not been touched! yes, Hannah, I am coming. Why didn't you say I was engaged with my son?"

LOCAL NEWS

Changed Hands.

The grocery on Rubidge street, between Charlotte and King streets, has changed hands, Mr. D. Sullivan having sold out his stock of groceries, etc., to Mr. James Coughlin.

Lecture in Aid of Mission Sunday School.

Remember Prof. A. B. Kent's lecture on Electricity and Chemistry on Tuesday evening, 29th April, in the George Street Methodist School Room. The lecture will be illustrated by a very extensive collection of apparatus, and at this time, when the subject is receiving particular attention, cannot fail to be both profitable and entertaining.

Turnbull's is the headquarters for Dress Goods. Every conceivable shade in stock to choose from. See that Job Line he is selling at twelve and a half cents per yard.

Was it Franklin?

Who said that he tried to dress in such a way that no one in a company he had left would be able to tell what he had on? What better rule can a gentleman take than that which avoids conspicuousness, and what will sooner excite comment, too, than a shambling, misshapen, badly tailored suit of clothes? It costs no more to have a correct, comfortable fit than the other, and no more to get it from a house that cannot afford to let poor work go out. Try ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, George street.

Standing on their Rights.

A very amusing incident occurred on George Street this morning. One man was going south with a load of hay, and another was going north with a load of flour. They met near Brock street, and each one took the east side of the street to pass, which brought their horses face to face. Each one called to the other to turn out, but the miller claimed that he had followed the rule of the road and turned to the right, and the farmer held that he had a heavy load and should hold the side that he had turned on, and neither one would turn out. They stood in that position both losing time and patience, but gaining determination to make the other give in, for nearly an hour, while large numbers took in the situation and enjoyed the joke immensely. One man, fearing a serious ending of the affair, went for a policeman, but the chief thought that as long as they stood there quietly they might stand. Finally, the man with the hay was persuaded by friends to pull his horses to the right, and the mill man passed on, shaking his head and feeling elated over his triumph. He had lost nearly an hour, but he passed on the right side.

That new pattern Dolman that Turnbull's Mantle Makers are using, gives the figure a graceful appearance, and leaves the arms at liberty, which is the objection most ladies have to the old Dolman pattern. Inspect and be convinced.

Arrested for Stealing.

On the 14th of April a man named John Boyd, a resident of the northern part of Hastings County, hired a buggy, set of harness and buffalo robe at Mr. E. Dunford's livery stable for two or three days. As he did not return the articles Mr. Dunsford became anxious about them, and, procuring the necessary papers, he and Constable Adams went in pursuit of the man. At Preneveau's Hotel, in Belmont township, they learned that a man had tried to sell a buggy and harness answering to the description of Mr. Dunfords, and they tracked him on, till they reached Kellar's Bridge, about twelve miles north of Madoc village, where they found Boyd and arrested him. He had sold the buggy and harness to a man in Thanet, about thirty miles further north, and and Mr. Dunford went on back after them. Constable Adams took Boyd to Madoc, where he was taken before Mr. E. D. O'Flynn, J.P. He pleaded guilty and was committed to the gaol at Peterborough to await his trial. Constable Adams arrived on Friday with him. He had a post office order and money, in all about $74, on him when arrested.

Notes of the Saved Army, their Meetings and Sayings.

A very good attendance at the meeting on Friday night.

Four persons went forward to the penitents' bench.

Lieut. White and others went to Lakefield on Friday. The lieutenant remains there.

One soldier at the meeting on Friday night appeared to feel hurt by a "shot" in the REVIEW. The note was inserted as evidence of the work that the Army and those assisting it are doing.

We understand that Lieu. A. Gall will go to Ottawa next week.

Gen. Lindsay is expected to be present at the meeting to-night.

Turnbull's Grey Cottons are cheaper than ever. See that yard wide Cotton, he is giving twenty yards for one dollar.

Exquisite New Window Shades

At A. CLEGG'S, any style or design, fitted complete; a splendid assortment to choose from. Leave your orders early, that you may have them put up as soon as house cleaning is done. Just what you want for summer, as the light does not penetrate them.

Ontario and Quebec Extension.

The Globe says that Mr. Lumsden, who surveyed the Credit Valley route, and the route of the Ontario and Quebec railway, left Toronto on Friday to survey the route for the extension of the Ontario and Quebec Railway to the Detroit River. Mr. Lumsden has been Chief Engineer of the Ontario and Quebec during its construction. The company has already purchased the ties for the new road and is in treaty for the remainder of the supplies.

Serious Fire at Mount Pleasant.

A serious fire occurred at Mount Plesant this morning. Mr. Isaiah Best's foundry was destroyed, and also a dwelling house owned by Mr. Best and occupied by Mr. Geo. Maddis. A stable belonging to Mr. Chas. Courtney was also consumed by the flames. It is not known how the fire originated, but, as they were moulding in the foundry on Friday, it is supposed to have been caused by fire left after the work. The fire was discovered at about three o'clock a.m., and spread so rapidly that all efforts to check it were of no avail.

Personal.

Messrs. James Snyder and Joseph Metherall, who have been undergoing a course of instruction at the Kingston School of Gunnery, returned home on Friday night.

The Millbrook Messenger has the following paragraph in reference to the Rev. W. C. Allen, formerly curate of St. John's Church, Peterborough:

"In our last, in giving proceedings at the vestry meeting of St. Thomas Church, we omitted to state that the meeting decided to increase their portion of the stipend of the clergymen by a hundred dollars, owing to their appreciation of their services. The congregation are particularly well-pleased with their present curate, the Rev. W. C. Allen, M.A., the respected son of the Rector, Rev. Rural Dean Allen, and they are delighted to hear that he has purchased that prettily-situated four acre lot, (south of Mr. W. G. Russel's machineshop), of Mr. James Gardiner, where he intends building a stately mansion."

The Lindsay Post has the following paragraph in reference to Mr. C. E. L. Porteous manager of the Bank of Montreal in that town, and well-known to many of our readers when attached to the branch in Peterborough:—

"M. C. L. Porteous of this town sent four pictures (water colors) to the exhibition of the Royal Canadian Academy, opened last week at Montreal by Lord Lansdowne. All were accepted and hung in good places. 'One was "Oaks, Scugog," another "Black Creek, Gull Lake," and the other two were also sketches of local scenery. The Montreal Witness says 'The 'Black Creek' of Mr. C.E.L. Porteous is a dainty bit of painting, one of the prettiest in the gallery."

READING FOR SUNDAY.

THE ladies of the parish of Adolphustown presented the Rector's wife with a very useful article in the shape of a cow.

THE Right Rev. Robert Bickersteth, Bishop of Ripon, died last week at the age of sixty-seven years.

CAUSE OF MAN'S UNHAPPINESS.—"Man's unhappiness, as I construe, comes of his Greatness; it is because there is an Infinite in him, which with all his cunning he cannot quite bring under the Finite."—Carlyle.

TRINITY COLLEGE SCHOOL.—The annual confirmation was held in the school chapel of Trinity College School, Port Hope, on Palm Sunday, the 6th April, by the Lord Bishop of Toronto. The large number of fifty-one boys and one girl were presented to the Bishop for the reception of the Holy Rite.

CARDINAL HOWARD, who is about to be advanced to a bishopric in the Cardinal College, was once an officer in the British army, and the new Church of England Bishop Ryle, of Liverpool, and Bishop Maclagan, of Litchfield, wore the red coat before they put on the surplice preliminary to their promotion to the lawn.

THE Pope has intimated to Cardinal Sconi, who, as Dean of the Sacred College, has succeeded to the rich Bishopric of Ostia and Valletri, that he must pay 20,000 francs yearly out of its revenues to the Holy See, to be used for Catholic schools and the maintenance of ejected nuns and indigent priests. Leo XIII. is applying a similar measure to all Pluralist Cardinals.

A meeting of the Methodist pastors of Toronto was held last week, at which it was decided that the Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada, to commence on June 12th, should be held in Richmond Street Church, and the United Conference in Elm Street Church a week later. Arrangements are being made for the billeting of the members of Conference.

A MOST interesting and successful series of "Salvation Evangelistic Services" is in progress in the Sherbourne Street Church, Toronto. The Whyte Brothers, of Paris, "sing the Gospel," aided by a band of singers. Brief addresses were given instead of full sermons. The attendance is very large, and a deep religious feeling prevails at each service. Last Sunday night, hundreds went away, not being able to gain admission.

COMPUTATION OF HAPPINESS.—"But the whim we have of Happiness is somewhat thus. By certain valuations, and averages of our own striking, we are come upon some sort of average terestrial lot; this, we fancy, belongs to us by nature, and of indefeasible right. It is simply payment of our wages, of our deserts; requires neither thanks nor complaint; only such overplus as there may be, do we account Happiness; and deficit again is Misery."—Carlyle.

LITTLE THINGS.—This remark of the Rev. John Newton deserves to be written on the tablet of every heart:—"I see in the world," he observes, "two hesps—one of human happiness and one of misery. Now, if I can take but the smallest bit from the second bit and add to the first, I carry a point. If, as I go home, a child has dropped a halfpenny, and if by giving it another I can wipe away its tears, I feel that I have done something. I should be glad, indeed, to do great things, but I will not neglect such little ones as this."

SWEETNESS.—It is said that bees and wasps will not sting a person whose skin is imbued with honey. Hence those who are much exposed to the venom of these little creatures, when they have occasion to hive bees or take a nest of wasps, smear their face and hands with honey, which is found to be the best preventive. When we are annoyed with insult, persecution, and opposition from perverse and malignant men, the best defence against them is to have the spirit bathed in honey. Let every part be saturated with meekness, gentleness, forbearance, and patience, and the most spiteful enemy will be disappointed in his efforts to inflict a sting.

TÆDIUM VITÆ.—"And now, my God, what is there left to me? Where shall I plant my foot firm in this land of shadows? I am not in pain. Were I in pain there would be more hope for me. I would not complain to Thee that I do not dwell amongst the roses, if Thou wouldst only grant that the thorns might tear me. And yet, my God, thou knowest I am distracted still by trifles, by pleasures that are no pleasures, and by pains that are no pains. And Thou hast given me high spirits, and Thou hast hidden my soul in a raimant of light laughter, and in what, even to me, sometimes seems contentment. But my brain is empty, I know not where to turn. To this thing and to this thing I would apply myself; but whenever I begin to stir myself, the reason which thou hast given me plucks me by the ear with icy fingers, and whispers, 'To what purpose? Are not all things vanity?'"—W. H. Mallock.

BEHAVIOUR.—Rev. Brook Herford, late of Chicago, in a recent address on Behaviour said: "There is a direct and mutual advantage to all parties in whatever transaction derivable from a courteous manner. Civility, consideration for others, regard for not only their rights, but their feelings, pay. It is profitable even in a mercantile way. It facilitates and advances business. Therefore is polite behaviour to be commended and cultivated, even on the low ground of expediency and policy. But the demand for it, and the duty of observing it, are still more urgent on moral grounds. Courtesy is a Christian characteristic, and there was a correct perception of the fact on the part of that English poet who wrote the line describing Jesus as 'the first true gentleman that ever breathed.' The basis of true politeness is kindness, the suppression of self-interest and self-assertion for the sake of others. It is said by Emerson that the basis of it is self-reliance. This is one of its elements or bases, but it has deeper sources than that. Self-reliance easily swerves off into self-assertion, and the next step in the same direction would be arrogance. There is much of behaviour which is only superficial, a veneer and a polish. Underneath the veneer are self-love, self-seeking, self-assertion, and their kindred qualities. Real politeness is not a matter of surface, but is genuine to the centre, and comes from the heart. Self-control is to be named as fundamental in politeness rather than self-reliance; but deeper than this, and the fountain and spring of all, is kindness. Whoever begins with this begins aright, and a little experience and observation, if he or she be deficient in these at the first, will establish the habit of self-control, and gain for the aspirant the poise and grace that come from self-reliance."

Ladies thinking of buying a Mantle or Dolman should call and see that new American Dolman pattern at Turnbull's.

ANOTHER serious railway-crossing accident is reported, in which loss of life was miraculously averted. A farmer had his team killed and waggon smashed at Tecumseh on Wednesday by an express train, he himself being thrown a distance of forty feet, but escaping with a few slight bruises.

A Run on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any drug store as now at Taylor and McDonald's for a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. All persons affected with asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, severe coughs, or any affection of the throat or lungs, can get a trial bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at the above drug store. Regular size $1.

Bass & Co., Burton-on-Trent, India Pale Ale now on draught, at Chamberlain's Restaurant—direct importation.

Cassils, Stimsons and Co's. Failure.

Apprehensions are entertained that the suspended firm of Cassils, imson & Co., of Montreal, will only be able to pay a small dividend to its creditors. The bank managers are still sanguine as to the soundness of the firm's paper held by them No other failures are expected to result, the general leather trade being reported to be in a perfectly solvent condition.

Hereditary Scrofula.

Are you aware that in your blood the taint of scrofula has a prominent place? This is true, of every one. It is liable at any time, on the slightest provocation, to develope itself in some insidious disease. Consumption and many other diseases are outgrowths of this impurity of the blood, Shaker Blood Syrup has a wonderful power over all scrofulous troubles, as the remarkable testimonials we have received unmistakably prove.

We refer by permission to Mrs. P. Elliott, Hanover, Maine, who was cured by Shaker Blood Syrup of 11 Scrofula Sores, the severity of which confined her to the house for two years. Six months, previous to taking Shaker Blood Syrup, she could not get about her room without crutches. Her friend says I did not think it possiable for her to live many months she was reduced to a mere skeleton. Her cure is hardly less than a miricle. There is no doubt that in Shaker Blood Syrup, we have the most remarkable medicine that has ever been produced, and a positive cure for Syphilis and Scrofula in their numerous forms.

SANITARY INSPECTION. If you would avoid sickness clear away the filth and rubbish about your premises, establish proper drainage and admit pure air. The skin, kidneys and bowels are the sluiceways of the human body. Regulate these channels of health with Burdock Blood Bitters which act directly to purify the blood and regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys.

AN UNPROTECTED FAMILY—Is one that has not that valuable remedy, Hagyard's Yellow Oil in the house for accidents and emergencies. It cures colds, croup sore throat, deafness, rheumatism, neuralgia, chilblains, burns, bruises and all painful injuries.

LORETTO CONVENT.

Steps Being Taken to Restore the Burned Academy at Lindsay.

LINDSAY, April 25.—Bishop Jamot, of Peterborough, arrived last night, and with his accustomed zeal and energy, is taking steps, in conjunction with the Mother Superior of Loretto, Vicar-General Laurent, and the leading members of St. Mary's Church, to repair the calamity of yesterday. The walls of the academy are standing in apparently sound condition. It is the intention to rebuild at once, and make the buildings as fine and complete as ever.

The insurance will no doubt cover a large amount of the outlay thus rendered necessary. In the meantime the ladies of Loretto will keep on their school with as little interruption as possible. Vicar-General Laurent has generously given up his fine residence in the next square across the street for the use of the young ladies boarding at the academy, and in a couple of days the Sisters will be installed there and classes will be resumed. The Priest's house is a spacious mansion in beautiful grounds, and will make a very desirable residence for the young ladies. The term ends in a couple of months, and it is to be hoped that by the end of the following two months' vacation the academy will be rebuilt and ready for occupation. The south wing is comparatively uninjured, and will be used straight along. Bishop Jamot and the ladies of Loretto are exceedingly grateful for the hearty and heroic assistance rendered at the fire by the people of Lindsay and for the smypathy expressed and the kindness received.

GEORGIAN BAY SURVEY.

Purchase of a Screw Steamer for this Important Work.

OTTAWA, April 25.—The Department of Marine and Fisheries have purchased the screw steamer Edsall for the work of surveying the Georgian bay. Tenders were invited, and her's was the most advantageous offer. A new sounding steam engine, made by Brush & Co., of Montreal, will be placed on her deck and other repairs made. She will be ready to leave St. Catharines in about ten days, whence she will proceed to Georgian bay for the work of the season.

Staff Commander Bolton, Royal Navy, is the Imperial Admiralty hydrographic surveyor in command of the survey. The assistant surveyor is Mr. Wm. Jas. Stewart, of Ottawa, who recently graduated with high honours at the Royal Military School, winning the gold medal and having been offered a position in any of the branches of the Imperial army.

Capt. McGregor, of Goderich, an experienced pilot and steamboat captain of the Georgian bay, is captain. He was selected for his special fitness for this particular work. Wm. Linter, of St. Catharines, is chief engineer.—Mail.

THE EGYPTIAN QUESTION.

LONDON, April 26.—A council was held at the War Office this morning. It is reported that the Duke of Cambridge, Lord Wolsley, the Marquis of Hartington, and others advise against the expedition to Berber, or any advance whatever until a full force is equipped to relieve Khartoum in the autumn. The Egyptian Premier is pressing the Government to come to an immediate decision. The Egyptian troops at Assouan and other stations in Upper Egypt declare their intention of joining El Mahdi. Numbers are deserting.

TROOPS REFUSED FOR BERBER.

LONDON, April 27.—The Government's refusal to send an expedition to relieve Berber causes great excitement in political clubs here. A non-party coalition is being formed for the purpose of attacking the Government's policy.

IN the House of Commons the Government accepted the decision of the House in regard to the Cattle bill, expressed by the vote of Tuesday. They will propose an amendment, however, authorizing the Privy Council to admit cattle from one part of a country although foot and mouth disease is prevalent in another part.

There is nothing so tempting and refreshing as ripe fruits products. To the young, the old, or middle aged alike, the Golden Fruit Bitters is a certain cure for General Debility or Weakness. Sold by all druggists.

ORDER OF ODDFELLOWS.

THE ANNIVERSARY COMMEMMORATED BY DIVINE SERVICE.

Sermon by the Rev. John Shaw—Christian Unity Should Prevail and Sectarian Bigotry be Buried Without any Hope of Resurrection—The Principles and Work of the Society.

The Independent Oddfellows of Peterborough commemorated the sixty-fifth anniversary of the Order by attending divine service on Sunday evening. The members of Peterborough Lodge and Otonabee Lodge assembled in their respective rooms at about six o'clock, and shortly after the members of Peterborough Lodge marched down to the hall of the sister lodge. As the church bells began to call the people to worship the members of the two lodges emerged out of Otonabee hall, and proceeded up George street to the Methodist Church. The number of members in the procession amounted to about one hundred, and their appearance could not fail to win respect for the Order. At the church the centre row of seats had been reserved for them, and soon after they entered the services began.

The REV. JOHN SHAW occupied the pulpit. After the opening services he delivered an excellent discourse, based on Hebrews xiii., 1:—"Let brotherly love continue," or, as the passage was rendered in the revised version, "Let the love of the brotherhood continue." If they looked back over the history of the world, they would see discord and Christ wounded in the house of His friends. Infidels had been confirmed in their infidelity by the scattered fragments of Christ's spiritual body. But Christian unity meant unity of sentiment in the fundamentals of religion, unity of feeling and union in the work. Perfect agreement on all the rites and dogmas should not be expected. The fundamentals were really few, and were held by more people than some persons imagined. They were a belief in a Supreme Being—an intelligent Creator of the universe; a belief in the revelation from God; that man was a fallen being, a different being from what he was when he came from the hand of his Maker; that Christ had died, and that the work of the Holy Sprit was to produce in men repentance and faith in Jesus. The cross was the centre around which they revolved in Christian unity. Belief in a certain doctrine might be fundamental for membership in a church holding that doctrine, yet it might not be fundamental to a man's salvation. The points indicated were those on which they all could agree. A feeling of love to God was common to all people who acknowledged Him. Still there need not be organic union. In essentials there should be unity; in non-essentials, liberty; and in all things, charity. Mutual concessions were necessary. Men had different tastes, temperaments and capacities, and were differently educated, and they could not see alike on all points. It was a mistake for any man to say that he would not make concessions; they should cultivate a generous spirit and be willing to "give and take." It was not necessary that two persons should be enemies because they differed in opinion. As the Rev. Robert Hall had said, the Christian platform should be broad enough to take in all—should be as wide as the door of Heaven, and they should love all who loved God. Sectarian bigotry was dying away, and he hoped that its complete extinction would soon take place and that it would be buried where there would be no possibility of a resurrection for it. Each church organization had its place, and they should pursue their courses in love and unity, like different companies in one great army, with the one object in view, namely, to drive out sin and promote holiness in the world. Unsectarian Christian societies, like the Young Men's Christian Association, &c., were bringing members of the different churches together and doing much towards abolishing all sectarian feeling. The importance of Christian union was seen in the numerous commandments given in the Bible to love one another. When an organization was instrumental in making people better and in saving souls, it was preposterous to imagine any one telling them to stand aside or questioning their right to work for the Lord. When they met a Christian man they should not enquire about his creed, but whether he loved the brotherhood. What they needed in this age was the spirit of Christian unity, the communion of saints, even although they differed on minor points. A rupture among Christians had frightened people, like an earthquake in nature. One church organization was a unit because one man governed their opinions and consciences, but when they were united in the essential doctrines of religion, they could work together in unity. The brotherhood represented the (Order of Oddfellows) had as one of its principal features mutual help. That was one of the main pillars of Oddfellowship. The society had spent over a million dollars for the relief of the needy. In Ontario during the past year it had expended in sick benefits, $19,860; for surgeons and nurses, $3,789; to aid the orphans of brother Oddfellows, $428; for the relief of widows, $8,864; in special relief, $2,826; in burying deceased brethren, $2,364; in burying deceased wives of brethren, $535; a total of $38,670, or an average of $105.94 during each day of the year. Mutual help was a divine law. It existed in nature, and why should not men help their fellow men? Youth could help old age, and wealth gladden the homes of poverty. The benefit was not one-sided. Giving aid to another made the giver a better man; the Good Samaritan felt happier after he had aided the unfortunate man who had fallen in with the thieves. The Order found the stranger penniless, and supplied his wants; it found the sick far from home and friends, and soothed his sufferings and administered to his wants, and if the brother died it saw him decently buried. The principles of the Order were not secret. Its secrets were simply signs of recognition. Its objects were to render mutual benefits—to help the needy and to comfort those bereaved. They should cultivate a spirit of friendship like that which existed between Jonathan and David, but they could not cultivate such a friendship unless it was based on Christian principles. They should take Christ for their friend. He urged the members of the Order to be true to their principles as Oddfellows and to promote the spirit of unity amongst all men. Unity of purpose gave strength. A fierce spirit of politics in home or local affairs destroyed prosperity. In most places, at least, unity was strength. If they could look into Heaven he had no doubt that they would see Wesley, Calvin and Fletcher sitting together in brotherhood, and when it was coming to that, they should live in the spirit here below and pray for those who refused to do so. This was the 65th anniversary of this organization of Oddfellows. There were between 14,000 and 15,000 members in this jurisdiction, and it would prosper so long as they acted in accordance with the principles of the Order. They should cultivate the spirit of consecrated unity, not only in the association, but with men generally.

The choir of the church rendered a voluntary anthem in a fine manner during the service.

ORANGEMEN THREATENED.

BELFAST, April 27.—The Grand Master of the Orangemen has recived a letter warning him that the Invincibles are on his track.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

LONDON, April 26.—The establishment of Wm. Whitely, dealer in general merchandise, was damaged by fire to-day to the extent of £250,000.

THE EGYPTIAN CONTROL.

PARIS, April 26.—The Gaulois says France will urge a conference to re-establish the dual control in Egypt. Should the powers be inclined to assent Earl Granville has prepared a counter proposal, placing the finances of Egypt under general European control.

CATASTROPHE AVERTED.

BERLIN, April 26.—A sensation has been caused here by the statement made by Herr Richter to the committee of the Reichstag having in charge the resolution relating to the anti-Socialist law, that anarchists had placed sixteen pounds of dynamite under the statue of Germania at Niederwald shortly before the unveiling of the monument, and that a terrible catastrophe was only prevented by the fortunate circumstance that rain had rendered the explosive harmless for the time. The dynamite failed in its mission, and was discovered after the immense assemblage had departed. The fact had been kept secret until this time. Two anarchists have made a confession giving the details of the plot to blow up the statue of Germania at Niederwald. They say that a quantity of dynamite was placed in a drain pipe underneath the monument, and the moisture alone prevented the explosion.

FATAL BOATING ACCIDENT.

Pleasure Boats Capsized in a Squall—Three Lives Lost.

MIDLAND, April 27.—To-day several yachts with pleasure parties left Midland for various points. The boat which went to Victoria Harbour contained ten persons. On returning they were upset about half a mile from Victoria Harbour, but they were all rescued. Another party of twelve which left here for Present Island when returning were upset about midway between Flat Point and "Wait a Bit" Point. They were in the water about an hour-and-a-half before assistance reached them. W. H. Davis and Joe Stewart were returning from Mushkosh and heard cries for assistance, and immediately put to the rescue. Before this, however, Richard Smith went out with a skiff and rescued G. A. Griffin, and Wm. Hastings. About fifteen minutes before Davis and Stewart reached them Charlie Hastings had died and was lying on the boat about four feet under water. Smith returned with his skiff and with Davis conveyed the remainder of the party to Davis' yacht, where Wm. Cann, agent for the Great North-Western Telegraph Company here, and a commercial traveller named Frank Pease, of E. Pease and Son, Toronto, died. The remainder of the party are doing well. The weather was squally.

SUSPECTED MURDER IN LONDON.

A Man Suspected of Poisoning His Wife—Not His First Arrest.

LONDON, April 26.—George McCabe was arrested in London south this afternoon by Detective Schramm, charged with the wilful murder of his wife, Ann McCabe, by means of poison. McCabe took matters very coolly and observed that if she had died from poison she had taken it herself. The warrant on which he was arrested stated that one, Geo. McCabe, is charged that he did in the township of Westminster, unlawfully, and by violence or unfair means, hasten or cause the death of his wife, Ann McCabe.

Mrs. McCabe was a strong, stout woman about sixty years of age, and had been married to McCabe about eighteen months. The inn was her's, and she was generally considered in comfortable circumstances. Her former husband was Jno. Baldy, who died eight or nine months previous to her marriage. McCabe is a man between fifty and sixty, of medium size, greyish red moustache and whiskers trimmed, and looks like an old veteran. This was his second wife. About five years ago his first wife died from aconite poisoning, under very suspicious circumstances, near Ingersoll. Until the contents of the stomach are analysed nothing definite will be known of the causes leading to her death.

"Hub" Cough Cure, 25 Cents.

Prescription of a Boston physician, dispensed years by a Boston Druggist. One dose will cure any ordinary cough. It acts almost magically. Ask J. D. Tully for a 25 cent bottle of Hub Cough Cure.

THE success with which the Triangle Dyes have met proves them the most remarkable Dyes of the past or present. They are attracting attention from all classes of society. 10 cents.

Have you Thought About It.

Pain is one of the sure things of life, and it becomes then a most important question to have at hand the quickest and most efficient remedy. Polson's NERVILINE cannot fail to due cramps, toothache, neuralgia, headache, and all pain, internal or external. Nerviline is the most perfect combination ever offered to the public for the relief of pain. It will not cost you much to try it, for you can buy it at Ormond & Walch for 10 cents a trial bottle, which will convince you of its mighty pain relieving power.

How to Make Candy.

This book gives full directions for making all kinds of plain and fancy candy. The receipts for making caramels, chocolate drops, French mixed and all other kinds of candies contained in this book are the same as used by the leading city confectioners. Any one can have these candies at home at less than one third the usual cost. Sent post paid for 50 cents (no stamps taken). Address, ROCHESTER PUBLISHING CO., 32, 33 & 34½ Osburn Block, Rochester, N.Y.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

WELCOME.

WE are glad to welcome the Toronto World to our table once more, for during its temporary cessation we missed it, and we are pleased to find that any difficulties have been overcome. We do not always agree with the World in its opinions, though not being infallible it is possible that even then we may be in fault, sometimes, at all events, but we always find it bright, readable, full of news, and generally fairly impartial.

MISSING DOCUMENTS.

AN important document in a protested election case that was in the possession of Mr. Mercier, the leader of the Quebec Reformers, is not forthcoming, and steps are being taken for its recovery. The ethics of Reform politicians in this particular seem to be peculiar. It will be remembered that a very important document in the case of the conspiracy to induce bribery, namely, the round robin, signed by some of the recalcitrant supporters of Mr. Mowat, has disappeared in a similar manner, having been traced into the possession of Messrs. Fraser and Pardee, and no further.

THE ARCHBISHOP'S LETTER.

WE republished recently from the Toronto papers a letter ascribed by them to Archbishop Lynch, and addressed to Mr. W. H. Higgins. It is only fair to state that since then Mr. Higgins has denied that he received from His Grace any letter of that date, December 9th, 1882; he does not say whether or not the published version is correct in other respects, perhaps because, as he says, the only letter he received was marked private. It appears from other evidence that the date was incorrect, as a letter was used against Mr. Slaven, the Roman Catholic Conservative candidate for East Simcoe in his contest with Mr. Drury in September, 1882, and consequently that letter could hardly have been dated December, 1882.

WHOSE MONEY WAS IT.

When the conspiracy bubble was pricked it was evident that its political effect would depend very largely on the source to which the bribery money was traced. Accordingly, a faithful party press proclaimed unceasingly that Stinson, a wealthy ranche-owner from the Northwest territory, drew a large sum from the Bank of British America about that time,—that he was in the company of John Shields, a contractor, and that therefore the wicked chieftain had supplied $1,800 to buy up the Grit majority in the Local House.

The chain of reasoning was not very logical, nor the conclusion very clear, still it was sufficiently reasonable and convincing to become at once a part of every good Grit's political gospel. A few days ago, however, a new light was shed on the question by the aid of which the conclusion may have to be revised. As our readers may remember, the $1,800 which the immaculate McKim placed in the Speaker's hands was garnished by some of that worthy's creditors, who trusted not wisely, but too long. Now, the Speaker had no claim to the money, and so could not be affected by any disposition of it; McKim certainly would not be injured if the money was applied in payment of his debts, so it seemed evident from the premises that Sir John and Stinson must be the only persons concerned, unless peradventure the mythical "Lynch" could be found. The garnishee application in due time came up at Osgoode Hall, but Sir John was not represented. He had no claim. Stinson was absent—he had no rights to be considered. The mystery of "Lynch" was as impenetrable as ever, but the Deputy Attorney General for Ontario appeared for the Ontario Government. Now, if this money came from Stinson or from Ottawa, in the name of common sense what claim had the Ontario Government to it? If, on the other hand, not only the martyr McKim and his feeble imitators, but Lynch also was sent out as a decoy by ——— but perish the thought, that is incredible. Still as a new explanation must now be given, we again ask and would repeat, "whose money was it?"—Belleville Intelligencer.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

IN DIFFICULTIES.

A Bank Teller's Hurried Flight During Inspection—$2,600 Short.

OSHAWA, April 25.—R. D. Fisher, teller of the Dominion bank here, hurried away by train last night, whilst an inspection was going on. It is said his cash is about $2,000 short. He was intercepted at Kingston this morning, and will be brought back here to-morrow to appear before the Police Magistrate. Fisher's disappearance was a great surprise to the townspeople generally, and much sympathy is felt for himself and family on account of his unenviable position.

ARREST.

KINGSTON, April 25.—This morning Detective McAuley arrested R. D. Fisher on a telegram from Oshawa. He was asleep in a Pullman car when arrested. It appears he has been in the bank there for seven years, the latter eighteen months being teller. Large sums of money have been missed, and as Fisher skipped out, leaving three children behind, suspicion pointed towards him and he was captured. When arrested he exclaimed, "Oh, my dear children! I kissed them before I left home. What an unfortunate man I am!" On his person was found $97 in gold and three cheques totalling $41. He has engaged a lawyer, and refuses to give any information concerning what he has been arrested for.

NORTHWEST NOTES.

SNOW AT THE ROCKIES.—Snow is still deep at the Rockies.

FREIGHT FROM TORONTO.—Freight reaches Calgary from Toronto in eight days.

LUMBER.—Large quantities of lumber are arriving from Selkirk daily.

THE BOW RIVER.—Navigation on the Bow River will not, it is likely, commence before May 1st.

OFF FOR THE ROCKIES.—Large numbers of persons are leaving Calgary on prospecting tours to the Rockies.

ASSISTANCE AT FIRES.—Residents of Regina who refuse to give assistance in case of fire in that place are liable to a fine of $50.

GOLD COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE.—A gold commissioner's office is to be opened at the mouth of the Kicking Horse River, by the Inspector of mines for British Columbia.

C. P. R. STEAMERS.—General Superintendant Egan has received word from Collingwood that the new C.P.R. lake steamers will be fully completed by the opening of navigation.

SUIT BY THE C. P. R.—The C. P. R. have brought a suit for $200,000 against the city of Emerson for violation of agreement, in connection with the new bridge on the Loop Line.

LABOURERS FOR THE C.P.R.—Labourers for the C.P.R. Southwestern are being sent to that section of the country daily. Between 500 and 600 will be employed on that line during the summer.

THE N.W.M.P.—The Regina Leader says that some important changes have been made or are about to be made in the staff appointments of the Mounted Police, one of the most important being the promotion of Col. Herchmer to the position of Assistant-Commissioner, with headquarters at Calgary.

INSURANCE AT CALGARY.—Insurance agents decline to take risks in Calgary, believing that in the event of a big fire there would be little chance of extinguishing it. The Herald says that many of the houses on Section 15 represent all the capital of their owners, and advocates the organization of water-works.—Winnipeg Daily Times.

BOBCAYGEON.

NEW BOAT.—With the fire that occurred recently in the locks the "Victoria" ceased to exist. Previous to that she had received a new hull, and as the fire destroyed the upper works, she will when completed be an entirely new boat. She will sit much lower in the water than the old boat, and as she is to have a new steel boiler of the most improved pattern, will probably make faster speed. Her upper works are to be specially adapted for the traffic, and she will be placed on the route to Lindsay at the earliest moment. She is to be known as the "Sturgeon."

COURT.—A case that occasioned much local interest came before the Reeve, J. L. Read, Esq., on Friday last. Messrs. J. Reid, H. Thompson, W. Simpson, J. Godfrey, G. Garlic, H. Early, C. Bonnel, T. Massau, and G. Dartnell were charged with fighting dogs on the 15th inst. The fight was said to have taken place at or near the residence of Mrs. F. Biggs, who was the principal witness. At the appointed time Mrs. Biggs appeared in Court, in a blaze of new spring dry goods, sailed in, as it were, on a gloriously illuminated section of an aurora borealis. The lady took a seat amid a buzz of admiration and a cloud of cologne, and her coy glances even flushed the Court. The evidence of the lady was, not exactly sustained throughout. There were discrepancies, not to say contradictions. After considerable argument, the Court took time to consider, and finally decided that on the evidence brought before him, he would have to dismiss the case. It cannot, however, be too clearly understood that fighting dogs is not only a brutal, but an illegal act, and parties standing around, or in any way encouraging a fight, are liable to the fullest penalty.—Independent.

TORONTO.

DIPHTHERIA.—Two cases of diphtheria in the city have been reported to the Medical Health Officer. Precautions against spread of the disease have been taken.

THE LATE MRS. BOWELL.—Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Customs, arrived in Toronto from California with the remains of the late Mrs. Bowell this morning. The obsequies of this much respected lady will take place at Brockville on Tuesday afternoon.

NEW BOOK HOUSE.—The business of the late firm of Willing & Williamson has been assumed by Messrs. Williamson & Co., who have removed to No. 5 King street west, the store formerly occupied by the late Mr. N. Ure, and purpose prosecuting the book business in all its departments.

ENGLAND AND THE SOUDAN.

LONDON, April 25.—A telegram from Berber says the reports of the recent massacre at Shendy are exaggerated. The loss of refugees and soldiers is only slight. Hussein Pasha, governor of Berber, says he and his garrison will die at the post of duty.

Some uneasiness is felt at Suakin owing to the presence of Osman Digma at Handuk. The British men-of-war, Briton and Banger are prepared to repel him if he attacks the town.

INFELICE.

By AUGUSTA J. EVANS WILSON.

Author of "St. Elmo," "Beulah," "Macaria,"

CHAPTER V.—Continued.

She disappeared, and after a while Douglass Lindsay went down to the library, and thence through the door opening upon two steps that led into the garden.

It was one of those rare, golden-aired days that sometimes break over the bleak brows of brawling March, in sunny prophecy of yet distant summer; windless days, when rime and haze are equally unknown, and tender fingers of the timid spring, lifting the shrowding sod, advance tendril and leaf and bud as heraids of the annual resurrection. Double daffodils stood erect and conspicuous like commissioned officers along the line of yellow jonquils that bordered the walks, and snowy narcissus and purple and rose hyacinths made a fragrant mosaic over which the brown bees swung, and hummed their ceaseless hymn—laborare est orare. Following the winding walk that led to the palings which shut out the poultry realm, the young minister leaned against the gate, overshadowed by a tall lilac, and looked across at the feathered folk, of which from boyhood he had been particularly fond.

In the centre of the enclosure was a handsome pigeon-house, circular in form, and easily accessible by a flight of steps, while upon the top of a cupola that sprung from the roof was built a small but prettily painted martin's home, in the quaint shape of the Ark,—as we find it in scriptural illustrations. Throughout the length and breadth of the Continent, probably no mere amateur foul fancier possessed such a collection as Mr. Hargrove had patiently and gradually gathered from various sources. The peculiarity consisted in the whiteness of the fowls; turkeys, guineas, geese, ducks, English Pile, Leghorn, Bramah chickens all spotless pure, while the pigeons resembled drifting snowflakes, and the pheasants gleamed like silver.

Upon one of the steps of the columbary sat Regina, with a basket of mixed grain by her side, and in her lap a pair of white rabbits which she feeding with celery and cabbage leaves. At her feet stood two beautiful Chinese geese, whose golden bills now and then approached the edge of the basket, or encroached upon the rabbits' evening meal. The girl was bareheaded, and the fading sunshine lingered lovingly upon the glossy hair, and the delicate lovely face which had lost nought of the purity that characterized it eighteen months before, while during that time she had grown much taller, and gave promise of attaining unusual height and symmetry.

The dress of Marie-Louise blue merino was relieved at the throat by a neatly crimped ruffle, and, as in days of yore, she wore the white apron with pretty pockets, and ruffled bands passing over her shoulders and down to the belt behind, where broad strings of linen were looped into a bow. Her abundant hair was plaited in two long thick braids, and passed twice around her head, forming a jet coronal, and imparting a peculiarly classic contour.

There was in this quiet fowl yard scene something so innocent, so peaceful, that it was inexpressibly soothing and attractive to the man who stood beneath the lilac boughs, jaded with unremitting study, and laden with wearying schemes of future labor. Douglass Lindsay was only twenty-five, but the education and habits of a theological student had stamped a degree of gravity on his handsome face, which was doubtless enhanced by a slight but undeniable baldness.

Closely resembling his mother, except in the brownness of his fine eyes, his countenance lacked the magnetic warmth and merry shifting lights that rendered hers so pleasant,—yet none who looked earnestly upon it could doubt for an instant that he would prove a staunch, faithful, worthy ensign of that Banner of Peace which Jesus unfurled among the olive-girdled hills of holy Judea.

With no leprous taint of bigotry to sully his soul, blur his vision, or cramp his sphere of action the broad stream of Christian charity flowed from his noble, generous heart, sweeping away obstacles that would have impeded the usefulness a minister less Catholic in sympathy, more hampered by creed ligaments and denominational fetters. To an almost womanly tenderness and susceptibility, regarding the sufferings of his fellow-creatures, he united an inflexible adherence to the dictates of justice and the rigorous promptings of conscience;—and while devoutly yielding allegiance solely to the Triune God to whose service he had reverently dedicated his young life, there were times when, in almost ascetic, self-abnegation, he unconsciously bowed down to that stern-lipped, stony Seraph, who, under the name of "Duty," sat a cowled and shrouded idol in the secret oratory of his unselfish heart. Are there not seasons when even the most orthodox wonder whether the Dii Involuti passed away forever, with the patæræ and fibulæ that once rendered service in the classic shades of Chusium and Montepulciana?

Scholarly in tastes, neither Mr. Lindsay's habits or inclination led him often into the flowery maze of fashionable society, but standing upon the verge of Vanity Fair, he had looked curiously down at the feverish whirl, the gilded shams, the maddening murderous conflict for place; the empty, mocking pageantry of the victorious; the sickening despair and irony of the legions of the defeated; and after the roar and shout and moan of the social maelstrom, as presented in the great city where his studies had been pursued, it was pleasant this afternoon to watch the fluttering white creatures that surrounded that calm, beautiful child, and to listen to the soft cooing of the innocent lovers in the dovecot above her.

Opening the latticed gate he walked toward the group, and lifting the basket, sat down on the steps.

"Why did you not wait and invite me to come out and inspect your pretty pets?"

"I thought your mother could not spare you this first afternoon, she had so much to say to you; but I am very glad you have not quite forgotten us. Do you see how tall the China geese have grown? When the gander stretches his neck he can touch my shoulder with his bill. Isn't he beautiful?"

"Decidedly the handsomest gander of my acquaintance. When I went away, you were trying to find a name for him. Did you succeed?"

"Yes, I call him Alcibiades."

"Why? Do you wish to insult the memory of the great Athenian?"

"I wish to compliment him, because he was so graceful and beautiful, and was so fond of birds, he carried them about in his bosom. My Alcibiades is so good-natured he never fights or hisses at my pigeons, and just now one of them lighted on his back, and picked up the barley that had fallen on his feathers. Mr. Hargrove promised me that just as soon as I can make money enough to pay the brick-mason, he will have a large cemented basin built near the pump, where the geese and ducks can swim about every day."

"How do you propose to make money?" asked Douglas, lifting one of the rabbits into his lap, and offering it a crisp morsel of celery.

"Don't you know that I sell the eggs? Those of the white guineas bring three dollars a dozen, and I could sell more of the white turkeys, at the same price than we can spare. Our new Pigeon palace was paid for entirely out of the poultry money."

"Who keeps the poultry books? Have you at last learned to multiply fractions?"

She looked up, smiling, into his laughing eyes.

"Mr. Lindsay, I am not so stupid as when you tried so hard to explain that sum to me. I keep the account, and your uncle examines it once a week. He says it will teach me to be accurate in my figures."

"What did you pay for your rabbits? I have a pair of Angolas for you, but the man from whom I bought them advised me not to remove them until all danger of cold weather had passed, as they are quite young."

"Thank you, Mr. Lindsay. You are very kind to remember that I wished for them last year. I did not buy these——"

She raised the rabbit from her apron, and rubbed her cheek against its soft fur, then added in a lower and touching tone:

"My mother sent them to me. I can't tell how she found out that of all things I wished most to have them, but you know, sir, that mothers seem inspired; they always understand what is in their children's hearts and minds, and need no telling. So I love these more than all my pets; then are the latest message from my mother."

She held out her hand, and interpreting the expression in her superb eyes, he placed the other rabbit in her arms, and for a moment she pressed them close.

"I must shut them up until to-morrow, or the owls might make a supper of them, as happened to some the Sisters kept at the convent."

FARM AND GARDEN.

The Value of Manuring.—Cultivate only as much land as you can manure well if your land is thin and poor. Remember that experience of all good farmers is conclusive on this point:—That one acre of ground thoroughly pulverized and well manured will produce more than two acres only half prepared.

Brains.—In these days of hard competition from increasing skill, brains as well as muscle are required to make any line of farming successful. Both are needed, but brains are the more important. It is brains that make a man a better farmer than his jackass, which has five times the strength of his master. While a farmer should not be afraid or neglectful of work, he should not exhaust himself with manual labor as to have no energy left to give force to his brain. Too many do this. It would be better for them to work less and think more, and make larger drafts on the lower animals for muscular power.

Test of Pregnancy in Cows.—Prof. A. S. Heath, a prominent veterinary surgeon of New York, gives the following method of determining whether a cow is farrow or pregnant with calf. "Let a drop of fresh milk fall into a glass of pure water." If the milk promptly disseminates itself through the water, the cow that yielded the milk is not with calf; but if it sinks to the bottom of the glass as it falls upon the water, and does not produce but little of a milky cloud, the cow is pregnant. The specific gravity and viscidity of the albuminous milk being heavier than water, thus retains the drop of milk and causes it to sink." This is certainly a very simple method, if reliable, and in some instances a knowledge of it would be of much value to the cow owner. We have a case in mind, where a cow supposed to be "in calf" was dried off, and kept in store condition three months or more, only at the end to disappoint the owner by proving farrow, and only fit to feed for the butcher.

Butter and Cheese Making.—Our dairy butter is, in all conscience, poor enough, but so far as we have seen Canadian butter, it averages some ways below ours; but they are pushing improvements with a great deal of earnestness, and as they have soil, climate, and water well adopted to the production of fine butter, there is good reason for anticipating advance. When Canada started in with cheese making she was for a long time as far behind us as she is now in butter making, but, by the zeal of her dairymen and cheese makers, by the good sense and enterprise of her dealers in cheese, and by the aid of Governmen in supporting teachers for giving personal instructions, and in other ways aiding improvements, she has caught up and got by us in the quality of her cheese, and by pushing butter making, as she is doing, by the same means, she may yet do the same thing in regard to butter, but she must get some way in advance of our dairy butter before she will be in a position to boast.—National Live-Stock Journal, Chicago.

Summer Feed for Swine.—One of the very best sorts of summer food to give healthy, rapid growth to pigs, and put them in excellent condition, to be followed up for fattening as soon as corn begins to ripen, is peas and oats sown together. The Canadian field pea is the most suitable for this purpose, and a short, strong-growing straw of oats with a heavy head. These commence ripening at about the same time. One particular object of sowing oats with peas is that the latter wind around the stalks of the former in growing, and this keeps the vines well up and from falling and rotting on the ground. This crop is ready to turn the swine on, to get their full living off it, from the latter part of June unto August, according to climate. Oats and peas are the best kind of food that the farmer can most easily grow, to make fine bone and muscle for pigs, far superior to corn; the crop is also an excellent preparation to grow corn on the same ground next year, as the manure from the swine, and the decay of the remnant of stalks and peas left, will enrich the soil sufficiently for this purpose, unless it should be extra thin and poor.—National Live-Stock Journal.

How To Cook Milk.—The cookery of milk is very simple but by no means unimportant. That there is an appreciable difference between raw and boiled milk may be proved by taking equal quantities of each (the boiled supple having been allowed to cool down) adding them to equal quantities of the same infusion of coffee, then critically testing the mixtures. The difference is sufficient to have long since established the practice among all skillful cooks of scrupulously using, boiled milk for making cafe au lait. I have tried a similar experiment on tea and find that this case the cold milk is preferable. Why this should be, why boiled milk should be better for coffee and raw milk for tea, I cannot tell. If any of my readers have not done so already, let them try similar experiments with condensed milk, and I have no doubt that the verdict of the majority will be that it is possible with coffee, but very objectionable in tea. This is milk that has been very much cooked. The chief definable alteration effected by the boiling of milk is the coagulation of the small quantity af albumen which it contains. This rises as it becomes solidified, and forms a skin-like scum on the surface, which may be lifted with a spoon and eaten, as it is perfectly wholesome and very nutritious.—W. Mattieu Williams in Popular Science Monthly.

LOCAL NEWS

Painted Window Shades

In soft, delicate colours, cheap, at A. CLEGG'S.

Town Council.

A regular meeting of the Town Council will be held in the Council Chamber at 7.30 o'clock this evening.

Vestry Meetings.

The adjourned Easter Vestry meetings will be held this evening at St. John's, Peterborough, and St. Luke's, Ashburnham, at eight o'clock.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto observatory, are as follows:—Westerly to northerly winds, fresh to strong during the day, generally fair, cooler weather, with a few local showers, frost at night in some localities.

Y. M. C. A. Bible Class.

The Rev. Mr. Munro is taking up the Book of Genesis in the Monday night Bible class at the Young Men's Christian Association Rooms. Last week the subject was the Creation, and the rev. gentleman showed how marvellously science and revelation agreed in this. To-night's lesson will be a continuation of the same subject. Those who attend consider it a feast of good things. Though the number that attend is large, there is still room for some more young men. The hour is eight o'clock.

See the new lot of Black and Colored Worsted Coatings just received at Andrew McNeil's.

Another Organ Recital.

We understand that it is the intention of Mr. Chas. W. Ewing, organist and choir-master of St. John's Church, Peterborough, to hold another grand organ recital on or about the 20th of May. This recital, it is expected, will surpass anything of the kind before held in Peterborough, as unusual efforts are to be put forth to make it a brilliant musical treat. The services of distinguished foreign talent are to be secured for the occasion, and other attractions will be offered, which, together with the excellent choir, will make up a programme the like of which is seldom heard in Peterborough.

Grand Concert.

Under the above heading, the Millbrook Messenger refers to the concert given in that village by Prof. Ewing and the Mendelsshon Quartette Company as being a rare treat, and adds:—

"The quartette consists of Mrs. Chambers, Miss Wells, Mr. Porteous, and Mr. Alex Elliott, all eminent vocalists, each rendering their particular parts in good manner and style. So well pleased were the audience, that almost every piece elicited an encore. Mrs. Chambers' 'O Loving Heart,' 'I'm a Merry Zingara,' and her encores; Mr. Porteous, with his 'Deep in the Mine,' 'Here upon my Vessel's Deck,' and others; Mr. Elliott's 'The Minute Gun,' 'The Leather Bottle,' and encores, with the several duets and quartettes, comprised the vocal, while the instrumentals of Prof. Ewing on the piano, and Mr. Freeman, with the cornet, made up a full and lengthy programme.

The Boating Club.

The Mail, in an article on aquatics, notices the Peterborough Boating Club, and among other things says:—

"The Peterborough Club had one of the best crews afloat in this continent in 1880, when they rowed a close second to the Galt Argonaut four on Toronto Bay."

The Mail intends to be mildly complimentary but is apparently not quite disposed to give all the credit that might fairly be accorded to the four, of which Mr. A. J. Belcher, one of the best amateur oarsmen in Canada, was stroke. For instance, while crediting the crew with a second place, it omits to notice one or two first places obtained, as at Barrie and at Lachine. There are several inaccuracies in the notice, as when it is stated that the water is two or three miles from the town. The Mail may take it for granted that rowing is not dead yet in Peterborough.

Window Blinds.

With new and handsome dados, at A. CLEGG'S.

LIVE STOCK EXHIBITION.

The Peterborough West Riding Show of Stallions and Bulls.

An exhibition of stallions and bulls was held on the Agricultural Grounds on Saturday after noon, under the auspices of the West Riding of Peterborough Agricultural Society.

The weather was very fine, and the exhibition, so far as the show of horses was concerned, at any rate, was an improvement on last year. The attendance was quite large.

The judges were Messrs. James Moore, Asphodel, Geo. McKee, Smith, and T. B. Carlow, Warkworth.

THE STALLIONS.

Of stallions there were twenty-four entries, and they were a very fine collection of horses. Each of the three classes for which prizes were offered was well represented, there being 13 entered in the general purpose class, 7 in the draught class and 4 roadsters. The competition in each class was keen, and the judges had to exercise their full knowledge of horses in awarding the prizes. The prizes were awarded as follows:—

ROADSTER STALLIONS—1st, "Green Mountain Morgan," owned by Andrew Moffatt, Peterborough, $8; 2nd, "British Splendor," Fair & Graham, Cavan, $6; 3rd, "Hobby Noble," John Simpson, Fenelon Falls, $4.

GENERAL PURPOSE STALLIONS—1st, "Centennial Jock," W. W. Shearer, Otonabee, $8; 2nd, "Young Pilot," R. W. Bothwell, Cavan, $6; 3rd, "Young Canada," Geo. J. Chalmers, Young's Point, $4.

DRAUGHT STALLIONS—1st, "Young Enterprise," Fair & Graham, Cavan, $8, 2nd, "Pride of Aberdeen," Watson & Campbell, Hamilton Township, $6; 3rd, "Criffle," Johnston & Wilson, Manvers, $4.

THE BULLS.

The number of entries of bulls was not large, but the animals shown were good ones. Those entered were all of the Durham breed. The prizes were awarded to animals owned by the following:—

DURHAMS (two years old)—1st, Henry Collins, North Monaghan, $8; 2nd, John Garbutt, Smith, $6.

DURHAMS (yearlings)—1st, Geo. Scott, Smith, $8; 2nd, James Fowler, North Monaghan, $6.

STRAY SHOTS:

Notes of the Saved Army, their Meetings and Sayings.

There were about three hundred young folks at the children's meeting on Saturday afternoon, Lieutenant Louise Pearse conducted the meeting.

A choir has been organized, and now leads the singing at the meetings. It has caused a marked improvement in the singing.

Mr. Joseph McClelland is leader of the choir, and Miss Webb pianist.

There were about one hundred present at knee drill at 9 o'clock on Sunday morning.

Gen. Lindsay was present at the meetings on Sunday.

There was the usual very large attendance on Sunday evening.

The Peterborough contingent of the Army is now about 420 strong.

Gen. Lindsay left on the afternoon train for Port Hope.

The general will lead an attack upon the Limestone city to-morrow.

A Fine Animal.

Mr. H. Collin's two year old Durham bull, 'Lord Nelson," which was awarded the first prize at the exhibition on Saturday, was weighed on the market scales, and weighed 1,805 pounds.

Breach of Promise of Marriage.

We find the following paragaph in the Mail of Saturday, although we do not know to whom it refers, further than it explains itself:—

"About six weeks ago a Toronto blacksmith named Churley was arrested under a writ of capias at the suit of a Miss Huck, of Peterborough. A writ was issued against him on her behalf, claiming $2,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage, and then, bearing that he was about to abscond, a capias was taken out, and the prisoner lodged in Toronto gaol. Mr. McMillan moved yesterday before Mr. Justice Rose for his release, on the ground that he had no intention of leaving the country. Mr. Mc Cullough opposed the motion and judgment was reserved."

Recalcitrant Liberals.

Thirty more Liberal members kicked out of the party traces in a division in the House of Commons the other day. The bill under consideration was introduced by John Philip Nolan, member of Parliament for Galway county, and aimed to compel landlords in Ireland to sell in certain cases, at the Governmental valuation, such lands as may be necessary for the erection of church and school buildings, and residences for priests and teachers. Thirty English Liberals and several Tory members voted in favour of the bill, but did not succeed in overcoming the Government's opposition, for the bill was defeated by a vote of 122 to 77. During the debate upon the bill it was shown that religious and educational facilities in some parts of Ireland were very much curtailed by the refusal of the landlords, many of whom were Englishmen and absentees, to sell building sites at any such prices as the local authorities could afford to pay. Mr. George Otto Trevelyan, Chief Secretary for Ireland, who had been summoned from Dublin for consultation, took part in the debate, and promised to remedy some of the glaring grievances which had been pointed out, but he opposed the compulsory bill, which he described as an entering wedge for land nationalization on the lines of Henry George's communistic doctrine.

Buckien's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by Taylor & Macdonald.

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of liver, kidney or stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure, and you will be well rewarded for your trouble besides. All blood diseases, biliousness, jaundice, constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold. A few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1 00. If your lungs are sore, chest or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster Sold by J D. Tully.

The proprietors of the leading steel works in Prussia, including Herr Krupp, have informed their workmen that overproduction compels them to reduce the number of working hours. Some threaten to stop their works.

A Run on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any drug store as now at Taylor and McDonald's for a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. All persons affected with asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, severe coughs, or any affection of the throat or lungs, can get a trial bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at the above drug store. Regular size $1.

IT is stated in Montreal that the absconding president of the Exchange Bank is about to proceed to Texas to undertake the superintendency of a cattle ranch there, owned by a Montreal man, who is said to have obtained the necessary funds by Craig's connivance from the unfortunate institution.

DO YOU FEEL PLAYED OUT?—If so, try a bottle of Golden Fruit Bitters. It is a simple tonic, pleasant to take, and will make you feel like a "new man." Sold by all druggists.

The Triangle Dyes are such as one friend can take pleasure in recommending to another. Mark well that you get a three cornered package, for they are the only reliable Dyes in the market. 10c.

Nothing Hunts Out Corns,

Like tight boots. Corns are very small affairs but apply to them a pair of tight boots and all other concerns of life sink into insignificance. Tight boots and Putnam's Corn Extractor (the great and only sure cure for corns) may go together, and comfort will be their partner; but don't fail to use Putnam's Corn Extractor. Frauds, cheap, poisonous and dangerous substitutes are in the market. Beware of them. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Poison & Co., proprietors, Kingston.

The Weather Prophet looks for spring this month. The wise man looks for a blood purifier that will not injure his system; he can find what he wants in Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters, the greatest of all blood purifiers. In large bottles at 50 cents.

REVIEWS.

A STUDY OF "THE PRINCESS."—This little work will be read with much interest by admirers of Tennyson. Mr. S. E. Dawson, in this "Study," throws a light upon the plan and true meaning of this poem, which has been so much misunderstood and so mistakenly criticised. Besides an able analysis of the poem as a whole, Mr. Dawson discusses some of its beauties in an appreciative spirit. In the appended "Notes" he elucidates some verbal difficulties and obscurities, and points out some interesting parallelisms. A letter from Tennyson, which is embodied in the preface, is a valuable portion of this little book, as it gives us a vivid glimpse into the mind of the poet, and even lets us see the mental processes from which originated the finished beauties of his poems. Such details must always be of extreme interest alike for the student of literature and of humanity. Mr. Dawson's work is another proof that "culture" is not so rare in this country as careless observers sometimes assume. It is not strange that a second edition has been required. The publishers, Dawson Bros., of Montreal, have done their share to make this book attractive.

GEN. GORDON.—Some weeks ago we read an interesting pamphlet on the life of General Gordon (The Life of "Chinese" Gordon, R.E., C.B. By Charles H. Allen, F. R. G. S., Secretary of the British and Foreign Anti-Slavery Society). It attained in England an enormous circulation in a very short time. We are pleased to be able to say that it is now published in Canada (Toronto: William Brigge, 78 and 80 King street east), for the small sum of five cents. To those who are unable to obtain the larger volumes by Dr. Hill, Egmont Hake and Archibald Forbes, lately published, this little twenty-six-paged pamphlet will give a very excellent idea of the character of the wonderful General now in so precarious a position at Khartoum. The biographer keeps himself well out of sight; culls largely and judiciously from Gordon's own writings, and is happily free from the habit of moralizing, to which perhaps the intensely religious cast of "Chinese" Gordon's character has laid him more than ordinarily open. We heartily recommend the book.

CAMPBELLFORD.

CRICKET CLUB.—At the annual meeting of the Campbellford Cricket Club the following officers were elected for the current year:—President—R. W. Turner. Vice-President—C. S. Gillespie. Sec.-Treasurer—D. J. Lynch. Managing Committe—Messrs. A. L. Colville, G. Eakins, T. Tait, and J. Abbott. Committee for selecting members of match teams—Messrs. R. Bonnycastle, E. Nancarrow, and E. Denmark. Captain—R. Bonnycastle. The Secretary was instructed to correspond with outside clubs with a view to arranging a match in Campbellford for the Queen's Birthday. Several prominent citizens have made liberal subscriptions in support of the club. The prospects of a good cricket season are excellent, and the club hopes that their efforts will merit the moral and material support of the citizens.

COBOURG.

FIRE.—About nine o'clock on Sunday night, an old building adjoining Victoria College, formerly used as a laboratory, was discoved to be on fire. The steamer was promptly on hand and succeeded in confining the fire to the burning building and thereby saving the College from destruction. The fire was, without doubt, the work of an incendiary. There must have been three thousand people present to witness the conflagration. The property was insured.

How to Make Candy.

This book gives full directions for making all kinds of plain and fancy candy. The receipts for making caramels, chocolate drops, French mixed and all other kinds of candies contained in this book are the same as used by the leading city confectioners. Any one can have these candies at home at less than one third the usual cost. Sent post paid for 50 cents (no stamps taken). Address, ROCHESTER PUBLISHING CO., 32, 33 & 34½ Osburn Block, Rochester, N.Y.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

CURRENT PUBLIC SENTIMENT CULLED FROM OUR CONTEMPORARIES.

FROM FRYING PAN TO FIRE.

How happy Manitoba would be as one of our Territorial sisterhood.—N. Y. Morning Journal.

A PARADISE UNDER SNOW.

Despite all that Messrs. Blake and Mackenzie once said in favour of the South and in disparagement of the North-West, the latter is going ahead at a greater ratio than ever, while reports of heavy snowstorms in Kansas, as late as April 21, must deter any who might have been influenced by Mr. Blake's puffery of the climate from changing in that direction.—London Free Press.

FOULING THEIR OWN NEST.

Ever and anon certain Grit organs grow hilarious over the unfounded rumour of Indian troubles in the North-West. Far be it from us to suppose that they sigh to see the scalping begin, but they are not so absorbed in their hatred of Sir John that they lose sight of the damage likely to be done our common country abroad by their acceptance of such rumors for ascertained facts. They have probably no desire to foul their own nest, but they defile it in forgetfulness of the fact that it is their nest. We beseech them to abandon this miserable mood of mind, in which they are led to discredit their country abroad and disgrace their party at home.—Toronto World, (Ind. Reform).

ALARMING FIGURES.

The Globe has an editorial upon "Some Alarming Figures." The article does not say so; but perhaps the most alarming figures the Globe ever saw were those which indicated the division on Blake's last amendment—128 to 35. —Hamilton Spectator.

FIGHTING SHADOWS.

The Dominion Parliament cannot go beyond the limits of the written constitution which brought it into being. An unconstitutional act of the House of Commons is a source of danger to no one, because when it is declared to be so it ceases to have any effect.

This being the case, it is a pity that the House should waste in fighting shadows valuable time which should be devoted to really important business.—Sherbrooke Gazette.

THE SS. "STEINMANN" DISASTER.

The Result of the Official Investigation—The Captain's Responsibility.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 27.—Captain Scott, R.N., by whom the official investigation was held into the loss of the steamer "Daniel Steinmann" off Sambro, has received information from Ottawa giving permission to make public his report. After briefly detailing the circumstances of the wreck, Captain Scott says: The master appears to have navigated his snip with all due care up to the time of his making the light, and by going aloft himself in the endeavour to make it, showed that he was cautious. It will be seen in the evidence that the master had no observations that day, and was, therefore, uncertain as to his position, and by his own statement that the night was dark, foggy and rainy, that where the soundings were irregular it was highly imprudent under all these circumstances to attempt to enter the port of Halifax. It was clearly his duty to have hauled off shore until he was able to verify his position and obtain a pilot. To this circumstance alone can be attributed the loss of that fine ship, and the lives of 124 passengers were sacrificed through this unhappy event. Captain Scott's report is fully concurred in by Captain David Hunter, nautical assessor, who assisted in the investigation.

ENGLAND AND THE SOUDAN.

ABYSSINIAN ASSISTANCE SECURED.

The King of Abyssinia has agreed to Admiral Hewett's proposals to invade the Soudan for the relief of the Egyptian garrisons, and assist them to withdraw through Abyssinia.

A NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENT ARRESTED.

The Dublin Express says James O'Kelly, M. P., who went to the Soudan as correspondent of the London News, has been arrested by the Egyptian authorities. Suspicious documents were found in his possession, among them letters from Frenchmen to the Mahdi.

ARRIVAL OF SHENDY REFUGEES.

A Cairo despatch says troops from Shendy have arrived at Korosko. They lost fifty-five men on the journey.

FRATERNIZING WITH THE REBELS.

The troops at Berber have fraternized with the rebels. The condition of affairs excites the deepest concern. The inhabitants are fleeing from the place, and it will be deserted in a few days. A despatch from Berber states that four brigades of Bashi Bazouks and five hundred soldiers have joined the rebels.

GIFT TO THE MECHANICS' INSTITUTE LIBRARY.—Hon. Billa Flint has presented to the Belleville Mechanics' Institute 21 volumes of the "Encyclomedia Britannia" edition of 1798.

TEACHERS' UNION.—The teachers of North and South Hastings will hold a union institute at Belleville on May 22nd and 23rd. Prof. Degroff, of Washington, D. C., will address them and deliver two public lectures.

FREE THOUGHT LECTURE.—Mr. Chancy, who was to have delivered a free thought lecture at Belleville on Thursday night under the auspices of the Secular and Literary Society, was denied the use of the City hall. It is probable that a law suit will be the consequence.

AN HONEST PULLMAN CAR PORTER.—Mr. Doupe, surveyor, lost his purse, containing $600, on the Pullman car between Ottawa and Deseronto on Friday. It was found by the porter of the car and returned to him at this city, whither he had come in search of it.

HASTINGS GRAND JURY PRESENTMENT.—The grand jury were discharged on Saturday after returning a true bill against Thomas Curry for attempted incendiarism. In their presentment they recommend the passage of a Dominion law for the equitable distribution of the estates of insolvent debtors amongst their creditors. There are twenty-six more cases to be disposed of at the assizes.

TRIAL OF DALY'S CONFEDERATE.

Egan, the supposed confederate of Daly, was arraigned at Birmingham on Saturday. The Crown prosecutor declared that Daly and Egan were accomplices. The police had found a tin can belonging to Egan containing treasonable documents. One, dated 1869, gives an explanation of the constitution of the Irish republic. Another is a manifesto proclaiming that in case England becomes involved in war Ireland must rise or Irish nationality will become a by word and reproach. The brethren are expected to provide themselves with arms to practice shooting, and subscribe money for war material. The police also found samples of cartridges and arms. Papers found on Daly contain the names and addresses of people in Brooklyn and New York. He asks that Egan be remanded for another week that Daly and Egan could be arraigned together. The reuqest was granted.

RECORD OF THE BROTHERHOOD FOUND.

A tin can was found in Egan's garden. In it was a book containing the rules of the brotherhood. Among other things members are required to subscribe three pence monthly for the purchase of war materials and one penny monthly for working expenses. Centres were to buy the war materials and the members to learn to fire well and rapidly. The record showed that the brootherhood had 8,204 old and new rifles and revolvers.

This will shorten up any possible present route available to the Grand Trunk by at least twenty miles.

A Widow's Sad Case.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Mrs. Ella Brenn, a Boston widow, took rooms at the Hotel Royal a few days ago. She ordered several bottles of wine and beer, and invited the barber and bell boy to her room to help drink them. The woman drank so heavily she lost consciousness, and on recovering she discovered her diamond earrings, watch and money were missing. The barber and bell boy were arrested, and the watch found in a pawnshop yesterday. The culprits are in gaol.

REVIEWS.

A STUDY OF "THE PRINCESS."—This little work will be read with much interest by admirers of Tennyson. Mr. S. E. Dawson, in this "Study," throws a light upon the plan and true meaning of this poem, which has been so much misunderstood and so mistakenly criticised. Besides an able analysis of the poem as a whole, Mr. Dawson discusses some of its beauties in an appreciative spirit. In the appended "Notes" he elucidates some verbal difficulties and obscurities, and points out some interesting parallelisms. A letter from Tennyson, which is embodied in the preface, is a valuable portion of this little book, as it gives us a vivid glimpse into the mind of the poet, and even lets us see the mental processes from which originated the finished beauties of his poems. Such details must always be of extreme interest alike for the student of literature and of humanity. Mr. Dawson's work is another proof that "culture" is not so rare in this country as careless observers sometimes assume. It is not strange that a second edition has been required. The publishers, Dawson Bros., of Montreal, have done their share to make this book attractive.

GEN. GORDON.—Some weeks ago we read an interesting pamphlet on the life of General Gordon (The Life of "Chinese" Gordon, R.E., C.B. By Charles H. Allen, F. R. G. S., Secretary of the British and Foreign Anti-Slavery Society). It attained in England an enormous circulation in a very short time. We are pleased to be able to say that it is now published in Canada (Toronto: William Briggs, 78 and 80 King street east), for the small sum of five cents. To those who are unable to obtain the larger volumes by Dr. Hill, Egmont Hake and Archibald Forbes, lately published, this little twenty-six-paged pamphlet will give a very excellent idea of the character of the wonderful General now in so precarious a position at Khartoum. The biographer keeps himself well out of sight; culls largely and judiciously from Gordon's own writings, and is happily free from the habit of moralizing, to which perhaps the intensely religious cast of "Chinese" Gordon's character has laid him more than ordinarily open. We heartily recommend the book.

CAMPBELLFORD.

CRICKET CLUB.—At the annual meeting of the Campbellford Cricket Club the following officers were elected for the current year:—President—R. W. Turner. Vice-President—C. S. Gillespie. Sec.-Treasurer—D. J. Lynch. Managing Committe—Messrs. A. L. Colville, G. Eakins, T. Tait, and J. Abbott. Committee for selecting members of match teams—Messrs. R. Bonnycastle, E. Nancarrow, and E. Denmark. Captain—R. Bonnycastle. The Secretary was instructed to correspond with outside clubs with a view to arranging a match in Campbellford for the Queen's Birthday. Several prominent citizens have made liberal subscriptions in support of the club. The prospects of a good cricket season are excellent, and the club hopes that their efforts will merit the moral and material support of the citizens.

COBOURG.

FIRE.—About nine o'clock on Sunday night, an old building adjoining Victoria College, formerly used as a laboratory, was discoved to be on fire. The steamer was promptly on hand and succeeded in confining the fire to the burning building and thereby saving the College from destruction. The fire was, without doubt, the work of an incendiary. There must have been three thousand people present to witness the conflagration. The property was insured.

CURRENT PUBLIC SENTIMENT CULLED FROM OUR CONTEMPORARIES.

FROM FRYING PAN TO FIRE.

How happy Manitoba would be as one of our Territorial sisterhood.—N. Y. Morning Journal.

A PARADISE UNDER SNOW.

Despite all that Messrs. Blake and Mackenzie once said in favour of the South and in disparagement of the North-West, the latter is going ahead at a greater ratio than ever, while reports of heavy snowstorms in Kansas, as late as April 21, must deter any who might have been influenced by Mr. Blake's puffery of the climate from changing in that direction.—London Free Press.

FOULING THEIR OWN NEST.

Ever and anon certain Grit organs grow hilarious over the unfounded rumour of Indian troubles in the North-West. Far be it from us to suppose that they sigh to see the scalping begin, but they are not so absorbed in their hatred of Sir John that they lose sight of the damage likely to be done our common country abroad by their acceptance of such rumors for ascertained facts. They have probably no desire to foul their own nest, but they defile it in forgetfulness of the fact that it is their nest. We beseech them to abandon this miserable mood of mind, in which they are led to discredit their country abroad and disgrace their party at home.—Toronto World, (Ind. Reform).

ALARMING FIGURES.

The Globe has an editorial upon "Some Alarming Figures." The article does not say so; but perhaps the most alarming figures the Globe ever saw were those which indicated the division on Blake's last amendment—128 to 35.—Hamilton Spectator.

FIGHTING SHADOWS.

The Dominion Parliament cannot go beyond the limits of the written constitution which brought it into being. An unconstitutional act of the House of Commons is a source of danger to no one, because when it is declared to be so it ceases to have any effect.

This being the case, it is a pity that the House should waste in fighting shadows valuable time which should be devoted to really important business.—Sherbrooke Gazette.

THE SS. "STEINMANN" DISASTER.

The Result of the Official Investigation—The Captain's Responsibility.

HALIFAX, N.S., April 27.—Captain Scott, R.N., by whom the official investigation was held into the loss of the steamer "Daniel Steinmann" off Sambro, has received information from Ottawa giving permission to make public his report. After briefly detailing the circumstances of the wreck, Captain Scott says: The master appears to have navigated his ship with all due care up to the time of his making the light, and by going aloft himself in the endeavour to make it, showed that he was cautious. It will be seen in the evidence that the master had no observations that day, and was, therefore, uncertain as to his position, and by his own statement that the night was dark, foggy and rainy, that where the soundings were irregular it was highly imprudent under all these circumstances to attempt to enter the port of Halifax. It was clearly his duty to have hauled off shore until he was able to verify his position and obtain a pilot. To this circumstance alone can be attributed the loss of that fine ship, and the lives of 124 passengers were sacrificed through this unhappy event. Captain Scott's report is fully concurred in by Captain David Hunter, nautical assessor, who assisted in the investigation.

IN MEMORIAM.

ON THE DEATH OF LITTLE LILLY GARLICK, WHO DIED APRIL 7TH, 1884.

O, fare thee well! fare thee well, Lilly, sweet darling,
This world was too cold for a flower so fair;
May the blessings of Heaven, interwoven as a garland,
Be a crown for thy brow on eternity's shore.

Could the heart of a friend stay the hand of grim death,
And save from his grasp thy innocent life,
Oh, quickly would I as a shield place my breast,
And conquer that tyrant or die in the strife.

But since it was God who called on His own,
His mercy and blessings in full to bestow,
Let us wipe off the tear and stifle the moan,
For our loss is her gain, she is happy, we know.

O fairest! O purest! and dearest, sweet Lilly!
From thy place in high heaven remember thou me,
And petition our God that my heart grow not chilly,
Till He in His mercy does take me to thee.

As she locked up the grain and balanced the key on her fingers, her companion said:

"I must persuade Uncle Peyton to get some Black Spanish and a few Poland chickens."

"Oh, no! We don't want any black things; if they laid a dozen eggs a day, they could not make hens. We never raise a fowl that we cannot eat. I will give you all you desire of mine."

"Thanks! Shall I have the pleasure of seeing you to-morrow?"

"Yes, I will be here at the same hour. Now, I must go to the house, for I have a thousand things to do. Good-night."

"Good-night. Shall I be merciful? The poor fellow is ready to howl at the fabulous name, and I am ready to howl at the fabulous name, and I am ready to howl at the fabulous name, and I am

"Oh, no! We don't want any like if they laid a dozen end of his coat, and, readjusting them on his nose, addressed himself to his ward:

"There is an Eastern Indian tradition that a divinely appointed greyhound guards the golden herd of stars and sunbeams for the Lord of Heaven, and collects the nourishing rain-clouds, as the celestial cows, to the milking place. That greyhound was called Sarama. Will that suit you?"

She shook her head.

"The Greeks tell us of a dog which was kept in the temple of Æsculapius at Athens, and on one occasion, when a robber entered and stole the gold and silver treasures from the altar, the dog followed him for days and nights, until the thief, who could neither beat him away nor persuade him to eat meat, was captured and carried back to Athens. Now, dear, this was a very shrewd and courageous animal, and his name was Capparus."

"Why did not his owner change it for something handsome, after he performed such service?"

Regina spoke dubiously, and looked down at the new pet, who wagged his plumy tail as if to deprecate the punishment of such a title.

"When Pyrrhus died, his favourite and devoted dog refused to stir from the body, but when it was carried out of the house he leaped upon the bier, and finally sprang into the funeral pile, and was burned alive with his master's remains. This exceedingly faithful creature was Astus."

"Mr. Hargrove, are all the classic names so ugly?"

"I am afraid the little girl's ear is not sufficiently cultivated to appreciate them. I will try once more. The Welsh Prince Llwellyn had a noble deerhound, whom he trusted to watch the cradle of his baby boy while he himself was absent. One day, returning home, he found the cradle upset and empty, the clothes and the dog's mouth dripping with blood. Concluding that the hound had devoured the child, the father drew his sword and slew the dog, but a moment after the cry of the babe from behind the cradle showed him that his boy was alive. Looking around, the prince discovered the body of a huge wolf, which had entered the house to attack and devour the child, but which had been kept off and killed by this brave dog, who was named Gellert."

CABINET MAKING.

THE Reform journals are very busily employed just now upon the reconstruction of the Dominion Cabinet. Their labors are evidently self-imposed and uninvited; the Governor-General cannot have required their assistance, for he is too faithful to our constitution to ask advice from the Opposition while the Administration is still responsible for the conduct of public business; Parliament cannot have invited their aid, for two out of every three members of either House declare that they have no confidence in Mr. Blake and his followers; the people do not ask their services, for large as is the Conservative majority, fresh appeals to the electorate increase instead of diminish it. It is just possible that the Premier, always willing to receive information from all quarters, may have courted Opposition advice, but having such able lieutenants it is certainly not probable that Sir John Macdonald has been driven to solicit assistance from such a source.

The changes thus suggested comprise about a dozen of the Ministers, who they hope will be forced to retire through ill-health, incapacity, or quarrels with their colleagues. Nearly twice as many Conservative members are named for the vacancies, when they occur, and it is very satisfactory to learn from unfavorable witnesses that the party has such an abundance of good material to supply the places of the present leaders if the necessity should arise. By these multifarious prophecies the Reformers ensure a probability of being right in some one instance, and then there will be a chorus of "We told you so."

The amusing thing is that these Opposition reports of Cabinet changes are almost invariably accompanied by a reference to "a tottering administration." Now, if the word is rightly applied in this case, tottering must denote political strength. A Ministry with a majority of over two to one, that sees this majority steadily increased, that receives accessions from the Opposition on almost every important division, and that closes the session with a majority of 93 on a grave question of policy, may perhaps be said to totter, but Mr. Blake and his friends would be very glad to totter in the same way. It is true there was some "tottering" in a less recondite sense of the word, but it was on the other side of the House. Mr. Blake tottered between condemning railway grants as immoral and clamouring for more for Ontario, between grumbling at too much being given to Quebec and asking for more for Quebec, between vilifying all secret societies in a speech circulated in myriads through certain parts of the country and eating his words in letters to members of particular societies, and in a falsified version of his speech circulated where it would be most in favor. His supporters tottered throughout the session and in spite of party whips some of them were constantly joining the popular party, while so great was the final tottering that a score of Mr. Blake's scanty following were shaken clear over to the other side. Long may such tottering continue.

WHERE IS THE COMMISSION?

As we anticipated Mr. Mowat has not dared to appoint the Commission to inquire into the circumstances connected with the conspiracy of himself, his colleagues and their tools, to induce bribery. In a law court the mouths of those whom he was thus endeavoring to entrap are necessarily closed, while the precious band of informers, inciters to crime and perjurers, will have full scope, uncontradicted, except by their own varying account. Mr. Mowat may hope thus to snatch a verdict from which he may make political capital, but he dares not set in motion his Commission, which would take evidence from all sources, and before which award revelations might be made of the proceedings of his employees and especially of "one Lynch,"—the supplyer of the money—about whom the Attorney-General is so well informed, and who is now shrewdly suspected of being a detective in his employment. We doubt, indeed, if Mr. Mowat will ever venture to allow the Commission to investigate his doings and those of his colleagues. We know how by the withholding or the destruction of documents, by discreditable legislation and every possible dishonest device, they have impeded any inquiry into their frauds in Algoma.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

SHALL A PART OF WOLFE STREET BE GIVEN TO THE RAILWAY?

Street Watering and Street Improvements Asked For—The Renting of an Office—May 24th—The Agricultural Grounds.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening.

PRESENT—His Worship Mayor Cox, and Councillors Cahill, Davidson, Allen, Kelly, Green, Millar, Yelland, Douglas, Rutherford, Menzies, Kendry and Hartley.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Edg. Pearse and James Stratton, auditors, reported that they had examined the books and submitting financial statements. The receipts during the past year amounted to $113,814.91; expenditure, $113,801.69, leaving a balance on hand of $13.22. A statement of the assets and liabilities showed an excess of assets over liabilities of $1.88.—Finance Committee.

From P. H. Bryce, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, calling the attention of the Council to the necessity of establishing a Public Health Board for the Town.—Health Committee.

From James A. Hall and others, asking assistance for Isabella Drummond.—Charity Committee.

From W. Paterson & Son and others, asking to have Aylmer street, from Brock to Charlotte streets, watered, to be paid for by local tax.—Fire, Water and Gas Committee.

From James Stevenson and 104 others, asking the Council to grant the request of the Ontario and Quebec Railway for a portion of Wolfe street.—Received.

From Robert Harper and John Green, from Wm. Bennett, from N. T. Laplante, and from Smith & Peck (on behalf of E. Chamberlain), opposing the granting of the same request.—Received.

From H. C. Winch, Mrs. E. Chrowe, John Carlisle and others, Geo. W. Hall and others, Adam Hall and others, Geo. Loudon and Thos. Coe and others, asking for street improvements.

From Thos. Beavis, stating that he intended to enter an action against the Grand Trunk Railway on account of nuisance caused by whistling and smoke, and asking to be allowed to enter it in the name of the town.—Received.

From Jas. McAndrews, asking to rent part of the old bank building.—Received.

From M. Cumming, submitting a bill, $6, for sheep worried by dogs.—Finance Committee.

From Mrs. J. E. Norris, asking assistance for a sick man.—Charity Committee.

From J. D. Craig, Secretary of the Fire Brigade, asking the Council to grant the use of the Agricultural Grounds to the Brigade for May 24th.—Received.

From J. E. McIntyre, stating that he had paid $100 for pool table licenses, and, in view of the Police Magistrates's decision, he applied for a rebate of $80.—Received.

From Henry Campbell, asking for nssistance.—Charity Committee.

From James Stevenson and others, asking to have the following streets watered, to be paid for by local tax:—Hunter street, from Aylmer to Queen; Simcoe street, from Aylmer to Queen; George street, from Murray to Charlotte; Water street from Brock to Charlotte; Brock street, from Aylmer to Water.—Fire, Water and Gas Committee.

—Adopted.

WOLFE STREET.

The Council went into Committee of the Whole on the second reading of the by-law closing up of a portion of Wolfe street, and the granting of the same to the Ontario and Quebec Railway, Councillor Menzies in the chair.

Mr. JOHN GREEN was heard and said that if the street was closed there would be no access to one lot which he represented and another would be rendered valueless.

Mr. A. P. POUSSETTE, on behalf of the Rev. Mr. Bennett, said that by the closing of the street Mr. Bennett's access to George street would be cut off. There was no provision made in the By-law, so far as he had heard, for compensation for those whose property was injured by the closing of the street. While they all acknowledged that the railway would benefit the town, it was unfair that a few ratepayers should suffer for the benefit of the whole town. It was important to have access to the chief thoroughfare of the town. He thought that the company never intended to place their station on the south side of the track. They wanted the street closed chiefly, he believed, so that they could allow trains to stand on it. The council should not pass the By-law until all who were injured were compensated. If the street was closed, the people living on Wolfe street would have much further to go to reach the steamboat warf. The benefit to the railway would be at least $1,000 a year, and they should not receive that benefit without those persons whose propert ywas injured being compensated.

Mr. N. T. LAPLANTE said that closing up the street would shut him out from his lot.

Mr. E. A. PECK, on behalf of Mr. E. Chamberlain, stated his objection to the closing of the street, namely, that it lessen the value of his property.

Mr. R. E. WOOD, on behalf of the Railway Company, said that lot 2, which it was said would be closed, had not been patented, and was now covered with water.

Mr. POUSETTE said that Mr. Laplante's claim had been allowed and he could get the patent at any time.

Mr. WOOD said that Mr. Harper's lot would not be entirely closed. He argued that Mr. Bennett could sell his lot for more now than before this railway was built. It was only 120 feet from Mr. Bennett's to Aylmer street, and the walks the company intended to build would make it easier for him to walk on George street. The trains could stand on the tracks five minutes, even if the street was not closed, and Mr. Bennett could in that time go around the block to get to the wharf. The company did not intend to close the street, as they would keep it open for their own convenience, but they wished to use it. If the request of the company was not granted, the company would build the station on the south side of the track, which would be a great inconvenience to all who had business there. The station would be placed as near the creek as possible, if the request was granted, and they were willing to put that in the By-law. There would then be 100 feet between George street and the station grounds. The company did not feel disposed to pay anything to anyone especially as no damage to anyone had been shown. Peterborough had not given anything to the railway although it was reaping a benefit from it already, as one shipper had told him that the Grund Trunk was willing now to make contracts for the future at lower rates. Mr. Chamberlain's lot was last of the road, on George street, and had been increased in value by the building of the road. He stated emphatically that unless the company got the street, they would build the station on the south side of the track, and they would commence soon.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said that the town had given the railway two acres of land.

Mr. GREEN said that the part of No. 2 lot which he spoke off had once been lived on. The access of Mr. Laplante's lot would be cut off, and the Council had no power to do that.

Councillor YELLAND said that the building of the railway had raised the value of the property and they now wanted the railway to pay because of the improvement.

The MAYOR said there was a feeling in town that, in the interests of both the town and railway, the street should be closed, and there was also a feeling that those whose property was injured should be compensated. A public thoroughfare through a station yard would be very dangerous. He would be in favor of the town remunerating the property owners, if the railway would not do it. He suggested that the By-Law be passed, with a clause added, that the amount of remuneration to be paid to property owners be settled by arbitration.

Councillor DAVIDSON moved, seconded by Councillor CAHILL,—That By-Law No. ——, entitled a By-Law for closing a portion of Wolfe street, be passed, subject to the following conditions, that is to say, that all parties having claims for damages by the closing of the street be settled by arbitration, they to choose one arbitrator, the railway company one, and the Mayor to act on behalf of the town, one half of the expenses and damages to be paid by the railway company and the other half by the town, and that said arbitration take place and that the award be given within a month.

Councillor CAHILL said that it had been shown clearly that it was in the interest of the town that the station should be on the north side of the railway track, and he thought that the town should bear half the expense of closing of the street. In view of the benefit the railway was to the town, no one would complain of this. As owner of Lot No. 5 he would suffer with the others if the value of the property was depreciated, but he did not know that he would suffer so much till he heard Mr. Poussette's arguments, and if he had to appoint an arbitrator he would certainly ask that gentleman to act for him. He believed that both the town and company would forever regret it if the station were not built on the north side of the track, and that being the case he thought it only fair that the damages to be paid should be borne equally by the town and the company.

Mr. POUSSETTE contended that Mr. Bennett's property would be materially injured. He did not think that the company would build the station on the south side of the track.

Mr. J. R. BARBER, railway engineer, said that the original plan for the station placed it on the south side of the track. He had instruction to go on with the work in accordance with that plan if this By-law was not passed.

After further discussion, councillor Davidson's motion was put and carried.

The Committee then rose and reported progress, it being understood that clauses would be prepared and added to the By-law based on Councillor Davidson's resolution.

A REFUND ON POOL TABLES.

Councillor KELLY moved, seconded by Councillor RUTHERFORD,—That the Treasurer be authorized to issue his cheque for $80, being the amount he was overcharged on billiard table licenses.—Carried.

A CASE FOR CHARITY.

The Rev. J. W. R. BEUK was heard in reference to a case in which charitable assistance was asked.

A grant of $3 a week was made until further notice.

STREET WATERING.

Councillor GREEN moved, seconded by Councillor MILLAR,—That in the event of an insufficient number of signatures being found on the petitions asking for street wate ing, the Clerk be authorized to allow the petitions to be withdrawn in order that more signatures might be obtained.—Carried.

RENTING A STORE.

Councillor MENZIES moved, seconded by Councillor RUTHERFORD,—That the store lately occupied by Messrs. McDermid & Hendrie be let to Mr. James McAndrews at the rate of $6 a month, he to leave it any time on receiving two weeks notice.

Mr. JAS. STEVENSON said he would give $8 for it.

Councillor MILLAR suggested that the matter be left to the committee that had charge of the property.

Mr. MCANDREWS said he was willing to pay $8.

Councillor CAHILL suggested that the matter be referred to the committee, and that they go on with their investigation. He thought the town offices should be moved to the building as soon as it could be prepared.

The resolution was amended by making the rent $8, and was carried.

AN ALLEGED NUISANCE.

Mr. JAS. STEVENSON again complained of an alleged nuisance in a house on Aylmer street occupied by Italians.

THE AGRICULTURAL GROUNDS.

Mr. E. B. EDWARDS, on behalf of the Boating and Cricket Club, who had applied for the Agricultural Grounds for the 24th of May, said said that since their petition had been put in the Fire Brigade had applied for the grounds, and perhaps the matter had gone too far for the Cricket and Boating Clubs to get them. He therefore asked that those clubs get the grounds for the first of July.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved seconded by Councillor MILLAR,—That the Street and Bridge Committee be empowered to remove the old fence and sheds on the three sides of the old burying ground, and have a suitable fence erected, and that they have trees planted on the south and east sides of the grounds.

The motion was carried on the following division:—

YEAS—Councillors Cahill, Millar, Yelland, Douglas, Rutherford, Kendry, Hartley and the Mayor.

NAYS—Councillors Davidson, Allen, Kelly, Menzies and Green.

Councillor KELLY moved, seconded by Councillor ALLEN,—That the drill shed grounds be granted to the Fire Brigade on May 24th, and to the Boating and Cricket Clubs on July 1st.—Carried.

MARKET SCALES.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor DAVIDSON,—That Councillors Millar, Rutherford and Davidson be a committee to purchase weigh scales for the market, that the Treasurer be authorized to pay for them on the order of the Committee, and that the Committee be authorized to dispose of the present scales.—Carried.

THE ORPHANS' HOUSE.

The MAYOR asked the Council to consider the question of exempting the residence of Mrs. Smith from taxation, as it was to be used for an orphan's home.

The matter was referred to the Court of Revision.

THE CLOSING OF THE STREET.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS,—That the By-Law in regard to Wolfe street be handed over to the Town Solicitor to prepare clauses in accordance with Councillor Davidson's motion, and to the effect that the station be built on the north side of the track.—Carried.

The Council adjourned at 11.30 o'clock until Tuesday evening.

FURNISHINGS

—IN—

All the Leading Styles.

POPULAR, NOBBY AND NICE.

To the Gentlemen of Peterboro'.

We are very glad to be able to state that a large proportion of you are regular customers, but to such of the gentlemen of this town who have been in the habit of doing that most foolish of all foolish things, namely, THROWING AWAY MONEY by paying far more than they ought for their goods, and, though giving exhorbitant prices, we would say, don't DO SO ANY LONGER. By dealing at the City Clothing Store you can always RELY on getting articles of FIRST-CLASS MAKE AND MATERIAL, of the NEWEST POSSIBLE DESIGN and at PRICES hitherto UNPRECEDENTED. Our stock in the undermentioned articles is carefully selected, and very complete, and every gentleman will need one or more of such goods:—

SHIRTS, TIES, GLOVES, CUFFS, COLLARS, UNDERWEAR, HANDKERCHIEFS, HOSIERY, &c.

IN MEMORIAM.

ON THE DEATH OF LITTLE LILLY GARLICK, WHO DIED APRIL 7TH, 1884.

O, fare thee well! fare thee well, Lilly, sweet darling,
This world was too cold for a flower so fair;
May the blessings of Heaven, interwoven as a garland,
Be a crown for thy brow on eternity's shore.

Could the heart of a friend stay the hand of grim death,
And save from his grasp thy innocent life,
Oh, quickly would I as a shield place my breast,
And conquer that tyrant or die in the strife.

But since it was God who called on His own,
His mercy and blessings in full to bestow,
Let us wipe off the tear and stifle the moan,
For our loss is her gain, she is happy, we know.

O fairest! O purest! and dearest, sweet Lilly!
From thy place in high heaven remember thou me,
And petition our God that my heart grow not chilly,
Till He in His mercy does take me to thee.

INFELICE.

By AUGUSTA J. EVANS WILSON.

Author of "St. Elmo," "Beulah," "Macaria,"

CHAPTER V.—CONTINUED.

She opened the door of a wired apartment beneath the pigeon-house, where in an adjoining division the pheasants were settling upon their perch, and carefully deposited the bouncing furry creatures upon a bed of wheat straw.

"Mr. Lindsay, the fowls are all going to roost, and you must wait till morning to see the squads and broods of Brahmas and Leghorns. They look like snowballs rolling about after their food."

As she locked up the grain and balanced the key on her fingers, her companion said:

"I must persuade Uncle Peyton to get some Black Spanish and a few Poland chickens."

"Oh, no! We don't want any black things; if they laid a dozen eggs a day they could not come here. We never raise a fowl that has coloured feathers; all our beauties must be like snow."

"I see you have converted my uncle to your pet doctrine, and before long I suppose you will persuade him to sell his pretty bay and buy a white pony?"

"No, sir; I like 'Sultan' too well to care much about his colour, and besides Mr. Hargrove is attached to him. There is one thing we both want very much indeed, and that is a white Ava cow. Your uncle read me a description of those cattle last week, and said when you went to the East he would ask you to try and send him one."

As he looked down at her perfect face, then at one of the doves that had perched on her shoulder, and thought of treacherous swart Sepoys, of Bengal tigers, of all the tangled work that lay before him in Hindoostan jungles, a shadow fell over the young man's brow, and a dull pain seemed to tighten the valves of his heart. Just then his apointed lot in the Master's vineyard did not smile so alluringly as the sunny slopes of Eshcol; but he put aside the contrast.

"Regina, I saw Mr. Palma in New York."

"I hope he is well."

"He certainly looked so. Among other things he asked if the art of writing had been altogether omitted in your education. I told him I was unacquainted with your accomplishments in that line, as I had written you two letters that remained unanswered."

"But your mother thanked you for them, in my name."

"Which was very sweet and good in my dear mother, but questionably courteous in you. Mr. Palma sent you a present."

"He is very kind indeed, but if I am expected to write and thank him I would much rather not receive it."

"Do you dislike him?"

"How could I dislike my mother's best friend? I daresay he has a good heart; of course he must have; but whenever I think of him I feel a queer chill creep to my very fingertips, as if the north wind blew hard upon me, or an iceberg sailed by."

"Guess what he has sent you."

"A copy-book, pen and ink."

"He is too polished a gentleman to punish you so severely. Come and let me show you his gift."

He led the way to the gallery in the rear of the house, and here they found Mr. Hargrove and Mrs. Lindsay admiring a young Newfoundland dog, which was chained to the balusters.

"Look, Regina! it is a waddling snow-bank! So round, so soft and white! Did he come from Nova Zembla or Hammerfest, or directly from 'Greenland's Icy Mountains'?"

"Mr. Palma looked all over New York and Brooklyn before he found a pure white dog to suit him. It seems he knew Regina's fondness for snowy pets, and this is the only Newfoundland I have ever seen who had not even a dark hair. Mr. Palma put this handsome collar and chain upon him and asked me to bring him to Regina. He will be very large when grown; now he is only a few months old."

Regina softly patted the woolly head, and her eyes glistened with delight.

"How did Mr. Palma guess that I wanted a dog?"

"He requested me to suggest something that would please you, and I told him that all at the Parsonage were grieving over the death poor old Biorn. He immediately decided to send you a dog, and this is a noble, sagacious creature."

"What is his name?

"That is left entirely to your taste; but I hope you will not go all the way to Greece to find a title, as you do for your classic panders."

"Then I will call him whatever Mr. Hargrove likes best."

As she spoke, Regina nestled her fingers into the pastor's hand, and he smiled down into her radiant face.

"My dear child, exercise your own preference. Have you no choice?"

"None."

"Suppose you name him 'Erl-King,' in compliment to Mr. Palma?"

"I should never dare to call him that; it would seem impertinent. He is such a splendid dog, I should like a fine, uncommon, grand name out of some of Mr. Hargrove's learned books."

"Oh, don't, Regina! It will be positively cruel to turn Peyton loose among his folios, and invite him to afflict that innocent orphaned brute with some dreadful seven-syllabled abomination, which he will convince you is Arabic, or Sanscrit,—classic or mediæval,—Gaelic, Finnish or Norse,—but which I warn you will serve your jaws (more elegant form—'maxillary bones') very much as an attack of mumps would, and will torture the victim into hydrophobia. Be pitiful, and say Teazer,—Tiger,—Towser,—but don't throw the sublime nomenclature of the classics literally to the dogs!"

"Now, mother, I protest against your infringement of Uncle Peyton's accorded rights. Be quiet, please, and let him give Regina a few historic names, from which she can select one."

Douglass passed his arm over Mrs. Lindsay's shoulder, and both watched the eager-intent face which the girl lifted to the pastor.

He took off his glasses, wiped them with the end of his coat, and, readjusting them on his nose, addressed himself to his ward:

"There is an East Indian tradition that a divinely appointed greyhound guards the golden herd of stars and sunbeams for the Lord of Heaven, and collects the nourishing rain-clouds, as the celestial cows, to the milking place. That greyhound was called Sarama. Will that suit you?"

She shook her head.

"The Greeks tell us of a dog which was kept in the temple of Æsculapius at Athens, and on one occasion, when a robber entered and stole the gold and silver treasures from the altar, the dog followed him for days and nights, until the thief, who could neither beat him away nor persuade him to eat meat, was captured and carried back to Athens. Now, dear, this was a very shrewd and courageous animal, and his name was Capparus."

"Why did not his owner change it for something handsome, after he performed such service?"

Regina spoke dubiously, and looked down at the new pet, who wagged his plumy tail as if to deprecate the punishment of such a title.

"When Pyrrhus died, his favourite and devoted dog refused to stir from the body, but when it was carried out of the house he leaped upon the bier, and finally sprang into the funeral pile, and was burned alive with his master's remains. This exceedingly faithful creature was Astus."

"Mr. Hargrove, are all the classic names so ugly?"

"I am afraid the little girl's ear is not sufficiently cultivated to appreciate them. I will try once more. The Welsh Prince Llwellyn had a noble deerhound, whom he trusted to watch the cradle of his baby boy while he himself was absent. One day, returning home, he found the cradle upset and empty, the clothes and the dog's mouth dripping with blood. Concluding that the hound had devoured the child, the father drew his sword and slew the dog, but a moment after the cry of the babe from behind the cradle showed him that his boy was alive. Looking around, the prince discovered the body of a huge wolf, which had entered the house to attack and devour the child, but which had been kept off and killed by this brave dog, who was named Gellert."

Fearing, from the expression of the girl's eloquent face, that Wales would win the game, Mrs. Lindsay exclaimed with an emphasis that made the dog prick up his ears:

"Gwrach Rhibyn—be merciful! The poor wretch looks as if he were ready to howl at the bare mention of such a heathen, fabulous name. Anything would be an improvement on the Welsh—Cambyses, Sardanapalus, are euphonic in comparison."

"Mr. Hargrove, I am much obliged to you for your goodness in telling me so much about celebrated dogs, and if the queer names sound any sweeter to me after I am well educated and grow learned, I will take one of them; but just now, I believe, I would rather call my dog Hero."

"Regina Orme! you benighted innocent! don't make Peyton's hair rise with horror at your slaughter of the 'unities. Why, my dear, Hero was a young lady who lived in Sestos a few thousand years ago, and was not considered a model of prudent behaviour even then."

"Are not brave, noble men called heroes? Did not Mr. Hargrove say last week that Philo Smith was a hero, when he jumped into the mill-pond and saved Lemuel Martin from drowning? Does not my history call Leonidas a hero?" I don't know exactly who the 'unities' are, but until I learn more, I intend to call my dog Hero. To me it seems to mean everything I wish him to be—good, faithful, brave, grand—and I shall call him Hero. Come along, Hero, and get some supper.

HEALTH HINTS BY AN M. D.

Springtime is the season that requires special exertions in the way of preserving the cleanliness of our homes. During the winter dirt has been accumulating everywhere about the house. There is any quantity of dust under the carpets in the best cleaned apartments; while in those that are not well cleaned there is dirt in every corner. The cellar has gathered considerable from the vegetables that were piled up in the autumn months, and have been disturbed almost daily during the winter. There is dirt at the back door, and considerable dirt in little heaps about the yard. But dirt and health are not companionable. If you want to live well, clean up your premises—inside and outside. The carpets should all be taken up and thoroughly beaten and dried, the windows should be taken out and washed; the stoves should be taken down and the chimney swept; the ceilings should be whitewashed, and the walls carefully brushed and wiped over. The cellar wants as thorough a cleaning as the bedroom, with a coat of whitewash after all is done, to freshen it up. The cistern should be emptied and scrubbed out. The yard should be carefully raked over, and the accumulated refuse buried or carted away, and all the closets and outhouses especially should be cleaned. There is only one warning that should be borne in mind by housekeepers; and that is, not to begin their cleaning up while the weather is cold. Open doors and windows, extinguished fires and damp, chilly air will provide more work for the doctors than leaving the house dirty a week or two longer.

When the weather is dull and gloomy, and there is no sunshine, the health of the community suffers. There is a deficiency of ozone, and people become dull and listless, as though they had been sitting up all night. The system gets "below par," and there is not that energy and ability to shake off common ailments that there is when people are in full vigor of health. Besides this, it is noticeable that absence of sunlight for any considerable length of time is usually followed by epidemics of some description. The inference from these facts is that sunshine is a thing to be sought after and enjoyed by those who would be in health. For man, and woman, and child, as well as for plants and trees, sunlight is necessary. Invalids improve most rapidly when the sunshine enters the sick room. The children are healthiest who live out of doors, and those ladies are usually the most robust and the least delicate who are not afraid of their faces being tanned by the sun's rays.

Foul clothing readily acts as a cause of disease. Body dresses and night clothes should be freely and frequently exposed to the action of the sun and air. They absorb the exhalations from the persons of those who use them, and not only become offensive to sight and smell, but especially injurious to health. Flannel underzarments especially should be often changed, and besides having at proper times through the washtub, should be often exposed to sunlight, or when that cannot be obtained, to dry heat.

SORE THROAT.—This common and painful affection may be readily cured by the prompt application of Hagyard's Yellow Oil, taking it internally at the same time according to directions. In croup, asthma, colds, swollen glands, rheumatism and other painful diseases it is equally efficacious.

THE International Exhibition was formally opened at Turin by King Humbert and Queen Margaret.

WHY go on day after day suffering with splitting headache when a bottle of Dr. Austin's Phospnatine will cure you? If you do not believe it ask your druggist for a circular, and read what those who have used it say about it. Price $1.00.

A CAIRO despatch says the Khedive is constantly receiving letters warning him that he is doomed to speedy death unless he abdicates.

THE FALSE PROPHET.—He who prophesies falsely of the weather, leaves off his flannels and overshoes, and catches cold, is indeed unwise. If you follow this false prophet your rescue lies in taking Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. It is the best cough cure and the safest throat and lung remedy known to medical science.

SANITARY INSPECTION. If you would avoid sickness clear away the filth and rubbish about your premises, establish proper drainage and admit pure air. The skin, kidneys and bowels are the sluiceways of the human body. Regulate these channels of health with Burdock Blood Bitters which act directly to purify the blood and regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys.

A CASE MUCH TALKED OF.—The case of Mr. John Morrison, of St. Ann's N.S., who was afflicted with a serious dropsical disease of the kidneys. The best medical aid having failed, his life was despaired of. Two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him. His statement is vouched for by J. D. McLeod, J.P., who knew of his condition. The cure is considered marvellous in his town.

THERE are lots of people going around grumbling, and half sick at the Stomach all the time; who might be well and happy, if they only use Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters occasionally. It is a splended Blood Purifier. All Druggists 50 cents.

MUCH IN A LITTLE.—Many proprietary medicines, if they c re at all, require such a large quantity to produce effect that it makes them very uncertain and expensive remedies. Not so with Burdock Blood Bitters. It is highly concentrated, and for all diseases of blood, liver and kidneys, one or two bottles will cure more than gallons of the weak mixtures usually sold. Send for facts and figures.

There is nothing so tempting and refreshing as ripe fruits products. To the young, the old, or middle aged alike, the Golden Fruit Bitters is a certain cure for General Debility or Weakness. Sold by all druggests.

BY the breaking of a bridge near Culdadreal this morning a train of passenger cars was precipitated into the river. Several persons are reported killed. Twenty received severe injuries. One of the supports of the bridge was afterwards found to have been cut through. It is believed the disaster was the result of malicious work.

THE Buenos Ayres Standard calls attention to the increasing material prosperity of the Argentine Republic. The receipts of wool, wheat and linseed are very heavy, the clip of the first named being placed at 20,000 bales in excess of last year. At the adjourned Easter vestry meeting of St. John's Church on Monday evening, the auditors presented their report, which, with the financial statement, was adopted.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto observatory, are as follows: Winds mostly north and east, fine weather, stationary or slightly higher temperature.

Buggy Recovered.

Mr. E. Dunford returned from Thanet, Hastings County, on Monday night, where he had gone to look after a buggy, harness and robe hired at his livery stable by John Boyd, who is now awaiting his trial on a charge of larceny. Mr. Dunford got the buggy and harness, but did not recover the robe.

Concert.

A concert was held in the school room of St. Luke's Church on Monday evening, under the auspices of the Temperance Society. It was well attended, and, like the many similar concerts held in the church, was very successful. The programme was an excellent one, and was carried out in a very creditable manner.

Dislocation and Fracture.

A very painful accident occurred to Ethel Goodfellow, a child two years and six months old, on Saturday afternoon. The child was about to take a ride with her grandfather, Mr. Wm. Brouncombe, and had got into the buggy, but while it was being backed out of the barn she fell out. Her weight fell on her arm, breaking it above the elbow and dislocating the elbow joint. Dr. Burritt attended to the injury, and the sufferer, who bore the pain of the operation of setting the bones like a little heroine, is now doing well.

Railway Notes.

The iron will all be laid on the Ontario and Quebec Railway inside of a week.

The Montreal Witness says that the troubles of the Trunk line railways have become so grave that efforts are being made to secure the meeting of presidents next week. The opening of navigation complicates the situation.

Ballasting on the Ontario and Quebec is being pushed forward energetically. The western part of the section superintended by Mr. J. R. Barber—about forty miles—is all ballasted, and on the portion of the section east of Peterborough it is being rapidly completed.

What is Life?

The present life is sleeping and waking; it is "good night" on going to bed, and "good morning" on getting up; it is to wonder what the day will bring forth; it is to sit near the stove and hear it rain on the window; it is to walk in the garden and see the flowers in the height of their perfection and bloom and hear the birds sing; it is to read new books; it is to have Sundays, and hear good sermons and sweet sacred music; it is to sit in the twlight and meditate; it is to have breakfast, dinner and tea; it is to have friends and love, and with some men it is to be kissed with the same loving lips for many years; it is above all other things to wear good fitting clothes, which can be found by paying a visit to ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, George Street.

STRAY SHOTS:

Notes of the Saved Army, their Meetings and Sayings.

There was a fair attendance at the meeting on Tuesday night.

Lieut. A. Gall read a portion of scripture and commented upon it.

The time for the commencement of the meetings has been changed from 7.30 to 8 o'clock.

A business meeting will be held on Wednesday evening.

Lieut. Gall left for Ottawa to-day, where he will assist in commanding the Army.

According to the Messenger, the Army in Millbrook had, up to last week, 150 converts.

POLICE COURT.

OBSTRUCTING A STREET.

TUESDAY, April 29.—The case of Beavis vs. Brundrett, for obstructing Bethune street, by allowing cars to stand on a siding, was again called.

Mr. E. B. Edwards appeared for Mr. Beavis, and Mr. E. H. D. Hall for the defence.

Mr. HALL asked for further enlargement of the case until Friday, and, after some discussion the enlargement was granted.

INJURY TO PROPERTY.

Michael Leveck charged Henry Sovais with having maliciously injured a fence belonging to him. The fence was between properties owned by Leveck and Sovais.

The defendant did not appear. The evidence of three witnesses was heard, and the case was adjourned until Wednesday morning.

License Commissioners.

The Provincial License Commissioners for the West Riding held a meeting on Monday afternoon, and after transacting some unimportant business, adjourned until Thursday.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Geo. J. Gumpricht, tuner for Messrs. Mason & Risch, Toronto, is in town for a few days. Orders left at Mr. T. Menzies' Bookstore, or Messrs. Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store, will be promptly attended to.

Exquisite New Window Shades

At A. CLEGG'S, any style or design, fitted complete; a splendid assortment to choose from. Leave your orders early, that you may have them put up as soon as house cleaning is done. Just what you want for summer, as the light does not penetrate them.

Lecture.

Prof. A. B. Kent will deliver a lecture this evening in the school room of the George Street Methodist Church, on behalf of the Mission School, on Experimental Philosophy. His lecture will be illustrated by telephones, Prof. Edison's wonderful invention the phonograph, electric machines, galvanic batteries, &c., and cannot fail to be interesting and instructive.

The Athletic Contest.

Messrs. E. W. Johnston and John Keating are not likely to be the only competitors in the athletic contest here on May 24th. Mr. J. A. Hewitt, of Toronto, writes stating that he desires to enter the competition, and asking who holds the articles of agreement. Mr. Hewitt will find the articles with Mr. Crawford of Barrie, the stakeholder.

Pencil Points.

—Cool weather.

—One tramp in the cells last night.

—The Firemen have the Agricultural Grounds for May 24th.

—The Council took a step last night in the direction of turning the Agricultural Grounds into a park.

—The cow by-law is still in force, as the owners of seventeen cows discovered to their cost yesterday.

—The Council was in session until 11.30 o'clock last night, and another meeting of that body will be held this evening.

—Mr. T. Menzies last week disposed of two through tickets to Brisbane, Queensland Australia, via San Francisco.

Personal.

Among those registered at the Grand Central Hotel are Prof. A. B. Kent, Newcastle; the Rev. W. Ottewell, Palmerston, and the Rev. J. H. Hilts, Kincardine.

A number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin assembled at the Midland station on Monday afternoon, to see them depart for their home in Manitoba. The many friends of the recently wedded couple assembled in force to bid them God speed. Mr. Irwin is superintendent for the Fort Francis and Rainy River Lumbering Company, and he took some 18 men with him, who will be employed on the timber limits and in the saw mills of the Company.

On Saturday the Misses Roger departed from Peterborough for Australia, where they will join relatives in that antipodean British colony. Mr. G. M. Roger accompanied them on a portion of their long journey. Miss Roger will be greatly missed in charitable and church circles in Peterborough. She was an active member of the committee of the Protestant Home, and was secretary of that institution for a number of years, and was a very useful member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Before leaving Peterborough Miss Roger was presented with a handsome travelling dressing case by the committee of the Home, and also with an elegant gold broach by the teachers of St. Paul's Sabbath school.

Buckien's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by Taylor & Macdonald.

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of liver, kidney or stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure, and you will be well rewarded for your trouble besides. All blood diseases, biliousness, jaundice, constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

COBOURG.

CRICKET CLUB.—At the annual meeting of the Cobourg Cricket Club the following were elected officers for the ensuing year:—Patrons, Col. Chamblis, Col. J. V. Graveley, Messrs. G. Guillet, M.P., R. Mulholand, M.PP., Capt. Walker, and F. W. Barron, M.A. President, Mr. W. Hargraft; Vice-President, Messrs. E. O. Osler and Jos. Henderson; Secretary, Mr. J. D. Hayden; Treasurer, Mr. A. R. Hargraft; Ground Committee, Messrs. Routh, Wind, Sailsbury, Boswell, and Osler.

Turnips.

Another supply of turnips at CARTON BROS.

Window Blinds.

With new and handsome dados, at A. CLEGG'S.

Fish.

A supply of Fresh Fish, by express to-day, April 23rd, at CARTON BROS.

Summer Drinks.

Messrs. Long Bros. have put the soda water fountain in operation for the season. Call and get a refreshing drink of this delicious beverage.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold. A few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1 00. If your lungs are sore, chest or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster Sold by J. D. Tully.

A New Principle.

The principle upon which Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor acts is entirely new. It does noes not sink deep into the flesh, thereby producing soreness, but acts directly upon the external covering of the corn, separates it from the under layer, removes the direct pressure from the pars, and at once effects a radical cure, without any pain or discomfort. Let those who are suffering from corns, yet sceptical of treatment, try it, and by the completeness of the cure they will be ready to recommend Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor to others.

A MADRID despatch says it has been ascertained that the conspirators intended to cause a simultaneous Republican uprising in Catalonia, Valencia, and throughout the southern provinces.

Can't Be Beaten.

It is a fact that Nerviline cannot be surpassed by any combination for the relief of pain. The reason is a good one. Nerviline contains the best, most powerful, and the latest discovered remedies. It is a magic pain cure. Rheumatism, stiff neck, cramps, neuralgia, colic, in fact all pain, internal, external, and local, are subdued in a few minutes. Go at once to Ormond & Walsh's drug store and get a trial bottle. It will only cost you 10 cents, and you can at a small cost test the great pain cure, Polson's Nerviline. Large bottles only 25 cts.

A Run on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any drug store as now at Taylor and McDonald's for a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. All persons affected with asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, severe coughs, or any affection of the throat or lungs, can get a trial bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at the above drug store. Regular size $1.

Salt Rheum Cured

Are you troubled with Salt Rheum? Rough Skin, Pimples or Canker Sores; if so go at once to John McKee's drug store and get a package of McGregor and Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Price twenty-five cents. It was never known to fail.

Fluid Lightning.

WIFE.—What's the matter now John?

HUSBAND.—Oh, that neuralgia and toothache near kills me.

WIFE.—Why don't you go to John McKee's drug store and get a bottle of Fluid Lightning, you know it cures all such things as toothache, neuralgia, headache, lumbago, ear-ache, sore throat etc. It gives instant relief.

DO YOU FEEL PLAYED OUT?—If so, try a bottle of Golden Fruit Bitters. It is a simple tonic, pleasant to take, and will make you feel like a "new man." Sold by all druggists.

Bass & Co., Burton-on-Trent, India Pale Ale now on draught, at Chamberlain's Restaurant—direct importation.

NOTICE.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Indian Supplies," will be received at this office up to noon of THURSDAY, 1st MAY, 1884, for the delivery of the usual Indian Supplies, duty paid, in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, consisting of Flour, Bacon, Groceries, Ammunition, Twine, Oxen, Cows, Bulls, Agricultural Implements, Tools, &c.

Forms of Tender and full particulars relative to the Supplies can be had by applying to the undersigned, or to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Regina, or to the Indian Office Winnipeg.

Parties may tender for each description of goods separately or for all the goods called for in the Schedules.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted Cheque of a Canadian Bank, for at least five per cent. of the amount of the tenders for Manitoba, and ten per cent. of the amount of the tenders for the North-West Territories, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

Tenderers are required to make up and attach to their tender the total money value of the goods they offer to supply, or their tender will not be entertained.

The Tender for Beef must be a separate tender; if it includes any other article it will not be considered.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30, 1884.

THE CONSPIRACY CASE.

The defendants in the conspiracy case, Messrs. Meek, Wilkinson, Bunting and Kirkland, were arraigned at the assizes at Toronto on Tuesday. The counsel for the defendants demurred to the indictment, and the case will be removed to the Court of Queen's Bench by writ of certiorari.

Physical Science.

Prof. A. B. Kent gave a lecture on Tuesday evening in the school room of the George street Methodist Church on the above subject which was attended with great success. The first part of his lecture was illustrated with the cylinder battery, with which he experimented. Amongst the numerous and varied experiments performed by the lecturer, some were of an eminently practical character, one especially showed the caution necessary in erecting a lightning rod. Filling a miniature model house with a mixture of hydrogen and air, the lecturer applied an electric spark to a properly attached conductor without any injury resulting. On placing a non-conducting medium, such as glass, however, beneath the conductor, the side of the house was immediately shattered. The lecturer from this showed the necessity of placing the termination of the conductor in a conducting medium, and recommended a well as the best locality in which to place the terminal portion. He deprecated also the use of two conductors in proximity to each other.

Amongst other amusing incidents many persons were electrified and about thirty pocket knives were magnetized by the induction coil much to the gratification of their owners.

Edison's wonderful Phonographer was used during the evening to the amusement of the audience and the lecturer closed by the setting out of a baloon from the church grounds.

The lecture was highly interesting and instructive throughout both for young and old, and was listened to with an attention engendered by the recognition of its being a rarity.

Entertainment.

On Tuesday evening an entertainment was given by the Band of Hope in connection with St. John's Church, in the Sunday School. The proceedings were commenced by Messrs. Lech and Choate, of the St. John's Church choir, singing a duet, Miss Tate playing the accompaniment. A series of three tableaux was given from "Bluebeard," representing "The Giving of the Key," "The Discovery," and "Bluebeard's Rage," the tyrant and his last wife being represented by Alex. Millar and Gussie Mathias, and the former wives by Ada Sherwood, Amy Halliday, Millie Beck, Chattie Errett, Edith Pearse, and Edith and Lizzie Brown. Another tableau was the "Soldier's Farewell," represented by Ada Sherwood and Harry Rogers. There was also a double tableau of "The Two Sides of Life," by Millie Beck and Edith Pearse. The final performance was a charade "Much Coin Much Care," the characters being taken by Edith Pearse, Millie Beck, Edith Brown and Walter Revell. In the intervals of the tableaux there were recitations, readings and songs by Maggie and Lillie Pratt, Alice Cocks, Florence Charman and Arthur Higham, the whole concluding with the singing of "God Save the Queen" by the performers. The entertainment was very creditable to these juvenile performers, especially the tableaux, which were well designed and carried out. The large audience was well pleased, not only the children, but the spectators of more mature age expressing their warm appreciation.

A Cairo despatch says, it is stated that Osman Digma has sent a message to King John threatening to attack Abyssinia, unless the Christains become Mussulmans.

THE POLICY OF DYNAMITE.

A NEW DYNAMITE AND DAGGER CAMPAIGN.

An Irishman in Paris states that an emissary of the Clan-Na-Gael has arrived in Paris from New York to buy a cruiser provided with torpedoes. Tynan is expected in Paris shortly, where he and O'Cafferty will direct a dynamite and dagger campaign. The acting agent of the new party, which aims to unite all patriotic Irishmen, says the party has already considerable funds with which to begin the campaign with cruisers provided with torpedoes. Revolving guns will protect the crew if attacked. These vessels will be employed against British men-of-war in various harbours.

INFERNAL MACHINE DISCOVERED.

A box left by Nathan Fish, the supposed dynamitist who drowned himself in New York last week, was opened on Sunday, and found to contain a dangerous infernal machine.

PUBLIC MEETING.

At a meeting of the New York Dynamite Club on Sunday it was announced that a public meeting would be held in Cooper's Union on May 14th, the anniversary of Joe Brady's execution.

The Aguero Excitement.

HAVANA, April 28.—A large number of pasquinados have appeared here, some being distributed through the city, others posted on street corners. They call on the people to join the Aguero movement, and to assist in throwing off the Spanish yoke, all hopes of better government having vanished. It is reported that a number of persons have been arrested charged with distributing the treasonable paper.

The troops have not yet succeeded in annihilating the insurgents. A few of the latter that were killed have been replaced by new adherents.

The Spanish Railway Catastrophe.

Thirty-eight corpses have been recovered from the railroad accident at Ciudad Real. The wreck lies in the river. Fifty soldiers are missing. It is believed the Republicans tampered with the bridge. The elections in the provinces were tranquil. The Opposition sent delegates to watch the procedure in each district, but these were everywhere obstructed by Government officials. In many districts the Liberal candidates seeing it would be impossible to maintain the fight withdrew from the contest. In the meeting of the Cortes, the Republicans will present a protest against the scandalous suppression of electoral rights.

One of the Best.

The proprietors of the Peterborough REVIEW have greatly enlarged the weekly edition of that journal, which now ranks second in size to but one or two weeklies published out side of the larger cities. It affords us much pleasure to note the success of our contemporary, which is one of the best of Canadian periodicals. Its editorials are terse and vigorous, and its local and news columns are well supplied, whilst for neatness of make-up and cleanness of printing it is unexcelled. Long may the REVIEW live to render valuable service to the Conservative party, as it has done for many years past.—Belleville Intelligencer.

The late Mrs. Bowell.

Hon. Mr. Bowell arrived at Belleville on Monday with the remains of his late wife, which having been embalmed presented quite a natural appearance. Accompanying him were Mr. Jno. M. Bowell and wife, Mr. J. C. Bowell, Miss Bowell, and Miss Hickey. A number of prominent gentlemen have arrived in town for the purpose of attending the funeral, among them being Messrs. M. P. Ryan, Wolff, and D. Sinclair, Montreal; Capt. E. Harrison, Jas. Johnson, and Jno. Askens, of Ottawa. The floral decorations sent from Ottawa, Montreal, and Toronto are very beautiful. Mr. Bowell is suffering from neuralgia.

A Colossal Failure.

ST. LOUIS, April 28.—The failure of Moses Fraley, a prominent grain and stock speculator, was announced this afternoon for a large amount. It is stated that he was short about seven million bushels of wheat and corn in Chicago. His losses on this were upwards of $400,000. It is also said he was short a large amount of wheat in New York and lost $190,000 in Union and Texas Pacific. He is said to have made some $300,000 on wheat and corn by the last big break in prices in Chicago. Since then a combination was formed against him which was too strong for him.

Reduced Telegraph Rates.

The Western Union Telegraph Company announces a reduction in night rates to fifteen cents for ten words, and a cent for each additional word between all competitive points east of the Missouri river. The Bankers and Merchant's Company made a uniform night rate of fifteen cents a fews days ago. The Baltimore & Ohio will offer to send night messages at the rate of fifteen words for fifteen cents and a cent for every additional word.

Leo XIII's Encyclical.

Before issuing the recent encyclical on the Freemasons, the Pope had elaborate reports furnished him by Cardinal Sacconi, Dean of the Sacred College, and by the renegade Mason. The Pope stated in the presence of several cardinals:—"I have reason to believe that the Freemasons, and various societies which are affiliated to or result from them, are strong numerically among Catholics in both hemispheres."

SONNET ON THE LATE PRINCE LEOPOLD.

The following graceful sonnet to the memory of the late Duke of Albany, is by sheriff Spens, Chess Editor of the Glasgow Weekly Herald:—

IN MEMORIAM.

Three of the royal group have gone before
The Lady of the Throne: first passed the grand
And gentle presence which illumed the land
So modestly till he was no more
We dreamed not half the loss we should deplore;
Then she who tended him with tender hand
Through the sad hours when life ebbed sand by sand,
As sweet a flower as Royal stem e'er bore.
And now once more does Britain's single heart
Throb with a sense of weary void and pain;
Lover of Good, of Science and of Art,
We saw the father in the son again
And hailed the promise of the coming years!
May God assuage the wife's and mother's tears!

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain and cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething. Its value is incalculable It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the perscription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. # Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30, 1884.

ASHAMED OF ITS RECORD.

THE leading Reform journal seems to be heartily ashamed of its past record, and indeed to be prepared to disavow its former utterances without much regard for truth. The Mail having quoted from it some paragraphs which the Globe now finds inconvenient, it denied the correctness of the quotation. Then the Mail gave the paragraph and its context in full, showing that they were from the Globe's special correspondent in London. The Reform organ thereupon, with strange audacity and a display of ignorance of the meaning of words, calls this "disreputable garbling," and repudiates any responsibility for the utterances which were given to the world as coming from its special correspondent, and were dignified with a prominent position and double leaded type. It is difficult to tell which is greatest, the ignorance, the dishonesty, or the inconsistency of the Globe.

HISTORY MIS-READ.

THE "Tory hatred of the working classes," is the subject of a recent article by the leading organ of the so-called Reformers of Canada. An absurd and dishonest endeavour is made therein to persuade "the working classes" that the Conservatives, both here and in the mother country, are their natural enemies. The "working classes" are not so ignorant as to be thus led astray. They know that in the old country it was not the Reformers but the Conservatives who passed the various Factory Acts and kindred legislation to protect employees from the rapacity of their employers; that it was the Conservatives who gave so many working men votes by a wide extension of the franchise. They know, too, that in this country it was the Conservatives who, by introducing the Factory and Franchise Bills, have forced Mr. Mowat, much against his will, to take some steps in the same direction, and that it was the Conservatives who adopted the present fiscal policy, giving employment to Canadian operatives, in spite of the vehement and continued opposition of the so-called Reformers, who preferred to give to foreigners all the profits of manufacturing for the people of Canada. It was not Conservatives, but Reformers, who would send Canadian working men into the streets or into the workhouse instead of protecting their productions and giving them employment. It was not Conservatives, but Reformers, who sent working men to prison for refusing to work upon terms unsatisfactory to them, and it was a Conservative statesman, Sir John A. Macdonald and his party, who repealed the obsolete law which made such an outrage possible, and protected its victims against such tyranny. It is vain to attempt to persuade Canadian working men that the Conservatives are not their true friends.

REVIEWS.

HARPER'S MONTHLY.—The May number of Harper has for its frontispiece a beautiful engraving from a drawing by Howard Pyle, "Among the Daffodillies." The same gentleman contributes the appropriate opening paper, "A May-day Idyl of the Olden Time," with other illustrations from his pencil. A. F. Jacassy also acts the same double part in his illustrated description of "Kairwan, the Holy City of Tunis," so little known to Christians. E. Ingersoll continues his lively account of the country "From the Fraser to the Columbia," a region to which new interest is being attracted as it is being rendered more accessible by the Canada and Northern Pacific Railways. Col. Higginson takes this time for the subject of his sketch of early American History, "The Era of Good Feeling under the Presidency of Munroe," with portraits of him, Rufus King and Henry Clay. Dr. Moritz Busch gives a biographical sketch of "Kaiser Wilhelm," and Prof. Mahaffy of "Dr. Schliemann," both extraordinary men in their widely different spheres. There is an interesting description of "The Bank of England," by W. H. Rideing. "Control of the Dangers from Defective Vision," by Dr. Jeffries, treats of the strange phenomena of color blindness. "The Thunderer of the Paris Press," gives the history of the Journal des Debats. The two continued tales, "Judith Shakespeare," by William Black, and "Nature's Serial Story," by E. P. Roe, both grow in interest. Shorter tales, some excellent poetry, and the ever-attractive editorial miscellanies complete an admirable number.

A PORTION OF A STREET

CLOSED AND GIVEN TO THE ONTARIO AND QUEBEC RAILWAY COMPANY.

The By-law Passed by the Council—The Railway wish to Purchase a Lot—Street Watering—The Fire Hall Telephone—Miscellaneous Matters.

The meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday evening, according to adjournment.

PRESENT.—Councillors Cahill, Davidson, Allen, Green, Kelly, Yelland, Millar, Douglas, Rutherford, Kendry and Menzies.

In the absence of the Mayor, Councillor Kelly was called to the chair.

AN ACCOUNT.

An account for $14.20 was submitted from Messrs. Lochart & Chowan, and referred to the Finance Committee.

WOLFE STREET.

The Council went into Committee of the Whole on the second reading of the By-law to close a portion of Wolfe street and convey it to the Ontario and Quebec Railway Company, Councillor Allen in the chair.

The By-law provided that the Company should pay half the damage done to any property by the closing of the street, and half the expenses of an arbitration to determine the amount of damage, and also that the station should be built on the north side of the track and as near the creek as possible.

Councillor MENZIES opposed giving a warantee deed of the portion of the street to the company; he thought a quit claim deed would be all that they should give. He was also opposed to an arbitration, and if the company did not pay all the costs of the arbitration he would oppose the whole thing.

Councillor YELLAND suggested that a clause should be added to the effect that if the railway ceased to be used as such, the property would come into the possession of the town again.

Councillor RUTHERFORD suggested that a lease for 99 years be given.

A communication was read from Thos. Cahill, asking that his claim, as owner of Lot No. 5, be considered along with those of others who claimed that their property would be injured by the closing of the street.

Councillor CAHILL said that it had been stated that Lot No. 5 had been purchased for the railway company, and that he had no interest in it. He wished to clear that matter up, and he asked Mr. E. A. Peck, his solicitor, to state whether he knew who had purchased it.

Mr. PECK said that he had attended to the business for Mr. Cahill, and that the lot was purchased and paid for by Mr. Cahill and was deeded to him.

Mr. JOHN GREEN said that, were the Mayor appointed by the By-law as the third arbitrator, there would be two arbitrators appointed by those who were to pay the damages and one by those claiming damages. He thought that they should proceed in the usual form of arbitration. Mr. Laplante objected to arbitration altogether, and he asked whether any provision was made for the railway to pay the costs if any claimant should proceed by the usual legal process.

Councillor DOUGLAS said that they could not pass one By-law for Mr. Laplante and another for the remainder of the people.

Councillor CAHILL said that as a party interested he would be glad to have the Mayor as an arbitrator, but as others objected he thought it might be as well to change that, and he was sure that the Mayor would be glad to be relieved of the responsibility.

After considerable discussion as to the wording of parts of the By-law,

The Committee rose and reported the By-law read a second time, with verbal amendment.

The By-law was then read a third time, signed and sealed.

A TOWN LOT.

Mr. R. E. WOOD said that the Ontario and Quebec Railway Company would like to purchase lot No. 3, which was owned by the town. He had seen the Chairman of the Town Trust Commissioners, who said that he would like to have a resolution passed by the Council requesting the commission to sell it to the Company before they would do so.

Councillor MENZIES moved, seconded by Councillor RUTHERFORD,—That the Town Trust Commissioners be requested to sell lot No. 3, south of Wolfe street and west of George street, to the Ontario and Quebec Railway Company, at such price as may be agreed upon between the Commissioners and the Company.

Councillor CAHILL said that the lot was entirely under the control of the Commissioners, and he did not see the necessity for this motion. If the proposal was to give the lot to the railway he could understand it and would not object.

Councillor MENZIES said that if the Railway Company required it, and were willing to pay for it, they should get the lot.

After further discussion the motion was put and carried.

FIRE, WATER AND GAS.

Councillor RUTHERFORD read the report of the Fire, Water and Gas Committee, recommending that the telephone in the fire hall be retained for a year, to date from April 1st, and that the Treasurer issue his cheque for the same.

Councillor DAVIDSON contended that the Waterworks Company should pay for it.

Councillor KENDRY said that the telephone was for the convenience of the town, and the town therefore should pay for it.

Councillor DOUGLAS said that the Company had given water at fires where they were not bound to do so, and he thought they should not act in a niggardly spirit.

Councillor CAHILL supported the adoption of the report, as it was very necessary to have means of communicating with the wheel house.

The report was adopted.

TO MOVE A SIDEWALK.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor KENDRY,—That the Street Inspector be empowered to move the sidewalk on Smith street, between George and Water streets, to its proper place.—Carried.

STREET SPRINKLING.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor RUTHERFORD,—That the streets applied for by petition last evening to be watered, be watered, pending the action of the Fire, Water and Gas Committee.—Carried.

WASTE PAPER ON THE STREETS.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor KENDRY,—That the Constables be empowered to take steps to prevent merchants on George and other streets from throwing out waste paper on the streets.—Carried.

NEEDED FILLING.

Mr. H. DENNE was heard and asked the Council to have a hole on George street, near Smith street, filled up. He thought that when the Council was giving away the material gathered off the streets, they should have used some of it for this purpose.

The Council adjourned.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

CURRENT PUBLIC SENTIMENT CULLED FROM OUR CONTEMPORARIES.

A LAME ATTEMPT.

The Globe of Saturday makes a very lame attempt to defend Mr. Blake from the charge of inconsistency in his course in relation to the railway subsidies.

MR. BLAKE'S LAST STRAW

He talked of the robbery of the Dominion treasury by Quebec, and denounced railway subsidies on principle, yet he moved an amendment claiming a larger share for Ontario. This inconsistency was "the last straw," for even his own friends were disgusted, and Mr. Blake had to undergo the mortification of seeing seventeen of his supporters desert him and vote with the Government.—Winnipeg Times.

A CAPITAL SCHEME.

The Globe having, in its endeavor to bribe the Quebec members of Parliament, driven even the Grits of that Province over to the Government side, now turn its attention, once more, to fermenting discontent in the North-West. Capital scheme! Let the Globe stick to it and every man in the North-West will be contented and happy inside of a month.—Hamilton Spectator.

FACTIOUS REFORMERS CONDEMNED

The council of the Municipality of Lorne have joined the other bodies in the province in denouncing the anti-immigration resolution passed by the farmers' convention, which they declare was not a representative gathering of the farmers of the Province. Nearly every section of the Province has condemned the blundering convention.—Winnipeg Times.

SCATTERED IN THOUSANDS.

We understand that a private gentleman, in no way connected with politics, and who is one of the most vigorous writers and accomplished scholars in Canada, will shortly publish a reply to Mr. Blake's anti-secret society oration, which is being scattered in thousands all over the country.—Ottawa Citizen.

A New Principle.

The principle upon which Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor acts is entirely new. It does noes not sink deep into the flesh, thereby producing soreness, but acts directly upon the external covering of the corn, separates it from the under layer, removes the direct pressure from the pars, and at once effects a radical cure, without any pain or discomfort. Let those who are suffering from corns, yet sceptical of treatment, try it, and by the completeness of the cure they will be ready to recommend Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor to others.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successfu Cough Medicine we have ever sold. A few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1 00. If your lungs are sore, chest or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster Sold by J. D. Tully.

KING ALFONSO is prostrated by an attack of intermittent fever.

Another Victory.

A Startling Important discovery was made when, after long and patient experiments, the combination of Nerviline was reached. A grand victory indeed, for the suffering have an ever ready, prompt, efficient, and cheap remedy at hand. Do you know that for 10 cents you can buy a trial bottle of Polson's Nerviline and test its great power over pain of every description? Polson's Nerviline cures chills, pain in the stomach, side and back, rheumatism; in fact all pain. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

A FUTILE EFFORT.

One might fancy indeed that the feminine muse
Could respond to no theme but of lovers and love,
I shall claim the reverse, and a subject will choose
That Zeno himself might select and approve.

I shall speak of no tender-eyed youth, nor of maid,
With hair that is "puffy" and brilliant as day,
For if lovers, of course, there's no more to be said,
And if not in love, pray what is there to say.

I shall never allude to the moon or the night,
For even the stoic referred to above,
Might succumb in these days to the ravishing sight
Of moonlighted bangs on a maiden in love.

I'll not even mention those sylvan recesses
Where waters are heard in a dreamy refrain,
They're quite too suggestive of lover's caresses
For such a prosaic and rational strain.

"Magnetic emotions" discretion refuses,
(Though prized by the gushing and young) and to prove
My mission accomplished—O, bother the muses!
My song after all is of nothing but love.

Author of "St. Elmo," "Beulah," "Micaria,"

CHAPTER VI.

"Mrs. Orme, now that you are comfortable in your wrapper and slippers, let me take down your hair, and then I will bring you a cup of tea; not the vile lukewarm stuff they give us here, but good genuine tea made out of my own caddy, that has some strength, and will build you up. Rehearsals don't often serve you so badly."

"Thank you, Mrs. Waul, but the tea would only make me more nervous, and that is a risk I cannot afford to incur. Please raise both windows—fresh air, even Parisian air, is better for me than anything else."

"You have not seemed quite yourself since we came here, and I don't understand at all why two nights in Paris serve you worse than a week of acting elsewhere."

"Have I not told you that I dread, above every other ordeal, the critical Parisian audience?"

"But you passed so successfully through it! Last night the galleries absolutely thundered, and people seemed half wild with delight. William says the papers are full of praise."

Mrs. Waul crossed the room to lay upon the bureau the steel pins she had taken from her mistress's hair, and the latter muttered audibly:

"For me the 'Ides of March' are come indeed, but not passed."

"Did you speak to me?"

"There comes your husband, I hear his slow, heavy step upon the stairs. Open the door."

As an elderly white-haired man entered, Mrs. Orme put out her hand.

"Letters from home, Mr. Waul?"

"One from America, two from London, and a note from the American Minister."

"You saw the Minister, then? Did he give you the papers we shall require?"

"He has been sick, I believe, but said he would be at the theatre to-night, and would call and see you to-morrow."

"Hear this sentence, good people, from his note: 'Only indisposition prevented my attendance at the theatre last night to witness the brilliant triumph of my countrywoman. Since the palmy days of Rachel I have not heard such extravagant eulogies, and as an American I proudly and cordially congratulate you——"

"Are you going to faint? Stand back, William, and let me bathe her face with cologne. What is the matter, Mrs. Orme? You shake as if you had an ague."

But her mistress sat with eyes fixed upon a line visible only to herself: 'Your countrymen here are very much elated, and to-night I shall be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Cuthbert Laurance, son of Gen. Rene Laurance, whose wealth and social eminence must have at least rendered his name familiar to all Americans travelling in Europe."

"Be quick, Phoebe, and get her a glass of wine. She has no more colour in her lips than there is in my white beard."

"No, give me nothing. I only want rest—quiet."

She crushed the delicate satin paper in her hand, and rallied her composure. After a moment added:

"A slight faintness, that is all. Mr. Waul, before the curtain rises to-night, I wish you to ascertain in what portion of the house the American Minister's box is located; write it on a slip of paper, and send it to the dressing-room by your wife. Just now, I believe I have no other commissions. If I do not ring my little bell, do not disturb me until five o'clock; then bring me a cup of strong coffee. And, Mrs. Waul, please baste a double row of swan's-down around the neck and sleeves of the white silk I shall wear to-night. Let no one disturb me; not even the manager."

As the husband and wife withdrew, she followed them to the door, locked it on the inside, and returned to the easy chair. With a whitening, hardening face, she re-read the note, and thrust it into one of the silk pockets of her robe.

Although nine years had elapsed since we saw her first, in the mellow lamplight of Mr. Hargrove's library, time had touched her so daintily, so lovingly, that only two lines were discernible about the mouth, where habitual compression had set its print; and it would have been difficult to realize that she was twenty-eight, had not the treacherous eyes betrayed the gloom, the bitterness, the ceaseless heart-ache that filled them with shadows which prematurely aged the whole countenance.

The added years seemed only to have ripened and perfected her exquisite beauty, but with the rounded smoothness and the fresh, pure colouring of youth was mingled a weird, indescribable expression of stern hopelessness, of solemn repose, as if she had deliberately shaken hands for ever with all that makes life bright and precious, and were fronting with calm smile and quiet pulses a grim and desperate conflict, which she well knew only could have an end in the peace of the pall—that long truce whose signal is the knell and the requiem.

Had she been reared amid the fatalistic influences of Arabia, she could not more completely have adopted and exemplified the marble motto, "Despair is a free man;—Hope is a slave." For her the rosy mist that usually hovers over futurity had been swept rudely aside, the softening glow of the To-Come had been precipitated into a dull, pitiless, leaden ever-Present, at which she neither raved nor railed, but inflexibly fought on, expecting neither sunshine nor succour, unappalled and patient as some stony figure of Fate which, chiselled when the race was young, feels the shrouding sands of centuries drifting around and over it, but makes no moan over the buried youth, and watches the approaching night with the same calm, steadfast gaze that looked upon the starry dawn, and the golden glory of the noon.

The cautious repression which necessity had long ago rendered habitual, had crystallized into a mask, which even when alone she rarely laid aside for an instant. In actual life, and among strong positive natures, the deepest feelings find no vent in the effervescence of passionate verbal outbreaks, and outside the charmed precincts of the tragic stage, the world would not tolerate the raving Hamlets and Othellos, the Macbeths and Medeas, that scowl and storm and anathematize so successfully in the magic glow of the footlights.

To-day, as Mme. Odille Orme leaned back in her luxuriously cushioned chair, she seemed quiet as a statute, save the restless movements of her slender fingers, which twined and intertwined continually; while the concentrated gaze of the imperial eyes never stirred from the open window, whence she saw—not Parisian monuments of civic glory and martial splendor only her own past, her haunting skull and cross-bones of the Bygone. Her violet colored dressing gown was unbottoned at the throat, exposing the graceful turn of the neck, and the proud poise of the perfectly modelled head, from which the shining hair fell like Danae's shower, framing the face and figure on a background as golden as that of some carefully preserved Byzantine picture.

At last, the heavily fringed lips quivered, drooped, the magnificant eyes closed as if to shut out some vision too torturing even for heir brave penetrating gaze, and in her rigid whiteness she seemed some unearthly creature, who had done for ever with feverish life, and the frail toys of time.

Raising her arms above her head, she rested her clasped hands upon her brow, and in a low, strangely quiet tone, her words dropped like icicles:

"It was a groundless fear, that when the long-sought opportunity came, my weak womanish nature would betray me, and I should fail—break down utterly under the crushing weight of tender memories, sacred associations. What are they? Three dreamy weeks of delirious witchood, balanced by thirteen years of toil, aspersion, hatred, persecution; goaded by want, pursued ceaselessly by the scorpion scourge whose slanderous lash coiled ever after my name, my reputation. Three weeks a bride, unrecognised as such even then; twelve years an out-cast, repudiated, insulted, mother and child denied, derided—cast off as a serpent's skin! Ah, memory! thou hast no charm to stir the blackened ashes in a heart extinguished by the steady sleet of a husband's repudiation. When love is dead, and regret is decently buried, and the song of hope is hushed for ever, then revenge mounts the chariot and gathers the reins in her hands of steel; and beyond the writhing hearts whose blood dyes her rushing wheels, sees only the goal. Some wise anatomists of that frail, yet invincible sphinx—woman's nature, babble of one weighty fact, one conquering law, that only the mother joy, the mother love, fully unseals the slumbering sweetness and latent tenderness of her being; for me maternity opened the sluices of a sea of hate and gall. Had I never felt the velvet touch of tiny fingers on my cheek, a husband's base desertion might in time have been forgiven—possibly—at least, forgotten; but the first wail from my baby's lips awoke the wolf in me. My wrongs might slumber till that last assize, when the pitying eyes of Christ sum up the record, but hers have made a hungry panther of my soul. Come, memory, unlock your treasure house, uncoil your spells, chant all your witching straine, and let us see whether the towers of Notre Dame will not tremble and dissolve as soon as I!"

DYING IN DROVES.

Five Thousand Men carried off in Three Months—Dreadful Ravages of Swamp Fever.

"Over $20,000,000 has been spent in establishing homes for the engineers and workingmen along the route of the Panama Ship Canal," said Captain James Wiltbank, who has been more than a year engaged in dredging operations on the canal, and who has just returned home after a tough tussle with the dreaded swamp fever.

"Plenty of money there, then, Captain?"

"Oh, plenty. There is only thing more common than cash and that is death. Only the Italians appear to live. The dead are disposed of without ceremony. A shallow grave, no prayers, and all is in a moment forgotten. There are now 15,000 men at work on the canal, mostly negroes from Jamaica and French West Indies. These negroes are brought over in droves as fast as those at work die, and I venture to say that not two-thirds of the 15,000 laborers now at work will be alive a year from now. It's dreadful. Five thousand died during the past three months; but the large pay tempts men to brave all the danger. The company appears to have an unlimited supply of money to pay off every two weeks."

"What progress has been made in the four years?"

"Well, two miles and a half of the canal proper has been dug out. Originally this section was dredged to a depth of fourteen feet, but is now only six feet deep, the soft swamp lands pressed down by the weight of the dirt thrown out on either side filling in the canal from underneath. A great deal of work has, however been done with the great steam shovels in levelling the high lands through which the canal is to pass, and dredging will soon be started in those sections. Work is now progressing upon the only mountain which bars the way of the canal from ocean to ocean. This mountain is four hundred feet high and nine miles in circumference, and is to be cut down with steam ploughs and carried away. The company has been compelled to spend $20,000,000, as I said, to locate homes through the swamps, from which as a basis the work of digging out the canal can be carried on. The work necessitated the building of railway branches into the swamps, and the making of solid foundations with stone and gravel, hundreds of feet wide, and miles in extent. Laborers get $3 a day, and skilled mechanics and bosses from $100 to $350 a month."

"Will the canal ever be finished?"

"Not, I think, unless the swamp sections are constructed with piling, and that would cost so large an amount of money that the scheme could not possibly pay. But the company appears to have all the cash necessary to carry on the work.—Philadelphia Record.

Hanlan in New Zealand.

The Otago Daily Times, New Zealand, of March 17th, says:—"Edward Hanlan, the Canadian oarsman, was accorded a most enthusiastic and cordial public reception at Auckland this morning. The streets were lined with people, fully 12,000 being assembled, and at the Oxford hotel Hanlan was received by the Mayor, who offered him a hearty welcome to the Colony. In returning thanks Hanlan expressed a strong wish to conclude a match with Trickett before making any other engagements.

LOCAL NEWS

Smith's Market.

Fresh White Fish, (first of the season,) Fresh Shad, Fresh Mackerel, Fresh Haddock, and and Finnan Haddies,

Piano Tuning.

Mr. Geo. J. Gumpricht, tuner for Messrs. Mason & Risch, Toronto, is in town for a few days. Orders left at Mr. T. Menzies' Bookstore, or Messrs. Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store, will be promptly attended to.

Erratum.

In our Council report yesterday, a few words were inadvertently omitted from a motion moved by Councillor Kelly. The motion should have read, "that the Treasurer issue his cheque in favour of J. E. McIntyre for $80, being the amount he overpaid on billiard table licenses."

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the following twenty-four hours, counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto observatory, are as follows: Fresh to strong easterly to southerly winds, fair to cloudy milder weather, with local rains towards evening.

Licenses Granted.

The Provincial License Commissioners forthe East Riding have granted the following tavern licenses in addition to those granted at their first meeting:—John Doherty, Westwood; Mrs. Tuily, Warsaw; M. Gurin, Douro; T. A. Erskine, Otonabee; Mrs. Swanston, Ashburnham.

An Accident.

A little boy named James Russell was struck on the head by a chair thrown out of the second story window of Mr. Moore's house, at the time of the fire on Tuesday afternoon. A severe scalp wound three or four inches long was inflicted on the top of his head. The injured boy was attended by Dr. Kincaid.

New Song.

We have received a copy of a song entitled "The Midnight Wind," composed by Mr. James Sheridan, formerly of this town. The melody is very pleasing, and is well adapted to the beautiful words which are from the pen of Mr. Wm. Motherwell. This song may be procured at Mr. Davis' bookstore, or from Mr. Heathfield.

Dwelling House Burned.

At about 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon a house on Sherbrooke street, near the North Monaghan road, owned and occupied by Mr. Robert Moore, was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was telephoned from Mr. Dunford's, and in a few minutes the fire brigade were out. The fire engine was stationed at the tank at the corner of Charlotte and Park streets, but the hose on the reels was not sufficient to reach to the fire. More hose was sent for, to the fire hall, and the water was then forced through 1,700 feet of the rubber and Eureka. A house owned by Mr. J. Tromley, and occupied by Mr. Joshua Saunders, stood within six feet of the burning building, and it was only owing to the hard work of the firemen and others that it was saved. Mr. Moore's house was entirely destroyed, but the furniture was got out, though in a damaged condition. The house was a frame one and was insured for $500 in the Lancashire, and Mr. Moore's furniture was insured for $250 in the Fire Assurance Association. Mr. Saunders' furniture was all removed from the house and was considerably damaged. It was not insured. Mr. Moore's house was on fire one week before, but the flames were then extinguished. The fire originated in both cases from a defective chimney. Mr. Moore was away from home at the Rocky Moantains.

FIRE AT LINDSAY.

A Saw Mill Destroyed and a Dwelling House—Narrow Escape.

(By Telephone to the Review.)

LINDSAY, April 30.—Between 12 and 1 o'clock on Tuesday night, A. W. Parkin's steam saw mill was discovered to be in flames.

The alarm was given and the firemen arrived promptly, but were only able to save the lumber in the yard. The stable was also burnt with a valuable horse, phæton, harness, robes, and some cart harness. Mr. Parkins was burned on the face while trying to save the horse. The loss is about $8,000 with an insurance in the Hartford Insurance Company of $800 on the machinery and $200 on the lumber and shingles.

The residence of Mr. Robt. Scott, adjoining, the mill was also burned, Mr. Scott and his family having a very narrow escape. They had to get out of a back window while the house was in flames. Nothing saved except a small quantity of bedding. There was no insurance on this property.

Turnips.

Another supply of turnips at CARTON BROS

Fish.

A supply of Fresh Fish, by express to-day, April 23rd, at CARTON BROS.

Montreal Cheapside.

Owing to the extensive preparations, the Montreal Cheapside Dry Goods Store will not open till next Wednesday, 7th May. Look out for bargains. Lundy's block, next door to the REVIEW Office, the Red Store, Peterborough. H. LEVI & SON.

Hymeneal.

The news of the marriage at Chicago, of Mr. Thos. Bithray, and Miss Matilda Green, will interest their many friends in this town and neighborhood, who will unite with us in congratulations and good wishes. Mr. Bithray shows that in spite of his change of residence he maintains his old regard for St. George's Day, by choosing that anniversary for his wedding.

Before the County Judge.

John Boyd, who is held on a charge of larceny, was brought before His Honor Judge Dennistoun to-day. He is charged with having stolen a buggy, single harness and buffalo robe belonging to Enos Dunford. He elected to be tried by the judge without jury, and pleaded not guilty. The case was then adjourned until Tuesday next, May 6th.

Lacrosse Notes.

At a meeting of the Lacrosse Club held this week, Mr. G. H. Giroux was elected Secretary, pro tem., to fill the place of Mr. A. Yelland, who is at present absent in Toronto, Mr. James Coughlin was elected to fill the place of Mr. G. H. Giroux on the committee,

A full attendance is requested on the grounds to-night and to-morrow night, for practice.

What is Life?

The present life is sleeping and waking; it is "good night" on going to bed, and "good morning" on getting up; it is to wonder what the day will bring forth; it is to sit near the stove and hear it rain on the window; it is to walk in the garden and see the flowers in the height of their perfection and bloom and hear the birds sing; it is to read new books; it is to have Sundays, and hear good sermons and sweet sacred music; it is to sit in the twlight and meditate; it is to have breakfast, dinner and tea; it is to have friends and love, and with some men it is to be kissed with the same loving lips for many years; it is above all other things to wear good fitting clothes, which can be found by paying a visit to ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, George Street.

Pencil Points.

—Cloudy this afternoon.

—One tramp in the cells last night. He said that he had walked from Percy.

—A business meeting—a small "council of war"—of the Saved Army will be held to-night.

—It is not improbable that Peterborough will soon become the headquarters of the Saved Army.

—The tank at the corner of Charlotte and Park streets, from which the water was taken for the fire yesterday afternoon, was refilled to-day.

—There was a very small attendance on the market this morning. The farmers are probably too busily engaged with the spring work to attend to marketing.

—The Post asks what the people of Lindsay will do to celebrate May 24th. We respectfully suggest that the best thing they can do is to come to Peterborough.

—A punster was asked last evening if there was more than one house burned last evening. "There was only one Moore," was his reply. The police were not in sight and he escaped arrest.

—The Port Hope Guide frequently has sentences of sparkling originality in its local columns, such as the following from its issue of Tuesday:—"Winter still lingers in the lap of Spring."

—Bicycling is an exhilarating exercise. Yesterday afternoon one young man's cycle ran off the sidewalk and threw him to the ground. A companion ran over him with his wheel, and then turned a summersault in the air and also fell to the ground. Result—slight bruises and scratches to the riders and damaged wheels.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by Taylor & Macdonald.

Well Rewarded.

A liberal reward will be paid to any party who will produce a case of liver, kidney or stomach complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure. Bring them along, it will cost you nothing for the medicine if it fails to cure, and you will be well re arded for your trouble besides. All blood diseases, biliousness, jaundice, constipation, and general debility are quickly cured. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price only fifty cents per bottle. For sale by Taylor & McDonald.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, April 30.—Mr. Thos. Menzies, J. P., presided at the Court this morning.

AGAIN ENLARGED.

The case of Michael Levech against Henry Sovais, for malicious injury to a fence, was again enlarged until Monday next.

Can't Be Beaten.

It is a fact that Nerviline cannot be surpassed by any combination for the relief of pain. The reason is a good one. Nerviline contains the best, most powerful, and the latest discovered remedies. It is a magic pain cure. Rheumatism, stiff neck, cramps, neuralgia, colic, in fact all pain, internal, external, and local, are subdued in a few minutes. Go at once to Ormond & Walsh's drug store and get a trial bottle. It will only cost you 10 cents, and you can at a small cost test the great pain cure, Polson's Nerviline. Large bottles only 25cts.

A Run on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any drug store as now at Taylor and McDonald's for a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. All persons affected with asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, severe coughs, or any affection of the throat or lungs, can get a trial bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at the above drug store. Regular size $1.

Salt Rheum Cured

Are you troubled with Salt Rheum, Rough Skin, Pimples or Canker Sores; if so go at once to John McKee's drug store and get a package of McGregor and Parke's Carbolic Cerate. Price twenty-five cents. It was never known to all.

Fluid Lightning.

WIFE.—What's the matter now John?

HUSBAND.—Oh, that neuralgia and toothache near kills me.

WIFE.—Why don't you go to John McKee's drug store and get a bottle of Fluid Lightning, you know it cures all such things as toothache, neuralgia, headache, lumbago, ear-ache, sore throat etc. It gives instant relief.

DO YOU FEEL PLAYED OUT?—If so, try a bottle of Golden Fruit Bitters. It is a simple tonic, pleasant to take, and will make you feel like a "new man." Sold by all druggists.

TAKE YOUR PRESCRIPTIONS and recipes to MORGAN'S Drug Store and have them accurately compounded to your satisfaction. Find MORGAN'S Drug Store.

MOWAT'S CONSPIRACY

THE COUNCIL FOR THE MOWAT ADMINISTRATION CONSENT TO DELAY.

The Case Removed to the Queen's Bench Division—A Demurrer to the Indictment.

On Tuesday the defendants in the alleged bribery case appeared before Chief Justice Hagarty in the Assize Court at Toronto.

ARRAY OF COUNSEL.

The Counsel for the prosecution were Æmilius Irving, Q. C., S. H. Blake, Q. C., and James Bethune, Q. C.,. The defendants are represented as follows: Mr. Bunting, by Dalton McCarty, Q. C.; D McMaster, Q. C.; and W. A. Foster; Mr. Wilkinson, by Nicholas Murphy; Mr. Kirkland, by Dr. McMichael, Q. C., Alex. Cameron and W. Caswell; Mr. Meek, by Hector Cameron, Q. C., and Dr. McMichael, Q. C.

AN OBJECTION FAILS.

Mr. IRVING asked that defendants should plead.

Dr. MCMICHAEL objected on the ground that the charge in the indictment was not that upon which Mr. Kirkland had been committed. He had not expected to have to answer the charge of conspiracy to procure a change in the timber laws. The leave of the court had not been given to amend.

COUNSEL for the other defendant made the same objection.

The JUDGE held that he could not accede to the objection but would note it.

A DEMURRER.

Mr. MCCARTHY on behalf of his client, Mr. Bunting, then demurred to the whole indictment a deficient in law.

COUNSEL for the other defendants also demurred.

The JUDGE said he had already adopted his course in directing the Grand Jury. He asked if he was pressed to decide the point, or if counsel had come to any agreement.

Mr. IRVIN said there was no agreement.

The JUDGE said that if pressed for a decision then he would rule as in his directions to the Grand Jury, but if it were fully agreed before the full court he might come to a different opinion.

Mr. H. CAMERON said they were willing to have the case removed by certiorari to the Queen's Bench for agreement.

READY FOR DELAY.

Mr. IRVING on behalf of the Crown consented to this.

Thus the case will stand for arguement in term before the full court of Queens Bench, where if the demurrer is not sustained it will go back to the next assize to be tried by a jury.

Received by Express this day another lot of Handsome Spring Ties and Scarfs, at ANDREW McNEIL'S.

The Toronto Tennis Club.

The Toronto Lawn Tennis Club purposes holding a tournament on the 1st of July for single and double matches, open to the clubs and players of Canada. This is not to be for the championship, which will take place as usual later on in the season, and will be open to all comers. Both tournaments will be duly advertised, and any information concerning them may be had from G. Geddes, honorary secretary, Government house, Toronto.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

FOR OVERWORK.

Dr. G. W. Collins, Tipton, Ind., says: "I have used it in nervous debility brought on by over work in warm weather, with good results."

THEY ALL DO IT.—Everybody uses Teaberry for the Teeth and Breath, the newest, brightest, coolest little toilet gem extant. Try a sample.

A NEW license bill is to be introduced at once by the Quebec Government increasing the number of saloon and shop licenses to be issued in Montreal, and also raising the price of the licenses to an amount sufficient to avoid any loss to the revenue from the amount received in former years.

How to Make Candy.

This book gives full directions for making all kinds of plain and fancy candy. The receipts for making carsmels, chocolate drops, French mixed and all other kinds of candies contained in this book are the same as used by the leading city confectioners. Any one can have these candies at home at less than one third the usual cost. Sent post paid for 50 cents (no stamps taken). Address, ROCHESTER PUBLISHING CO., 32, 33 & 34½ Osburn Block, Rochester, N.Y.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

CURRENT PUBLIC SENTIMENT CULLED FROM OUR CONTEMPORARIES.

SHOULD SHE YIELD?

To take the illustration offered by Mr. Armour, circumstances may be imagined in which it might be needful and commendable for a woman to allow herself to be placed for a time in circumstances of apparently doubtful propriety in order to secure the conviction of an offender and the protection of herself and others against the repetition of disgraceful overtures, and her fair fame should sustain no damage.—S. G. Wood in the Week.

A FAIR DIVISION.

The return shows that Quebec and Ontario have had expended upon them about equal amounts, the expenditure for "local works" being somewhat more in Ontario than in Quebec and for "general works" somewhat less. It shows that the smaller provinces have been generously dealt with by the representatives of the two central provinces.—Toronto Mail.

THE DANGER OF FREE TRADE.

If we are to have more than a hundred tariff speeches, if the greater portion of the present session is to be devoted to this subject, let us have something new and fresh, less oratory and more facts; something that will show the country all the points of this discussion and enable it to pass intelligently on this great issue. The friends of protection have every argument in their favor; let them be produced in such form and manner as will show all the danger of free trade.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

VALUABLE YEARS LOST.

We fear it will be some years before our people are educated up to a sense of the vast importance of their country, their children and themselves of tree-planting, and it is a great pity that valuable years should be lost.—Montreal Star.

GLARING INCONSISTENCY.

Those members who voted for Mr. Blake's amendment which was designed to defeat the (railway grant) resolutions, and afterwards for the main motion, were guilty of a glaring inconsistency for which they ought to be pilloried in black capitals in the Grit organ, and strongly denounced, as is its usual custom.—Belleville Intelligencer.

A BENEFIT TO ONTARIO.

It requires no prophetic eye to see, that the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway will change the face of the country, and develop its agricultural and mineral resources.—Pardee's Algoma Pamphlet.

AN IMPORTANT SUGGESTION.

The simplest way would be (if a modification of the constitution be pressed) to throw upon the Provincial Governments the entire cost of administering their own affairs.—London Free Press.

SUSPICIONS CONFIRMED.

During the contest in Algoma certain cypher telegrams from Mr. Pardee's agent in Rat Portage to the Government at Toronto fell into the hands of the Conservative guerillas, and their publication confirmed the well-grounded suspicion that Mr. Mowat's officials were in Algoma under false pretences, and that Ministers were parties to a dishonourable plot to corrupt and coerce the settlers of that region.—Dundas Standard.

MR. MOWAT SHIRKS.

It is not likely that the decision of the Queen's Bench upon an abstruse technical question will be accepted as final. The case may be appealed to the Supreme Court, and thence to the Privy Council. Indeed, it is not unlikely that the raising of legal objections and the taking of appeals may go on until the case is quietly dropped, and nothing more heard of it. It looks very much as though the Crown were not averse to such a termination, being apparently as willing to assent to the appeal as the defence were to avail themselves of the opportunity afforded by a loophole in the law.—Toronto News (Indep).

REFORMERS MASQUERADING.

It is quite true that a so-called Convention of Farmers in the Province of Manitoba have lately met to consider grievances they allege they lie under in consequence of the action of the directors of the Canadian Pacific railroad, and have passed a resolution advising people to keep away from the Province. This convention, however, as much represents the farmers of Manitoba, as the three tailors of Tooley street did the people of England.—Liverpool Post.

THE DYNAMITE POLICY IN CANADA.

Three Cartridges Found About the Houses of Parliament in Toronto.

A Toronto daily of to-day's issue devotes a large amount of space, embellished with elaborate diagrams to a so-called "Startling Discovery" of a plot to blow up the Provincial Houses of Parliament with dynamite. The facts are as follows:—

Three cylinders six inches in length and about one and a half in diameter, and marked so as to lead to the opinion that they are that form of nitro-glycerine, known as dynamite, were found on Wednesday in the Parliamentary buildings. A couple were found in one of the ventilators close to the office of the Commissioner of Crown Lands, where are stored records of the department from the earliest settlement of the province, and another about the steps leading to the main entrance.

The cartridges were capped ready for use, and it is said a quantity of wire was found in the neighbourhood,

THE PRESUMPTION

being that it was intended to form an electric circuit for the explosion of the cartridges. This is the sum total of the facts upon which to base any theories, that may be desired. Whether the cartridges contained dynamite or whether they did not contain dynamite—an important question, one would imagine—nobody seems to know. However, as each cylinder has only sufficient capacity to hold about of the explosive, perhaps no very great damage would have resulted after all. If anything serious turns up we promise to give our readers full particulars.

THREE OUNCES

OH! how tired and weak I feel I dont believe I will ever get through the Spring house-cleaning? Oh yes you will if you take a bottle or two of Dr. Carson's Stomach Bitters to purify your blood and tone up the system. In large bottles 50 cents.

AN INDIGNATION MEETING.

An indignation meeting of women was held in New York recently, to protest against the lords of creation possessing themselves of the rear platform of street cars,

NICELY PUT!

A lady with a fatal squint came once to a fashionable artist for her portrait. He looked at her and she looked at him, and both were embarrassed. He spoke first. "Would your ladyship permit me," he said, "to take the portrait in profile? There is a certain shyness about one of your ladyship's eyes which is as difficult in art as it is fascinating in nature."

NOT GOOD FOR THE CHILD.

"My dear," said a sensible Dutchman to his wife, who for the last hour had been shaking her baby up and down on her knee:—"I don't think so much butter is good for the child." "Butter? I never give my Artie any butter; what an idea!" "I mean to say you have been giving him his breakfast and now you have been an hour churning it!"

MAKING A HOME HAPPY.

On a young wife devolves the privilege of making a home happy; on the husband depends the keeping it so. Their first duty, therefore, should be to study the comforts of, and to encourage the taste for, home enjoyments; and we would offer for feminine consideration a suggestion that a carelessness of attire is sometimes the beginning of a feeling of indifference on the part of the husband. This suggestion may, at the first glance, seem unimportant; but a desire for the admiration of those whom we are bound to please is by no means an unworthy ambition.

A WONDERFUL SCHOOL GIRL.

A recent issue of the Pall Mall Gazette contains the following almost incredible record made by a school girl: "A girl named Alice Akerman, aged 14, daughter of a laborer, has just completed her education at Langley School, Bucks. She has never missed being present since the school was opened on Oct. 4, 1875, and in completing her 3,451st attendance is said to have walked 6,000 miles. She has passed every standard successfully, and in the three subjects in first grade drawing obtained "excellent", prizes in free-hand and model, as also in the three stages of the specific subjects, literature, domestic economy and animal physiology, and in one stage in physicial geography. She has also obtained twenty-six other prizes, for good attendance sculpture, sewing, knitting, etc.

THE FASHIONS.

Button gloves are again coming into vogue.

Taffeta lace is the incoming Lyons novelty in lace.

Diversity is the most marked feature in fashion this spring.

Lace and beads on dresses and mantles still hold their own.

Large plaids and small checks will be equally fashionable in the early spring.

Slippers, gaiters, boots, and shoes of all kinds are still pointed at the toe.

Titian red, a lovely shade verging on auburn, bids fair to become the most fashionable bright colour of the incoming season.

Black gloves are again fashionable for evening wear. They make the hand look so much smaller and last so much longer than light-coloured gloves that the fancy is scarcely to be wondered at.

Mr. G. F. Watts, R.A., a well known art-critic, has remarked that women with large eyes and prominent noses should be careful to dress their hair in such a manner that a goodly sized mass at the back of the head shall counteract the effect of the nose and restore equilibrum as it were. The fashions this season will, however, permit to ladies a more becoming method of counterbalancing the too conspicious feature, for flowers are very much worn in the hair and are generally placed far back, so as to be hardly visible on a front view of the head and face. Massed roses, devoid of foilage, and geranium blossoms of scarlet, pink or white, are the most fashionable flowers for the coiffure.

A large number of ladies visited the murderer Rugg at Long Island City on Monday. Some of them belonged to the best families in the city. A delegation of young ladies from the Methodist Church, Williamsburg, sang and prayed with Rugg for an hour. One lady gave him a bouquet. Rugg was sentenced to be hanged on the 6th of June.

THURSDAY, MAY 1, 1884.

THE MOWAT CONSPIRACY.

The fact that the case of the alleged conspiracy to bribe has been removed by certiorari from the Assizes to the full Court of Queen's Bench, with the ready consent of Mr. Mowat's counsel, is calculated to excite surmise as to the reason for this willingness to accept a postponement. The Globe, with unusual accuracy, says: "The Chief Justice would evidently have overruled any such demurrer." Why, then, did the legal advisers of the Mowat Administration yield so readily to the delay? That the defendants should avail themselves of any legal means to defeat the conspiracy against them is only natural. No doubt they would gladly welcome a fair investigation, but it must be remembered that they have been purposely charged with conspiracy in order to close the mouths of the whole of them, while the hired informers and worthless witnesses of the Mowat administration are able to tell their own concocted tale, as revised by the Ministers, without any contradiction except their own. It is very different with the real conspirators, Mr. Mowat, his colleagues and their tools. If they had even a moderately good case they should be ready to proceed with it, when they have everything in their favour. They are free to exercise their remarkable inventive powers without outside contradiction; they have one of the most important witnesses spirited out of the way; and they have access to the stolen papers of the defendants. And yet, being the real criminals, they hesitate to proceed.

When they shirk even such a mild ordeal as this, is it likely that they will face the searching light of an impartial investigation? They dare not issue the commission as agreed to by the Legislature, and we believe they never will dare to do so. Could they risk an enquiry into the instructions to their suborned decoys? Would they invite evidence as to the stolen documents which they took from some of the defendants, for the papers which they did not take into court, but appropriated to their own purposes, were as much stolen as if the theft were the work of a pickpocket? Would they like any enquiry into the reason why they took the defendants past the nearest police station to one where they had a convenient tool? Would Mr. Mowat like to be called upon to tell what further information he could give about "one Lynch," whose nationality, unknown to others, he has already described? There are many other points which the Mowat conspirators would gladly keep in the dark, so they delay the trial and dare not issue the commission of which they made a pretence.

AN OFFICIAL SLANDERER.

ONCE more the mendacious Ottawa correspondent of the Globe repeats his falsehood that $62,689 was expended by the Public Works Department upon "labourers, gardeners and jobbers," or that items that would not bear inspection were covered by that sum. He well knows that Mr. J. Lorn McDougall, the Auditor-General, has confessed that this item so described was a falsification in his own office. We might have supposed that this error was only a culpably careless inadvertence, but the recollection that Mr. Lorn McDougall was a rabid and not very scrupulous Reformer, and that he was foisted by the expiring Reform administration into the post of Auditor-General, where he could play such tricks, coupled with the fact that he allows his careless or wilful falsification to be thus basely used without protest from him, almost forces upon us the conclusion that this doctoring of the public accounts by him or those under his control, was wilful, and was expressly contrived to injure his political opponents. No honest man would thus contribute to the slander even of an enemy.

Informer McKim's Price.

Sould Mr. Dalton's opinion in the McKim garnishee case confirmed by the court of queen's bench, the member for West Wellington's position will be rendered more uncomfortable than it already is. The master thinks that the sale of Mr. McKim's vote to Mr. Wilkinson was legally complete, and that the property in the bribe money is in McKim. The failure to deliver the goods is something that the law does not take cognizance of. It looks now as though McKim's Hamilton creditors are the only people likely to profit by the extraordinary speculation. Verily it is an ill wind that does not blow somebody luck.—Toronto World (Ind. Ref.)

DISTRICT INTELLIGENCE

NORWOOD.

From our own Correspondent.

POLICE COURT.—On Thursday, the 24th, Mr. Samuel Brown, proprietor of the Norwood steam saw mill, and Mr. Thos. Searight, employee, appeared before Messrs. John Breakenridge and Thos. Roric to answer to the charge of assault laid against them by Mr. Samuel McGee, a young farmer who lives a short distance from the village. The charge laid was that the defendants, Brown and Searight, had unlawfully struck McGee while contending with regard to some logs the plaintiff had left at the mill to be cut. Brown was found guilty and fined $5 and costs $3.75, nmounting in all to $8.75, while Searight's case was dismissed without fine, as it was shown that he had simply acted as mediator.

JUNIOR LACROSSE.—The Secretary furnishes the following:—A meeting of the Norwood Junior Lacrosse Club, was held on April 25th, when the following officers were elected:—President, W. Douglas; Vice-President, T. H. Pearce; Captain, F. Stephenson; Secretary, R. Rahal; Treasurer, J. McKelvey; Committee, C. Brennan, W. Ackerman, J. Kemp, A. Robinson and W. A. Stephenson. The Club are now open for challenges from any Club under 16.

FIRE.—At about 11.30 o'clock on Saturday night April the 26th, on the alarm of fire, it was discovered that the Norwood steam saw mill owned by Mr. Samuel Brown, was on fire. The building being of a light wooden structure rapidly succumbed to the flames, all efforts to save it, proving unavailing. Fortunately for the village, no wind was blowing at the time, or else the damage might have been great. The building was insured for about $700.

LARGE HEN EGG.—A large hen egg was brought into the store of Buck Bros. on Saturday evening, April 26th, by Mr. White, a brick layer who resides in the village, which measured 8¼ inches in circumference, and 6½ inches in diameter. The weight cannot be given as only the shell was produced. Who can beat it?

SERIOUS AFFRAY.—On Friday evening, 25th, an affray, and one which may lead to serious results, took place near Brennan's hotel, on Colbourne street, between a man named Thrall, a lumberman, who sometimes resides in Norwood, and sometimes at Blairton, and two brothers named Beavis, from Peterborough, employed on the High School building. It appears that the above named parties had been drinking pretty freely, and that the younger Beavis had provoked Thrall until he received a cuffing from the hands of the latter, whereupon the elder Beavis, becoming aware of the fact, quietly seized an iron poker, which he found in the hotel, and walking up behind Thrall's back, dealt him some severe blows on the back of the head, making fearful gashes, besides knocking him down. He jumped on him, and with his fists showered blows on his face. Thrall was finally rescued from his assailant, and Dr. Pettigrew was brought to examine his wounds, which did not prove so deep as was at first supposed. He has taken no action against his assailant, but threatens to take the law in his own hands when he has fully recovered from his beating. Thrall is a powerful man, and a sort of a bully, and receives very little sympathy, yet the cowardly way in which he was beaten draws forth indignation against the assailant, who should be brought to anawer for his conduct.

O. & Q. RAILWAY.—Three locomotives were in the village on Friday evening, the 25th, two being new ones. They will be employed in ballasting the road between Peterborough and Tweed.

NEW BICYCLE.—Mr. A. J. Robertson, dentist, has purchased a handsome new bicycle, which cost $85, and is rapidly learning to ride it. There are now two bicyclists in the village, and as others are talking of taking part in this manly and pleasant exercise, it is probable a bicycle club will be formed during the coming summer.

HASTINGS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SPRING-LIKE WEATHER.—The continued fine weather gives a glorious opportunity for farmers getting through their busy seeding time also for housekeepers to become rampant and assert their rights by presenting the meeker, poorer half with the annual tacks-gathering, and cold wittles in passover style.

THE RIFLE MATCH.—The shooting match did not end in the manner anticipated by the visiting team under Captain Birdsall, from Keene, as Hastings came out first by six. The uniform shooting of Capt Howard's "Brown Bess" at the 500 yard range was an especial feature—the marker having so easy a time of it that he went to sleep, forgetting to raise the signal flags. He did not feel a bit small in consequence. The cattle grazing on the early tender herb were quite safe as long as they moved around. The following is the score:—

HASTINGS.

|---|---|
| Capt. Howard | 26 |
| Pt. Lobb | 32 |
| Sgt. Howard | 22 |
| Capt. Tait | 36 |
| O'Gorman | 32 |
| Total | 148 |

KEENE.

|---|---|
| Capt. Birdsall | 16 |
| Sgt. McIntyre | 20 |
| Pt. Miller | 26 |
| Sgt. McFarlane | 24 |
| Pt. Wedlock | 36 |
| Total | 142 |

The ranges were 200, 400 and 500 yards, 5 shots at each range, the highest possible score being 60 points. The return match will be in June. The Hasting's Company would like to hear from the Norwood marksmen.

REMOVAL.—Dr. O'Gorman has removed to the south side of the river directly opposite the residence of Mr. Faweds.

BUSINESS CHANGES.—New stores are being started in this place, Mr. Ash, of Napanee, succeding Mr. Hartley, and Mr. Gough has oppened out in McKinnon & Co's stand. Result, lower prices and brisk competition.

THE HORSE FAIR.—A "chiel" fra Peterborough, was amang us takin' notes at the horse fair last Wednesday, which he reported for the REVIEW.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PRESENTATION.—At the conclusion of Mr. Stewart's auction sale on Thursday evening last, Mr. Geo. Chalmers invited Mr. Stewart to Mr. D. Costello's hotel, to meet a large party of villagers and two or three gentlemen from a distance to say good-bye, when Mr. Chalmers read the following address:—

Mr. James Stewart:

DEAR SIR,—As you are about to leave us for the land of your birth and the scenes of your childhood, your friends at Young's Point cannot allow you to leave them without expressing the high esteem in which you are held by them for your many good qualities, and your readiness ever to assist in every good work and the welfare of this place as long as you have been a resident of our village. Though seas will separate us, and years may pass ere we meet again, you will ever have a high place in our esteem. May you and your amiable wife be spared to see your native land and enjoy the scenes of your childhood, and while doing so, do not forget the friends you have left behind, and now we ask you to accept this watch as a small memento of our good wishes, and as the hours days and years roll by may you and yours be spared; and in pointing to such remind you of happy days and many loving friends left behind in old Canada.

Signed on behalf of the residents of this place.
Young's Point, April 24th, 1884.

After presenting Mr. Stewart with the watch, which is a handsome one, Mr. Chalmers spoke in very complimentary terms concerning that gentleman, both in private and business relations.

Messrs. H. Garbutt, of Smith, W. H. Casement, of Lakefield, C. Young, Ashburnham, F. J. Young, John Young, sr., expressed regret at the loss to be sustained by the departure of their esteemed friend.

Mr. Stewart replied in feeling terms and briefly acknowledged the flattering compliments expressed in the address towards his wife and himself, and thanked them one and all for the handsome testimonial. The company sang "He is a Jolly Good Fellow," and ended up by singing "Auld Lang Syne" after a very pleasant gathering.

FENELON FALLS.

CONCERT.—The concert and musical and dramatic entertainment under the auspices of the Roman Catholic choir was given on Tuesday evening last in Ingram's hall, and fully realized the expectations of the very large audience. Among the vocalists were Miss Begley, of Peterborough, and Mr. John Pitty, formerly of Peterborough.

THE CANAL.—There is trouble in the canal on account of the influx of water, which rises so rapidly through a seam in the rock, six or seven feet behind the coffer-dam that it cannot be pumped out. An engine of 15 horse power—about double the strength of the old one—has been procured and made ready for work; but it will not be used until the diver who is expected this week, has found and stopped the opening through which the water makes its way under the dam.—Gazette.

INFORMER MCKIM.

Some Recent Transactions of a Suspicious Nature.

It is rumoured that Robert McKim—not Robert Carey McKim—"Robert" that is Robert, jr., has purchased the homestead formerly belonging to R. C. McKim, and that the old gentleman himself—excuse the expression—si busily engaged in purchasing stock, implements and seed, wherewith to start in "his old business" again. We are pleased to see that our representative in the Local Legislature has turned over a new leaf, and that he has succeeded since last December in doing what it would appear he never did before—that is, make some money; but what we would like to have answered is this, Where did the money come from? The homestead alone allowing 100 acres would cost at least $7,000. In December last McKim was more than $60,000 worse than nothing, and allowing that he was square with the world at twenty he has since that time, not only squandered his own earnings, and that of his family, but also $2,000 a year of the earnings of his once confiding but now unfortunate friends. If he lost $2,000 a year for 30 years and has in four months honestly earned what purchased not only a $7,000 farm, but stock, implements and seed for same, he has certainly turned over a new leaf, and is deserving of very great credit. But has he done so? Few if any believe he has!

The great majority at the time of McKim's failure believed that the failure was a sham to rob his unfortunate dupes in all parts of the country, who looked upon him as an honest man, out of their money, and subsequent events prove the truth of the impression. McKim's many friends have shown themselves to be very innocent and even silly: but we mistake them very much—and we know the most of them—if any attempt on his part to sugar coat either them or the public again, will be successful. It will not of course be essentially necessary to make the attempt; the very fact of his purchasing the farm proves that he has their money and had it at the very time he was calling upon God to witness his assertions that he had given up all. The men who with their families have had their farms sold to pay McKim's debts will certainly feel happy in the contemplation of the fact that what was once theirs has by a simple "turn of the wrist" been transformed into a comfortable homestead for McKim and a registry office for his son. What next?—"Arthur Enterprise."

BRITISH GRAIN TRADE.

Liverpool, April 26.—A leading weekly grain circular says:—The upward movement in the wheat trade continues. More money is obtainable both on the spot and for cargoes. There is a better inquiry for every position. In face of the advancing markets in America there is a more general feeling of confidence and safety to present prices. To-day wheat was in good demand at an advance of 1d. to 2d. over Tuesday's currencies. There was a healthy trade in flour at full values. Maize was scarce; prices averaged 3d. over those of the previous market.

Another Victory.

A Startling important discovery was made when, after long and patient experiments, the combination of Nerviline was reached. A grand victory indeed, for the suffering have an ever ready, prompt, efficient, and cheap remedy at hand. Do you know that for 10 cents you can buy a trial bottle of Polson's Nerviline and test its great power over pain of every description? Polson's Nerviline cures chills, pain in the stomach, side and back, rheumatism; in fact all pain. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

MUCH IN A LITTLE.—Many proprietary medicines, if they cure at all, require such a large quantity to produce effect that it makes them very uncertain and expensive remedies. Not so with Burdock Blood Bitters. It is highly concentrated, and for all diseases of blood, liver and kidneys, one or two bottles will cure more than gallons of the weak mixtures usually sold. Send for facts and figures.

DR NEWMAN, of New York, has been served with an injunction restraining him from fulfilling his pastoral functions until May 1st, when the motion will be heard before the court.

SANITARY INSPECTION. If you would avoid sickness clear away the filth and rubbish about your premises, establish proper drainage and admit pure air. The skin, kidneys and bowels are the sluiceways of the human body. Regulate these channels of health with Burdock Blood Bitters which act directly to purify the blood and regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys.

A New Principle.

The principle upon which Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor acts is entirely new. It does nocs not sink deep into the flesh, thereby producing soreness, but acts directly upon the external covering of the corn, separates it from the under layer, removes the direct pressure from the pain, and at once effects a radical cure, without any pain or discomfort. Let those who are suffering from corns, yet sceptical of treatment, try it, and by the completeness of the cure they will be ready to recommend Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor to others.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successfu Cough Medicine we have ever sold; A few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a test which no other medicine can stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10c., 50c. and $1.00. If your lungs are sore, chest or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster Sold by J. D. Tully.

MAY.

Light of foot and winning fair,
Show'ry gems amid her hair,
Through a wavering light and shade
By the fitful sunbeams made.
Or through shimmering veil of rain,
Dances down the fragrant lane,
This bright maid, who draws each lover
By a charm none may discover.
Varying still from grave to gay,
Thousand fancies in a day,
Singing medleys with such trill
As the restless air must thrill,
Wild with wanton, elfish glee,
Sad with freakish misery,
Now to tender tears beguiling
Then to mirth with witchery wiling;
First she pouts and says you grieve her,
Next entreats you not to leave her;
Then she lures you on to follow
Her slight figure through the hollow,
Up the hill-slope, o'er the stream
Rippling soft with silvery gleam.

IRELAND.

In 1883 the arrests for drunkenness in Ireland numbered 89,526. Of this total Sunday contributed 4,195, leaving 85,000 to be distributed over the other six days of the week.

The furniture manufactory of Messrs. John Daly & Co., Cork, which received considerable impetus by the home manufacture movement, was destroyed by fire on March 31.

During the funeral ceremony of the late Prince Leopold nearly all the shops in the principal thoroughfares of Dublin had some of their shutters on. The wearing of mourning by ladies was also general.

At Dublin on April 8th, three Orangemen, convicted of firing at a Catholic named M'Laughton in Tyrone, were sentenced—Smith to five years penal servitude, and Barr and Fleming to eight and three months' imprisonment respectively.

Lord Chief Baron Pallas, in his charge to the city of Dublin grand jury, said it appeared the wave of crime which had lately swept over the district had subdued, and there was now every prospect of a continued state of peace and quietness.

The Rev. Dr. Croskery, of Magee College, Derry, is preparing a pamphlet for the Press, setting forth the history, character, and work of Irish Presbyterianism, mainly, though not entirely, for the information of the deputies coming to Ireland in June to attend the Pan-Presbyterian Council.

Constable Cavan was attacked recently in Dublin by three men, who knocked him down, kicked him, jumped upon him, and left him for dead. The constable at the time was in plain clothes, and was going through a lonely street when attacked.

The people of Ballyshannon feel proud of the result of the late Poor Law elections in their district. The Nationalists of the locality have not only held their own, but two of their enemy's seats have been captured. Mr. A. McHugh, a Catholic, and Mr. Tutthill, a Protestant Nationalist, defeated two Orange landlord nominees.

An action has been entered by Mr. Geoffrey O'Donoghue, of the Glens, against the Cork Constitution, for false and malicious libel, in having published a statement, to the effect that Mr. O'Donoghue was arrested for complicity in the murder of Eugene Sullivan, which was perpetrated near the Gap of Dunloe in October last.

The Most Rev. Dr. Woodlock, Bishop of Ardagh, has issued a circular to his clergy in reference to the representation of the county Longford. He intends to invite the priests and people of the constituency to a meeting, when the question of selecting suitable candidates to be put forward at the general election will be considered.

The building of the Oldcastle workhouse was completed in the year 1842. The Catholics were then as now 90 per cent. of the population, and the Guardians have for their chairman Mr. R. O'Reilly, Ballyjamesduff (vice J. L. Naper); vice-chairman, Bernard Smith, Ballyjamesduff; and deputy vice-chairman, P. Lynch, Castlecor, Oldcastle—all Catholics.

SCOTLAND.

The mortality in Edinburgh for the week ending 5th April was at the rate of 23 per 1000.

Trade in Peeblesshire continues to improve, and some of the mills are quite busy.

The experiment of hatching herring at the Rothesay Aquarium has been successful.

During the week ending 5th April there were 4668 visitors to the Museum of Science and Art Edinburgh.

The recent double execution at Edinburgh, cost the city altogether £100. The hangman and his assistant got £30, and their expenses to and from Bradford.

For two hours on the 5th April, the bells of all the churches were kept tolling as an indication of the public sympathy with the mourners then assembled at Windsor.

A despatch states that Belmont Castle, Meigle, Perthshire, was destroyed by fire on the 21st April. It was the property of the Earl of Wharncliffe, and contained a large number of valuable paintings and other works of art.

Another clerical scandal is the town's talk of Kilmarnock. A parish clergyman was caught taking undue liberties with the wife of a parishioner, and compelled to sign a document resigning his charge.

At a sale at Edinburgh on the 7th April, a copy of the Kilmarnock edition of Burn's poems was sold for £40; and a volume of his writings, published in 1793, with an inscription on the flyleaf in the poet's own handwriting, was sold at £21 2s. 6d. At the same sale £16 was realized for a copy of Collin's poetical works which Burns had presented to Jery Lorimer.

As a tribute of respect to the memory of the Duke of Albany business was wholly suspended in the Corporation Offices, Glasgow, and the County Buildings were open only for an hour or two in the morning, on the 5th inst. The Stock Exchange was closed, and very little business was done in the Royal Exchange.

The Town Council of Edinburgh is negotiating with Colonel Trotter of Morton Hall for the purchase of Blackford Hill, with the view of making it a recreation place for the citizens. There is every likelihood that the negotiations will end in the accession of the hill by the city for a very moderate price. It will then prove another of the many attractions which Edinburgh now offers to visitors, and its advantages can be now easily enjoyed as the Suburban Railway has a station close beside it, whilst omnibuses from Morningside run to within a short distance of it.

The music of Scotland is of a much more extensive nature than might at first be supposed. If we were to reckon up all the vocal pieces—including many traditional ballad airs—pibrochs strathspeys, reels, marches, hornpipes, jigs, and battlepieces, the number would probably reach 7000 or 8000. Much has been done to preserve many of the finer melodies in book form, but there are numberless airs which have never yet appeared in music notation, and are only to be heard in the secluded districts of the country. It is to be hoped that these will yet be rescued from the oblivion into which otherwise they are certain to fall with the spread of education, and with extended means of intercommunication among the people. A collection embracing all that is worthy of preservation in Scottish music would be of great value, and would meet with acceptance from all lovers of genuine, heart-stirring melody.

ENGLAND.

The Queen will return from Darmstadt on the 4th of next month.

Over 3,000,000 trees were planted in Great Britain in 1882.

Two hundred working men have rented a farm at Wellingbars, Northampton, and will cultivate it themselves on co-operative principles.

There were in England in 1883 paupers numbering 1,000,296 in a population of 26,700,000, or one pauper to every 25 of the population.

The annual chess competition between representatives of Oxford and Cambridgeshire Universities was played on the 3rd inst., and resulted in favour of Cambridge.

The seven most populous towns in the United Kingdom after London are Glasgow, Liverpool, Manchester, Birmingham, Dublin, Leeds and Sheffield.

Great Britain consumes, annually, 4,000,000 tons of potatoes, of which 200,000 are imported, while the remainder are raised on 541,000 acres of land.

There is prevalent in Leeds an epedimic of scarlet fever. It is stated to have communicated from house to house by milk supplied from a suburban dairy.

The Pall Mall Gazette says that the place of honour at the coming Royal Academy exhibition has been at last assigned to Tadema, and mentions Mr. Sargent, an American artist, as among the chief contributors.

There has been a lively discussion in the Brighton Town Council. In the course of it Mr. Alderman Lamb called Mr. Councill Carpenter a "duomaniac." The World, which reports the affray, has not heard that any serious consequences ensued.

In reply to Lord Coleridge Mr. Yates says very justly that his paper made its fame by a crusade against West End usurers. Also that it was the first to make articulate that despairing wail of the poor which found its latest utterance in "the bitter cry of outcast London."

Mr. Woodgate, the sculler, who still writes occasionally for the St. James' Gazette, considers that the Oxford and Cambridge boat race was mainly settled by strength, "Cambridge were all round the more powerful crew, and were in much the better health." Pitman, the Cambridge stroke, is regarded as the Goldie of the future

To prevent as far as practicable the loss of torpedoes during experiments outside Portsmouth Harbour, the Admiralty are about to dredge and enclose within the harbour, at a cost of from £50,000 to £60,000, a sheet of water to be used as a torpedo ground wherein to conduct experiments on a more elaborate scale than has previously been adopted.

The death in London is announced of Mr. John Lancaster, who was brought into prominence by the rescue in his yacht of the captain and several of the crew of the Confederate cruiser Alabama, when that vessel was destroyed and sunk by the northern ironclad Kearsage, off Cherbourg, June 16th. 1864.

The bill for the redistribution of seats brought in by Sir John Hay and Mr. James Campbell has been issued. It does not propose to disfranchise any borough, but in a case where the population is small to associate other boroughs with it to form a group. All towns in England and Wales having a population of over 10,000, and now unrepresented, are added to the borough consituencies. In Scotland all unrepresented towns similar to those represented would become borough constituencies. There are 11 towns in England and Scotland having a third or minority member. The bill would increase these to 59 in England, three in Scotland, and 10 in Ireland. London and the seats of learning are excluded from the operation of the bill.

It is proposed to hold an international cyclists' camp and race meeting at the Alexandra Park Grounds at Whitsuntide holidays, which include May 30 and 31, and June 1, 2, and 3rd. There will be several acres of canvas tents, and arrangements will be made with all the railway companies for excursions at special terms. On May 30th. the men will go into camp, and on the next day there will be bicycle and tricycle handicaps. A church parade will be held on Sunday, June 1. On Monday, June 2 (Bank Holiday) there will be bicycle and tricycle (including sociable) handicaps, a torchlight procession, an entertainment, and presentation of prizes. At mid-day, on Tuesday, June 3, the camp will break up. This, it is stated, will be the largest undertaking connected with cycling sport ever organized in England.

ENGLAND AND THE SOUDAN.

COMMUNICATION WITH GORDON.

Orders have been sent to Cairo to establish a special messenger post to convey despatches to Gen. Gordon. The News reports that every village between Berber and Khartoum is in rebellion, and that the rebels are entering Berber.

PROPOSAL BY SIR SAMUEL BAKER.

Sir Samuel Baker, in a letter to the Times referring to Gordon's appeal to the millionaires of England and America, asks whether there can be a more terrible example of faithlessness on the part of the Government than this necessity. He proposes that the Sultan supply 5,000 Nizams, India, 10,000 and England 5,000 troops to relieve Gordon, half of the force to converge towards Berber from Suakin, and the rest to proceed up the Nile from Cairo.

Its Own a Good Deal.

The Weekly Review, of Peterborough, has been much enlarged, and is being printed on a new fast press, which gives it an improved appearance. It is one of the neatest and best weeklies in the country. The daily edition, small, neat and carefully edited, holds its own—and its own is a good deal.—Hamilton Spectator.

The Mysterious "No 1."

Buffalo, N. Y., April 28.—Peter J. Tynan, "No. 1," was recently in this city, the guest of Lawyer Campbell. They were at the Falls together within two weeks. Reference to an interview in the press despatches is probably incorrect, as the real "No. 1" is still in America.

Kingston Ladies' Medical College.

Kingston, April 28.—The closing exercises in connection with the Ladies' Medical College took place in the city buildings this afternoon, commencing at three o'clock. The room was filled to the door with a select audience.

After years of patient research and unremitting toil, Dr. Van Buren discovered in a little plant, growing on the hill-sides of his native land, medical virtues of a most positive kind. Careful experimentation has enabled him to formulate from its hidden sap a remedy that has no equal in permanently curing all forms of kidney disease, and which is now known all the world over as Dr. Van Buren's Kidney Cure.

A Case Much Talked of.—The case of Mr. John Morrison, of St. Ann's N.S., who was afflicted with a serious dropsical disease of the kidneys. The best medical aid having failed, his life was despaired of. Two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters cured him. His statement is vouched for by J. D. McLeod, J.P., who knew of his condition. The cure is considered marvellous in his town.

There is nothing so tempting and refreshing as ripe fruits products. To the young, the old, or middle aged alike, the Golden Fruit Bitters is a certain cure for General Debility or Weakness. Sold by all druggests.

An Unprotected Family—Is one that has not that valuable remedy, Hagyard's Yellow Oil in the house for accidents and emergencies. It cures colds, croup sore throat, deafness, rheumatism, neuralgia, chilblains, burns, bruises and all painful injuries.

Sore Throat.—This common and painful affection may be readily cured by the prompt application of Hagyard's Yellow Oil, taking it internally at the same time according to directions. In croup, asthma, colds, swollen glands, rheumatism and other painful diseases it is equally efficacious.

The False Prophet.—He who prophesies falsely of the weather, leaves off his flannels and overshoes, and catches cold, is indeed unwise. If you follow this false prophet your rescue lies in taking Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. It is the best cough cure and the safest throat and lung remedy known to medical science.

LOCAL NEWS

Street Watering.

We have received a communication on the subject of street watering, but as the writer's name is not sent with it we have to keep to the well-known rule and cannot insert it.

Rapid Transit.

The Chief of Police on Wednesday received a letter from the St. Thomas Chief of Police which was mailed on March 3rd, asking to have one Goodfellow arrested. The police here, however, acting upon a telegram, had the man arrested, sent back and tried before the letter arrived. It is only fair to add that the postmarks showed that the delay was not in the Peterborough post office.

Personal.

Mr. A. E. Barber, of Cobourg, was in town this week looking after land owned by the Cobourg Railway Company.

Mr. H. Ryan, Chief Engineer, and Mr. Wm. Whyte, General Manager of the Ontario and Quebec, arrived over that line from Toronto on Wednesday evening. They went on east this morning.

Mr. D. McNicoll, General Passenger Agent of the Ontario and Quebec, was among those registered at the Oriental Hotel to-day.

Saved Army.

At the business meeting on Wednesday evening Mr. W. G. Phillips was elected a delegate to the next Council of War to be held at Port Hope in July. Sergt. Wm. Rogers was elected to succeed Mr. Phillips as Sergeant-Major. The following additional sergeants were elected: John Duncan, J. S. Hall, S. Terrill and Wm. Neil. Miss Neil and Miss Hays were elected corporals. Messrs. G. B. Sproule and R. Weir gave an account of the proceedings at the Cobourg Council of War.

Organ Recitals.

In view of our own approaching organ recital we extract the following paragraph on the subject from the very interesting and instructive column of "Ephemerides," which a writer under the name of "Laclede" is contributing regularly to the Montreal Gazette:—

"An English friend of mine suggests the establishment of organ recitals for the purpose of diffusing musical taste. The prices should be nominal, as in England, and he predicts that, as in England, the success would be nominal. My friend holds, and I believe with justice, that nothing has contributed more effectually to the education and consequent elevation of the middle, and even the lower classes, than these popular recitals on the organ. It has been remarked that at certain entertainments, when the organ of the Queen's Hall has been used during the intervals, the effect upon the audience has been marked. The organ is the king of instruments and its influence is extraordinary."

Received by Express this day another lot of Spring Underclothing, at ANDREW McNEIL'S.

Confederation Life Association.

Mr. Wm. Ross, of Peterborough, the genial general agent of the Confederation Life Association, has every reason to be proud of the stability and standing of the company he represents. This Home Company has made steady progress since its establishment twelve years ago, and now its assets have reached the handsome figure of $1,152,728, while its income from premiums alone is over $1,000 per day. It ranks amongst our strongest financial institutions and is well worthy of the public confidence it has so well succeeded in securing. The excellent management of its affairs, assisted by a large staff of reliable agents, points to a still further expansion of its business and a continuous increase of the public confidence in its safety and stability. The Company have a large amount of money for investment, which will be advanced at very reasonable rates of interest, on farm or town property.

PUMP MANUFACTURE.

The Progress in the Town—Mr. H. Owen's Patent Force Pump.

An idea of the progress made in the manufacture of pumps was obtained by a visit to Mr. H. Owen's factory, where the patent model pump was seen. This pump differs from the old-fashioned force pump in many ways, but several improvements are particularly noticeable.

One great advantage of this pump is that it may be used as an ordinary lift pump without any danger of the water freezing. This advantage is gained by means of a detachable packing box. The packing, instead of being permanently fixed in the head, is on the top, and when the machine is not used as a force pump, the packing is detached and the rod does not work through it. Thus the packing will last much longer than if it was used all the time. The sectional stock or head is another improvement. This gives a larger space in the head for the overflow of water when the pump is used as an ordinary lift pump. The pump can be changed from an ordinary lift pump to a force pump in a few seconds. This is done by placing a small iron bar over the packing, which holds it firmly in its place, and attaching the hose. That is all that is necessary to change the common pump into a fire engine. The hose attacher is a very simple machine, yet it does its work effectually. The pump then throws a good stream with strong force.

The air case, instead of being cast iron and on the outside, is a simple yet better case of zinc and is on the inside of the stock. The arrangement of the bearings also gives a perfectly straight motion to the suction rod, and there is therefore less strain on the pump. This is secured by double bearings, one on each side of the head, and it is an improvement that will be appreciated. A longer stroke is obtained by this arrangement at a less expenditure of strength, and ease and speed is gained in pumping.

It will be seen that the chief advantage of this machine is that it is a first-class lift pump, and can, by simple arrangements, be quickly made into a good force pump. With all these advantages the progress in pump making has been such that this improved pump is sold at a cheaper figure than the old-fashioned force pump, and at very little more than was paid some years ago for the old and inferior force pump.

Railway Notes.

A new engine made its appearance here on Wednesday on the Ontario and Quebec Railway, having come through from Perth. It was made at the C. P. R. shops in Montreal, and is numbered 292. It was driven by Mr. John Colgan.

The large water tank for the Ontario and Quebec, near Aylmer street, was filled on Wednesday. It holds 50,000 gallons of the liquid. The tank was filled by connections with the waterworks.

A steam shovel was placed in Anderson's gravel pit, about six miles east of the town, on the Ontario and Quebec railway, this week. Mr. J. H. Barber, superintending engineer, says that it works well and loads the gravel trains rapidly.

CHANCERY SALE OF PARK LOTS.

Pursuant to the judgment of the High Court of Justice, Chancery Division, made in a matter of FITZGERALD vs. FITZGERALD, dated the 27th day of September, 1883, there will be offered for sale by PUBLIC AUCTION, by Mr. Charles Stapleton, Auctioneer, with the approbation of the Master of the said Court, at PETERBOROUGH,

AT THE GRAND CENTRAL HOTEL,

In the TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH, on

Friday, the 16th day of May, 1884

At TWO o'clock in the afternoon, the following lands:

Park Lots 5, 6, 15 and 16, in Township Lot Number 12, in the 12th Concession of the Township of North Monaghan, in the County of Peterborough, and Province of Ontario, containing 40 Acres of Land, more or less.

The property will be offered for sale, en bloc, and if not sold will be offered for sale in parcels as shown on the diagram filed in the said Master's office, and of which approximately correct copies are shown on posters.

The above property is favourably situated on the western border of the town of Peterborough, just outside of the corporation limits, and about a mile distant from the Market Square. It is well adapted for building sites, the back part rising gently and affording a good view of the Town and of the waters of the Little Lake.

TERMS OF SALE.

Ten per cent. of the purchase money to be paid down at time of sale to the plaintiff's solicitor, and the balance without interest on the 6th day of June, 1884. There will be a reserved bid on the land en bloc and on the several parcels. The right is reserved of offering two or more of the subdivision lots together if deemed advisable, instead of offering each lot separately. In other respects the conditions of the sale will be the standing conditions of the Court, and such other or further conditions as may be made known at the time of sale.

Further particulars and information may be obtained gratis at the law offices of John Hoskin, Esq., Q.C., Toronto, R. H. Dennistoun, Esq., Messrs. Hatton and Wood, and of the vendor's solicitor.

COBOURG.

Explosion of an Oil Lamp in Judge Clarke's Residence.

(By Telephone.)

News of what might have eventuated in an alarming conflagration has been forwarded us by the Telephone Company. It appears that at about twelve o'clock on Thursday night an oil lamp in His Honor Judge Clarke's house suddenly exploded. The flames thus generated succeeded in consuming a portion of clothing and in badly scorching the room before they were brought under control. The exact loss is unknown, but it is a matter of congratulation that nothing more serious resulted from an accident known to be generally of a most dangerous character.

FIRE AT MILLBROOK.

An Hotel Saved only by the Vigorous and Untiring Efforts of the Villagers.

(By Telephone to the Review.)

Through the courtesy of the Telephone Company we learn that the Croker House, Millbrook, caught fire last Thursday night. A horse and a cow, to which it was found impossible to gain access—the fire spreading with great rapidity throughout the stables and sheds—perished. The hotel itself would assuredly have succumbed had it not been for the great exertions made by the villagers in subduing the flames. The loss is estimated at about $1,000. For what amount the premises may have been insured has not as yet been ascertained.

THE RAILWAY STEAM WHISTLE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—This nuisance seems to be getting worse than ever. We were awakened by it at three o'clock this morning, and were disturbed by it last Saturday night, or rather at a little before one on Sunday morning; and it is going on with brief intervals of rest all day long.

Only a short time ago the Minister of Railways, Sir C. Tupper, while addressing a deputation on the subject of railways, termed the steam-whistle "an abominable nuisance," and expressed his intention of introducing a clause into the new Railway Act for the purpose of stopping, or at all events of mitigating it.

If others feel as I do on this subject, and will join me in an attempt to stop the annoyance, I shall be happy to subscribe a liberal sum for the purpose of bringing an action either against the railway company for perpetrating the nuisance, or against the Town Council for permitting it.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

A Grave Charge of Forgery and Stealing a Government Bond.

The arrest of Mr. Francis Lewis on the charge of stealing a government bond and forging the signature to it, while in the Civil Service many years ago, was conducted so quietly that it was not known in Peterborough till the arrival of the Toronto papers.

There is a general feeling of confident hope that the suspicion as regards Mr. Lewis is unfounded.

We take the following particulars from the Toronto Globe of to-day:—

"For many years Francis Lewis was a clerk in the service of the old Province of Canada. He was employed in the Department of Finance and was trusted and respected by the authorities of the Department. He did his work well and faithfully as far as was known, and when he retired from the Civil Service in 1879 he was granted a large superannuation allowance. While he was in the Finance Department the Government of the old Province of Canada issued a series of five per cent. bonds, each for £1,000 sterling. Lewis had charge of a number of bonds which, unsigned and unissued, remained in possession of the Department. The coupons and bonds were payable at the banking house of Baring Brothers & Co., of London, England. Some months ago a coupon, each of which is worth £25, was presented in course of business at Baring's. It was signed by George Rieffenstein for the Department, and was apparently genuine. The coupon was paid, but when it came to be charged up against the bond to which it belonged it was discovered to be a forgery. The coupon belonged to bond No. 01237, and the issue of genuine bonds stopped short of 01100, so that the bond to which the false coupon belonged must have been one of those which remained with the Government. It was then discovered that it had been stolen and the blanks filled in with the names of the Finance Department authorities. The coupon was sent to this country, and a close watch set for the bond. The bond was lately presented in the usual way through some banking institution, and when received it was marked "forgery." The forged bond is now in possession of the Bank of Montreal, it having passed through a dozen hands since it was first put out in Canada. The issue of bonds was made in 1860, and it was a difficult task to go back 24 years to find the criminal. Chief Sherwood, of the Dominion Police, took charge of the case, and had the end of it well in view before the bond arrived at Ottawa. The bond only reached Canada last week, but the coupon was received a month ago. It was traced through several hands and it was finally discovered that it had been put up in Toronto as a margin in stock transactions. This took place about Oct. 1st, 1882. Since then the bond and its coupons have gone through many banking houses, always being accepted as genuine. Chief Sherwood and Detective Hodgins, of the Toronto force, went east on Wednesday with a warrant from Col. Denison for the arrest of Mr. Lewis.

"Mr. Lewis has retained Mr. Arnold to defend him, and denies all knowledge of the forgery. The names forged on the bond were those of Geo. Sherwood, Receiver-General; A. T. Galt, Minister of Finance; T. D. Harington, Deputy Receiver-General; W. M. Dickenson, Acting Deputy; and Baring Bros. & Co., financial agents. The signature of Geo. Rieffenstein was forged in the coupons. The prisoner was very much astonished at his arrest, and although not talking much he declared himself innocent. The Magistrate at Peterborough was requested to countersign the warrant issued by Col. Denison. When he saw the name 'Francis Lewis' he remarked 'I don't know the man. I have never come across him. Will you want a constable who is acquainted with the locality to assist you in the search?' Mr. Lewis was one of the best known men in Peterborough and it never occurred to the Magistrate that he was the Francis Lewis mentioned in the warrant. He never thought of Mr. Lewis in connection with any crime. The prisoner will be probably arraigned to-day. The trial will take place here, as the forged bond was uttered in this city."

The Havana Explosion.

HAVANA, April 30.—The effects of the explosion yesterday were terrible. Up to the present time the dead number twenty-on and the wounded seventy-nine. The latter are scattered all over the town, being wounded by falling debris. Many are seriously injured. Of a detachment of twenty-seven soldiers in the magazine at the time of the explosion, only eight escaped unhurt. The magazine contained a million cartridges, 200,000 kilogrammes of powder, and one barrel of dynamite. Several churches and many houses were seriously damaged. The second shock, stronger than the first, was not caused by an explosion of gas, but by the explosion of the magazine. The first shock was caused by powder, which was drying in the open air.

Influence of the Death of Prince Leopold.

The death of the Duke of Albany will cause a loss to the London traders and shopkeepers estimated at from three to five millions. It will interfere with the spring season, it will for a time put a stop to dinner parties and balls, and it will lead many people to go to the country who would otherwise have remained in London. All these things will put a stop to the "season" for a few weeks, and will greatly influence the business and the gains of thousands of tradesmen in London.

Spanish Insurgents.

The Government troops overtook Mangado, the Spanish refugee chieftain and his followers in their flight towards the French frontier, and a severe fight ensued. Mangada and seven of his band were killed. Four prisoners were captured by the troops, who also recaptured fourteen officers and men who had recently disappeared from Santa Coloma.

The Cracow Outrage.

The authors of the recent outrage at the Court House at Cracow were connected with the Anarchists of Warsaw. This is the first instance of the complicity of Austrian Socialists with Russian Nihilists. Four Russians have been arrested.

ARREST OF A FENIAN CENTRLE.

BIRMINGAAM, May 1.—William Macdonnell, publican, residing at Wednesbury, has been arrested at Wednesbury, charged with treasonable felony. Documents found on him show that he is a Fenian district centre. He will be tried with Egan and Daly. Macdonnell's tavern at Wednesbury has been a rendezvous for the Staffordshire Fenians. Other arrests in that neighborhood are considered imminent.

THE RELIEF OF GORDON.

LONDON, May 1.—The Times continues to receive offers of money to relieve Gordon. One lady offers five thousand pounds toward paying Abyssinian troops to relieve Khartoum and Kassala. The Egyptian correspondence shows that the Government refused to allow Indian troops to relieve General Gordon on the ground that India has no direct interest in the Soudan.

AN ARREST IN SLIGO.

DUBLIN, May 1.—Farrell Whims, an Irish-American, has been arrested in Ballymote, county of Sligo. He had a loaded revolver and a number of treasonable documents in his possession.

DALY'S EXPLOSIVES TESTED.

WAR IN THE "PEACE SOCIETY."

LONDON, May 1.—There has been a stormy conference of the leading members of the "Peace Society." A meeting was called for the purpose of passing resolutions which fiercely assailed Mr. Gladstone and the Government, charging them with blood-guiltiness for every life sacrificed in the Soudan. The proponents of the resolutions, however, found that there was a large number of members of the society present who by no means assented to this sweeping denunciation of the Liberal policy. The result was that the meeting degenerated into a squabble of angry interchanges of views, and finally broke up in a verbal row without any action having been taken on the resolutions.

BRITISH FRUIT GROWERS.

LONDON, May 1.—British fruit growers are in serious trouble. A month ago they were jubilant over the splendid condition of their prospective crops, but there have been biting frosts within the past few nights, and there is now a general blight in the southern counties.

COBOURG.

Explosion of an Oil Lamp in Judge Clarke's Residence.

(By Telephone.)

News of what might have eventuated in an alarming conflagration has been forwarded us by the Telephone Company. It appears that at about twelve o'clock on Thursday night an oil lamp in His Honor Judge Clarke's house suddenly exploded. The flames thus generated succeeded in consuming a portion of clothing and in badly scorching the room before they were brought under control. The exact loss is unknown, but it is a matter of congratulation that nothing more serious resulted from an accident known to be generally of a most dangerous character.

FIRE AT MILLBROOK.

An Hotel Saved only by the Vigorous and Untiring Efforts of the Villagers.

(By Telephone to the Review.)

Through the courtesy of the Telephone Company we learn that the Croker House, Millbrook, caught fire last Thursday night. A horse and a cow, to which it was found impossible to gain access—the fire spreading with great rapidity throughout the stables and sheds—perished. The hotel itself would assuredly have succumbed had it not been for the great exertions made by the villagers in subduing the flames. The loss is estimated at about $1,000. For what amount the premises may have been insured has not as yet been ascertained.

THE RAILWAY STEAM WHISTLE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—This nuisance seems to be getting worse than ever. We were awakened by it at three o'clock this morning, and were disturbed by it last Saturday night, or rather at a little before one on Sunday morning; and it is going on with brief intervals of rest all day long.

Only a short time ago the Minister of Railways, Sir C. Tupper, while addressing a deputation on the subject of railways, termed the steam-whistle "an abominable nuisance," and expressed his intention of introducing a clause into the new Railway Act for the purpose of stopping, or at all events of mitigating it.

If others feel as I do on this subject, and will join me in an attempt to stop the annoyance, I shall be happy to subscribe a liberal sum for the purpose of bringing an action either against the railway company for perpetrating the nuisance, or against the Town Council, for permitting it.

The Cedar Block Scheme.

THE Hamilton Spectator says:—The opposition to the cedar block scheme is being gradually dissipated, as the estimated cost of the pavement becomes known. The introduction of block pavement will be particularly welcome to dry goods merchants, who now lose more in a week from dust than they will be required to pay in a year for the pavement.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

A Grave Charge of Forgery and Stealing a Government Bond.

The arrest of Mr. Francis Lewis on the charge of stealing a government bond and forging the signature to it, while in the Civil Service many years ago, was conducted so quietly that it was not known in Peterborough till the arrival of the Toronto papers.

There is a general feeling of confident hope that the suspicion as regards Mr. Lewis is unfounded.

We take the following particulars from the Toronto Globe of to-day:—

"For many years Francis Lewis was a clerk in the service of the old Province of Canada. He was employed in the Department of Finance, and was trusted and respected by the authorities of the Department. He did his work well and faithfully as far as was known, and when he retired from the Civil Service in 1879 he was granted a large superannuation allowance. While he was in the Finance Department the Government of the old Province of Canada issued a series of five per cent. bonds, each for £1,000 sterling. Lewis had charge of a number of bonds which, unsigned and unissued, remained in possession of the Department. The coupons and bonds were payable at the banking house of Baring Brothers & Co., of London, England. Some months ago a coupon, each of which is worth £25, was presented in course of business at Baring's. It was signed by George Rieffenstein for the Department, and was apparently genuine. The coupon was paid, but when it came to be charged up against the bond to which it belonged it was discovered to be a forgery. The coupon belonged to bond No. 01237, and the issue of genuine bonds stopped short of 01100, so that the bond to which the false coupon belonged must have been one of those which remained with the Government. It was then discovered that it had been stolen and the blanks filled in with the names of the Finance Department authorities. The coupon was sent to this country, and a close watch set for the bond. The bond was lately presented in the usual way through some banking institution, and when received it was marked "forgery." The forged bond is now in possession of the Bank of Montreal, it having passed through a dozen hands since it was first put out in Canada. The issue of bonds was made in 1860, and it was a difficult task to go back 24 years to find the criminal. Chief Sherwood, of the Dominion Police, took charge of the case, and had the end of it well in view before the bond arrived at Ottawa. The bond only reached Canada last week, but the coupon was received a month ago. It was traced through several hands and it was finally discovered that it had been put up in Toronto as a margin in stock transactions. This took place about Oct. 1st, 1882. Since then the bond and its coupons have gone through many banking houses, always being accepted as genuine. Chief Sherwood and Detective Hodgins, of the Toronto force, went east on Wednesday with a warrant from Col. Denison for the arrest of Mr. Lewis.

"Mr. Lewis has retained Mr. Arnold to defend him, and denies all knowledge of the forgery. The names forged on the bond were those of Geo. Sherwood, Receiver-General; A. T. Galt, Minister of Finance; T. D. Harington, Deputy Receiver-General; W. M. Dickenson, Acting Deputy; and Baring Bros. & Co., financial agents. The signature of Geo. Rieffenstein was forged in the coupons. The prisoner was very much astonished at his arrest, and although not talking much he declared himself innocent. The Magistrate at Peterborough was requested to countersign the warrant issued by Col. Denison. When he saw the name 'Francis Lewis' he remarked 'I don't know the man. I have never come across him. Will you want a constable who is acquainted with the locality to assist you in the search?' Mr. Lewis was one of the best known men in Peterborough and it never occurred to the Magistrate that he was the Francis Lewis mentioned in the warrant. He never thought of Mr. Lewis in connection with any crime. The prisoner will be probably arraigned to-day. The trial will take place here, as the forged bond was uttered in this city."

ANOTHER ARREST.

MADRID, May 1.—A man has been arrested at Barcelona with four dynamite cartridges in his possession. He confessed he intended to destroy the track of the Barcelona and Saragosa railroad.

DYNAMITE OUTRAGE IN GERMANY.

BERLIN, May 1.—Baker's house at Hager was blown down to-day by dynamite. The motive unknown.

ANOTHER WHITELEY CATASTROPHE

LONDON, May 1.—The walls of Wm. Whiteley's mercantile establishment in London, which was partially burned on Saturday, collapsed to-day. Fifty workmen were buried in the ruins. Most of them were soon extricated, but a large number were injured.

THE REVOLT IN SPAIN.

MADRID, May 1.—The Spanish Government is taking great precautions to prevent uprisings Two bands of insurgents have appeared at Lerida and Gerona. They have cut the telegraph wires and destroyed the railway bridge.

WAR IN THE "PEACE SOCIETY."

LONDON, May 1.—There has been a stormy conference of the leading members of the "Peace Society." A meeting was called for the purpose of passing resolutions which fiercely assailed Mr. Gladstone and the Government, charging them with blood-guiltiness for every life sacrificed in the Soudan. The proponents of the resolutions, however, found that there was a large number of members of the society present who by no means assented to this sweeping denunciation of the Liberal policy. The result was that the meeting degenerated into a squabble of angry interchanges of views, and finally broke up in a verbal row without any action having been taken on the resolutions.

BRITISH FRUIT GROWERS.

LONDON, May 1.—British fruit growers are in serious trouble. A month ago they were jubilant over the splendid condition of their prospective crops, but there have been biting frosts within the past few nights, and there is now a general blight in the southern counties.

THE EARTHQUAKE RELIEF FUND.

LONDON, May 1.—The fund which was started by Lord Mayor Fowler for the relief of the victims of the recent earthquake at Colchester and vicinity grows but slowly. The latest suggestion is that the sufferers shall organize an exhibition of ruins and relics, thereby obtaining something towards defraying the cost of rebuilding their shattered homes and churches.

TRICHINOSIS IN GERMANY.

BERLIN, May 1.—Prof. Virchow published a letter stating that trichinosis, caused by eating American imported meat, is confined to a few isolated cases at Bremen.

Enterprising And ably Conducted.

CHANCERY SALE

OF

PARK LOTS.

Pursuant to the judgment of the High Court of Justice, Chancery Division, made in a matter of FITZGERALD vs. FITZGERALD, dated the 27th day of September, 1883, there will be offered for sale by PUBLIC AUCTION, by Mr. Charles Stapleton, Auctioneer, with the approbation of the Master of the said Court, at PETERBOROUGH,

AT THE GRAND CENTRAL HOTEL,

In the TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH, on

Friday, the 16th day of May, 1884

At TWO o'clock in the afternoon, the following lands:

Park Lots 5, 6, 15 and 16, in Township Lot Number 12, in the 12th Concession of the Township of North Monaghan, in the County of Peterborough, and Province of Ontario, containing 40 Acres of Land, more or less.

The property will be offered for sale, en bloc, and if not sold will be offered for sale in parcels as shown on the diagram filed in the said Master's office, and of which approximately correct copies are shown on posters.

The above property is favourably situated on the western border of the town of Peterborough, just outside of the corporation limits, and about a mile distant from the Market Square. It is well adapted for building sites, the back part rising gently and affording a good view of the Town and of the waters of the Little Lake.

TERMS OF SALE.

Ten per cent. of the purchase money to be paid down at time of sale to the plaintiff's solicitor, and the balance without interest on the 6th day of June, 1884. There will be a reserved bid on the land en bloc and on the several parcels. The right is reserved of offering two or more of the subdivision lots together if deemed advisable, instead of offering each lot separately, in other respects the conditions of the sale will be the standing conditions of the Court, and such other or further conditions as may be made known at the time of sale.

Further particulars and information may be obtained gratis at the law offices of John Hoskin, Esq., Q.C., Toronto, R. H. Dennistoun, Esq., Messrs. Hatton and Wood, and of the vendor's solicitor.

Dated at Peterborough the 29th April, 1884.

COBOURG.

Explosion of an Oil Lamp in Judge Clarke's Residence.

(By Telephone.)

News of what might have eventuated in an alarming conflagration has been forwarded us by the Telephone Company. It appears that at about twelve o'clock on Thursday night an oil lamp in His Honor Judge Clarke's house suddenly exploded. The flames thus generated succeeded in consuming a portion of clothing and in badly scorching the room before they were brought under control. The exact loss is unknown, but it is a matter of congratulation that nothing more serious resulted from an accident known to be generally of a most dangerous character.

FIRE AT MILLBROOK.

An Hotel Saved only by the Vigorous and Untiring Efforts of the Villagers.

(By Telephone to the Review.)

Through the courtesy of the Telephone Company we learn that the Croker House, Millbrook, caught fire last Thursday night. A horse and a cow to which it was found impossible to gain access—the fire spreading with great rapidity throughout the stables and sheds—perished. The hotel itself would assuredly have succumbed had it not been for the great exertions made by the villagers in subduing the flames. The loss is estimated at about $1,000. For what amount the premises may have been insured has not as yet been ascertained.

THE RAILWAY STEAM WHISTLE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—This nuisance seems to be getting worse than ever. We were awakened by it at three o'clock this morning, and were disturbed by it last Saturday night, or rather at a little before one on Sunday morning; and it is going on with brief intervals of rest all day long.

Only a short time ago the Minister of Railways, Sir C. Tupper, while addressing a deputation on the subject of railways, termed the steam-whistle "an abominable nuisance," and expressed his intention of introducing a clause into the new Railway Act for the purpose of stopping, or at all events of mitigating it.

If others feel as I do on this subject, and will join me in an attempt to stop the annoyance, I shall be happy to subscribe a liberal sum for the purpose of bringing an action either against the railway company for perpetrating the nuisance, or against the Town Council for permitting it.

A RATEPAYER.

Peterborough, May 2, 1884.

The Cedar Block Scheme.

THE Hamilton Spectator says:—The opposition to the cedar block scheme is being gradually dissipated, as the estimated cost of the pavement becomes known. The introduction of block pavement will be particularly welcome to dry goods merchants, who now lose more in a week from dust than they will be required to pay in a year for the pavement.

A HOUSEHOLD PERFUME.—Every family able to appreciate and enjoy the pleasure afforded by a really healthful and delicious perfume, should supply themselves with the genuine Murray & Lanman's Florida Water. It is the most delightful and most lasting of all fragrant waters.

How to Make Candy.

This book gives full directions for making all kinds of plain and fancy candy. The receipts for making caramels, chocolate drops, French mixed and all other kinds of candies contained in this book are the same as used by the leading city confectioners. Any one can have these candies at home at less than one third the usual cost. Sent post paid for 50 cents (no stamps taken). Address, ROCHESTER PUBLISHING CO., 32, 33 & 33½ Osburn Block, Rochester, N.Y.

Received by Express this day another lot of Handsome Spring Ties and Scarfs, at ANDREW McNEIL'S.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

A Grave Charge of Forgery and Stealing a Government Bond.

The arrest of Mr. Francis Lewis on the charge of stealing a government bond and forging the signature to it, while in the Civil Service many years ago, was conducted so quietly that it was not known in Peterborough till the arrival of the Toronto papers.

There is a general feeling of confident hope that the suspicion as regards Mr. Lewis is unfounded.

We take the following particulars from the Toronto Globe of to-day:—
